AROUND HOME.

Gov. Head has appointed Mayor Sise to superintend the alterations and improvements of the old state arsenal on South street.

On Sunday, at Noble's island, Rev. John A. Goss of the Christian church baptized two converts, one male and one female.

Schooner yacht Wm. H. Russell. Drown master, sailed from this port on Monday forenoon for Boston, with a small party, intending to be absent the best part of the week.

The Knights of Pythias of Dover had their clam-bake at Dover point on Friday last, as previously announced, and notwithstanding the unfavorable weather there was a fair attendance and a very enjoyable occasion.

The thanks of those citizens who were interested in getting early news of the Maine election are due to the lady operator of the American Union telegraph, who volunteered to remain in the office until midnight on Monday, without compensation from the company, simply to accommodate the people.

A bottle was picked up by Mr. George E. Foss on Foss' beach, Rye, Sept. 10th, which contained a letter addressed to "Miss Oovidea Bernsten, Appledore House, Isles of Shoals, Portsmouth, N. H." On the back of the envelope was written in pencil, "Please deliver this at the office, Appledore House. By the Empire State. 29, 8, 80. H. B." Probably some joke of the employes at one of the hotels, as no one but a clerk would date a letter that way. The letter was mailed as directed.

Our citizens will have an opportunity to visit Boston on the 17th inst. at a cheap rate, as the steamer Florence will make an excursion on that day, leaving here at 6:45 o'clock A. M., and returning leave Boston at midnight. This will enable people to reach there in season to see the big procession start at noon, as well as that of the German Turners in the evening. The fare is only fifty cents each way. Bailey's cornet band of Newburyport will accompany the excursionists.

A meeting of the corporators of the Odiorne's Point Monument Association will be held at the office of Frank W. Hackett, Esq., secretary of the association, this (Tuesday,) forenoon at eleven o'clock. This corporation was granted a charter by the legislature in 1875, and was organized by a meeting of the grantees held last September. The object of the association is to erect a monument at Odiorne's point, N. H., to commemorate the first settlement of the state, which occurred at that point. All persons interested in this movement are cordially invited to attended the meeting.

The Rockingham County Temperance Association held its regularly monthly meeting at Kingston on Thursday of last week, President Frank W. Miller in the chair. A committee of three was appointed to correspond with all the candidates for governor, county and other officers, already nominated or to be hereafter, to ascertain their views on the enforcement of the prohibitory law in this State, said committee to report at an adjourned meeting to be held at Newmarket on the first Thursday in October, on which date the association voted to nominate a full ticket for state and county officers to be supported at the next election.

The travel from the east and the White mountains is so heavy that the White mountain express train runs independent and in advance of the Bangor express leaving Portsmouth at three o'clock P. M. It makes the run to Newburyport, including two stops, in thirty minutes. The road-bed of the Eastern railway is in excellent condition. All the way between Boston and Portland the grass has been cut and bushes removed between fences, so that the danger by fire throughout the recent protracted dry term has been avoided. The route has come to be the favorite way to the mountains, and the Conway branch has proved one of the most judicious investments connected with the road. Its net receipts are very largely above its interest, and were it run independently it would pay dividends on its stock from its large business in passengers and freight.

The lower harbor and adjacent waters looked very lonely to the regular down-river-goers on Sunday last, so far as steamers are concerned. For some months past, up to the day mentioned, steamers have been numerous on Sunday, large boats from Boston or Newburyport, steam yachts, and steam launches owned in this port or at places up the river, being sometimes in sight to the number of a dozen or more, all at once. Last Sunday the only steamers seen throughout the whole day were a revenue cutter which put to sea from the lower harbor in the afternoon, a steam collier which came in, and the tug Ann towing out a schooner.

The steamer Mystic did not make an excursion to the Shoals on Sunday, as previously announced, not enough passengers appearing to pay for the coal. It was one of the best days of the season for an excursion, the temperature on the water being just right, and the ocean as smooth as though planed down and sandpapered.

Morris C. Foye has just received a full line of silk and beaded fringes, jet ornaments, gimps, spikes, etc. These goods will be in great demand this season, and Mr. Foye has one of the finest stocks in the city to select from. Persons in want of these trimmings should examine his stock.

Fishermen report the water of the ocean for several miles from the shore as being very much mudded and discolored all along the coast on Saturday and Sunday last, the heavy sea of Thursday and Friday having stirred up the bottom to an unusual degree.

Gen. Walter Harriman was in this city on Monday.

GARFIELD & ARTHUR CLUB.

At a meeting of the Garfield and Arthur club, held at the headquarters in Franklin building on Monday evening, the following officers were chosen:

President, Col. William H. Sise;

Vice Presidents: ward one; William F. Noyes; ward two, William H. Hackett; ward three, Ezra H. Winchester; ward four, Charles W. Gardner;

Corresponding Secretary, William R. Foster;

Recording Secretary, J. Ralph Laighton;

Treasurer, William E. Hadley;

Executive committee: ward one, Eldredge G. Peirce, (chairman,) Richard H. Waldron; ward two, John Pender, Joseph H. Gardiner; ward three, William Sladen, George Taylor; ward four, Michael J. Vaughan, George M. Ayers;

Executive committee: John Laighton, (chairman;) ward one, William R. Martin, Charles A. Shannon, George W. Pendexter, Michael E. Long; ward two, Wallace Hackett, William A. Hodgdon, Newton Johnson, Lewis G. Davis; ward three, Charles H. Hayes, Elijah Clough, Hanson W. Seavey; ward four, John E. Ham, William H. Rollins, John E. Colcord.

After an informal discussion in regard to the formation of the Garfield and Arthur battalion, the meeting adjourned to Wednesday evening, when the subject will be acted upon.

POLICE COURT.

MONDAY, Sept. 13; Batchelder, J.

John McCarthy, for assault, was fined $5, costs $6.90. Jail.

Patrick Sheehan, drunk, fine $3, costs $6.90.

Patrick Sheehan, assault, fine $5, costs $8.04.

William Ayers and John Sullivan, charged with assault, were discharged.

John Sullivan, charged with assaulting an officer while the latter was engaged in the execution of his duty, was held in $100 for trial at the next term of the supreme court.

BOW MISSION SERVICES.

The gospel temperance meeting, Saturday evening, was of a very interesting character. Earnest and encouraging words were spoken by friends of the work; one brother thought that "If the so-called friends of temperance were half as much in earnest as are the venders of strong drink, the cause of temperance would flourish in our city."

A real old-fashioned "love feast" took the place of the bethel service, Sunday afternoon. After singing, prayer, and the scripture lesson, the bread and water were passed around to all. Nearly every church in the city was represented in the service, and some not belonging to any church participated. The time was spent in singing, and giving testimony to the power and love of God; and we trust it was indeed a feast of love. As one present said, "How much we need this spirit of union and brotherly love." A similar service will probably be held in October.

The reform club held a session, Sunday evening; remarks were made by President Sanborn, Stephen W. Clarke, Esq., B. F. Thorndike, James Janvrin and others. The attendance was very good, and much interest was manifested. L.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

Anthony & Ellis' "Uncle Tom's Cabin' combination appeared for the first time at St James hall last evening, and that the good old play can yet be counted an attraction is evidenced by the fact that nearly every seat in the house was occupied. The majority of the audience appeared to be ladies and children. Of the performance it is only necessary to say that Mrs. Stowe's celebrated work was presented with a nicety of detail and a completeness never surpassed in our recollection. The principal characters are all in competent hands and the effect is materially strengthened by slaves of genuine color, four of whom sing a number of old plantation melodies in a highly creditable manner. The pathetic and touching parts of the play are brought out strong, and last evening there was hardly a dry eye in the house. Mr. Dan Hart as Marks introduces the live donkey Primo to good advantage; the Topsy of Miss Minnie Foster deserves special mention, and we advise all to go and see a really first-class performance.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

Uncle Tom will appear next Wednesday evening at Music hall. The tickets have been placed at 25 cents, and 35 and 50 cents for reserved seats.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

Paymaster General George F. Cutter, chief of the bureau of provisions and clothing, visited the navy yard on Monday and received the regulation salute.

The York Baptist Association met with the Baptist church in North Berwick on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. The sessions were unusually interesting on both days.

Mr. Shadrach Littlefield of Kittery received an ugly bite on the chin and cheek, Monday, from a dog reported to belong to Augustus Goodsoe. The services of a physician were required to dress the wounds inflicted by the brute.

N. G. Wadleigh, a resident of Wells, raised a republican flag a short time since, and before it had been up twenty-four hours it was torn down by the Ku-Klux element of that section. Mr. Wadleigh's wife knowing the person who was deputized to do the job, caught him and gave him a sound horse-whipping.

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or ever-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Brohchial Troches" are sold only in boxes. Tu,th&f,&c

New Hampshire Items.

Frank Pond, aged twelve years, son of Joseph E. Pond of Bath, had his hand shattered Sunday afternoon by the explosion of a nitro glycerine cartridge which he had obtained secretly at the pulp mill of Conant & Co.

James Ogle and John Andrews escaped from the county jail at Lancaster, Saturday night, through the vault. Both were awaiting trial at the October term of court, the former for assault and battery, and the latter for larceny. They are supposed to have fled to Canada.

John Berry, a highly-respected citizen of Rochester, fell off a staging in his barn on the 10th inst., and was fatally injured. He leaves a widow and a grown-up son.

In Dover, on the 10th inst., twenty-five French Canadians of Rochester gave notice to the clerk of the supreme court of their intention of getting naturalized at the present term of the court.

On Friday last, in the supreme court at Dover, several of the persons indicted for selling liquor or keeping it for sale retracted their previous pleas of not guilty, pleaded nolo contendere, and paid $50 and costs on each indictment. Two of them had two cases each to settle, and one had three cases, the whole number of indictments against the seven being thirteen, the fines amounting to $650, without counting the costs.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

For week ending Wednesday, Sept. 8.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

Amount of stock at market—Cattle 4668; sheep and lambs 5415; swine, 12,420; number western cattle 4226; eastern cattle 261; milch cows and northern cattle 181.

Prices of beef cattle per 100 lbs. live weight—Extra quality $5 90 and $5 97½; first quality $5 75 and $5 87½; second quality $4 62½ and $5 00; third quality $4 25 and $4 50; poorest grades of coarse oxen, bulls, &c., at $3 37½ and $4 12½.

Brighton Hides 8½c per lb.
Brighton Tallow 5¼ and 6c per lb.
Country hides 7½ and 8c lb.
Country Tallow 3½ and 4c per lb.
Calf skins 10 and 11c per lb, or from $1 25 and $1 75 per skin.
Lamb skins 75c and $1 each.
Sheared sheep skins 50c each.

Working Oxen—There was a fair supply in market but no sales of importance transacted. We quote sales of 1 pr, girth 7 ft 2 in, live weight 3390 lbs, $145; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 10 in, live weight 2900 lbs, $125; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 10 in, live weight 2800 lbs, $105; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 7 in, live weight 2700 lbs, 110; 1 pr girth 6 ft 10 in, live weight 2900 lbs, $108; 1 pr four-year-olds, girth 6 ft 3 in, live weight 2600 lbs, $108; 1 pr, girth 7 ft, live weight 2950 lbs, $135; 1 pr, girth 7 ft, live weight 3000 lbs, $124; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 3 in, live weight 2700 lbs, $104.

Milch Cows—The call for milch cows has only been moderate, and the larger portion of those offered for sale were of a common grade. Sales of 2 new milch cows at $40 each; 1 extra springer $55; 2 cows and calves at $38 each; 8 cows and calves at $35 each; 1 milch cow $30; 2 cows and calves and 1 springer for $116 50 the lot.

Store Cattle—There were a few stores brought in from Maine, but the trade for them was quiet. Most of the small cattle that were in a fair condition were bought for slaughter.

Sheep and Lambs—Western sheep cost landed at the Abattoir from 5 and 6½c, lambs, 5¼ and 6c per lb; all owned by butchers with the exception of some which were bought at the west for the English markets. Those from Maine were owned by butchers and taken direct from the cars to the slaughter houses.

Swine—Fat Hogs—Prices have advanced. We quote 6 and 6½c per lb live weight.

KIDNEY-WORT

PERMANENTLY CURES
KIDNEY DISEASES,
LIVER COMPLAINTS,
Constipation and Piles.

DR. R. H. CLARK, South Hero, Vt., says, "In cases of KIDNEY TROUBLES it has acted like a charm. It has cured many very bad cases of PILES, and has never failed to bed each effectually."

NELSON FAIRCHILD, of St. Albans, Vt., says, "It is of priceless value. After sixteen years of great suffering from Piles and Costiveness I was completely cured sec."

C. S. ROGARDS, of Berkshire, says, "one package has done wonders for me in completely curing a sev— Liver and Kidney Complaint."

IT HAS WONDERFUL POWER. WHY?

BECAUSE IT ACTS ON THE LIVER, THE BOWELS AND KIDNEYS AT THE SAME TIME.

Because it cleanses the system of the poisonous humors that develope in Kidney and Urinary diseases, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Piles, or in Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Female disorders.

KIDNEY-WORT is a dry vegetable compound and can be sent by mail prepaid.

One package will make six qts of medicine.

TRADE MARK

DAY'S Kidney PAD

A DISCOVERY BY ACCIDENT,

supplying a want which men of eminent ability have devoted their study and experiment to find—a specific for diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System—and from the time of its discovery has rapidly increased in favor, gaining the approval and confidence of medical men and those who have used it. It has become a favorite with all classes and where ever introduced has superseded all other treatments. In short, such is its intrinsic merits and superiority, that it is now the only recognized reliable remedy.

DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS

are the most prevalent, dangerous and fatal affections that afflict mankind, and so varied and insidious in their character, that persons often suffer for a long time before knowing what ails them. The most characteristic symptoms are gradual wasting away of the whole body; pain in the back, side or joints, a weak, feeble, exhausted feeling, loss of appetite and dread of exercise; scanty and painful discharge of variously colored urine; inability to retain or expel the urine; minute shreds or casts in the urine; and, when the disease is of long duration, there is much emaciation and general nervous prostration.

THE ONLY CURE.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the first and only reliable cure for every form of kidney disease. It is the best remedy yet discovered for this class of diseases, and the most efficient in operation than any other treatment. By using faithfully and persistently no cases will be found so inveterate as not to yield to its powerful remedial virtues.

STRONGLY ENDORSED.

We have the most unequivocal testimony to its efficacy from many persons of high character, intelligence and responsibility. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving the history of this new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it.

DAY'S KIDNEY PADS are sold by druggists, or will be sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of their price: Regular, $2.00. Special, for obstinate cases of long standing, $3.00. Children's, $1.50. Address,

DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., TOLEDO, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the great popularity of Day's Kidney Pads, many unscrupulous dealers are trying to palm off other medicines on the public in place of our Pad. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, take no other and you will not be deceived.

STONES IN THE KIDNEYS

and BLADDER Expelled--Long Suffering of one of TROY'S best People.

A LUCKY MAN.

Mr. James Andrews, of No. 10 Marshal Street, Troy, N. Y., had suffered for several years from the formation of Stones in the Kidneys and Bladder, and had doctored with many of the best physicians without receiving any benefit. He was induced to try Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," and the following extract from Mr. Andrews letter tells the whole story.

TROY, N. Y., April 8th, 1880.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.

DEAR SIR,—I received your letter to-day, and you are welcome to use any part of my letter as you seem best. Had I not found that "Favorite Remedy" I should have been a great sufferer to this day. The stone that passed from me has a small piece broken off, but the large one is whole so that you can see for yourself of what it is composed.

I am quite willing to testify under oath to all I have written in regard to my sickness and recovery, and would be glad to fully recommend my deep sense of gratitude to you for my great deliverance from so terrible a disease.

With a real grateful heart I remain yours most respectfully, JAMES ANDREWS,

SMITH'S MEDICATED PRUNES

LAXATIVE CATHARTIC.

Pleasant to the taste; Effective without Griping.

CURE CONSTIPATION, BILIOUSNESS AND LIVER TROUBLES.

These take the place of the nauseating and violent cathartics used to relieve Costiveness, Piles, and inaction and torpidity of the Liver. Formerly, one MEDICATED PRUNE acted as a mild laxative; two or three have been the effect of cathartic medicine or violent water-gruel without nausea or griping. No bad effects follow repeated doses like a charm. The Medication is entirely vegetable and healthful. Physicians recommend them. Druggists keep them.

CANTERBURY SHAKERS'

BLOOD-PURIFYING

SARSAPARILLA.

Prescribed by Physicians and Druggists for nearly Fifty Years.

THE SHAKER'S SARSAPARILLA is just what it purports to be.—Dixi Crosby, M. D. I have long prescribed it, an I think it a most valuable medicine.—Jeremiah Blake, M. D., Gilmanton, N. H. I have known it for nearly half a century. Our confidence in it is in no way impaired.—Carlton & Hovey, Druggists, Lowell. I speak with confidence of it, having prescribed it for eighteen years.—S. M. Dinsmor, M. D., Francestown, N. H. Give me the shakers' sarsaparilla in preference to all others.—C. A. Gilmanton, M. D., Boston. I have the most unbounded confidence in its healing and renovating properties.—Wm. R. Preston, Druggist, Portsmouth, N. H. I consider it the best preparation made.—A. G. Wilson, Druggist, Boston.

Do not fail to make a trial of this great Blood Purifier, Appetizer, and Tonic, the first and best of all medicines called Sarsaparilla, which is prepared from the celebrated SHAKER BALSAM, HERBS AND BERRIES by the CANTERBURY SOCIETY OF SHAKERS, and is beyond all comparison the purest, safest, and most effective family medicine in the world. Ask for CORBETT'S SHAKERS' SARSAPARILLA. The genuine is signed by THOMAS CORBETT, its inventor, and sold by druggists generally.

Political Notes.

The democrats are trying to be as cheerful as possible. The republicans carried the democratic city of Wilmington, Del., the other day, reversing the previous democratic majority, and showing a gain of more than 600 votes, and the New York World speaks of the result as a "drawn battle."

If the democratic managers understand their business they will call off their hoodlums. The affair at Harrison, N. J., on Friday night, where they injured one man fatally and shot and stabbed several others, was followed on Saturday night at Hartford, Conn., by an assault upon a republican meeting. Gen. Hawley, Mr. William H. Bulkeley and other gentlemen who addressed the meeting were struck by stones and mud thrown at the stand. Political clubs were stoned on their way home, several persons being injured and transparencies wrecked. Capt. Embler of the Hawley Legion was struck full in the face by a large stone, and seriously injured. This sort of campaigning may do in the south, but it will not help the democracy a bit in the north.

Humming Birds.

Humming-birds are the smallest of the bird creation. More than one hundred species or varieties have been discovered, some as small as bumble-bees, others large as canary-birds, and having much longer tails. They appear to prefer a warm country, but some have been seen flying about in a snow storm near the Straits of Magellan. They are all dressed in rainbow colors. As they poise themselves in the air their open wings are invisible, while the pupils of their little, dark eyes look directly at you. Their wings are very narrow and pointed, so that they cut the air with the humming sound which has given them their name. They fly all day long, sometimes as swiftly as the strongest wind, , except when hatching their eggs, and they always fly faster than bees. When journeying some distance they sweep through the air in a graceful undulation, never rising very high. The nectar of flowers provides a large part of their food, and they also eat insects that lurk in flower-cups or on the petals, and catch them while flying.

VITAL STATISTICS. It is shown by the reports of Health Boards, and other authorized bodies, that diseases of kidneys and bladder are largely on the increase; a sad fact, due perhaps to the foolish habit of drinking lager beer and other liquors, without knowing what they are made of. Is there a remedy? Decidedly yes. First, stop drinking. Second, use Hunt's Remedy—a potent and unfailing specific for kidney, bladder, liver and urinary complaints. Hunt's remedy, the great kidney and liver medicine, is endorsed by eminent physicians.

Sold by all druggists. Trial size, 75 cents.

An aged couple named Purdy, at Austin, Minn., were asphyxiated while asleep in bed, Sunday morning, the house burning over their heads.

The Red Mark.

You have seen persons afflicted with erysipelas? Well, it is an awful thing. It disfigures the face almost beyond recognition, and is as dangerous as it is repulsive. It often causes sudden death, and is sometimes called "St. Anthony's Fire." Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., had it in both legs, and was cured by the use of Dr David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." His health is now perfect. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," is the very life of the blood. It cannot hurt you and is sure to help. Tell your neighbors so. Get it of your druggist, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y., enclosing one dollar for a bottle.

Rebecca Lyon, "the bearded woman," died on Friday at Syracuse, N. Y.

FOR HOUSE CLEANING—There is nothing to compare with James Pyle's Pearlina. It does the work in half the usual time without soap or anything else. Sold by all grocers; but beware of counterfeits.

Richard O. Adams, of Deadwood, Dakota, the defaulting ex-postmaster, who escaped from the marshal after trial and conviction, and was recaptured at Fort Sully, has been sentenced to three years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is prticularly recommended for children. It cures Coughs, Colds, Croup, Sore Throat and Whooping Cough. Is pleasant to the taste and acts like a charm. Price 25 cents.

James Beattie of Bradford, Mass., was found dead in a pasture, Monday morning, having died there the previous evening from heart disease. He was a temperate, industrious and respected citizen, and leaves considerable property. He was a married man, and leaves a widow and one daughter.

The Maine Election.

The returns from Maine, up to the time the morning papers of Tuesday went to press, seemed to indicate a sweeping victory for the fusionists, including the triumphant election of Plaisted for governor; of three congressmen at least, and probably four; and of a majority in the state legislature, which would give the democrats a United States senator from Maine, and all the state officers.

The returns of Tuesday evening, although not what the republicans had hoped for and even expected before the election, were much better than at first indicated, and very much better than the fusion ante-election predictions had said they would be. Plaisted's election, though regarded as probable by a small majority, was not assured, while Reed's election to congress from the first district was, making the congressional delegation in the next congress the same as in the present one—three republicans and two democrats; and the republicans have both branches of the legislature by good working majorities.

The democrats are somewhat jubilant,—not, we should judge, over a great victory, for their sole "gain" is in the election of a disgruntled republican as governor,—but over the fact that the republicans have failed to recover, in a contest against the united fusionists, the whole of the ground that was captured by the divided forces of the fusionists two years ago, when the opposition carried the lower house of the legislature, had a majority in every congressional district, and were more than 13,000 ahead on the vote for governor. Outside of whatever moral effect the republican failure to wholly recapture Maine may have in other states, the democratic "victory" appears to be solely confined to changing the title of Harris M. Plaisted—a man who fought against the democracy in the field all through the war, and at the polls ever since until very recently—from "general" to "governor."

A Novel Display.

One of the prominent features of the trades procession next Friday, in Boston, will be the novel display of Jordan, Marsh & Co. They were tendered the honor, by the city committee, of representing the thirty-eight states of the Union by thirty-eight of the young ladies of their establishment, who it was decided should be carried in a magnificent barge, representing the ship of state, drawn by eight horses. The design of obtaining Gilmore's band originated with them, and was accomplished after overcoming many obstacles. But this resplendent ship of state seemed at this juncture to Jordan, Marsh & Co., to be all fitt and no tail. It required balance—background; and after a little reflection, it was concluded to turn out all their force of men, in both wholesale and retail departments, and to regularly organize them into a battalion drilled in thoroughly military style, with chiefs, aids, etc. The wholesale battalion numbers four companies, the retail ten, the cash boys in uniform six; in front of this will march their own drum corps of twenty-five boys, all in escort of the ship of state, making a procession in itself one-third of a mile in length. Having obtained the band, the firm wrote to the city authorities requesting permission to use the parade ground on the common, and there to erect a band stand, where thousands could be able to hear the splendid music of Gilmore's fine organization in pieces that could not be played along the line of march. Here on the evening of the seventeenth will be given one of the grandest free out-door concerts ever heard in Boston. In addition to this, the same firm will illuminate the entire parade ground on that evening with Maxim's electric light, using a machine ten times the size of the largest light now in use in the world, and which affords the lighting power of 57,000 candles.

News and Notes.

Two sons of John Henry Wells, a prominent citizen of Riverhead, L. I., aged respectively fifteen and seventeen years, were playing with an old revolver generally believed not to be loaded, in the house, Sunday evening, while the family were at church. The youngest son snapped the revolver fourteen or fifteen times, aiming playfully at his brother, but there was no explosion. He then mounted the horse-block in front of the house, and, as the older boy approached he said, "Halt, or I'll shoot you." He pulled the trigger as he had done so often before. There was an explosion, and the seventeen-years-old boy fell dead in his tracks, shot through the heart.

Steamer Stonington, of the Stonington and New York line, was attached on Monday at her dock in Stonington, Conn., in a matter of two suits of $15,000 each for loss of life by steamer Narragansett. The suits are brought by Boston parties through their counsel, Hon. Augustus Brandegee of New London. The United States limited liability act, under cover of which the steamboat company took refuge, is ignored in these suits, as that act was intended to protect steamboat interests if the collision had been accidental or unavoidable.

The Nahant Steamboat company has settled for the recent accident at India wharf, Boston, by paying $5,000 to the friends of the lady drowned.

A serious shooting affray took place at a picnic twelve miles from Owenton, Kentucky, on the 11th inst. A difficulty arose between some drunken boys on a trivial matter, and before the termination involved three brothers named Smith and three brothers named Hammond, and a half-brother of the Hammonds, named Bernard Acree. The Smith party proved more expert with weapons. The Acree boy, eighteen years old, was instantly killed, and his half-brothers, the Hammonds, all wounded, two mortally. The Smiths and Hammonds are cousins, and one of the Hammonds is brother-in-law to the Smith boys. The parties who did the shooting avoided arrest. They are sons of G. W. Smith, a justice of the peace, and said to be a respectable citizen.

The Ponca Indians.

SANTEE AGENCY, NEB., Aug. 17, 1880.

Having heard many and various reports about the condition of the Ponca Indians, who have returned from the Indian Territory and are now living on the Niobrara river, we, the undersigned, together visited their reservation in order that we might satisfy ourselves by personal observation as to their present condition and prospects.

We found great difficulty in fording the river. When in the middle of it we had to jump into the water to prevent our wagon from sticking hopelessly fast in the quicksand. We were not surprised to learn that the Poncas had broken their wagon at this same crossing, and in consequence had not been able to earn much hauling wood to market.

We found that Standing Bear and a number of his band were away on a visit to the Spotted Tail and Red Cloud Sioux. Instead of being as reported, unfriendly and anxious to drive the Poncas from their homes, the above-named Sioux chiefs had invited the Poncas to visit them, and gave them presents of horses. Part of the band had returned and reported that Standing Bear would be back in a few days, and that a good many ponies had been given to his party. This report was also confirmed by Omaha and Yankton Indians whom we met at the Ponca camp and at the Yankton agency.

We found the Poncas living in tents, as all their old houses were destroyed during their exile in the Indian Territory. They had been supplied by the Omaha committee and other friends interested in them, with two stirring plows, four double shovel plows, three new sets of harness, five pitch-forks, one good lumber wagon, one light spring wagon, six axes and one grindstone, and had of old stock eight sets of harness, (broken and almost worthless,) and eight lumber wagons, (broken and unfit for use until repaired.)

We found that with the plows abovementioned they had succeeded in planting and cultivating very fairly, a large amount of corn. We were surprised and delighted with the extent of their cornfields, which we estimated at about 250 acres. We went right into the fields among the corn and found much of it well cultivated and bearing evidence that considerable labor had been expended on it. In some places, there had evidently been weeding done by hand. Indeed we were amazed as we thought of the difficulties these Indians have had to contend with, to find their corn fields as they are, and bearing such favorable comparison with the fields of their white neighbors in the same section of country. It is true that much of the corn is rather backward, owing to the small number of implements they have, and also to the severe drought which has visited northeastern Nebraska and southeastern Dakota, but if there are seasonable rains and no very early frosts, the Poncas will have a good crop in return for their hard labor.

We found the Niobrara bottom (instead of being wild and unproductive land) one of the most beautiful valleys we ever visited, and we believe it is capable of raising splendid crops, if cultivated with the same energy which the Indians have exhibited during the past year.

We found that no part of the old Ponca reservation is now occupied by white people, and the Sioux have entirely vacated it; so that there seems to be no reason why the Poncas should not be at once allowed to return to their old homes, and the lands from which they were so cruelly and wrongfully driven.

We heartily and sincerely trust that these Poncas may be undisturbed in their effort to make a living for themselves at their old homes. If they are, we believe, from what we have seen, that they will, in a short time, not only prove themselves capable of self-support, but by their success prove that a more excellent way is to be found in the statesmanlike policy of old Standing Bear, who believes that an Indian is a man and should work like a man for his own support, rather than in the plan of pauperizing the Indians by giving them rations, and treating them as wards and children on reservations.

Trusting that this simple statement of fact from those who have no official interest in the matter, will be beneficial in placing the present condition of the Poncas on the Niobrara in its right light before the public, we are, Yours truly,

Mothers! Mothers;! Mothers?!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. 4

A Merry New Orleans Sailor Boy.

In the local topics of excitement among the drowsy denizens of New Orleans in its torrid heats, the luck that has befallen one good fellow, known as Tom Bailey, the owner of a pleasure yacht, is the great source of conversation. The story is very brief, and its counterpart is told monthly in various other forms. He bought a half of a ticket in the Grand Monthly Distribution of the Louisiana State Lottery Company for one dollar, at the office of M. A. Dauphin, in New Orleans, and received fifteen thousand dollars in gold as a reward for his sagacity in thus investing his money. It might have been the reader—but next time (Oct. 12th) who will be the lucky man.

IT MAKES NO DRUNKARDS,

Breaks no Hearts, Excuses no Crimes.

Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is not a disguised enemy of the human race; where it cannot help, it does not harm. FAVORITE REMEDY is a combination of vegetable alteratives. It does not heat nor inflame the blood, but cools and purifies it. In all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver complaints, Constipation of the Bowels, and the delicate derangements which afflict women, the action of FAVORITE REMEDY is beyond praise. Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this, in letters to Dr. Kennedy; and with a warmth and fullness of words which mere business documents and certificates never possess. It makes no drunkards—excuses no crimes—breaks no hearts. In its coming there is hope, and in its wings there is healing. We challenge a trial and are confident of the result. Dr. Kennedy would have it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine, "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to Office practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery.

Uncle Tom's Cabin this evening at Music hall. See advertisement.

The surveyors of the Eastern railroad were in Dover on Saturday surveying for new passenger and freight depots. The freight depot was located.

At the convention of the republicans of the Rockingham senatorial district, held on Tuesday, Amos C. Chase, Esq., of Kingston, was nominated upon the first ballot. Mr. Chase appeared before the convention, and accepted the nomination in a brief speech.

The October term of the Supreme Court will be held in this city on the 19th day of October. The number of actions on the continued docket is 208, the smallest number for many years. Judge L. W. Clark will hold the court.

Phillips academy at Exeter had a larger number of students (313) at the commencement this term than ever before. The term began on Wednesday, Sept. 8th. Don Cameron of Pennsylvania has a son at this academy.

Among the invited guests of the city of Boston on the occasion of the anniversary on Friday next will be Col. Wm. H. Sise, as mayor of the city of Portsmouth, and Hon. Thos. E. O. Marvin, as president of the Portsmouth board of trade. These gentlemen, with Gov. Head and staff, and other prominent public men, will be quartered at the Parker house.

A substantial covered way has been built between the Whalesback light-tower and the foghorn-tower, making the passage from one to the other not only convenient and comfortable for the keepers, but safe as well, which it was not before on dark nights during heavy weather in the winter, when the open iron bridge was covered with ice and big seas were swashing around the towers. During the strong gale of last week the enormous waves gave the new structure a good testing, which it stood most satisfactorily, not leaking a drop, nor yielding in the slightest degree to the heavy blows bestowed upon it.

The schooner Eddie F. Treat, which went to pieces at Frost's point last Thursday, is about as thoroughly ground up as a wreck could be, her fragments and the wood which composed part of her cargo being scattered for hundreds of yards along the beach, and the slates which she carried being distributed over a patch of rocks an acre in extent. On Sunday a gang of men under the direction of Mr. Daniel S. Broughton were engaged in saving what of the slates are worth saving, and a large boat-load was brought to this city that day. In one place, in a kind of gully in the rocks, laid part of the schooner's bottom, with several tons of slate in good condition still stowed in it; further in shore was half of her deck, broken in many places, and covering other tons of slates; the vessel's nose with the windlass, bowsprit and jibboom attached, was canted up on a rock a short distance away; and in almost every depression over a large space could be seen hundreds of slates, in many instances as neatly arranged as when stowed in the schooner's hold. Several thousand slates, the schooner's sails, two small anchors and some other articles were piled up above high water mark, but the entire salvage from the wreck will not be large.

THE BIRD LAW.

We invite the attention of the boys, or any one else concerned, to the first clause of the New Hampshire bird law, which reads as follows:

If any person shall at any season of the year take, kill or destroy any of the birds called robins, thrushes, sparrows, larks, blue-birds, finches, buntings, martins, orioles, swallows, fly-catchers, bobolinks, woodpeckers, * * or any other of the song-birds or insectivorous birds, he shall be punished by a fine of five dollars for each and every such bird, or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days, or by both.

CONGREGATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

The General Association of Congregational churches in New Hampshire began its seventy-first annual meeting at the North church in this city on Tuesday evening. About two hundred delegates and strangers were in attendance. The opening sermon was preached by Rev. William V. W. Davis of Manchester. After the sermon, the association was organized by the choice of Hon. Jonathan E. Sargent of Concord as moderator, Rev. C. A. Stone of Hopkinton as scribe, and Rev. Frank H. Allen as assistant scribe.

The services commenced with singing, by a male chorus, of "The Lord is my fortress;" followed by an invocation by Rev. C. A. Stone, reading of scriptures, prayer by Rev. Geo. Dustin, and more singing. Mr. Davis' text was 1st Cor., 15th chapter, 14th and 15th verses; and his sermon was an able argument that the corner stone of Christianity is Christ's resurrection; take that away, and the whole structure must fall.

The programme for the exercises of Wednesday and Thursday is as follows:

Wednesday, business meetings at nine o'clock A. M. and two P. M. At 9:30 A. M., essay by Rev. E. E. P. Abbott; subject, "Permanence in the ministry, and how to secure it." At 10:30, reports of delegates, followed by reports of benevolent causes. At 2:30, P. M., narrative of the state of religion, by Rev. S. L. Gerould. At 3:30, discussion of the present methods of Sabbath school work, by Rev. J. M. Dutton. At four, woman's missionary meeting in the chapel on Middle street. At 7:00, report of ministers' and widows' charitable fund. At 7:30, anniversary of the New Hampshire Home Missionary society.

Thursday, business meeting at nine o'clock A. M. At 9:30, essay on the religious condition of Dartmouth college. At ten, discussion on the "evils of divorce—and their remedy," by Rev. S. P. Leeds, D. D. At eleven, discussion—"What should be the attitude of our churches toward the Anglo-American revision of the Bible?" by Rev. Elijah Harmon. At two o'clock P. M., closing sermon by Rev. E. G. Selden of Manchester, followed by the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

There is to be a prayer meeting this (Wednesday) morning at 8:30 o'clock, in the church, led by Rev. Cyrus W. Wallace of Manchester, one of the most eloquent preachers in the state. The public are cordially invited to this and all other meetings of the convention.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

The republican convention of Rockingham county met in Exeter on Tuesday, and organized by the choice of Frank P. Cram of Hampton Falls as president; Jonathan P. Robinson of North Hampton, John D. Ordway of Hampsted and Charles H. Mendum of Portsmouth as vice presidents; and William Clark of Londonderry and Freeman N. Burleigh of Stratham as secretaries.

Committees were appointed as follows:

On credentials—William H. Poor of Derry, Nathan F. Mathes of Portsmouth, George W. Tilton of Epping, Samuel P. Badger of South Newmarket, James F. Lane of Raymond.

On resolutions—William H. Hackett of Portsmouth, Samuel A. Haley of Newmarket, Enoch P. Hoyt of Atkinson, B. R. Wheeler of Salem, John Underhill of Chester.

John H. Kent of Portsmouth was nominated by acclamation as candidate for sheriff.

A ballot for three candidates for county commissioners resulted as follows:

Whole number of votes	91
Necessary for a choice	46
Newton Johnston had	79
Wells C. Underhill	73
Joseph C. Burley	89
William A. Vaughan, Jr.,	12
Albert Little of Atkinson	3
James F. Gove of Raymond	1

And Messrs. Johnston, Underhill and Burley were declared the nominees of the convention.

For county solicitor the vote was:

Whole number of votes	85
Necessary for a choice	43
E. C. Eastman had	5
Greenleaf C. Bartlett	27
Walter C. Harriman	53

And Mr. Harriman was nominated.

George W. Weston was nominated as candidate for register of deeds, the name of John E. Holmes having been withdrawn.

Woodbury M. Durgin was nominated for register of probate by acclamation, as was George E. Lane for county treasurer.

Col. Hackett, from the committee on resolutions, presented the following as the report of the committee:

Resolved, that in the prosperity of the country, a sound currency, a safe banking system, the constant reduction of the public debt, the faithful collection and application of the revenue, is seen the ability of a republican administration to properly and economically manage the government of the United States; and any change in this policy, sought by the democracy, is simply an excuse to redistribute the patronage of the government, a procedure having no possible advantages to the people at large, compared with the security for good government which will follow the election of Garfield and Arthur.

Resolved, that the mission of the republican party has not, as has been asserted by men who failed to control its destiny, ended; but the same spirit of patriotism and loyalty to the fundamental ideas of our form of government, which saved it in times of past peril, is still required to preserve and protect it from the insidious attacks of those who seek to control it only to gratify their selfish purposes.

Resolved, that the republicans of Rockingham county gratefully recognize the appreciation by the party in the state of an eminent citizen of this county, selected as a candidate for governor by the recent state convention,—a man who if chosen will do credit to the state in the office; and we pledge our best exertions toward accomplishing his election in November.

Resolved, that the material reduction of the debt of this county is a result hailed with satisfaction by every tax-payer. We commend this economical administration of our county affairs, and trust that its continuance will be heartily endorsed by the voters at the polls.

Resolved, that in the candidates this day put in nomination, we present a set of men worthy of the suffrages of the voters of this county, and we commend them to the cordial support of every intelligent man who desires good government and an economical administration of the affairs of our county.

The resolutions were adopted amid cheers and enthusiastic applause, and the convention then adjourned without day.

TERMINAL FACILITIES.

The report of the railroad commissioners of New Hampshire for the year ending March 31st, 1880, under the head of "Terminal facilities" contains the following:

Within the past few years a great deal has been done by almost all the lines of railroad having a terminus at tide-water, to develop their facilities to handle freight in an economical manner, and tranship without delay all the foreign traffic from over their roads.

Large amounts of capital have been invested in improved methods of transfer, and in land and the necessary machinery and buildings to prevent any extraordinary accumulation of cars at any given point, and to prevent cars from being detained in the vicinity of shipping-points when needed for moving foreign freight along the line. In Boston almost every available property is in some way controlled by the corporations or by individuals in the interest of some one of the great transportation lines from the west, and it is a well-known fact that during the past winter the terminal facilities of Boston were inadequate to take care of the vast amount of foreign freights that were consigned to that port for transhipment. The daily reports of the exportation of grain showed that a good many cargoes during the past winter were sent to Portland and New London to be transported on ships that would have loaded in Boston had an opportunity been open.

The great increase in the value of property when developed for such purposes should awaken the people and the railroad corporations of this state to the fact that we have one of the best and safest harbors in New England, that might, at comparatively small cost in proportion to the expense of filling acres of flats and tide-water basins, as is necessary in Boston in order to increase the facilities at that point, be made a shipping-point to take the surplus, if not be made a competing port for foreign freight.

It is well known that a large amount of local or domestic freight, such as coal, cement, etc., is now delivered at Portsmouth by vessels that return in ballast, because no available return freight is offered, while a great deal of rough and dressed granite is every year sent to about the same points as these vessels go for freight; and it is possible that these heavy freights might be delivered in New York, Philadelphia, or Baltimore, by these vessels at less cost than on any other route, beside securing for the roads in New Hampshire the full amount paid for railroad transportation, instead of dividing with other roads.

It is a matter of fact that granite is a staple article in this state, and that it has the reputation of being of the best quality in color and power to resist the action of the elements anywhere to be found. But, unfortunately for the prospect of its becoming a source of wealth to the state, the best quarries are situated so far inland that the freight becomes a serious element in the practical development of its worth.

If our corporations and capitalists would unite in developing new and cheaper routes and rates of transportation, the labor and capital necessary to successfully work our quarries would materially advance the property valuation of the state. It is true it is very heavy freight, but railroad corporations have but very little to do with the handling of it, except to furnish rolling stock and motive power, while it is generally sent in full car-loads—the unit of a full train—and therefore may be considered as desirable freight for any line.

"Under the Weather."

How many people drag through life about half ill, never really sick, but always miserable and doing their work in a listless, reluctant way. Uncharitable people call it laziness, but it is really sickness. It dulls the keen edge of pleasure and kills the zeal of living. All this results from impure blood. A bottle of Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" will transform such sufferers into new creatures by cleansing the blood and toning up the system. Hundreds are now living healthy and happy lives who never knew a "well day" till they took Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Sold by all druggists. $1.00 a bottle. Lovely Women,

Lima is the paradise of women. They are called beautiful; so they are, if you admire black eyes and ebony tresses. They are generally occupied, but do not work; they look upon labor as degrading. They rise early, take a cup of tea, and go to mass. Their toilet requires but a few moments. Their walking suits are neat and pretty; in this respect they surpass us. The dress is black, and never touches the ground; there is no fussing nor fumbling with trains. A white skirt is something seen below the dress, with a deep hem and two tucks, and always white and clean. Prunella gaiters are generally worn; the hands are bare; the manto is thrown over the head, falling gracefully down almost to the bottom of the skirt. The subject of dress claims most of their time and attention. Their ball dresses and opera and soiree suits are magnificent. Their boots, especially, are beautiful. No people have naturally as small feet as the Peruvians. The Peruvian-made boots are too small for foreigners. Peruvian ladies are not very intelligent; as soon as they pass beyond the school-girl period they care little for books or literature. Many learn to play the piano when young, but do not care to continue when married. They are excessively courteous in their manners. They are always wealthy in imagination—at least, they never speak of poverty. They love to smoke. Although handsome when young, they scarcely turn twenty when they begin to fade. One thing always lasts with them, and that is their gait. Their movements are gliding and graceful; the same is true of the men.—Philadelphia Times.

DAY'S Kidney PAD

A DISCOVERY BY ACCIDENT,

supplying a want which men of eminent ability have devoted years of study and experiment to find—a specific for diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System—and from the time of its discovery has rapidly increased in favor, gaining the approval and confidence of medical men and those who have used it; it has become a favorite with all classes and where ever introduced has superseded all other treatments, in short, each letter intrinsic merits and superiority, that it is now the only recognized reliable remedy.

DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS

are the most prevalent, dangerous and fatal affections that afflict mankind, and so varied and insidious in their character, that persons often suffer for a long time before knowing what ails them. The most characteristic symptoms are gradual wasting away of the whole body; pain in the back, side or loins, a weak, feeble, exhausted feeling; loss of appetite and dread of exercise; scanty and painful discharge of variously colored urine; inability to retain or expel the urine; minute shreds or casts in the urine; and, when the disease is of long duration, there is much emaciation and general nervous prostration.

THE ONLY CURE.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the first and only infallible cure for every form of Kidney disease. It is the best remedy yet discovered for this complaint, and more effectual in its operation than any other treatment. By using faithfully and persistently no case will be found so inveterate as not to yield to its powerful remedial virtues.

STRONGLY ENDORSED.

We have the most unequivocal testimony to its curative powers from many persons of high character, intelligence and responsibility. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," gives the history of this new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it.

DAY'S KIDNEY PADS are sold by druggists, or will be sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of their price (regular, $2.00. Special for obstinate cases of long standing, $3.00; Children's, $1.50. Address,

DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., TOLEDO, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, take no other and you will not be deceived.

KIDNEY-WORT

PERMANENTLY CURES

KIDNEY DISEASES,

LIVER COMPLAINTS,

Constipation and Piles.

DR. R. H. CLARK, South Hero, Vt., says: "In cases of KIDNEY TROUBLES it has acted like a charm. It has cured many very bad cases of PILES, and has never failed to act efficiently."

NELSON FAIRCHILD, of St. Albans, Vt., says: "It is of the greatest value. After sixteen years of great suffering from Piles and Costiveness it completely cured me."

C. S. HOGARON, of Rockaway, says, "one package has done wonders for me in completely curing a severe Liver and Kidney Complaint."

IT HAS WONDERFUL POWER. WHY? BECAUSE IT ACTS ON THE LIVER, THE BOWELS AND KIDNEYS AT THE SAME TIME.

Because it cleanses the system of the poisonous humors that develope in Kidney and Urinary diseases, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Piles, or in Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Female disorders.

KIDNEY-WORT is a dry vegetable compound and can be sent by mail prepaid.

One package will make six qts of medicine.

THE

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a concise summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or SELF-PRESERVATION; Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

The hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail post-paid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, which or due to peculiarities habits or inherited. He is a Nervo specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.

The author refers, by permission, to Hon. P. A. BISSELL, M. D., president of the National Medical Association.

STONES IN THE KIDNEYS

and BLADDER Expelled--Long Suffering of one of TROY'S best People.

A LUCKY MAN.

Mr. James Andrews, of the Marshal Street, Troy, N. Y., had suffered for several years from the formation of Stones in the Kidneys and bladder, and had doctored with many of the best physicians without receiving any benefit. He was induced to try Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," and the following extract from Mr. Andrews letter tells the whole story.

TROY, N. Y., April 8th, 1880.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR,—I received your letter to-day, and you are welcome to use any part of my letter as may seem best. Had I not used the "Favorite Remedy" I should have been a great sufferer to this day. The stone that passed from me has a small piece broken off, but the large one I enclose so that you can see for yourself of what it is composed.

I am quite willing to testify under oath to all I have written in regard to my sickness and recovery, and words fail to fully express my feelings of gratitude to you for my great deliverance from so terrible a disease.

With a real grateful heart I remain yours most respectfully, JAMES ANDREWS.

SMITH'S MEDICATED PRUNES

LAXATIVE CATHARTIC.

Pleasant to the taste; Effective without Griping.

CURE CONSTIPATION, BILIOUSNESS AND LIVER TROUBLES.

They take the place of the nauseating and violent cathartics used to relieve Constipation, Piles, and inaction of the Liver. Pleasant one, two or three hours the effect of cathartic medicines or mineral waters but without nausea or griping. No bad effects follow repeated use. Children like them, and they relish them as much as they do a prune taken at bed-time acts like a charm. The medication is entirely vegetable and healthful. Physicians recommend them. Druggists keep them.

Presidential Possibilities.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press gives the following speculative table of presidential chances, which shows the possibilities of the pending canvass:

ELECTORAL VOTE BY STATES.

Total number of votes, 350; necessary to a choice, 185.

DOUBTFUL.

Connecticut	6	New Jersey	9
Indiana	15
New York	35	Total	9

*Include Florida to show how small a vote might change the result.

Add to the republican vote New York, and you have 201 votes, or sixteen more than is requisite.

Add Indiana and Connecticut, leaving out New York, and you have two majority.

Add Indiana and New Jersey, and you have five majority.

Add Indiana and Florida, and you have just the number required.

Add Connecticut, New Jersey and Florida, and there is a like result.

Add to the democratic chances New York, and there is a deficiency of twelve votes.

Add New York and New Jersey and they are still short three votes.

Add Connecticut, Indiana and New Jersey, and they are still short seventeen votes.

Add New York and Indiana, and there are three more votes than are necessary, but if Florida should go republican they are still one short.

Joe Goss, the prize fighter, has been arrested at Detroit as a fugitive from justice.

A medical journal in San Francisco, which has among its editors one of the doctors who waited on Mayor Kalloch after De Young shot him, has published an article asserting that Kalloch received nothing more than a flesh wound, and deceived his family, the public and his physicians in order to carry the election.

What Better Evidence

could the people ask to substantiate the merits of Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines than the fact that they have not only yearly grown in popular favor in this country, but the foreign demand for them has become so great as to necessitate the establishing a branch of the celebrated World's Dispensary in London, England, that these blessings to the afflicted may be dispatched from that great commercial center of the world to every country and people? Golden Medical Discovery is a concentrated, potent alterative, or blood cleansing remedy, that wins golden opinions of all who use it for all humors from the common pimple, blotch, or eruptions, to the formidable scrofulous swelling. Internal fever, soreness and ulceration, yield to its benign influence. Consumption, which is but a form of scrofulous affection of the lungs, may in its early stages be cured by a free use of this God-given remedy. See article on consumption and its treatment in "Invalids' Guide Book"—ten cents post-paid. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 3d, 1879.

DR. R. V. PIERCE:

Dear Sir: With trembling hand, from my extreme age, being eighty-five, I write to inform you of the great benefit your Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets have been to me. Three years ago I was prostrated with pneumonia, and no one thought I would recover. By the use of those medicines I was raised to health, and by the blessing of God and your medicines I have enjoyed pretty good health since, though for years before this I suffered from weak lungs and a bad cough

Gratefully yours, MARY B. FISK.

The Maine Election.

The returns from Maine up to Wednesday evening give the republicans three congressmen and the greenbackers two, as before reported. The legislative returns gave the republicans nineteen senators to twelve greenbackers, and eighty-six republican representatives to sixty-five greenbackers. The election of Plaisted was still in doubt, with at least an even chance of his defeat—the "barrel" seeming not to have reached the back towns.

News and Notes.

A girl thirteen years old, named May Clarke, is under arrest at Lancaster, Ohio, for setting fire to a stable.

Joseph Knight, a London journalist, who greatly encouraged Miss Neilson by his kind criticisms of her acting early in her career, is remembered in her will with a bequest of £1000.

The merchants and business men of St. Louis are dissatisfied with the census returns of that city's population, and are moving for a new count.

A handsome monument over the grave of Robert McAuley at Ottawa, Ont., has recently been broken in pieces by a hammer. McAulay was the "Orange young Briton" who was shot through the head and thrown into the river during the "Orange and Green" troubles of 1878.

Cornelius Dowd arrived at his home in Woonsocket, R. I., on the 13th inst., from jail, and celebrated his acquisition of liberty by going that evening to a house of bad repute kept by one James Crook, and smashing down the door when refused admittance. Crook drew a revolver and shot Dowd dead, and then gave himself up to the police.

Abram A. Lazarus was arrested at Springfield, Mass., on the 11th inst., and taken to Worcester, charged with stealing $8,000 or $10,000 worth of bonds from a Mrs. Wellington of California, in front of the Bay State house at Worcester last spring. Mrs. Wellington had a fainting turn on the street, and Lazarus, who is a New York drummer, assisted in caring for her, and it is claimed while doing so he got possession of her satchel containing the bonds. He immediately went west, where he has remained, until by agreement with Mrs. Wellington he was to meet her in Springfield on the 11th, and settle the matter. When he put in an appearance to settle he was arrested.

Fourteen years ago James Millis mysteriously disappeared from Somerset, Ind. One Wimley was suspected of murdering him, arrested, convicted and now is under sentence of death. The condemned man's brother succeeded in finding Millis alive and well in Kentucky a few days ago, and has saved an innocent man from the gallows.

Seven negroes were recently arrested for murder in Robertson county, Tenn., jailed, and afterward lynched.

Edison has been interviewed, and says that his new lamp will soon be ready for the market; he has machinery to turn out 1,200 per diem; they will cost thirty-five cents each, and will last with ordinary usage six months. He has canvassed a portion of New York city, and finds that the merchants and manufacturers are ready to co-operate. The cost of the "plant" for the manufacture of electricity is less than one-half the sum required for gas. The new electrical engine is so far a success. Edison claims that it will draw heavier loads on a steep grade at a higher rate of speed than the ordinary locomotive. He is building engines for trial on the Pennsylvania road.

Yung Kwai, the Chinese boy who was graduated from the Springfield, Mass., high school last June with the salutatory address, became a Christian, and wrote home about it to his father, who is one of the highest of the Chinese nobles, though not of royal blood. The father wrote a very indignant letter, and ordered him to return home, threatening to starve and beat him into renouncing his views. As the boy was determined to be true to his new faith, he looked upon his return to China as going to almost certain death; but he started quietly with other Chinese boys for Boston, whence they were to sail for home by way of Europe. Yung Kwai, however, stepped from the train at Springfield, and that is the last that has been seen of him. If he succeeds in keeping hidden for a year he will then be twenty-one years of age, and can become a citizen of the United States.

The Falklands.

The Falkland islands have an area of 5,000,000 acres, mostly devoted to sheep farming, which has proved very profitable to the present settlers, wool being exported from the islands that a few years ago produced nothing but penguins and sea lions. It is only thirteen years (1867) since the first settlers, under Gov. Robinson, landed on West Falkland, and already there are many prosperous "stations" of sheep and cattle thereon. Some of the smaller islands have since been taken by men with a few hundred pounds of capital, and as the climate is the healthiest in the world the only wonder is that more Englishmen do not cast their fortunes in a dependency of Britain where there is no income tax and where sheep and land may be obtained on easy terms.

Sublunary happiness, however, is seldom without some drawback, and it must be confessed that the climate is by no means as genial as that of the Canary islands or Madeira. It blows so hard during eleven months of the year that Admiral B. used to require two sailors to keep his hat on, and whenever the governor's term of office expires, he invariably solicits the colonial secretary to remove him to some other settlement less windy, though less salubrious. Another drawback is the want of society, or of immediate contact with Europe. There is no line of steamers that touches at Stanley, the only regular communication with the outer world being through the schooner Foam, which carries the mails and passengers monthly to and from Montevideo, a thousand miles distant. There are no roads or coaches for internal traffic, most of the country around Stanley being a morass, which compels the principal farmers to keep their own yachts or schooners for repairing to the capital or sending their wool thither. The city of Stanley consists of the government house, the bishop's residence, the custom house, fort, and a few houses, with some 500 inhabitants.

For some years after Great Britain annexed these islands in 1833, they served merely as a refuge for whalers and an entrepot for the seal fishery, under the auspices of Samuel Lafoue of Montevideo, founder of the Falkland Islands company. This company subsequently embarked in sheep-farming, importing some flocks from Patagonia, and refining the breed by a cross with the Cheviots. They now possess 100,000 sheep, which produce £30,000 worth of wool annually, the fleeces averaging six pounds and selling at 11d. per pound at Bradford, where it is used for combing purposes. The company's headquarters are at Port Darwin, seventy-six miles from Stanley, their farms extending along the seaboard, by Mount Pleasant and Port Fitzroy, to within fifteen miles of the capital. So well suited is the pasture to sheep that they yield from seventy to one hundred pounds of meat, and the fleece is double the average of what is obtained in the adjacent country of Buenos Ayres, but of coarser quality owing to the climate. The company have also 29,000 horned cattle, which are, however, of little use unless for their hides, as there is no population to consume the beef nor any means for exporting it.

There is, meantime, no other colony in the British empire that has relatively made such progress as this in the last ten years. Its population has doubled, and its products have quadrupled, as shown by the returns in the "colonial abstract," recently published.

East Falkland may be said to consist of eight large farms, the company already mentioned holding a million acres, and the rest belonging to Capt. Packe, Messrs. Bonner, Pattaluga, Sharp, Greenshields, Robson, and Felton, whose farms range from 24,000 to 100,000 acres. West Falkland comprises eight estates, averaging 100,000, owned by Messrs. Waldron, Dean, Packe, Bertrand, Stickney, Holmested, Williams, Binney, Ballou, and McClymont. Of the smaller islands, the Speedwell belongs to Mr. Williams, the Lively to Messrs. Cobb, the Pebble to Messrs. Dean, the Keppel to Bishop Stirling's mission, and New Island to Mr. Littlejohn, besides ninety others not yet occupied, some, perhaps, of no value.

The large island of Georgia, which is forty times the size of Jersey, is uninhabited, probably on account of its remote situation, being 800 miles east of the principal group. All these islands lie between fifty degrees and fifty-five degrees of south latitude, and resemble the Orkneys in climate, soil, and vegetation. The thermometer ranges from twenty-six degrees to fifty degrees in winter, and fifty degrees to seventy-five degrees in summer. Snow sometimes remains on the mountains for weeks together, but ice never exceeds an inch in thickness. Mount Adam is the loftiest peak, 2315 feet, all the northern part of East and West Falkland being mountains, and the southern sloping away in plains from five to fifteen miles in width. There are no trees, perhaps on account of the strong winds, but shrubs and fruit trees thrive in sheltered spots. Fuel is abundant, in the form of peat, and the soil, where bog does not prevail, consists of a vegetable mould six inches thick, which produces excellent potatoes, cabbages three feet high, and all kinds of anti-scorbutic vegetables.

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes. Tu,Th&S,6o

IT MAKES NO DRUNKARDS,

Breaks no Hearts, Excuses no Crimes.

Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is not a disguised enemy of the human race; where it cannot help, it does not harm. FAVORITE REMEDY is a combination of vegetable alteratives. It does not heat nor inflame the blood, but cools and purifies it. In all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver complaints, Constipation of the Bowels, and the delicate derangements which afflict women, the action of FAVORITE REMEDY is beyond praise. Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this, in letters to Dr. Kennedy; and with a warmth and fullness of words which mere business documents and certificates never possess. It makes no drunkards—excuses no crimes—breaks no hearts. In its coming there is hope, and in its wings there is healing. We challenge a trial and are confident of the result. Dr. Kennedy would have it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine, "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to Office practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery.

AROUND HOME.

The young democrats of Christian Shore formed a Hancock & English club on Wednesday evening.

Anthony & Ellis' Uncle Tom's Cabin company gave a good show at Music hall, to a very good audience, on Wednesday evening.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher passed through this city by the White mountain train on Wednesday evening of this week, bound for Boston.

The schooner Mayor Jones, Dunphy master, arrived at Doane's wharf on the 14th inst., from the banks, with a fare of 180,000 lbs. of fish.

The Pharmaceutial Association, at its recent session at Saratoga, N. Y., elected Charles A. Tufts of Dover treasurer. J. T. Shinn of Philadelphia was elected president.

Clark & Marble's "Tile Club" combination is to appear in Music hall on Monday evening next. It is said to be one of the best companies travelling. At the close of their present New England circuit they are to play at the Gaiety theatre, Boston, for two weeks, commencing Oct. 4th.

The excursion to Boston in the steamer Florence on Friday, and the excursion over the Eastern railroad on the same day, will take a big crowd away from our city. The cheap fare by the steamer, fifty cents each way, will induce many to take that route, as the railroad fare will be $1.50 each way—making a saving of two dollars to those who take the water route.

The result of the democratic state convention at Concord on the 15th inst. was that the democracy of New Hampshire bowed the knee to Hon. Frank Jones, and with earnest supplication besought him to help them out. The candidate who had all along protested his disinclination to accept, and who had refused to allow his name to be used, having apparently taken courage over the news from Maine,

"Vowing he'd ne'er consent, consented."

To very many of both parties this is no surprise. The battle will be with strong gubernatorial candidates in our county; and the contest so long promised by the democracy for a vigorous campaign under Mr. Jones is at hand. It remains to be seen whether the financial coup d' etat that proved so cogent in Maine will be equally effective in this state.

Hon. Jonathan E. Sargent, moderator of the General Association of Congregational churches of New Hampshire, now in session in this city, is one of the ablest laymen of the denomination in this state. He has been chief justice of the supreme court, as well as speaker of the house and president of the senate of New Hampshire. As a public man he is known all over the state. He is an excellent presiding officer, and one of the leading members of the South Congregational church in Concord. At the National Council of the Congregational churches of the United States, held at Detroit, Michigan, in 1877, he was chairman of one of the most important committees; and as he is a prominent member of the denomination and well versed in the duties of the chair, the present assemblage made a judicious selection in calling upon him to preside over their meetings.

BEER AND WATER.

"It is not meet to take the children's bread and give it unto dogs."

So says Holy writ; but is it any more meet to take the children's drink, and give it to breweries. The remarkable healthfulness of our city for many years, especially its exemption from the epidemics to which children are liable,—cholera infantum and the like,—has been in a great measure attributed to the purity of our drinking water. Statistics show that the mortality among our children has been at an extremely low ratio compared with other cities, similarly situated in other respects, but which have water less excellent than our own. Repeated analyses have shown the purity of our springs to be almost unexampled; and, alas for our city! it is this very purity that has induced the establishment of so many breweries here. And now we find that this water supply, deemed inexhaustible at first, is not sufficient for the city, and a fresh source must be at a great expense obtained, by leading in the water from Raymond pond. Meanwhile the census shows the increase of our city's population to be very slight. I would not now enter upon the moral question of beer drinking, nor on the disadvantages or advantages of the breweries established here; but I would ask for an exact statement from some of your readers who can give it, (if any such there are,) of the number of gallons supplied to the city now, of the number supplied some twenty years ago, and of the amount consumed by the different breweries. Will some one answer these questions? We shall at least then know where we stand. And I would merely add that if the proposed plan is carried out, and the Raymond pond water is brought into the city, the citizens should insist that the breweries be supplied from that source solely. If the water is as pure as that now used, they cannot complain; if it is not, the best should by all means be kept for ourselves and our children.

Beer may be good, but health is better. A FRIEND TO THE CHILDREN.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTIONS.

The delegates to nominate a candidate for representative in congress from the first district in New Hampshire assembled in the city hall at Dover on the 15th inst., at eleven o'clock. There was a very large attendance.

The convention was called to order by Col. Charles W. Sawyer of Dover, member of the state committee; and Charles E. Whitehouse, Esq., of Dover, was chosen president, and Hon. Oliver Wyatt, of Dover, secretary.

On motion of Hon. John D. Lyman, of Exeter, Hon. Joshua G. Hall of Dover, the present incumbent, was renominated by acclammation.

Hon. Zimri S. Wallingford, of Dover, then moved that Col. Albert L. Eastman of Hampstead be nominated by acclamation for presidential elector, which was done.

The resolutions of the republican state convention were adopted.

Mr. Hall and Col. Eastman appeared, and accepted the nominations in appropriate and forcible remarks.

Hon. E. H. Rollins being present was called on, and being a natural orator made an excellent twenty-minutes' speech. Mr. Wallingford, Col. J. Horace Kent, and Mr. Lyman also spoke. The convention was characterized by perfect harmony and much earnestness, and separated with a determination to elect the ticket by an old-fashioned majority.

On the adjournment of the congressional convention, the councillor convention for the first district met in the same place, and was called to order by Col. Charles M. Murphy of Dover, of the state committee.

Aaron Young, of Portsmouth, was elected president, and George E. Lane of Exeter secretary.

Major Gerrish of Dover withdrew the name of Chas. W. Sawyer of that city as a candidate for councillor, and placed in nomination Thomas G. Jameson of Great Falls. Col. Kent of Portsmouth seconded the nomination of Mr. Jameson, (which was carried by acclamation) at the same time eulogising Mr. Sawyer in very complimentary terms, and expressing the opinion that in the near future that gentlemen will be called upon to make a sacrifice and serve his constituents whether or no. He was followed by Emery A. Randall of Great Falls in the same strain, Mr. Randall also thanking the convention in the name of Mr. Jameson for the honor conferred upon him. Judge Dibble of Louisiana, who was to speak in the evening, made some pertinent remarks, as did also Hon. E. B. Philbrick of Rye and Hon. J. D. Lyman, after which the convention adjourned with the best of feeling.

The second district republican congressional convention was held on the 15th inst., and Hon. James G. Briggs of Manchester was renominated. The councillor convention for the district was held immediately afterward, and John W. Wheeler of Salem was renominated.

THE MONUMENT ASSOCIATION.

At the meeting of the Odiorne's Point Monument (settlement New Hampshire) association in this city on the 14th inst., Hon. John J. Bell of Exeter was elected president; Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury of Boston, Hon. Person C. Cheney of Manchester, and Hon. Frank Jones of Portsmouth, vice presidents; Frank W. Hackett, Esq., of Portsmouth, secretary; and Hon. Samuel C. Eastman of Concord, treasurer. The by-laws reported by the committee appointed at a previous meeting were adopted, and several new members were elected. On motion of Mr. Woodbury, the president was authorized to appoint an executive committee to devise means of procuring subscriptions; also, to nominate a board of trustees, one from each county. A letter was read from Charles W. Tuttle of Boston, expressing the hope that as this year is the 200th anniversary of the first provincial government set in New Hampshire, it is worthy of commemoration by erecting the monument before the year expires. The meeting then adjourned. Since the last session a deed from Col. Eastman of Littleton, of land needed for the monument at Odiorne's point, has been executed and recorded. From $2,500 to $3,000 are required to erect a plain, substantial shaft, which amount, it is expected, will be secured without much further delay.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Schooner Cocheco came off the ways at Kittery on Tuesday.

Schooner Golden Gate, Amee master, arrived at the navy yard on the 14th inst., from Boston with stores.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

The democratic state convention was held in Concord on the 15th inst., and largely attended. John H. George of Concord was president, with a vice president from each county.

Frank Jones of Portsmouth was nominated as the democratic candidate for governor.

[We are informed that Mr. Jones left Concord before the result of the balloting was announced, and as yet awaits an official notification of his nomination, before accepting or declining; although his political friends in this city on Tuesday evening asserted that they had assurances that he will accept.]

George B. Chandler of Manchester, and J. C. Moulton of Laconia, were nominated as electors at large on the Hancock and English ticket.

Political Notes.

The republican state convention of Massachusetts was held at Worcester on the 15th inst. Gov. Long was renominated, and the rest of the state ticket is the same as last year, except that Daniel A. Gleason of Malden is nominated for state treasurer.

The "workingmen" of San Francisco have renominated Kalloch for mayor.

All the warnings of the northern democrats cannot keep the rebel spirit of South Carolina and the other southern states from manifesting itself. The Lexington (S. C.) Dispatch advises its readers to don their red shirts and attend the democratic convention at Columbia, mounted, for the purpose of intimidating the republican voters by a show of violence, a show which they well understand is no unmeaning exhibition, but is to be followed up, if necessary, by all that it indicates. The Dispatch says "the South Carolina republicans are so easily and so thoroughly and so much intimidated that it's as good as a fox chase to get out after them." They have good reason to be intimidated. They have experienced the cowardly brutality of the democratic rulers of the state, and they know that the red shirt is no idle menace.

The industrial league of America has issued an address from its headquarters at Chicago on the condition of American industries. The league proposes to hold meetings in the principal towns and cities, also in the thickly populated farming districts, and publicly discuss the issue between American industries and British interests; to organize an auxiliary league in every congressional district as soon as practicable, to vote for no candidate for Congress who will not pledge himself, if elected, to do all in his power to protect American industries.

Are not our enthusiastic democratic neighbors celebrating themselves with big guns upon rather slight provocation? Here is an election in Maine, in which the Garfield party was confronted by the Weaver party, the Hancock party and the Neal Dow party, in solid phalanx; and it is not yet known positively that the three have succeeded in defeating the Garfield candidate for Governor, and if they have, the successful candidate is not a Hancock man! Why, you foolish bombardiers! don't you know that your party will be third in the poll in Maine next November, unless the Neal Dow folks make a rally, and crowd you into a fourth position?—Providence Press.

Among the recent publications of the standard series issued by I. K. Funk & Co. of New York, are "Thoughts of Emperor M. Aurelius Antoninus, translated by Geo. Long," printed without abridgement; the second volume of the "Salon of Madam Necker," containing parts three and four, translated from the French by Mary Stuart Smith; "The Hermits, by Canon Kingsley," and "John Ploughman's pictures, or more of his plain talk for plain people, by Charles S. Spurgeon." These standard works can be had for fifteen cents each, and are excellent reading—and should take the place of much that commonly passes under the name of "cheap literature."

—A write-hand man—The amanuensis.

—An Oswego man who can't say anything mean about his wife's mother himself, wants her to run for office.

—A cynical man says: "If you want to keep a friend never do any business with him. If he cheats you, you will probably hate him, and if you discover that you have missed the opportunity to cheat him, you will hate him sure."

—A man who hadn't been bitten by anything died of hydrophobia the other day in Binghamton, and another man was sunstruck in Wilmington while sitting in the shade. We are evidently in danger of having our fingers cut off in a hay-cutter while abed and asleep.

—The harvest moon will soon be here. It is so-called because young men who utilize it for the purpose of going out walking with the girls are generally harvested.

HORICON, WIS., Dec. 20, 1879.

I have been troubled with kidney complaint (diabetes) for six years and without relief until I commenced taking kidney-wort. I have taken four boxes, and now consider myself entirely cured. I would recommend it for all such cases.

W. H. THOMPSON,
Engineer C. M. & St. P. R. R.

Mrs. J. B. Clark, Amite, La., writes: "I have used Kidney-Wort, and I wish I could see you to tell you of the benefit it has been to me. It has relieved me of pain in the side, constipation, piles, and some other complaints. My sleep is now very refreshing, and I am quite well. It is a sure cure."

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 14th.

From no part of the country do more contradictory accounts of political affairs come than from Virginia; and, as many believe that democratic success is impossible without the vote of that state, extraordinary interest is beginning to be felt by the political managers here in the local complications. One reason why the reports from Virginia are so unreliable, I may say for the benefit of northern readers, is to be found in the fact that in different portions of the state, each of the democratic factions has great strength. For instance, in one section the readjusters control nearly all the conservative votes, and think they will have with them many negroes. In such a section the readjusters are opposed to any compromise or combination with the funders, while the latter profess a willingness to enter into any fair arrangement to unite the party on a single electoral ticket. Somewhere else the situation is greatly reversed, and there the funders are irreconcilable, while the readjusters, like Barkis, are "willin'." So, I suppose more than half of the prominent conservatives of the state are anxious for a settlement of the difficulties, but unfortunately for the prospect of harmony, the minority have control of the machine, and backed by an almost unanimous home support, are defiant. I do not see any prospect of united conservative action in the state this fall, unless the people shall take matters in their own hands.

The reports from Washington as to assessments on office-holders must be taken with many grains of allowance. There is no doubt that some indiscreet officials have used undue means to secure contributions, but by the most thorough inquiry I have not been able to find any one case in which a man has lost his place by a refusal to pay over. Neither, as a rule, have women employees been asked for contributions; but here again have over-zealous officials, in a few instances, gone beyond their instructions, and have done far more harm to their party than can be overcome by the paltry amounts collected.

Official figures just issued here, show in this country an aggregate of gold and silver coin of about $870,000,000, and $700,000,000 of paper, making in all $1,270,000,000, or $25.50 for each man, woman and child in the country.

The attention of the two congressional committees having headquarters here has been called to systematic violations of the laws on the subject of "franking." Not only is matter which is not "part of Congressional Record" sent off "franked" by the ton, but handstamps are used to produce the signature of the franking congressman. The evil is confined to no party. FNOX.

"As a counteractant to debilitating influences (lassitude, nervous depression, debility, malaria, dyspepsia, liver complaints, heart affections, dropsical troubles, derangements of the stomach and bowels) it is invaluable," says Professor F. Dr. Mott's Endorsement of Speer's Port Grape Wine.

The following from the celebrated Dr. Mott, of New York, speaks wonders for Mr. Speer's efforts to raise the Oporto Grape in New Jersey. The doctor has spent years in Portugal and the wine districts of France, and knows what he is talking about.

NEW YORK, April 11, 1878.

MR. ALFRED SPEER.—Dear Sir.—The visit which I made last year to your vineyards, wine-presses and vaults at Passaic, N. J., satisfies me thoroughly that the wines manufactured by you are pure and unadulterated, and the very best that can be offered to the public for medicinal uses.

Acting upon my favorable impression at the time, I have since recommended the Port Wine; more particularly in my practice, and am satisfied with marked benefit to my patients.

There can be no better proof to the doubting mind, as to the wine being made of the finest Oporto Grape, than a visit to the acres of land covered with the vine bearing the luxuriant fruit. Wishing you success in your praiseworthy enterprise, I remain respectfully yours,

ALEX. B. MOTT, M. D.,
Prof. of Surgery, Bellevue Hospital Medical College, &c., &c.

Deep-seated coughs, and catarrh extending to the lungs, cured by Malt Bitters.

—Mrs. Louise Woodruff is a sensible woman. She was one of the passengers of the steamer Seawanhaka, recently burned in New York harbor, and barely escaped with her life. She remained on board the burning vessel until her back was scorched, fearing to jump into the water because she could not swim. After two weeks' nervous illness from the shock she made it her first business to learn to swim, and she now breasts the waves like a mermaid.

KIDNEY-WORT

PERMANENTLY CURES
KIDNEY DISEASES,
LIVER COMPLAINTS,
Constipation and Piles.

DR. R. H. CLARK, South Hero, Vt., says, "In cases of KIDNEY TROUBLES it has acted like a charm. It has cured many very bad cases of Piles, and has never failed to act efficiently."

NELSON FAIRCHILD, of St. Albans, Vt., says, "It is of priceless value. After sixteen years of great suffering from Piles and Constipation it completely cured me."

C. S. BOGARON, of Berkshire, says, "one package has done wonders for me in completely curing a set of Liver and Kidney Complaints."

IT HAS WONDERFUL POWER. WHY?

BECAUSE IT ACTS ON THE LIVER, THE BOWELS AND KIDNEYS AT THE SAME TIME.

Because it cleanses the system of the poisonous humors that develope in Kidney and Urinary diseases, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Piles, or in Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Female disorders.

KIDNEY-WORT is a dry vegetable compound and can be sent by mail prepaid.

PEARLINE

THE GREAT INVENTION
FOR WASHING AND CLEANSING

In hard or soft water, WITHOUT SOAP, and without danger to the finest fabric.

SAVES TIME and LABOR AMAZINGLY, and is rapidly coming into general use. Sold by all Grocers; but beware of vile counterfeits. Its great success brings out dangerous imitations, but PEARLINE is the only safe article. Always bears the name of James Pyle, New York.

A DISCOVERY BY ACCIDENT.

supplying a want which men of eminent ability have devoted years of study and experiment to find—a specific for diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System—and from the time of its discovery has rapidly increased in favor, gaining the approval and confidence of medical men and those who have used it; it has become a favorite with all classes and where ever introduced has superseded all other treatments. In short, such is its intrinsic merits and superiority, that it is now the only recognized reliable remedy.

DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS

are the most prevalent, dangerous and fatal affections that afflict mankind, and so varied and insidious in their character, that persons often suffer for a long time before knowing what ails them. The most characteristic symptoms are gradual wasting away of the whole body; pain in the back, side or loins, a weak feeble, exhausted feeling, loss of appetite and dread of exertion; scanty and painful discharge of variously colored urine; inability to retain or expel the urine; minute shreds or casts in the urine; and, when the disease is of long duration, there is much emaciation and general nervous prostration.

THE ONLY CURE.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the first and only infallible cure for every form of Kidney disease. It is the best remedy yet discovered for this complaint, and more efficacious in its operation than any other treatment. By using faithfully and persistently no case will be found so inveterate as not to yield to its powerful remedial virtues.

STRONGLY ENDORSED.

We have the most unequivocal testimony to its curative powers from many persons of high character, intelligence and responsibility. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving the history of this new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it.

DAY'S KIDNEY PADS are sold by druggists, or will be sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of their price: Regular, $2.00; Special, for obstinate cases of long standing, $3.00; Children's, $1.50. Address, and BLADDER Expelled—Long Suffering of one of TROY'S best People.

STONES IN THE KIDNEYS

A LUCKY MAN.

Mr. James Andrews, of No. 10 Marshal Street, Troy, N. Y., had suffered for several years from the formation of Stones in the Kidneys and Bladder, and had doctored with many of the best physicians without receiving any benefit. He was induced to try Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," and the following extract from Mr. Andrews' letter tells the whole story.

TROY, N. Y., April 8th, 1880.

Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR,—I received your letter to-day, and you are welcome to use any part of my letter as may seem best. Had I not used the "Favorite Remedy" I should have been a great sufferer to this day. The stone that passed from me has a small piece broken off, but the large one I enclose so that you can see for yourself of what it is composed.

I am quite willing to testify under oath to all I have written in regard to my sickness and recovery, and wish to add my public expression of gratitude to you for my great deliverance from so terrible a disease.

With a real grateful heart I remain yours most respectfully, JAMES ANDREWS.

CANTERBURY SHAKERS' BLOOD-PURIFYING SARSAPARILLA.

Prescribed by Physicians and Druggists for nearly Fifty Years.

THE SHAKER'S SARSAPARILLA is just what it pupports to be.—Dixi Crosby, M. D. I have long prescribed it, and I think it a most valuable medicine.—Jeremiah Blake, M. D., Gilman. Has been known it for nearly half a century. Our confidence in it is in no way impaired.—Carlton & Hovey, Druggists, Lowell. I speak with confidence of it, having prescribed it for eighteen years.—S. M. Dinsmor, M. D., Francestown, N. H. Give me the shakers' Sarsaparilla in preference to all others.—C. A. Gullmette, M. D., Boston. I have the most unbounded confidence in its healing and renovating properties.—Wm. H. Preston, Druggist, Portsmouth, N. H. I consider it the best preparation made.—A. G. Wiber, Druggist, Boston.

Do not fail to make a trial of this great Blood Purifier, Appetizer, and Tonic, the first and best of all medicines called Sar-sparilla, which is prepared from selected SHAKER ROOTS, HERBS AND BERRIES by the CANTERBURY SOCIETY OF SHAKERS, and is beyond all comparison the purest, safest, and most effective family medicine in the world. Ask for CORBETT'S SHAKERS' SARSAPARILLA. The genuine is signed by THOMAS CORBETT, its inventor, and sold by druggists generally.

Pleasant to the taste; Effective without Griping.

CURE CONSTIPATION, BILIOUSNESS AND LIVER TROUBLES.

They take the place of the nauseating and violent cathartics used to relieve Costiveness, Piles, and Inaction of the Liver. For adults, two or three have the effect of cathartic medicine or gentle laxative; two or three have the effect of laxative medicine. No bad effects; not without nausea or griping. One half of a prune is taken at bed-time; acts like a charm. The medication is entirely vegetable and a delightful confection. Physicians recommend them. Druggists keep them.

Reasons Why.

"Why should I vote the republican ticket?" asks the young man who has just reached his majority, and is desirous of making a conscientious choice between the two parties which solicit his ballot. Here are a few reasons why:

Because the republican party is the only party which has no cause to be ashamed of its past record.

Because it began its existence by resisting the extension of the curse of human slavery to the free territories of the west.

Because it fought a four years' war to save the Union from being broken into fragments, and conquered the most formidable rebellion known to history.

Because it emancipated four millions of slaves, and gave them the right to "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness" which the Declaration of Independence pronounced to be the inalienable right of all mankind.

Because by an amendment to the Constitution it forbade the states to deprive any citizen of the ballot on account of the color of his skin, thus making suffrage national and impartial.

Because, in a grand struggle of ten years' duration, it steadfastly and successfully defended the national honor against the assaults of repudiators, and put the credit of the United States on a par with that of the other great civilized nations of the world.

Because it made good the Nation's promise to the holders of its greenback notes that they should be redeemed in coin, bringing the whole volume of the paper currency up to par with gold by the passage of the resumption act, in spite of the persistent hostility of the democrats.

Because it provided the country with the safest and best banking system known to the world, and rescued it from the evils of the former irresponsible state banking system.

Because it has always honored labor and has recognized its right to comfort and education, by a tariff which protects the American workingman against the competition of the pauperized laborers of Europe.

Because it believes in the education of the masses, and has given free schools to fourteen states of the Union which had no system for general, impartial education until after the reconstruction which followed the war.

Because it has warmly maintained the results of the war, and constantly asserted and defended the great principles of nationality, liberty and equality.

Because it stands to-day for a pure ballot uncontrolled by intimidation and unedified by fraud, and for government by the freely expressed will of the majority.

Because it is the party of ideas, principles and progress, and embraces in its ranks a large majority of the men of intelligence, culture, enterprise, and high character in every northern community.

Because the party which saved the Republic from disruption, and made it free, strong, honest, and honored of all nations, can best be trusted to manage its government and mould its destinies.

A duel between a Ute Indian and a Navajo took place at Santa Fe, New Mexico, last Thursday. A few friends of the Indians were present. The Ute was killed and the Navajo was seriously injured. Knives were the weapons, and the duel was caused by both Indians wanting to marry the same girl.

The Red Mark.

You have seen persons afflicted with erysipelas? Well, it is an awful thing. It disfigures the face almost beyond recognition, and is as dangerous as it is repulsive. It often causes sudden death, and is sometimes called "St. Anthony's Fire." Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., had it in both legs, and was cured by the use of Dr David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." His health is now perfect. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," is the very life of the blood. It cannot hurt you and is sure to help. Tell your neighbors so. Get it of your druggist, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y., enclosing one dollar for a bottle.

A subscriber in Dover writes:

Was not the lesson of the rebuke in Maine sufficiently explicit to the federal office-holders to abstain to some extent from their manipulations of the caucuses and conventions called to nominate elective offices? Does Mr. Andrew H. Young think he adds to the chances of choosing Garfield and Arthur by allowing one of his deputies to preside at a recent convention in this city, while his chief clerk made the nomination, when plenty of men would have filled the office of president and gone home in better humor; and is it necessary for the United States deputy marshal to make a speech of endorsement of candidates at every convention? This questionable disregard for the civil service rules, and the unconstrained efforts of the office holders to control every nomination, that state officers shall be under obligation to endorse the applications of the present incumbents of long-enjoyed positions for re-appointment, is just what the republicans of Maine, though patriotic and loyal to their party, have sought to rebuke, by voting—not the democratic ticket, as some of the democracy flatter themselves, but for the side-show, that Messrs. Blaine and Hamlin may take a hint. In the senatorial convention this week in the county of Rockingham, a worthy man was defeated for the nomination for the state senate, solely because a favored office holder, whose position in the Boston custom house has been of long standing, advocated his nomination! It fixed him.

Our correspondent seems to believe that the efforts of federal office holders exerted upon the eve of a presidential contest, to prominently appear in nominating conventions, is in bad taste. There is no question in regard to this. It is not a time to consider the question of patronage, but to see that a united support is given the candidates whom the republicans place in nomination. The defection in Maine is largely owed to the long continuance of the Maine senators in office, and to the fact that they were surrounded by a set of office holding parasites who did not permit the rising men of the party to have a fair showing. The greenback candidate for governor was one of these men. From all parts of Maine, have gone up complaints regarding this management, and the falling off in the republican vote, and the victory of fusion with all its demoralizing effects—

"Hath this extent, no more."

Buying Votes in Maine.

The following is from the Augusta, Me., correspondent of the Boston Herald:

Said the venerable Ex-Senator Bradbury, the last of Maine's democratic senators: "Certain things have grown appallingly in late years. Men who ten years ago would have knocked you down for suggesting they could be bought, will now stand and dicker about the price. I mention these little things to show the venality of a large class of voters in this state, and, to sustain the broad charge of bribery, I could quote the testimony that I have had within a week from a dozen leading men of both parties. All agree, moreover, that there has been more vote-buying this time than ever before. It sounds queer to hear the republicans bringing the charge that democratic money carried the state, for the fusionists have been notoriously poverty-stricken, and heretofore it has been the republicans who did nearly all the buying, and they expected to do it this time. The truth about it is, Mr. Barnum gave the republicans a little surprise."

This is pretty strong corroborative evidence that the statements of the republican managers in Maine had a substantial foundation in truth—that the cities and large towns of Maine were flooded during the last three or four days of the canvass with money sent by the national democratic committee, of which Barnum, the celebrated buyer of "mules," is chairman.

But still stronger evidence is to be found in the simultaneous outcry of all the fusion papers in Maine and Massachusetts, which commenced about a week before the election and was kept up until the voting day, that the republicans were intending to purchase a victory, and acknowledged it! This concerted shout of the fusion press was evidently instigated from some central position, with intent to cover up what was going on—the "stop thief" shout of the pickpocket.

And still more conclusive evidence yet is found in the returns from the small "back towns" and plantations. Two years ago it was the enormous greenback vote of these back towns which swamped the republican party under an adverse majority of 13,000, but this year they show republican gains everywhere, even on the vote of last year, while the fusion vote in the cities and large towns is largely augmented. The thickly-settled districts were beyond the benign influence of Barnum's golden shower.

But it was not money alone that turned the scale, though we have no doubt that money was improperly used, and perhaps not all on one side. All the voters of Maine are not for sale.

The "Fusion Victory" in Maine.

A despatch from Portland, late Thursday afternoon, says that only 33 towns remained to be heard from, and if they give the same vote as last year, Davis' majority will be 198 over all opposition. As the small back towns have nearly all made republican gains, Davis' majority will almost certainly be over two hundred. There is no longer any doubt about his election. The democratic papers will have to take two reefs in the roosters which they hung out in honor of the alleged greenback victory in Maine.

(By Western Union Telegraph.)

PORTLAND, Sept. 16, 12 P. M.

All but 30 towns are heard from, and give Davis 1185 plurality over Plaisted. If these 30 towns vote as last year, Davis will have a majority of over 300.

News and Notes.

The skull of Stephen W. Treadwell, a boatman, was fractured by stones thrown at him by some boys as he was rowing in the canal at Jersey City on the 15th inst. The man cannot live.

Charles Livingston, the New York fool who undertook to go without food for forty-two days, gave it up on the 15th inst. after fasting nine days. Shortly before midnight a man rushed into the hall and told Livingston that his wife had committed suicide in consequence of her husband's determination to continue his fast against her wishes. Livingston went home and found his wife in convulsions. He summoned a physician, but the latter could not discover any symptoms of Mrs. Livingston's having taken poison, and concluded that it was only a device on her part to get her husband home. Mrs. Livingston evidently has more sense than her husband.

The coroner's jury at Woonsocket, R. I., returned a verdict of murder on the 15th inst. against James Croaks, who shot James McMarus at his house of ill fame on Monday night, the 13th. Croaks was arraigned, and his case continued for examination.

The dead body of an unknown woman has been found concealed under the sawmill of Fuller & Fernald, at Wilton, Me.

"Society" at Galesburg, Ill., is greatly agitated over the marriage of one of Galesburg's most highly educated young ladies to a colored man who was a servant in the family. She is highly connected, her father being an eminent divine at the time of his death, and well-known in Episcopal circles throughout the northwest. The couple ran away on the night of the 14th inst., and were married; and next day were found several miles from Galesburg, at the colored man's residence.

The dead body of an old man named John Brandt was found near Sunbury, Pa., a day or two since, under circumstances which make it appear like a murder. There was $25,000 insurance on Brandt's life, recently effected, and it is thought he was killed to obtain this insurance. The men who obtained the policies were named Byers and Hilbert, the insurance being effected by a travelling agent named Gardiner.

Rev. E. P. Adams of Dunkirk, N. Y., has been deposed from the ministry of the Presbyterian church by the Presbytery of Buffalo for heresy, in preaching against the doctrine of eternal punishment.

The Cape Ann Bulletin of the 15th inst. says: "Capt. Winn of Rockport, Mass., is high line this season on lobsters, having stocked more than any two gangs from this place. His pots are set on the flat grounds, around the Salvages and the Londoner, outside of all others, so that his labors have been proportionately greater than his competitors. The lobsters have been of an excellent quality, and found a ready market, one hundred and thirty-five barrels of them having gone direct to Fulton market, N. Y.; and the receivers have engaged his entire catch next season. During the storm of last week, he lost thirty pots."

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes.

IT MAKES NO DRUNKARDS,

Breaks no Hearts, Excuses no Crimes.

Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is not a disguised enemy of the human race; where it cannot help, it does not harm. FAVORITE REMEDY is a combination of vegetable alteratives. It does not heat nor inflame the blood, but cools and purifies it. In all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver complaints, Constipation of the Bowels, and the delicate derangements which afflict women, the action of FAVORITE REMEDY is beyond praise. Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this, in letters to Dr. Kennedy; and with a warmth and fulness of words which mere business documents and certificates never possess. It makes no drunkards—excuses no crimes—breaks no hearts. In its coming there is hope, and in its wings there is healing. We challenge a trial and are confident of the result. Dr. Kennedy would have it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine, "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to Office practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery.

Bakes day or night without rekindling fire. No poking or shaking required; a single turn of the Duplex Grate removes all clinkers, leaving a fresh fire. The Most Perfect Range in this City!

AROUND HOME.

A bouncing boy, weighing twelve pounds, arrived at the residence of Mr. John S. Wendell, Jr., Pleasant street, on the 10th inst.

Miss E. B. Thornton, assistant operator in the Western Union telegraph office, started last Thursday morning for Omaha, where she will remain about two months.

Rev. R. B. Howard, of the Chicago Advance, made us a brief call on Thursday, being here for the purpose of writing up the doings of the Congregationalist Association whose session has just closed.

The democratic congressional convention for the first district of New Hampshire met in Dover on Thursday. John W. Sanborn was unanimously nominated for Congress, and Hon. Daniel Marcy of this city for presidential elector.

A party of excursionists came into town over the Concord & Portsmouth railroad on Thursday, and most of them went on a steamboat ride in the Florence, though quite a number remained in this city, not caring to tempt old Neptune. The excursionists appeared to be of a very respectable class.

The annual "gathering" at Salisbury beach was postponed on Wednesday, on account of the storm, to Saturday, the 18th inst. The steamer Florence will run from steamboat wharf in this city at 7:30 A. M. on Saturday, taking passengers at 25 cents each, arriving at the beach in ample time for them to see the whole affair. There are to be numerous games,—sack races, greased pig race, etc.,—and speeches from some big political guns.

The store of Reese Owen at South Seabrook was broken into on the night of the 6th inst., and a bag of meal and some copper coins stolen. Mr. Owen kept very still about the matter, thinking he might gain a clue to the thief through the return to his store of some of the coins, several of which were old stagers in the store, much battered, and well known to Mr. Owen. A day or two since a boy handed one of the marked coins to Mr. Owen, in payment for some trifling article, and in answer to a question as to where he got it, said his father gave it to him; the father, on being questioned, said the boy found the coin, but Mr. Owen now looks askance at that man.

The resolutions of the democratic convention which nominated Hon. Frank Jones for governor, declared that "the great body of people, regardless of party," are "thoroughly convinced" that Mr. Jones is "invincible." Then the great body of the people, regardless of party, are decidedly ignorant concerning the recent political history of their own state; for the "invincible" candidate has been defeated four times out of the eight in which he has run for office, Hon. John H. Bailey and Hon. E. A. Stevens having each beaten him for state senator, Hon. Joseph B. Adams having beaten him nearly out of sight for mayor of Portsmouth, and one contest for mayor having resulted in no choice by the people, Mr. Jones' competitor being elected by the city councils. The republicans are not disposed to underrate Mr. Jones' strength; they acknowledge that he is a strong candidate, but they know that he is not at all "invincible," and propose to show it once more on election day, if he accepts the nomination.

A "swell" wedding, which was to have taken place soon at the south end, Boston, has been indefinitely postponed, the expected bridegroom, John Worth Jordan, proving to be a married man. He kept his wife and daughter out of sight, it seems, sending them to Washington to live part of the time; dressed in faultless attire, and boarded at the St. James hotel, representing that he was a lieutenant in the navy; he courted and won a young woman of good family, worth $300,000 in her own right. The appearance of his wife and child on the scene last week spoiled his plans.

The above paragraph we clip from the Boston Post of the 14th inst. Some six or seven years ago there was an officer of the same name as this Boston man stationed at the navy yard here. He boarded in this city, and was quite noted for his "faultlessness" in dress and his numerous changes of it, sometimes appearing on the streets in three or four different suits in one day. But he was not a lieutenant, belonging we believe to the pay department of the navy. Possibly some unprincipled but well-dressed scamp has been making free with his name, as an aid to an illicit matrimonial speculation.

D'Oyly Carte's Fifth Avenue Theatre Co., which presented the "Pirates of Penzance" at Music hall last spring, and gave one of the very best entertainments—musical and dramatic—ever presented here, will appear again in the same place on Thursday evening, Sept. 23d, in the same excellent piece. Popular prices,—reserved seats seventy-five cents.

The semi-centennial of the Baptist church in South Hampton was celebrated on Tuesday, the 14th inst., by services day and evening, which were well attended notwithstanding the storm which prevailed. On Wednesday the Baptist association met with the church, the annual sermon being preached in the forenoon by Rev. O. P. Fuller of Auburn, R. I., and a doctrinal sermon in the afternoon by Rev. Mr. Stewart. Thursday was the closing day of the exercises, there being sermons forenoon and afternoon; in the evening Rev. S. P. Everett was installed pastor of the church.

Richard H. Beacham, Esq., has arrived home from an eight weeks' visit to his son Harry, who is engaged in stock raising in southern Colorado. He reports a splendid country and climate, and plenty of good opportunities for young men with willing hearts and hands, and a determination to succeed, to make a start for themselves. Harry Beacham, who likes his location very much, has 12,000 sheep, divided into lots of 500 each, the whole lot being watched over by five Mexican herders. Indians are plentiful and in close proximity, but are peaceful. 'Tis said that our worthy townsman's "harriz" vigorously on several occasions, when he heard the whooping of these playful wards of the Nation as they danced around their camp-fires at night.

BEER AND WATER AGAIN.

Mr. Editor: The article in your issue of Thursday morning, concerning the supply of water, is right to the point. A writer who takes such an intelligent and practical view of this question must indeed be a true "friend to the children." We sincerely hope that the managers of the aqueduct company will, so far as they are able, give the statistics asked for —of the number of gallons supplied to the city now, the number furnished before the establishment of the breweries, and the amount consumed by the several breweries. These are vital queries, which concern every water-taker, and ought to be considered before we talk about pond water or water from any other source than that of our present supply. The closing of the "dry spell," with the abundant rains that are pretty sure to come now right along, we fear will tend to quiet apprehensions that have arisen, and render apathetic those measures for relief that have begun to be throughly agitated. G.

Mr. Editor: While the city authorities are discussing the subject of an increased water supply, would it not be well for them to consider the propriety of utilizing forever the public wells, of which I am informed there are several in the city now disused—either filled up or covered over, I cannot say which. I only know personally of one pump thus taken up, (that is one too many, for the God-given beverage cannot be too free nor too abundant,) and that is the one formerly on Court street, the most central water in the city for public use, and in one of the most needed places for the accommodation of man and beast. Can any person give the public a list of public wells now disused, and their location? It would be of much interest. AQUA.

AN "OPEN LETTER."

To the Captain of the Hancock Veterans—Sir: Some time ago there appeared in this paper a communication signed "Union republican soldier," in which the wager of a hat was offered that there are not fifty-one honorably discharged veterans of the late war in the city who will march as "Hancock veterans,"—this being in answer to a previous item in the Times, which gave the full force of the democratic veteran organization as considerably over a hundred, and its marching force as fifty-one. Of course, the Times item and the answering communication were both intended to have some political effect; and so was the answer to "Union republican soldier's" epistle, which was signed "David Urch." In that answer you not only offer to bet five hundred "dollars that you can "if necessary" produce a list of fifty-one Union veterans belonging in Portsmouth who will vote for Hancock, and that you were "at the front, fighting for the perpetuation of the Union, two or three years after" a certain time, but you have a fling at the record of "some of your so-called Boys in Blue;" hence you should not complain if your own record is closely scrutinized.

In answer to your letter, "Union republican soldier" offered to bet $10 that there are not fifty-one honorably discharged Union veterans who will vote for Hancock and be "marching-men" in the Hancock veterans, and $10 more that you were not in the armies of the Union three years, two years nor one year during the rebellion, nor in any battle or skirmish—both bets to be taken together. Of these offers you have not seen fit to take notice.

I am aware that the question as to how the members of your command will vote cannot be decided until election day; but the other item, to wit, the matter of your service as a soldier during the rebellion, is very easily settled. Do you not see that the reputation of three men is to a certain extent involved in your statement, viz: "Union republican soldier's" as a prophet, your own as an honorable man as well as a prophet, and that of your second lieutenant, who as a prodigal son that has forsaken the husks of greenbackism and returned to the fold, is entitled to a share of the fatted calf equal to your own? Your subordinate's record as a veteran of a veteran New Hampshire regiment is well known, (that he is a graduate of a celebrated military college is not so well known, but is nevertheless a fact,) and if your record is as good you are to be congratulated.

But after once rushing boldly and aggressively into print, you seem very reticent on a point concerning which most veterans are justly proud to dilate—your military career. If you are merely coy, and need urging, let me propound a "shorter catechism," prompt and concise answers to which will command the gratitude of your many friends.

1st. Were you more than fourteen years old when the war commenced?

2d. Were you ever mustered into or out of the United States service; and if so, what was the date of each occurrence?

3d. If you were ever in the United States service, what was your rank, company and regiment, and who were your commanding officers?

4th. Were you ever under fire in any battle or skirmish? And if so, where was such battle or skirmish?

5th. Have you any papers in proof of any military or naval service?

In short, are you—but that is enough for once. These questions are such as any soldier could readily answer, and with pride; if you delay replying to them, do you not see that your relations with your second lieutenant are at least peculiar? That is to say—Why are you in command of your company, your record being involved in doubt, while he is only a subaltern? I hope he likes it!

A BOY IN BLUE.

*"A Boy in Blue" is in error here. Major Urch did not offer to bet five hundred dollars, nor any fraction of it, nor any other sum of money, or any terms whatever. He simply said that he had deposited a bank receipt for $500 in a certain place, and that was all.—Ed.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Cranberry thieves are reported as quite plentiful in the cranberry swamps on the Burnham farm at Gerrish's island, Kittery. We understand that Mr. Burnham will punish to the full extent of the law any person caught engaged in this pleasant pastime.

On Tuesday of this week a four-years-old boy of Kittery, named Joseph Hobbs, was on a visit at the place of his uncle, Joel Wilson of Spruce creek. Seeing a trap-hatch in the cover of a well he lifted it, and immediately tumbled in headforemost; but though the well is thirty feet deep the youngster was rescued unhurt.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of this week a number of the most aggressive of the democrats of Kittery, including the correspondent of the Times, the prospective collector of the port of Kittery, (when Hancock shall be elected and a custom house built there,) the candidate for state senator whom the fusionists failed to count in last year, and others of similar standing in the party, made it a point to await on the navy yard bridge the workmen as they left the yard, and patronizingly enquire "if they had heard the news of the Maine election," etc. On Thursday not a man of them was in sight when the workmen left the yard; they had heard from the back towns, where Seven-Mule Barnum's "arguments" failed to reach.

—Route beer—That drank while travelling.

—A gentleman at one of the hotels spilt some milk on his coat, and wondered if it would leave a grease spot. "Grease spot?" queried a fellow-boarder. "Well, I should say no. Look out for chalk marks when it dries up."

VITAL STATISTICS. It is shown by the reports of Health Boards, and other authorized bodies, that diseases of kidneys and bladder are largely on the increase; a sad fact, due perhaps to the foolish habit of drinking lager beer and other liquors, without knowing what they are made of. Is there a remedy? Decidedly yes. First, stop drinking. Second, use Hunt's Remedy—a potent and unfailing specific for kidney, bladder, liver and urinary complaints. Hunt's remedy, the great kidney and liver medicine, is endorsed by eminent physicians.

—George Peck of Milwaukie went to Chicago during the conclave, and fell in love with the Sir Knights' hats. He says that "next to the Karskin hat of a drum major the chapeau of a Knight Templar is the grandest head gear in the world. It is made after the pattern of an inverted coal scuttle that has been sat down on sidewise by a fat man, and the top of it is covered with spring millinery. A commandery looks as though a millinery shop had exploded."

Many who have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound faithfully do not hesitate to regard Mrs. Pinkham as a saviour of her sex. Send to her at 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for pamphlets.

—When you see an article in the editorial columns of a paper, headed "The Political Outlook," look at the bottom line, and if it says "sold by all druggists" don't read it. There is such an article going the rounds which is an advertisement of a patent medicine. It is a counterfeit well calculated to deceive. Don't read a political article unless the owner's name is blown in the bottle.

The only stomach remedy in the world, guaranteed by your own druggest, is D. R. V. G. Dyspepsia Remedy.

—They were talking about expenses, says the Galveston News, and how some men get rich. Said one: "My butcher and baker have made money enough out of me to build themselves splendid houses." Responded the other: "The bar-keepers I patronize have built whole blocks out of what I owe them."

New Hampshire News.

Mrs. Wyman Osgood, of Warner, widow of Jacob Osgood, completed her hundred and first year on Sunday, the 12th inst. Her faculties are impaired, but her general health is good.

The Grafton County Lumber company of Livermore propose extending their railroad four miles into dense woods. They own about 16,000 acres of woodland, a double steam saw mill, boarding house, twenty dwelling houses, etc. The company can employ 200 men; they have been financially embarrassed, but affairs are now improving.

Edgar Weymouth of Candia, a farmer, drove into the city of Manchester, accompanied by his wife and child, to sell a load of produce. He left his wife, ostensibly to attend to his business, promising to return for her at a certain time, but thus far he has not appeared and the, police are of the opinion that he has left the state.

Diphtheria has broken out in a fatal form at Cornish. Freeman Higgings' family consisted of five members a week ago, apparently enjoying good health. Mr. Higgings is the only surviving member of the family.

John Berry of Pittsfield died Sept. 14th, aged eighty years. He led a mercantile life for fifty years, and did a large and very successful business. He was an early advocate of the building of the Suncook Valley railroad, and encouraged the enterprise to its completion. Pittsfield academy owed much to him, he having been its guardian from its commencement.

James B. Merritt, a resident of Stamford, Conn., being refused an interview with his wife, who returned to her father, Mr. Frank Tipper, six months ago, on account of ill-treatment from her husband, on the 15th inst. assaulted a visitor at the house, Mr. E. Fountain of New York, who, although sick in bed, protested against the desperate intrusion made by the excited husband. While Merritt and Fountain were scuffling, a brother of the lady, after entreating Merritt to desist, was forced to use a pistol, shooting at him twice, the second ball taking effect in his left side. Merritt then surrendered to procure a weapon, and returning at midnight with a shotgun, demanded to see Fountain. Being refused, he fired through the vestibule door at a person whom he supposed to be Fountain, but who was Mrs. Tipper, mother of Merritt's wife. She escaped, and immediately Fountain fired from the head of the stairs, wounding in the lung the enraged husband. Before he staggered back he again shot at Fountain through the broken door, but without effect. Merritt is under arrest and Tipper has given himself up to the authorities.

"Under the Weather."

How many people drag through life about half'ill, never really sick, but always miserable and doing their work in a listless, reluctant way. Uncharitable people call it laziness, but it is really sickness. It dulls the keen edge of pleasure and kills the zeal of living. All this results from impure blood. A bottle of Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" will transform such sufferers into new creatures by cleansing the blood and toning up the system. Hundreds are now living healthy and happy lives who never knew a "well day" till they took Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Sold by all druggists, $1.00 a bottle. Dr. David Kennedy, Proprietor, Rondout, N. Y.

—An old salt, when asked how far north he had ever been, replied that he had been so far north that "the cows when milked beside a red-hot stove gave ice-cream."

Rev. Wm. H. Chapman, Pastor of M. E. Church, Georgetown, D. C., writes: "Having had an opportunity to test the excellent qualities of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, I hesitate not to say, it is the best remedy I have ever used in my family.

—It's a poor rule that won't work both ways. Hartford has a cow that is afraid of women.

GEO. W. HARPER, of Strait Creek, Va., says he has been afflicted with nervous debility for ten years and that Day's Kidney Pad has entirely cured him.

—A western girl at a Long Branch hop wore a green overskirt, pink overdress and yellow roses in her hair. At the sight of her so many people fainted that the floor managers induced her to seek the seclusion her apartments grant.

TRADE MARK

DAY'S Kidney PAD

A DISCOVERY BY ACCIDENT,

supplying a want which men of eminent ability have devoted years of study and experiment to find—a specific for diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System—and from the time of its discovery has rapidly increased in favor, gaining the approval and confidence of medical men and those who have used it; it has become a favorite with all classes and, where ever introduced, has superseded all other treatments. In short, such is its intrinsic merits and superiority, that it is now the only recognized reliable remedy.

DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS

are the most prevalent, dangerous and fatal affections that afflict mankind, and so varied and insidious in their character, that persons often suffer for a long time before knowing what ails them. The most characteristic symptoms are gradual wasting away of the whole body; pain in the back, side or loins, a weak, feeble, exhausted feeling, loss of appetite and dread of exercise, scanty and painful discharge of variously colored urine. Inability to retain or expel the urine; minute shreds or casts in the urine; and, when the disease is of long duration, there is much emaciation and general nervous prostration

THE ONLY CURE.

We say positively and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the first and only infallible cure for every form of Kidney disease. It is the best remedy yet discovered for this complaint, and more effectual in its operation than any other treatment. By using faithfully and persistently no case will be found so inveterate as not to yield to its powerful medicinal virtues.

STRONGLY ENDORSED.

We have the most unequivocal testimony to its curative powers from many persons of high character, intelligence and responsibility. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving the history of this new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it.

DAY'S KIDNEY PADS are sold by druggists, or will be sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of their price: Regular, $1.00; Special, for obstinate cases of long standing, $3.00; Children's, $1.50.

Address,

DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., TOLEDO, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, take no other and you will not be disappointed.

KIDNEY-WORT

PERMANENTLY CURES KIDNEY DISEASES, LIVER COMPLAINTS, Constipation and Piles.

DR. R. H. CLARK, South Hero, Vt., says, "In cases of KIDNEY TROUBLES it has acted like a charm. It has cured many very bad cases of PILES, and has never failed to act effectually."

NELSON FAIRCHILD, of St. Albans, Vt., says, "It is of priceless value. After sixteen years of great suffering from Piles and Costiveness it completely cured me."

C. S. HOGABON, of Berkshire, says, "one package has done wonders for me in completely curing a severe Liver and Kidney Complaint."

IT HAS WONDERFUL POWER. WHY?

BECAUSE IT ACTS ON THE LIVER, THE BOWELS AND KIDNEYS AT THE SAME TIME.

Because it cleanses the system of the poisonous humors that develope in Kidney and Urinary diseases, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Piles, or in Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Female Complaints.

KIDNEY-WORT is a dry vegetable compound and can be sent by mail prepaid.

One package will make six qts of medicine.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, or SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail post-paid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, which lead to premature habits or inherited. He is a Nerve specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.

The author refers, by permission, to Hon. P. A. BISSELL, M. D., president of the National Medical Association.

What Does It Mean?

Under the heading of "An Opportune Suggestion," the Times of last Thursday evening printed the following on its 4th page:

The Mayersville (Miss.) Spectator has the names of Hancock and English at its mast-head and supports James R. Chalmers, the "hero" of the Fort Pillow massacre, as its candidate for congress. The Spectator has what may be called pronounced views; that is, it frankly exposes the democratic intention without any attempts to qualify or evade. John R. Lynch, a colored man of great ability, who was a member of congress for several years, has been nominated by the republicans to oppose Chalmers. The district is known as the "shoe-string," because the democrats, in gerrymandering the state of Mississippi, put all the counties in which the colored people have an excessive majority into a single district. Hence the "shoe-string district," as it is called, stretches the whole length of the state, and contains about ten colored men to every white. But Gen. Chalmers, who led the massacre at Fort Pillow, has succeeded in electing himself twice to congress in this district by the use of the rifle, the torch, the whip, and the tissue-ballot, and proposes to go again. The Mayersville Spectator is his organ, and it says: "We understand that black rascal, John Lynch, will be in our midst next week for the purpose of organizing his party and appealing to the passions of our colored citizens in his behalf. We trust Lynch will think better of such a course—have more respect for the feelings of the wealth and intelligence of the country, if he has none for himself. Our citizens are now at peace with each other, and to seek to disturb the present peaceable relations would work hardship on our colored citizens." We do not know whether Mr. Lynch has taken this hint, but we suggest to the national republican committee the propriety of sending to Mayersville and vicinity a few stalwart, courageous speakers and organizers, to assist Mr. Lynch in forming Garfield clubs and carrying on his canvass.

Can it be that the Times is intending to come out in support of the party which believes that ballot-box stuffing and bulldozing are not proper means to employ in the struggle to secure a free ballot and an honest count? It has never before given its readers so truthful an expose of democratic electioneering tactics in the south.

What Better Evidence

could the people ask to substantiate the merits of Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines than the fact that they have not only yearly grown in popular favor in this country, but the foreign demand for them has became so great as to necessitate the establishing a branch of the celebrated World's Dispensary in London, England, that these blessings to the afflicted may be dispatched from that great commercial center of the world to every country and people? Golden Medical Discovery is a concentrated, potent alterative, or blood cleansing remedy, that wins golden opinions of all who use it for all humors from the common pimple, blotch, or eruptions, to the formidable scrofulous swelling. Internal fever, soreness and ulceration, yield to its benign influence. Consumption, which is but a form of scrofulous affection of the lungs, may in its early stages be cured by a free use of this God-given remedy. See article on consumption and its treatment in "Invalids' Guide Book"—ten cents post-paid. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 3d, 1879.

DR. R. V. PIERCE:

Dear Sir: With trembling hand, from my extreme age, being eighty-five, I write to inform you of the great benefit your Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets have been to me. Three years ago I was prostrated with pneumonia, and no one thought I would recover. By the use of those medicines I was raised to health, and by the blessing of God yours medicines I have enjoyed pretty good health since, though for years before this I suffered from weak lungs and a bad cough.

Gratefully yours, MARY B. FISK.

—Nothing is more ridiculous than ignorance which imagines itself wisdom. An illiterate colonel, about to join his regiment, scoured the country to find what he called a hors du combat, which he thought was the French for war-horse.

W. Hunt, M. D., Honorary Member Imperial Medical Society of St. Petersburgh, Russia, etc. All who are run down and debilitated should take it.

—A railroad man, who was instructed to inform a lady that her husband had been killed by a railroad accident, and was cautioned to break the news gently, is credited with writing the following letter: "Dear Madam—I write to say that your husband is unavoidably detained. An undertaker will call on you to-morrow with full particulars. The funeral sermon has been arranged for."

Mr. Jones' Orders Obeyed.

The democrats of the third congressional district of New Hampshire had an uncommonly lively convention at West Lebanon on the 16th inst. E. D. Rand of Lisbon was president.

On the nominating of candidates, H. B. Viall of Charlestown presented the name of George H. Bingham of Littleton, and "startled the convention by saying that Frank Jones had made his nomination as governor conditional upon the nomination of Mr. Bingham by the third district."

Horatio Colony, of Keene, supported O. H. Bradley of Jaffrey for nomination, urged the claims, of Cheshire county upon the convention, and claimed that the convention should vote independent of Frank Jones' wishes.

On a formal ballot Bingham had 73 votes to Bradley's 31, with two scattering.

The announcement of the vote was followed by a perfect uproar, and every member rushed to the platform, the Cheshire county delegates vehemently protesting against being subjected to Mr. Jones' dictation, while Colony withdrew the name of Dr. Bradley as a candidate. At this juncture A. S. Batchelder of Littleton appeared on the platform and read a telegram from George H. Bingham announcing his declination of the nomination, whereupon Mr. Colony and the Cheshire county delegation left the hall for a conference of ten minutes. Some claimed that Harvey Bingham was the man Mr. Jones wanted, while others asserted that Mr. Jones wanted his old war horse, etc. Promptly to time the Cheshire county delegation re-appeared, and Mr. Colony announced that they did not want to jeopardize Mr. Jones' chances and therefore he would move the nomination of Mr. Bingham by acclamation, with the recommendation that Hon. H. Woodward of Cheshire county should be nominated for elector, which was done.

Another Fishery Outrage.

The schooner Moro Castle, Capt. J. B. Naus, arrived at Gloucester on the 16th inst. from a banks codfishing trip. She reports that on Wednesday, Aug. 4th, she anchored near Job cove, about a mile from the shore in Conception bay, Newfoundland, for the purpose of procuring bait. After purchasing of the natives 18,000 squid at sixty cents per hundred, Capt. Naus left the vessel Thursday morning in a dory to go in search of more bait, having learned that there were some for sale in a neighboring cove. During his absence the crew attempted to catch a few squid with jigs, when the vessel was surrounded by boats, and a large crowd of Newfoundlanders boarded her, driving her crew into the cabin or forecastle, and commenced to raise anchor, hoist the mainsail and get the vessel under way. Seeing their movements, Capt. Naus returned to the vessel and found the Newfoundlanders very threatening; but as the vessel commenced drifting on the rocks, they were frightened and left. The vessel came near going ashore. The day previous the schooner Victor of Gloucester was boarded in a similar manner, and violence was used to prevent her fishing. The Newfoundland government's objection to Sunday fishing and the use of the seine does not hold in this case, as the crew of the Moro Castle were line fishing, and on a Thursday.

A Farce Ended.

At De Kalb, Miss., on the 16th inst., Virgil and Houston Gully, two of the Chisolm murderers, were duly acquitted on a charge of being concerned in the murder of Gilmer, who was killed at the same time that Judge Chisolm and his boy were butchered and his sixteen-years-old daughter mortally wounded. The verdict might as well have been recorded without the farce of a pretended judicial investigation, as the idea of a Mississippi jury convicting a democrat of murder for the mere killing of a republican overlaps the ridiculous.

Political Notes.

The prohibitory state convention of New Hampshire was held at Concord on the 16th inst. Dr. Dam of Suncook denounced both the great parties, saying "the democrats have nominated the boss drunkard-maker of New Hampshire, and the republican party does not mention temperance in any manner." The convention then proceeded to render all the said possible to secure the election of the boss drunkard-maker, by nominating a full state ticket and two presidential electors, leaving the other nominations with the state committee. George D. Dodge of Hampton Falls was the nominee for governor.

At the republican convention of Strafford county, held in Great Falls on the 16th inst., John Greenfield of Rochester was nominated for sheriff, C. B. Shackford of Dover for county solicitor, Harry Hough of Dover for treasurer, J. S. Tompkins of Dover for register of deeds, and John S. Varney of Dover for register of probate.

It is now charged that during the week before the election in this state, $35,000 were received from the democratic national committee for the state at large, and $20,000 from Samuel J. Tilden, for the express purpose of defeating Congressman Reed in the first district. This is the explanation at which Mr. Blaine hints, in his despatch, of the difference between the republican canvass and the result at the polls. The democrats without contradicting this explanation, say that the republican corruption fund had been planted all over the state, and it was necessary to fight fire with fire. Of course this explanation, if it is accepted, deprives the election of any proper significance. The three or four thousand votes which turned the scale were cast wholly regardless of the misdoings of Governor Garcelon's council, of the solid south, or of any other consideration but cash in hand.—Portland Advertiser.

News and Notes.

Tallow is not the only substance of which "butter" is now made, to take the place of the genuine article. Overweight in butter received at New York from the west recently excited the suspicions of dealers in that city, and an investigation followed, which proves that the western farmers are largely using powdered soapstone, obtained in Cincinnati, to adulterate their butter while in the churning room.

S. H. Warren, for six months past agent of the Fitchburg railroad at Turner's Falls, Mass., has been committed to jail to await trial for appropriating the company's funds, to the amount, it is said, of $500.

Barque Erinagh, from Hayti, has arrived at the quarantine station below New York with her whole crew sick with yellow fever. Two of her crew died on the passage.

By a sulphur explosion in a coal mine at Shenandoah, Pa., on the 16th inst., one man was instantly killed and five other fatally injured.

Charles L. Cole, justice of the peace and a wealthy farmer at Pine Run, Mich., and Frank Goodrich, have been arrested and taken to Detroit on the charge of passing counterfeit money.

Capt. Minot of the barque Wild Hunter, an intelligent and observant ship master, recently arrived at Gloucester from Liverpool, England, reports that on the passage, when near Sable island, he noticed a considerable variation of the compass. Having three compasses on board he tried them separately in different positions, and found that each varied several points. This variation he attributes to some magnetic attraction in that locality, and it is possible that this may account for the numerous disasters occurring of late in that vicinity.

Rev. George C. Miln has resigned the ministry in Brooklyn, because he no longer believes in the Trinity, the atonement or eternal punishment.

The body of George W. Knapp of Utica, who committed suicide over Niagara Falls, has been recovered.

Mr. Henry B. Blackwell writes to the Springfield Republican that the beet sugar industry, established at Portland, Me., is not a failure as reported. Last year the company, of which Mr. Blackwell is treasurer, worked 9000 tons of beets into 900 tons of sugar and molasses, which was sold for over $110,000, and brought a moderate profit over and above the state bounty. In October, this year, they hope to turn out fifteen tons of sugar daily. The farmers are shy of beet crops, but those who raised them last year averaged $100 cash per acre. This is a well-established industry in France and ought to pay fairly in this country, but it needs to be carried on intelligently and on rather a large scale, to be profitable.

The training ship Constitution sailed from Newport, R. I., for Lewes, Del., on the 16th inst.

The steamer Franconia, which arrived at Portland on the 16th inst. from New York, towed in the dismasted fishing schooner Rebecca M. Atwell, of Boston, which was fallen in with off Cape Cod, anchored and abandoned. After the schooner was taken in tow by the Franconia, the revenue steamer Gallatin came up, having on board the captain and crew of the disabled vessel, and the captain went to Portland on the Franconia. The schooner was nearly full of fresh fish, and the fare was sold in Portland, the proceeds being put on deposit to await the decision of the courts on a claim for salvage.

Hiding Money.

The fact that Spain, though chronologically in the nineteenth century, is really living in the seventeenth, is illustrated by the following from Temple Bar. In old Spanish houses there is generally a very cleverly-contrived secret receptacle for money, akin to the "secret drawer" of the English desk. Even now this secret cupboard is much used, the Spanish idea of security being (an idea founded on bitter experience of many years) to cage the valuables in iron bars, lock up the house at night in winter, look at the money, and then say in security and self-congratulation:

"Why, I am very safe; all I love and all I need is contained within the four walls of my casa."

There is a vast deal of distrust of banks and government securities, and a great holding to the proverb: "No friend save God, and a dollar in your pocket." And now with the middle class there is no banking of money.

The bankers, to begin with, give no interest as a rule; and so, just as in Scotland in the troubled year of 1650 the goldsmiths were the only bankers, so now, in Spain, the gentry constantly hoard their money in their own houses; some put their jewelry and plate in the "montes de piedad."

—A New Orleans paper refers to the weather of the previous day as being marked by "one of those gentle showers such as induced Noah to clear for Mount Ararat with its highly miscellaneous cargo"

—At Tacoma, the western terminus of the Northern Pacific railway, on Puget Sound, there is a singular church tower. The building is of the rudest material. The tower is composed of a fir tree cut off forty feet from the ground, and surmounted with a bellcote, bell and cross. The annual rings of the tree indicate an age of 275 years.

A BRAVE LADY!

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation without Taking Chloroform.

(From the Courier.)

Mrs. Schoonmaker, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely loose the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skeleton. In this terrible strait, she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, New York, who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The "Favorite Remedy" is a priceless blessing to woman. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

AROUND HOME.

An excursion train from Portland to Boston over the Eastern railroad, last Thursday, consisted of nineteen cars.

Among the recent transfers of vessels property in New York, the sale of one-sixteenth of the barque Adolph Engler, 648 tons register, for $1250, is reported.

Rev. James DeNormandie will read on Wednesday, the 22d inst., an essay before the National Conference of Unitarians at Saratoga, N. Y., upon the national work of the Unitarian church in America.

The steamer Florence took a party of about one hundred and twenty-five persons to Boston on Friday. A much larger number went over the Eastern railroad, the 7:15 train consisting of six cars and the 8:20 train of thirteen. The early (Pullman) train from the eastward consisted of eighteen cars.

Just as the steamer Mystic was ready to start on her six o'clock trip from this side of the river, on Thursday evening last, some trifling disarrangement of her machinery occurred, and her passengers were obliged to go across in the James Sampson. The Mystic was in running order again in an hour or two.

A young son of Mr. Charles N. Osgood on Thursday of this week got hold of an "unloaded" revolver, and while playing with it, in company with some other boys, it "went off," after the usual reprehensible custom of unloaded firearms when boys get hold of them, and sent a bullet through Master Osgood's hand.

The federal officeholders of the Portsmouth senatorial district are in favor of rotation in the office of state senator, and have already manipulated the caucuses so as to nominate some one who will go for continuing the present incumbents of federal offices sixteen years longer in office. "Rotation" applies only to those who cannot be whipped in to work for the advancement of those who run the "machine." H.

On Friday morning, at Manchester, one man from each company of the 1st Reg't N. H. N. G., (which went into camp there on the previous Tuesday morning and broke camp on Friday afternoon,) was selected to drill for a prize of a solid silver cup offered by Col. Dillon to the best drilled man in the regiment. Orderly Sergeant Edward Hickey, of Co. C, Portsmouth City Guards, was selected to represent his company, and took the prize, which was changed from a silver cup to a gold medal at the choice of the winner.

The Dover Democrat of the 16th inst. says: "Last evening a woman named Durnan reported at the police station that her youthful son was nowhere to be found, and that a small sum of money had disappeared with him. Officer Libbey was detailed to hunt him up, and in a few hours he found him at the Boston & Maine depot buying a ticket for Syracuse, N. Y. He had in his possession a small pistol just purchased, and was taking Horace Greeley's advice of going west to grow up with the country. The officer took him in charge, and returned him to his parents. He had been reading dime novels."

IDLE HOURS.

On Monday evening next the Tile club will appear on the Music hall stage in "Idle hours," a new "society satire" just put on the boards. The club takes its name from an organization that gave rise to a series of papers in Scribner's, and is supposed to be composed of a number of young gentlemen and ladies, amateur artists, etc., who make odd excursions every summer, one of them being on a canal boat, the Penelope Punk of Palmyra, the entire length of the raging Erie canal; and "Idle hours" is an assumed reproduction of this trip. The piece was played at Portland on Thursday evening, and made a "hit," the second act (the canal boat scene) being especially commended by the critics. There is excellent solo, quartette and chorus singing, character songs, banjo playing, stories and jokes, a gorgeous Chinaman, and other pleasing features; and the play was a decided success.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

The democratic county convention of Rockingham county was held at Epping on the 17th inst. Lorenzo M. Carpenter of Exeter was elected president, and George W. Libbey of Nottingham secretary. The following candidates were placed in nomination:

Register of deeds, George W. Libbey, of Nottingham;

Treasurer, Henry F. Wendell, of Portsmouth;

Sheriff, Amos L. Jenness, of Deerfield;

Solicitor, Charles M. Lamprey, of Hampton;

Register of probate, Jay C. Brown, of Deerfield;

County commissioners, George N. Proctor of Exeter, John D. Brown of Raymond, Edward R. Noyes of Hampstead.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

Six students of Colby university belong in the little town of Sanford.

The schooner W. H. Y. Hackett went on the railway at Kittery on Friday at noon.

Trains on the Old Orchard Beach railway ceased running on the 15th inst., and "the season" is over.

The Times says: "The new Congregational church to be built at Eliot to replace the structure that was burned several months ago, will not be erected on the old site on account of the difficulty, it is said, of constructing a vestry because of the ledge. A new lot has been secured on the opposite side of the road, just above the site of the old church."

The democrats of South Eliot having arranged for a grand celebration on Tuesday evening, the 21st inst., engaged the Kittery band to make music for the occasion; but on the 16th the manager of the band received notice that their services would not be needed. Possibly the enthusiasm of the democrats of South Eliot has been dampened by something they may have heard.

New Publications.

"The Stillwater Tragedy," by T. B. Aldrich, author of "Marjorie Daw," "Queen of Sheba," etc. Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; pp. 324. A large number of our readers constantly delight in reading every thing written by the author of the "Story of a Bad Boy," who draws so liberally upon the ancient names of Portsmouth to designate his characters, who never tires his readers, but is always fresh, piquant and interesting. The Stillwater Tragedy, which has appeared in the Atlantic Monthly, however it may begin with an uncomfortable disposition of one of its characters, in the early pages, is healthful in tone. It abounds in good common sense, as seen in the description of the Siamese twins of labor and capital. Indeed, Mr. Charles Reade is not more successful in his portrayal of the evils of the labor strikes in England, than is our own Aldrich. The detective narrations are well conceived, and invest the story with a lively interest. Indeed, if one reads the book to enjoy the story or the fine writing, or to profit by the moral it contains, he will be amply repaid. The book is bound in a tasteful manner, and already has had a very large sale. Mr. Myers has it at his bookstore; price $1.50.

We have just received the following pieces of Music from Saalfield's Music Store, 839 Broadway, New York: "Loyal Through and Through," by Harrington, a song specially written for Garfield & Arthur, embodying some of the best truths of the Chicago platform. "Dance Me on your Knee, Darling," by Cohan, price 40 cts, a comic song sung at Niblo's Theatre, New York, by Miss Amy Lee. "I'm a Western Union Telegraph Boy." Spencer, price 40 cts., a song especially for boys to sing. "When First I saw my Darling's Face," Danks, price 40 cts., the latest song by the author of "Silver Threads among the Gold."

Plymouth Rock.

J. Henry Stickney of Baltimore, who has been altering Pilgrim hall at Plymouth, Mass., having made a proposition to the Pilgrim Society to move the fragment of rock that has for years been in front of Pilgrim hall back to its original place under the canopy, a meeting of the society was held on the 16th inst., and the following vote passed: "That a committee of three be appointed, of which Mr. Stickney be one, to superintend the removal of the rock, unless in the opinion of a competent architect there are serious objections." The fragment now in front of Pilgrim hall was split from the original in 1774, in raising rock to make a wharf. The piece as broken was carried to the town square, where a liberty pole was erected. In 1837 it was taken to its present position. It is said that Mr. Stickney contemplates making important improvements about the site of the rock in order to bring the locality more in accordance with the state of things as they existed at the time of the landing of the Pilgrims. The hall will be ready for occupancy and to receive books, relics and pictures about the 1st of November.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere. 25 cents a bottle. 4

Extraordinary Marksmanship.

A Doctor Ruth and his wife recently gave a wonderful exhibition of shooting with the rifle and pistol at the Brooklyn driving park.

Dr. Ruth is a western man, wears his hair long under a broad-brimmed white hat, and has a velvet shooting-jacket after the style of western riflemen. He is tall and free in his motions, tossing his repeating-rifle about as though it were a mere wand. Mrs. Ruth is a lady with a very much tanned complexion and the carriage of a backwoods woman.

Mrs. Ruth began the banging and the hitting by aiming with a pistol at glass balls, and they were shattered in almost every case. With the pistol held sideways there was a miss or two more, but generally every shot told. When the pistol was inverted and the aim taken below instead of above the line of fire there was no apparent loss in the percentage of hits. When the ball was hung by a string and set swinging Mrs. Ruth stood eighteen yards off and made a clean break on her first shot. The rifle was then handled through the same series of shots, and the usual amount of grace with which all women handle guns was apparent. When the balls were thrown up in the air Mrs. Ruth stood a good distance off and shattered a dozen out of the fifteen, and this feature when encored was equally as good.

While the shooter chatted with the lady spectators Dr. Ruth began to show his ability as a snap shot. The sights of the rifle seemed to be of no special assistance to him, for when they were covered by a cord he used the weapon on balls placed on a stand and again at the glass spheres thrown into the air with wonderful effect. Some balls were thrown on the ground a dozen yards off, and the doctor, aiming at the ground below a ball, would send it spinning up into the air and then rapidly unloading and loading his piece, would hit the ball on its descent. This double shooting drew out plenty of applause. Again, when the balls were thrown up the rifle was given a turn about after the manner of a flail-handle, and it fell into position soon enough to enable a breaking shot to be made off the ball. Balls were thrown from side to side were hit, whether from the right or left. When tired of breaking glassware Dr. Ruth picked up a fragment of glass and stepping off a dozen paces held it off in his fingers, while Mrs. Ruth, picking up a small-bore rifle, took careful aim and the glass was shatered into powder. With an ordinary visiting card held in his mouth, and turned so as to show a side, Dr. Ruth permitted his wife to put several bullets through it, the pair joking meanwhile with each other, the shooter telling the target to draw back his nose a little as it was too shining a mark and distracted her sight. A loaded cartridge was laid on a bit of plank some yards off, and Mrs. Ruth fired a bullet at it and exploded it. Dozens of other and similar ways of testing the quickness of sight and steadiness of nerve of the shooters were improvised, and generally it was found that everything fired at was hit almost everytime.

Dr. Mott's Endorsement of Speer's Port Grape Wine.

The following from the celebrated Dr. Mott, of New York, speaks wonders for Mr. Speer's efforts to raise the Oporto Grape in New Jersey. The doctor has spent years in Portugal and the wine districts of France, and knows what he is talking about.

62 MADISON AVENUE,
NEW YORK, April 11, 1878.

MR. ALFRED SPEER.—Dear Sir.—The visit which I made last year to your vineyards, wine-presses and vaults at Passaic, N. J., satisfies me thoroughly that the wines manufactured by you are pure and unadulterated, and the very best that can be offered to the public for medicinal uses.

Acting upon my favorable impression at the time, I have since recommended the Port Wine; more particularly in my practice, and am satisfied with marked benefit to my patients.

There can be no better proof to the doubting mind, as to the wine being made of the finest Oporto Grape, than a visit to the acres of land covered with the vine bearing the luxuriant fruit. Wishing you success in your praiseworthy enterprise, I remain respectfully yours,

ALEX. B. MOTT, M. D.,
Prof. of Surgery, Bellevue Hospital Medical College, &c., &c.

DAY'S
PAD
A DISCOVERY BY ACCIDENT,
resulting in a work which men of eminent ability have devoted years of study and experiment to find—A specific for diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System—and from the time of its discovery has rapidly increased in favor, receiving the approval and confidence of medical men and those who have used it. It has become a favorite with all classes and where ever introduced has superseded all other treatments, for the reason, such is its intrinsic merits and superiority, that it is now the only recognized reliable remedy.
DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS
are the most prevalent, dangerous and fatal affections that afflict mankind, and so varied and insidious in their character, that persons often suffer for a long time before know what ails them. The most characteristic symptoms are gradual wasting away of the whole body; pain in the back, side or loins, a weak, feeble, exhausted feeling; loss of appetite and dread of exercise; scanty and painful discharge of turbid, mucilaginous urine; inability to retain or expel the urine; minute shreds or casts in the urine; and, when the disease is of long continuance, there is much emaciation and general nervous prostration.
THE ONLY CURE.
We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the first and only infallible cure for every form of Kidney disease. It is the best remedy yet discovered for this complaint, and has proved in its operation than any other treatment. By using faithfully and persistently no case will be found so inveterate as not to yield to its powerful remedial virtues.
STRONGLY ENDORSED.
We have the most unequivocal testimony to its curative powers from many persons of high character, intelligence and responsibility. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," gives the history of the new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free to all.
DAY'S KIDNEY PADS are sold by druggists, or will be sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of their price: Regular, $2.00. Special, for obstinate cases of long standing, $3.00; Children's, $1.50. Address
DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., TOLEDO, O.
CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it our duty to caution the public against DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, take no other and you will not be deceived.

SECURES PATENTS in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.
"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
BOSTON, October 18, 1870.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

SPEER'S
PORT GRAPE WINE!
Grown in the principal Churches for Communion purposes. Excellent for Ladies and Weakly Persons and the Aged.
SPEER'S PORT GRAPE WINE,
FOUR YEARS OLD.
This Celebrated Native Wine is made from the juice of the Oporto Grape, raised in this Country. Its Invaluable
Tonic and Strengthening Properties
are unsurpassed by any other Native Wine. Being the pure juice of the Grape, produced under Mr. Speer's own personal supervision, its purity and genuineness are guaranteed. The youngest child may partake of its generous qualities, and the weakest invalid use it to advantage. It is particularly beneficial to the aged and debilitated, and suited to the various ailments that affect the weaker sex. It is in every respect A WINE TO BE RELIED ON.
Speer's P. J. Sherry,
A delicate, fine flavored Sherry, from the Spanish grape, equal to the finest brands imported from Lisbon.
SPEER'S P. J. OR PEDRO J. BRANDY.
This noted Brandy is a pure distillation from the grape and is equal to the finest Hennessy or Otard Brandy; for medicinal purposes it can be relied upon as strictly pure.
Speer's Sambuci Wine!
celebrated for its beneficial qualities, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals and by the first families in Europe and America.
Excellent for weak and debilitated persons, the aged and infirm; improving the appetite and benefitting ladies and children.
AS A DIURETIC,
it imparts a healthy action to the Kidneys and Urinary organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic affections.
☞ None genuine unless the signature of "ALFRED SPEER, Passaic, N. J.," is over the cork of each bottle.

KNOW THYSELF.
The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or SELF-PRESERVATION!
Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.
Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 60 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail post-paid.
The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."
The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, whether due to personal habits or inherited. He is a Nervo specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."
An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.
The author refers, by permission, to Hon. P. A. Bissell, L. L. D., president of the National Medical Association.
Address Dr. W. H. PARKER, No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston, Mass. The author may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. dm&th&ltnow80

STONES IN THE KIDNEYS
and BLADDER Expelled--Long Suffering of one of TROY'S BEST PEOPLE.
A LUCKY MAN.
Mr. James Andrews, of No. 10 Marshal Street, Troy, N. Y., had suffered for several years from the formation of Stones in the Kidneys and Bladder, and had doctored with many of the best Physicians without receiving any benefit. He was induced to try Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," and the following extract from Mr. Andrews letter tells the whole story.
TROY, N. Y., April 8th, 1880.
Dr. D. Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y.:
DEAR SIR,—I received your letter to-day, and you are welcome to use any part of my letter as may seem best. Had I not used the "Favorite Remedy" I should have been a great sufferer to this day. The stone that passed from me has a small piece broken off, but the large one I enclose so that you can see for yourself of what it is composed.
I am quite willing to testify under oath to all I have written in regard to my sickness and recovery, and words fail to fully express my feelings of gratitude to you for my great deliverance from so terrible a disease.
With a real grateful heart I remain yours most respectfully, JAMES ANDREWS.

WHY I AM SAD.

Why am I sad? the golden-rod
Blooms in the reaper's track;
The autumn breeze is sweet, although
It sings a coronach!
In June the woods were not more fair,
The sea was not more blue.
The mountains blended in the sky
With no more lovely hue.
Why am I sad? An awful dread
Haunts me, and will not down;
I fear my summer girl will meet
My other girl in town.

An Interesting Cave.

Crystal Hill cave near Stroudsburg, Pa., has just been carefully explored by Professors Liedy and Porter. The bottom was found to be covered with clay, on the top of which was a deposit of a dark substance, and on this is an incrustation of lime, which has fallen from the roof of the cave. It is the deposit of rich, dark material that particularly interests the scientists. The explorers found many indications of the presence in the cave at one time or another of many animals, some of which were doubtless brought there by animals of prey, and others used it for their dens. Among the bones of animals were the jawbones of the raccoon, skunk, weasel, beaver, squirrel, porcupine, woodchuck, fox, wildcat, elk, deer and bison; the shells of two or more turtles, the bones of wild turkeys, and the vertebrae of snakes in large quantities. The most interesting specimens found, however, were the head and teeth of a gigantic beaver and a large peccary, neither of which have ever been found before in Pennsylvania. Besides these were bones which had been burned and split—evidently the work of the aborigines, who sought the marrow. Indian relics were also found. A flint spear head was picked up far back in the cave, imbedded in the clay. How it came there is a mystery, unless some Indians, entering the cave and finding a wild beast there, attacked it, and this spear, buried at the animal, missing its aim, sped far back into the recesses, and there remained. No other traces of any kind indicate that the position of the cave had been visited by man or beast.

Liebig Co.'s Coca Beef Tonic.

The large and increasing demand for Liebig Co's Coca Beef Tonic, and the positive evidence of physicians of its superlative properties in restoring health and vigor to the debilitated and in arresting the fatal tendencies of chronic diseases, is something remarkable.

The botanic constituent of this highly-esteemed remedy, which is sactioned by leading members of the medical faculties of all enlightened countries, is the coca plant, which is indigenous to Peru, where its wondrous invigorating, sustaining and preventive properties are known to the humblest peon. The natives are enabled by chewing it to traverse vast tracts of country, carrying burdens of incredible weight, oftentimes without food, and for days and nights consecutively. The celebrated Spanish chronicler and traveller, Garcillasso de la Vega, draws attention in his "Commentaries of the Incas," published in 1617, to the nourishing and fortifying properties of this plant, venerated by the natives as sacred, and Humboldt, Montegazza, Goullon, Gazella, Sir Robert Christison and other scientists testify from personal observation and experience that the coca plant is not only a remedy for disease, but a thoroughly reliable preventive.

In the Liebig Co.'s Coca Beef Tonic the active principle of this botanic product is present in a highly concentrated form, and is chemically and harmoniously combined with the nourishing elements contained in the choicest beef, united with the best Amontillado sherry.

Prof. F. W. Hunt says: "The Liebig Co's Coca Beef Tonic is incomparably superior to the fashionable and illusive preparations of beef, wine and iron."

This remedy is deserving of confidence. Ask your druggist for it.

How many people drag through life about half ill, never really sick, but always miserable and doing their work in a listless, reluctant way. Uncharitable people call it laziness, but it is really sickness. It dulls the keen edge of pleasure and kills the zest of living. All these results from impure blood. A bottle of Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" will transform such sufferers into new creatures by cleansing the blood and toning up the system. Hundreds are now living healthy and happy lives who never knew a "well day" till they took Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Sold by all druggists, $1.00 a bottle. "Manipulating" Election Returns.

A great deal of silly twaddle is being indulged in by the democratic papers, regarding the "manipulation of the election returns" in Maine by the republicans, so as to cheat the greenback party and its democratic tail out of the victory which it was at first believed fusion had won.

The object of all this nonsensical talk is plain. The democrats having done some very vigorous crowing over a victory, are now disheartened on learning that it was a bad defeat instead, and the party papers are trying to "let 'em down easy," if possible.

The truth is that any tampering with the returns in Maine must come to light. Witness the exposure of the forgeries of the Garcelon counters-out last year, in their attempt to steal the state by that means. And further, the returns "from the back towns," which have so sadly upset democratic hopes, are in most instances made up by fusion town officers; it was in these towns that the greenback emissaries put in their work during the winter and spring of 1877—'78, which resulted in such a political earthquake in the fall election of the latter year, when the republicans of the cities and large towns were overwhelmed by the vote of the rural districts to the tune of 13,000 majority; and it is these same small towns, which last year about "held their own" for fusion, and have fusion officers of election, that now show republican gains more than sufficient to overbalance Barnum's purchases in the cities.

On this subject the Portland Advertiser, a paper that is conservative to a great degree, and that never hesitates to rebuke whatever it regards as wrong in the conduct of the republican party, says:

It is practically impossible for the returns to be manipulated in the way now suggested by the democratic press. The votes are counted in public by representatives of all parties, are publicly declared, and the returns are made up and sealed in open town meeting. So many persons are cognizant of the result in every case, that any attempt to falsify the returns would be instantly detected. To make assurance doubly sure, the returns from each town are published in the local newspapers, and the scrutiny of all citizens is invited to these figures. If every man looks out for his own town, he can easily satisfy himself that no fraud has been committed in returning the votes there cast.

News and Notes.

Boston's celebration of its 250th anniversary on the 17th inst. was an immense affair, and everything passed off nicely. It is estimated that there were over 300,000 visitors in the city on that day.

By the breaking of the hoisting rope at the Consolidated Imperial mine at Virginia City, Nevada, on the 16th inst., the cage was precipitated to the bottom, a distance of three hundred feet, and fourteen hundred feet of rope was piled down on top of it and the ten men it contained. Nine of the men were killed.

At Bridgeport, Conn., on the 17th inst., a small building belonging to the Union Metallic Cartridge company was blown to atoms by fulminating powder, and five men in it were killed.

General A. B. Underwood, surveyor of the port of Boston, met with a severe accident on Friday, while on his way to a place in the procession. He was run into by a team driven by a drunken man, and had his leg broken in two places.

At Pocahontas, Ark., one day last week, William Means, a lawyer, went into the store of Charles Nichols, bought a pistol, and approaching Nichols said, "prepare yourself," and shot him through the heart. He then went into the street, saying he should have shot Nichols a year ago, and surrendered to the officers.

The soldiers' monument in Antietam cemetery was unveiled on the 17th inst. with imposing ceremonies, and in the presence of a large number of spectators.

Sixteen Indian girls from the Indian Territory, ranging from sixteen to twenty-five years old, have entered Moody's school at Northfield, Mass., for four years, after which they will do missionary work with their own people.

The stories of brave women who resist burglars are having an effect. Within a few days a husband who returned home late at night was shot by his wife, one at Nashville was knocked down with a club, and one at Washington was knocked down with a chair.

An elephant on the car next to the tender, on an Indiana railroad the other day, opened the tank, drank all the water, and compelled the train to stop.

Henry Herbert Crane lived childless at Grafton, Ohio, until he was sixty-five years old. Then his young wife gave birth to twins. The joyful father hired a band of music and marched through the village, bearing a banner on which was inscribed the word "Victory."

A mob in Milwaukee razed a fine building, without interference from the police. The city owned the land and could not induce the lessee to surrender his lease.

Chili's intention of entering Lima has been checked by England, France and Italy. The value of foreign property in Lima and Callao is estimated at $200,000,000.

It is reported that fighting has begun between the Albanians and Montenegrins.

The proposition to use balloons for the destruction of large cities in times of war, by dropping from them packages of nitro-glycerine, is fiendish, but there is nothing to prevent the adoption of the most hideous invention for the barbarities of war. Perhaps the more destructive the instrument of death, the sooner will the civilized world abandon the practice of war, and resort to the principle of arbitration for the settlement of differences between nation and nation. The cities of France and Germany might have been razed in their late war by the use of nitro-glycerine balloons, and the infliction of suffering upon women and children, as well as upon men, would have been appalling. It is difficult to imagine a more terrible device for human destruction, and while its use is a possibility every precaution should be employed for the protection of the United States against its devastation, should the nation become involved in war.

At Concord, on Thursday evening last, at a meeting of friends, John M. Hill on their behalf presented John W. Pillsbury, ex-warden of the state prison, with a gold watch and chain. J. W. Dander, chief engineer of the fire department, presented Deputy Warden Thomas W. Pillsbury with an elegant French clock.

Political Notes.

Senator Conkling made a political speech in New York on Friday evening last, to an immense audience, thousands being turned away from the doors.

The democrats of Virginia are now thinking of having a little election, all by themselves, next month. The rival factions of the party have been hard at work for some time to harmonize their differences, but the re-adjusters have refused to accept the proposition of the conservatives to place a mixed electoral ticket in the field, and no such basis of union could be agreed upon. The latest proposal comes from the re-adjusters, and is that the electoral ticket question be settled at a primary election, on the 16th of October, the white supporters of Hancock and English only to take part in the voting.

There has been a confusion down in Maine.

Col. John H. George said in his address before the democratic state convention that "the state of Webster and Bartlett and Woodbury and Hill and Pierce and Atherton has too long been under the control of small ideas and small men." Then his hearers plumped all their votes for Jones, the beer man, and as the successor of Bell, Bartlett, Pierce and Woodbury!—Nashua Telegraph.

The Social Division between the North and South.

A southern lady in Connecticut writes as follows to the Baltimore Sun:

Here then is the grand social division between north and south. Here comes in the saving which makes one section rich and keeps the other in debt. I have seen a professional man well enough off to be thought rich in our part of the world, blacking his shoes in his front porch, where every passer-by could see him. The minister in ——, a man of attainments, often passed through the principal street of the village, pail in hand, on his return from milking. Illustrations drawn from his personal experience as a farmer gave a point to his sermons that nothing else could have given. The richest citizen in ——, a man of fifty-nine, blows a big horn in the village band. Not only hotel men, but merchants, doctors, etc., have carried my trunk up and down stairs. Only the large city hotels indulge in the luxury of a porter. My landlord in Litchfield said he had been thinking for a long time about getting a little darkey to set up business as a bootblack. "We three hotels," said he, "ought to give him a good living." In brief, the men, as well as the women, of New England, know how to use their hands, and are not afraid to soil them. It is the custom of the country, and one of breeding.

Such things on the part of men and women do not tally with our southern customs, or fit into our modes of thought. But what will you? You can't eat your cake and have it too. In its last form the question shapes itself thus: "Isn't it better to have fewer ladies and gentlemen, and more independence?" You and I say "no," but taking the world as we find it, there would be much to rejoice at if all the rural districts were peopled as New England is. But a moment ago I laid down the pencil to listen to the singing of a young girl next door. She sings well and accompanies herself on the piano. In the morning she is dressed in plain calico, but in the afternoon she appears in nicer attire, with her hair carefully curled, and while she tends the flowers in the front yard sings for very happiness.

"Is that a free concert, Carrie?" asked a companion of about her own age, who lives in the house with me.

"Yes," is the answer. "I don't care who hears me sing."

I do not know it to be a fact, but think it quite probable that she helps in the housekeeping, and possibly in the cooking and washing also. Her father owns a farm some three miles from town, to which he goes in the morning and returns at night. His one hundred acres have enabled him to build this handsome, well-equipped house of ten or twelve rooms, with bay windows, etc., in the modern style.

Just as I am about to close, an item of decided interest comes to me. The young lady who sings so blithely over her flowers does not assist in the wash-tub department. Her father has exclusive charge of it. Once a week—listen, ye southern husbands—he takes the soiled linen of the family out to the farm, and washes it with his own fair hands. This is no jest, but the literal truth. I have it on good authority.

Are Bonnets and Jewelry Necessaries of Life?

This is difficult to answer, because the amount allotted varies with the styles of living, the husband's means and other circumstances. A Maine lady recently took her little child and went to Europe on an extended pleasure trip, and the husband's lawyer objected that pleasure travel abroad could not be deemed necessary. The judge refused to decide this, and said it was for the jury to determine whether, taking into view the means of the husband and the health of the wife and child, they would allow the expenses of such a journey. Not many years ago a wife bought a gold watch and other jewelry to the amount of $175. The husband argued that these things were ornaments, not necessaries; but the jewelers proved that the husband kept a fast horse and wore diamonds, and the court decided that if a man marries he engages to support a wife according to his social conditions and wealth; and if they enable him to keep a horse and wear diamonds they may well make it necessary that she should have some moderate ornaments. A Georgia milliner sued the husband of a lady for a bonnet which she had refused to take because it was a "botch." The husband proved that she was well supplied with bonnets, and that she had intended to give this one to a friend. The court said he was justified in refusing to pay for it. A hat might be necessary to a lady herself, but making presents to one's friends was not necessary. But how about Christmas, New Year, and birthday presents? If a lady in society orders these little things, can her husband refuse to pay for them?

—A hypocrite is a knave who tries to pass himself off as an honest man and can't, with a great preponderance of cant.

— Two young Chicago women amused themselves recently by taking out licenses to be married to young men without consulting them. One of the youths yielded; the other told his story to the city clerk, and it appeared in the newspapers.

A BRAVE LADY!

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation without Taking Chloroform.

(From the Courier.)

Mrs. Schoonmaker, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely loose the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skeleton. In this terrible strait, she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, New York, who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The "Favorite Remedy" is a priceless blessing to women. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

AROUND HOME.

The special train which left Boston for this city at 11:30 P. M., Friday, consisted of twenty-two cars, and did not arrive here until four o'clock Saturday morning.

The schooner B. Frank Neally, of Dover, arrived at the wharf in that city last week with over three hundred and fifty tons of coal, getting up to the wharf without having to lighten any of her cargo, owing to a very high tide.

The Tile club will while away a few "Idle Hours" at Music hall this evening. The club list includes the names of a number of favorite dramatic and musical artistes, and the piece was received with decided favor at Portland last week.

On Wednesday next, the 22d inst., the Eastern railroad will sell tickets from this city to Fabyan's and return, good for a through trip to Fabyan's by regular train on the 22d, (no "stop over" being allowed,) and to return until the 28th, the fare for the round trip being only $2.25.

Mr. Daniel Trefethen will raise a Hancock & English flag this (Monday) evening at his residene on Green street. Mr. Trefethen was born in the year 1800, cast his first vote for a presidential candidate in 1824, in favor of Andrew Jackson, and has voted for every democratic candidate for president since.

One morning last week a tramp was found in a sealed freight car of the Boston & Maine railroad, at Dover. He entered the car at Boston to steal a ride to Portland, and had been thirty-six hours without food or water when the railroad men heard his cries. His discoverers thought he had received punishment enough, and allowed him to go.

William McLean, employed by Mr. James W. Goodwin, proprietor of the Kearsarge house, in the latter's ice business at South Berwick, has been discovered to be an embezzler of several hundred dollars from his employer. After securing a large sum by collecting bills belonging to Mr. Goodwin, and then stealing a valuable watch, McLean left for parts unknown.

The Dover Democrat reports a number of recent instances in which missiles have been thrown at republican processions and flags in that city, and republican meetings disturbed, by ruffians presumably of the democratic party; also, that the Hancock & English clubs have been several times assailed, and democratic campaign flags pelted and injured, presumably by ruffians calling themselves republicans. The Democrat expresses its mind very plainly and properly in regard to such scoundrelly proceedings, no matter which side they are on.

OLD SOLDIERS.

Ed. Chronicle: Seeing in the daily papers of Portsmouth the record of two or three veteran soldiers brought to the notice of the public, suggests to me to ask would it not be well for the public to take a slight interest in this matter? As the "old soldiers" are now claimed in both political parties, it cannot be called partisan. There are many men who were not in the army who sail under the title of "colonel," "major," "captain," etc. There are men who were only enlisted men or line officers, who steal the titles of the general, field or staff lines. I claim these men are as dishonest as if they were trying to steal respectability in any other manner; and it has a strong tendency to cheapen the real, true soldiers,—to bring them into disrepute. Why do not these "cheap cusses" try to steal the livery of the navy as well as of the army? It is because the naval officers would not tolerate such theft for a moment. Let the old soldier who has a record take a stand; let those who were in the ranks claim their position of true men who are proud of having a record as soldiers, for they have one hundred fold more to be proud of than he who wore shoulder-straps unworthily. Let every man stand on a just record, and place the "bummer" where he belongs, and the civil thief in soldier's garb where he belongs, and route the false titles as we did the shirk and straggler down in the field. Then when a soldier's name comes up for position it will be respected, and have weight; not, as now, be received with derision. Again I say, let the soldier's record be scanned and honored.

RICOCHET.

A SURPRISING AFFAIR.

A reporter of a democratic paper, who interviewed Hon. Frank Jones in Boston on the 15th inst., reports him as saying:

The news that I am nominated comes as a surprise. I had not heard of it, and supposed that Hon. John W. Sanborn would be the candidate. I did not seek or desire the position, as is well known from declinations in the past. The nomination is a surprise to me.

Considering that Mr. Jones was in Concord up to the time the ballot was taken; the contract he insisted upon making the night before, that he should select the three candidates for congress; and the general understanding that no other man of means wanted to help pull through the democratic candidates at this time, the "surprise" has an unmistakable thinness.

THE SHIP SARAH PARKER.

A writer in Harper's Magazine, a former captain of the celebrated fast ship Sophia Walker, which was once the pride of the port of Boston, thus mentions a former Portsmouth ship:

True, the solid old "Sarah Parker" was my first love, and the proudest day I ever knew was that on which I stood the "monarch of her peopled deck," when the pilot descended into his skiff off Boston light, and we filled away the mainyard, bound to the East Indies. But the old girl was far advanced in life, and when, after five years of faithful companionship, I saw her sold to become a whaler, a few tears of sorrow were speedily dried by the smile of gladness with which I beheld my new and lovely bride, and congratulated myself on my promotion.

The Sarah Parker was a favorite ship. She was built by Master William Badger in 1827, for Goodwin & Coues of this city and Ferguson & Jewett of South Berwick. She was named for Mrs. Ichabod Goodwin, and an oil paining of the ship has for half a century hung upon the wall of the governor's counting room. We believe she was first commanded by Gov. Goodwin, and in her day she was a widely known East Indiaman.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

The lower end of a schooner's mast, broken off near the deck, and evidently fast to a sunken wreck by its rigging, is reported as having been seen showing above the surface about two miles off York harbor. A sail was fast to the mast.

Jeremiah Spinney, aged eighty-two years, recently wandered from the almshouse in Eliot, and was in the woods, slightly clad, for twenty-four hours of stormy weather before he was found, though thirty men were searching for him. He has recovered from the effects of his exposure.

Some years ago we gave an account of a curious intermittent spring on the farm of Mr. Daniel Cook of Kittery, which makes its appearance only in times of unusual drouth. This season it has appeared again, after an absence of two or three years, and has given a copious flow of water all through the dry spell. Since the rains commenced the flow of this eccentric spring has greatly diminished, and one or two more rain storms will at the same rate dry it up altogether. It is very handy kind of a spring to have on a farm.

"REPUBLICAN BULLDOZING."

The Portland Argus, Boston Post and other democratic papers last week fairly boiled over with virtuous indignation over a case of "republican bulldozing" in Biddeford, one William Mahon, who signs his name with a cross and of course votes the democratic ticket, having made affidavit that he was on Wednesday, the 15th inst., discharged from the employ of the Pepperell Manufacturing company, Superintendent Hobbs notifying him "that he could have no more work from said company, as he had voted the democratic ticket" on the Monday previous. In answer to this Mr. Hobbs makes affidavit that Mahon was discharged for drunkenness on the 4th inst., but was given work again on his promise to reform; but that on Tuesday, the 14th inst., Mahon left his work without permission, and got drunk, for which he was discharged; and as Mr. Hobbs did not know how the fellow had voted, of course he lied in attributing to Mr. Hobbs the language he did. To clinch the matter, Mr. Charles H. Coffin, one of the prominent working democrats of Biddeford, under whose immediate charge Mahon was employed, makes affidavit that Mahon left his work without permission on the afternoon of the 14th inst., remained away for an hour, and was drunk when he did come back. So it appears that it is "bulldozing" for an employer to discharge a worthless, drunken employe, provided only that the employe votes the democratic ticket.

Playing Possum.

Nothing is more savory to a southern negro's palate than a roasted fat opossum. One old negro hunter captured a fine specimen the other day, and feeling hungry stopped to cook it in the woods. He built a fire and dressed and spitted his meat; but, being very tired as well as hungry, he fell asleep while the 'possum was roasting. As he slept, a "low trash" negro came upon the scene, doubtless attracted by the fire and the smell of roasting meat. The new comer approached cautiously, with with one eye on the 'possum and the other on Uncle Eph, who slumbered.

First he shook the old man, who turned to easier position, but would not wake. The stranger took in the situation, and then proceeded to take in the 'possum. He too, was a 'possum eater, and he made short work of the dainty roast. He ate and ate till but the bones were left. Uncle Eph was still sleeping, and it occurred to the vandal that he would make Eph think that he had been to supper, so that when he awoke he would not suspect the theft. Then the "low trash" negro proceeded to 'possum grease Eph's hands and face and mouth, and to pile in the old man's lap the gnawed bones.

Nights have mornings, and sleeping must have its waking. Uncle Eph awoke and immediately thought of his 'possum. It was not on the fire; it was not anywhere to be seen; but there in his lap were the bones that had been gnawed. On his hands, lips and beard was grease and the smell of 'possum. He was self-convicted. He concluded that he had eaten the 'possum, yet he could not remember the pleasure the eating had given him. Weighing the circumstantial evidence carefully, the old man slowly pronounced judgment,—

"Dat's a fac'. I'se been eatin' dat 'possum. I'se been eatin' it in my sleep."

But then his stomach; why did it not stand out as a witness in the case? It felt empty, and yet it should be full.

"It's certain sh'or I've done eat up the 'possum. Must have done it when I's sleep. But," and the old man placed his hand sadly over his really empty stomach, "but it interferes less'n any 'possum I ebber did eat."

—Any vender of cabbages may congratulate himself upon having arrived at the dignity of head salesman.

—A merchant whose time for the past year has been so much taken up that he has been unable to remain at home except at meal-time, concluded to take a vacation. A friend asked him where he intended to go, and he said he thought he would go home and get acquainted with his family.

MR. GEO. WM. BALLOU, of the banking house of Geo. Wm. Ballou & Co., of Boston and New York, made a thorough examination in company with his railroad experts, of the entire line of the Toledo, Delphos & Burlington Railroad, before buying the first mortgage bonds. The railroad system embraces a line of 311 miles, over 200 of which is completed and running.

The local business is sufficiently large to provide for all interest charges, and the bonds being issued at the rate of only $7000 per mile, running at six per cent., ought to be entirely safe. At 92½ and accrued interest the bonds pay about 7 per cent. on the investment.

HORICON, WIS., Dec. 24, 1879.

I have been troubled with kidney complaint (diabetes) for six years and without relief until I commenced using Kidney-wort. I have taken four boxes, and now consider myself entirely cured. I would recommend it for all such cases.

W. H. THOMPSON,
Engineer C. M. & St. P. R. R.

Mrs. J. B. Clark, Amite, La., writes: "I have used Kidney-Wort, and I wish I could see you to tell you of the benefit it has been to me. It has relieved me of pain in the side, constipation, piles, and some other complaints. My sleep is now very refreshing, and I am quite well. It is a sure cure."

—There are hundreds of entertaining writers who would be good historians if they did not know so many things that have never happened.

Do not delay, but bear in mind that consumption often begins with a neglected cold or cough. Adamson's Botanic Balsam wins the day in curing coughs and colds. Price, 35 and 75 cents. Trial bottles, 10 cts.

—A monster sewing machine, weighing over four tons, and run by steam, has been constructed for a manufacturing firm in Liverpool. The machine is the largest in the world.

The only stomach remedy in the world, guaranteed by your own druggist, is D. R. V. G. Dyspepsia Remedy.

—The term "a carpet-knight" used, in the middle ages, to be a term of reproach. But it wouldn't have been had they realized how hard a carpet is to beat.

Many who have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound faithfully do not hesitate to regard Mrs. Pinkham as a saviour of her sex. Send to her at 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for pamphlets.

Intellect in Birds.

The central prison at Agra is the roosting-place of great numbers of the common blue pigeon; they fly out to the neighboring country for food every morning, and return in the evening, when they dribble out a tank that is outside the prison walls. In this tank are a large number of fresh-water turtles, which lie in wait for the pigeons, just under the surface of the water and at the edge of it. Any bird alighting to drink near one of these turtles has a good chance of having its head bitten off and eaten; and the headless bodies of pigeons have been picked up near the water, showing the fate which has sometimes befallen the birds. The pigeons, however, are aware of the danger, and have hit on the following plan to escape it: A pigeon comes in from its long flight, and, as it nears the tank, instead of flying down at once to the water's edge, will cross the tank at about twenty feet above its surface and then fly back to the side from which it came, apparently selecting for alighting a safe spot which it had remarked as it flew over the bank; but even when such a spot has been selected the bird will not alight at the edge of the water, but on the bank about a yard from the water, and will then run down quickly to the water, take two or three hurried gulps of it, and then fly off to repeat the same process at another part of the tank till its thirst is satisfied. I had often watched the birds doing this, and could not account for their strange mode of drinking till told by my friend, the superintendent of the prison, of the turtles which lay in ambush for the pigeons. The same friend had a couple of hill mynahs, the most wonderful bird for mimicry which I have come across, not excepting the gray parrot of the west African coast. One of the birds, when hung out in the veranda during the afternoon, used to amuse itself by calling the fowls together, imitating the call of their keeper so well that they used to flock together under the cage, when the bird would burst out into a very good imitation of a human laugh, as if it quite enjoyed the fun of taking in the fowls. Is not this quite a sense of amusement? This one certainly seemed to derive gratification from the way in which it had cheated the fowls.—Nature.

No Use for Him.

A couple of old darkies met the other day, and began talking over matters and things.

"How is ole Col. Jones comin' on, what used to own you before the war? He is so old he must be gettin' to be childish and losin' his reasonin' powers?"

"Don't know nuffin about him—hain't seed him since befoah last Christmas."

"Why, what's the matter?"

"Ain't got no use for such ole gemmans. Last time I was dar I fotched him a big red-fish I had cotched. I tole him ef he would gimme a table-knife I would scrape and clean de fish. What do you s'pose he said?"

"Asked ye to come in and get a dram, and chat awhile about ole times on de ole plantation."

"No, sah; he tole me ef I couldn't borry a table-knife from some of de nabors dat he would radder clean the fish himself. I s'pose he was afeard I'd be borrowin' in handin' de knife back when I got done wid it."

The other darkey rubbed his chin and remarked:

"I see by dat ar dat de ole man's still got de use of his reasonin' powers."—Galveston News.

The Red Mark.

You have seen persons afflicted with erysipelas? Well, it is an awful thing. It disfigures the face almost beyond recognition, and is as dangerous as it is repulsive. It often causes sudden death, and is sometimes called "St. Anthony's Fire." Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., had it in both legs, and was cured by the use of Dr David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." His health is now perfect. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," is the very life of the blood. It cannot hurt you and is sure to help. Tell your neighbors so. Get it of your druggist, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y., enclosing one dollar for a bottle.

—A liar is much more entertaining than the man who talks sober truth, and sometimes in political campaigns he is more effective. The objection to him is that he is found out.

Young men suffering from weakness, nervousness, despondency, loss of memory, etc., are thoroughly and permanently cured by Day's Kidney Pad.

—The massive watch chains worn by some young men bear no resemblance to silence, because silence is golden.

VITAL STATISTICS. It is shown by the reports of Health Boards, and other authorized bodies, that diseases of kidneys and bladder are always on the increase; a sad fact, due perhaps to the foolish habit of drinking lager beer and other liquors, without knowing what they are made of. Is there a remedy? Decidedly yes. First, stop drinking. Second, use Hunt's Remedy—a potent and unfailing specific for kidney, bladder, liver and urinary complaints. Hunt's remedy, the great kidney and liver medicine, is endorsed by eminent physicians.

Sold by all druggists. Trial size, 75 cents.

TRADE MARK. DAY'S Kidney PAD

A discovery which cures by the natural process.

ABSORPTION.

all diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System, when nothing else can. It is comfortable to the patient, positive in its effects, and the best cure for those painful and much dreaded affections,

Diabetes and Bright's Disease,

while its cures of Gravel, Dropsy, Catarrh of the Bladder, Brickdust Deposit, Painful Urinating, High-Colored Urine, Nervous Weakness and Pain in the Back, seem more like miracles than cases of natural healing.

DELICATE FEMALES

or victims of wasted or prostrated energies, caused by irregular habits, the decrees of nature and mental or physical over-exertion, find their greatest relief in the use of DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, which strengthens and invigorates the invalid and restores the vigor of health.

PAIN IN THE BACK.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the only certain and permanent cure for every form of this prevalent and distressing complaint.

YOUNG MEN

suffering from nervous and physical debility, loss of memory, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or to close application to business or work, may be restored and manhood regained.

Avoid all kidney medicines which are taken into the system by way of the stomach; it is an old treatment well and generally proved inefficient, though sometimes effecting apparent cures of one complaint, they sow the seeds of more troublesome and permanent disorders. The price of our Pad brings it within the reach of all, and it will annually save many times its cost in doctors bills, medicine, and pleasure, which at best give but temporary relief. It can be used without fear or harm, and with certainty of a permanent cure. For sale by druggists generally, or sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of the price. Regular Pad, $2.00. Child's Pad (for incontinence of urine in children), $1.50. Special (extra size) Pad, $3.00. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving a history of this new discovery and a selected record of most remarkable cures sent free. Write for it. Address

DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., Toledo, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it our duty to caution the public to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, and take no other.

WM. E. CLARKE, Providence, R. I.

Prices, 75 cents and $1.25. Large size the cheapest. Ask your druggist for HUNT'S REMEDY. Take no other.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE ONLY MEDICINE

That Acts at the Same Time on

THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, and the KIDNEYS.

These great organs are the natural cleansers of the system. If they work well, health will be perfect; if they become clogged, dreadful diseases are sure to follow with

TERRIBLE SUFFERING.

Biliousness, Headache, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Constipation and Piles, or Kidney Complaints, Gravel, Diabetes, Sediment in the Urine, Milky or Ropy Urine; or Rheumatic Pains and Aches, are developed because the blood is poisoned with the humors that should have been expelled naturally.

KIDNEY-WORT

will restore the kidneys to healthy action and all these distressing evils will be banished; neglect them and you are laid low by disease.

Thousands have been cured. Try it and you will add one more to the number. Take it and health will soon be yours.

Why suffer longer from the torment of an aching back?

Why bear such distress from Constipation and Piles?

Why be so fearful because of disordered urine?

Kidney-Wort will cure you. Try a package at once and be satisfied.

It is a dry vegetable compound and One Package makes six quarts of Medicine.

Your Druggist has it, or will get it for you. Insist upon having it. Price, $1.00.

THE

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a week's invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in local sides whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

Highest Medals. Indorsed and Prescribed by Medical Men of all Schools.

Professor Duncan Campbell, M.D., LL.D., President Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, etc., etc., says: "It has more than realized my expectations."

Professor J. M. Carnochan, M.D., Professor of Surgery New York Medical College, says: "My patients derive marked and decided benefit from it."

Professor H. Goullon, M.D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Saxony; Knight of the Holy Cross, etc., says: "It gives more tone than anything I have ever prescribed."

Sir Robert Christison, M.D., LL.D., F.R.S., Physician to her Majesty the Queen; President Royal British Association, etc., etc., says: "The properties of the Coca are the most remarkable of any known to the medical world. From repeated personal trials I am convinced that its use is highly beneficial and tonic."

Valuable in malaria; ague; malarial debility; dumbague; low fever; marasmus; paralytic; spinal and nervous affections; female weaknesses; bilious and liver affections; weak throats; palpitation and other affections of the heart; epilepsy or falling sickness; weakness of the voice of actors, singers, public speakers and clergymen; colic; flatulency; seasickness; falling out of the hair; asthma; shortness of breath; wasting diseases; etc., etc. It is gratefully refreshing and restorative after prolonged mental and physical strain. It is pleasant and agreeable, and is readily retained by the most delicate stomach. Dr. McBean (British Medical Journal) found it of great service in consumption. Baron von Humboldt says he has never known a case of consumption or asthma among those accustomed to its use, and that they live to a great age, retaining their mental and physical faculties to the last (Cosmos).

Speer's Vineyard at Passaic.

A party of gentlemen from New York recently made a visit of inspection to the vineyard, wine cellars and wine press of Mr. Alfred Speer at Passaic, N. J., going in the steamer Runaway until the said steamer stuck fast in the bed of the Passaic river, a mile and a half from the town. The rest of the trip is described by a reporter as follows:

Mr. Speer met the party and hauled them in several carriages to his vineyard. Mr. Speer's vineyard covers many acres, and is yearly enlarging and improving. The carriages drove much of the way under vine-covered arbors. Mr. Speer is a successful cultivator of the genuine Oporto grape. The Oporto resembles somewhat our native fox grape in size and in cluster. It is not a table grape, being disposed to the vinegary in taste. At half-past five p. m., the company having viewed all the vineyard there was to see and eaten all the grapes they could conveniently hold, were ridden to Mr. Speer's grape depot and bestowed to an upper room, where a collation was set for them. This, after the fatigues of the day, and a fast varying in dases from eight to fourteen hours, was doubly appreciated. Mr. Speer's wine, port and burgundy, punctuated the table at regular distances. The Maire of Passaic, a very good looking young man, presided at one end of the table, and Mr. Erastus Brooks at the other. The last pickled oyster being washed down with Speer's burgundy and the bologna with Speer's port, the Maire arose and propounded the health of Mr. Erastus Brooks. Mr. Brooks responded in an able and effective speech, which, in good order, wandered from the wine groves of Passaic to the remotest corners of "Our Glorious Union," and embraced this "Family of States," distinct like the waves of the sea but one as the ocean. Senator McPherson being next called upon remarked that he had little, very little, to say, and then, as usual in all these cases, went on and said a great deal, saying it well, too, and with senatorial force and ability, and when he had at last finished at a hint from Mr. Speer, who sat opposite, he said also that the cases of Mr. Speer's wine received by him in Washington, and distributed by him to various senators, were pronounced by them superior to anything in Europe. Several other speeches were made of excellent order and quality, as any speech must be when inspired by Speer's wine, and then the party broke up, each guest receiving two full bottles wrapped together. Mr. Speer has done great service by New Jersey. His has been the perseverance of years, his ambition to make a pure and palatable American wine, and his brands will yet be found in the wine bins of kings.

What Better Evidence

could the people ask to substantiate the merits of Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines than the fact that they have not only yearly grown in popular favor in this country, but the foreign demand for them has became so great as to necessitate the establishing a branch of the celebrated World's Dispensary in London, England, that these blessings to the afflicted may be dispatched from that great commercial center of the world to every country and people? Golden Medical Discovery, is a concentrated, potent alterative, or blood cleansing remedy, that wins golden opinions of all who use it for all humors from the common pimple, blotch, or eruptions, to the formidable scrofulous swelling. Internal fever, soreness and ulceration, yield to its benign influence. Consumption, which is but a form of scrofulous affection of the lungs, may in its early stages be cured by a free use of this God-given remedy. WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 3d, 1879.

DR. R. V. PIERCE:

Dear Sir: With trembling hand, from my extreme age, being eighty-five, I write to inform you of the great benefit your Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets have been to me. Three years ago I was prostrated with pneumonia, and no one thought I would recover. By the use of those medicines I was raised to health, and by the blessing of God and your medicines I have enjoyed pretty good health since, though for years before this I suffered from weak lungs and a bad cough

Gratefully yours, MARY B. FISK.

— The eyes of a heroine in a recent novel: "They were large, with enormous pupils; what could be seen of the iris was a kind of red black—black with a flame behind. It seemed to Charles Mallard that one might plunge into the lurid depth of those wonderful eyes. Infinite abysses of the soul lay revealed in them; they seemed but a transparent veil over the immortal ether." Something like a cross between the optics of an enraged bull and a hungry alligator, apparently.

Beautifiers.

Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes with all cosmetic of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such good health, strength, buoyant spirits and beauty as Hop Bitters. Reasons for Supporting Garfield & Arthur.

The state executive committee of the independent republican party of New York state have issued an address announcing their purpose to support Garfield and Arthur, and giving the reasons therefor, as follows:

The Independent Republican State Executive Committee, intending to support the republican presidential ticket at the ensuing election, present to their friends and coadjutors in this and other states a resume of their reasons for so doing:

The attitude of the democratic party is wholly negative. Its utterances, together with the use of its majority power in congress, prove its incapacity to interest itself in any vital political or economic question. Its candidate's letter of acceptance deals only with propositions which are universally accepted, and is therefore meaningless and irrelevant. It urges change, merely for the sake of change. But while the government is respectably administered, it is a prerequisite for change that the opposition should have an honest, positive, and intelligible policy.

The democratic party has no such policy. The abuses upon which it dwells occurred many years ago, and have for the most part ceased to exist.

There is no hope that democrats would recommend or undertake the legislation needed to reform the civil service. The spoils system is a democratic invention, and the hope of spoil is the stimulus of the democratic campaign. On the other hand, the present administration has begun wholesome reforms in the civil service, General Garfield has repeatedly advocated such reforms, and the Chicago platform marks a long step forward in this direction, and is for the first time so explicit, as either to insure legislation or to justify the defeat of republican congressmen opposing it.

Under republican auspices specie payments were resumed and large reduction of the principal and interest of the public debt effected. Most of the opposition to these measures, and most of the dishonest financial schemes in congress have emanated from the democracy. Even its hereditary doctrine of free trade has so little hold upon that party, after five years of congressional power, it has left tariff reform still untouched. It has only half accepted the constitutional amendments, and has refused legislation demanded by them. Within a year some of its leaders proposed to nullify a law which the supreme court had upheld, because it conflicted with their ante-bellum notions of the constitution. There is, moreover, danger lest the election of General Hancock should be so interpreted as to obscure the fact that the war ended in a conquest, not a compromise.

We recognize the dilemma in which the south is placed by the introduction of a new political element, composed mainly of the ignorant and the indigent, but we find, in the manner in which that dilemma has been met, evidences of the survival, in those communities which still control the democratic party, of the ideas and habits nourished by slavery, in the just abhorrence of which the republican party had its birth, and finds a necessity for its continued existence.

General Hancock is a gallant soldier and an honest, loyal gentleman, but in fitness for the presidency of the United States he cannot be compared to his competitor. He possesses neither civil training nor experience. His character and purposes are no purer than those of General Grant, his capacity is less, and neither the experience of the country, nor his own history or surroundings afford any reason for supposing that his administration would be even as successful as that of General Grant.

We have examined all the charges against General Garfied, and we find, in the language applied by Senator Thurman to one of them, that there is "not sufficient evidence to fasten corruption at his door," and that none of them are so substantiated as to offset a long, honorable, faithful and conspicuously useful public career, during which he has commanded the respect and confidence of his political opponents who know him best, and has occupied positions where a dishonest man might have made fortunes, while it is notorious that General Garfield is and always has been comparatively a poor man.

In conclusion, we believe the friends of good government have more to hope for from the republicans than from the democrats; that General Garfield would make a better president than General Hancock; and that it would be unwise in any case to trust a party while it is still uncertain of its own policy or convictions.

It was this "independent republican" element which swelled reformer Tilden's vote to such a large majority in New York at the last presidential election, and which labored so earnestly to defeat Cornell for governor at the last state election there; and from the high character of its leaders, and the consequent large influence exerted by it, especially on the business classes, its earnest and intelligent support of Garfield and Arthur is of great moment.

News and Notes.

Saturday evening John G. Tarr, a sailor, who has not been living with his wife for some time, found her in a boarding house in Portland, Me., and shot at her several times, almost instantly killing her. Jealousy was the cause of the tragedy. The murderer was arrested without resistance.

The recent rains in Maine have swollen the streams and rivers, and the sawing of lumber will now be resumed in many mills that have been shut down on account of a scarcity of water.

Mr. Lewis Sampson of Brunswick, Me., aged eighty-eight years, was found dead in his bed Monday morning of last week. He served in the war of 1812, and received a pension from the government.

Maud S. trotted a mile in 2:10 3-4 at Chicago on Saturday, beating all previous records. The second quarter was trotted at the rate of 2:03.

Friday night three persons, giving the names of Morse, Hanlon and Sullivan, attempted to enter the store of Ross Bros., at Hopkinton, Mass., by breaking through a window, but were heard by L. Bridges, who lives over the store, and by means of a revolver he held them until he could call assistance, when they were locked up, and Saturday morning they were taken to Framingham to answer for their crime.

A special from Maysville, Mo., says: "Dr. P. H. Talbott, editor of the Green-back Standard, was shot through the window of his bedroom on Saturday night by an unknown assassin. The bullet also slightly wounded Mrs. Talbott. Talbott died on Sunday.

The annual election of directors of the Western Union Telegraph Co. occurs Oct. 13th. The opposition to the present management, which is that of the Vanderbilt party, is to come from Jay Gould. Ever since Mr. Gould started his own telegraph company, the American Union, a year ago, the fight between the two companies has been bitter. Attempts to head off the new company have been made at many points. The most important suits in opposition were those in the matter of the Page patent, and the series of suits relating to the possession of the wires along the Pacific railroads. "The street," has at times been filled with rumors to the effect that it was only a question of time when the new company would be absorbed by the Western Union, but these rumors have been less frequent of late. It is generally believed that Mr. Gould desires to bring about some sort of an alliance between his company and the Western Union, and seeks to obtain a voice in the management of the latter as a means toward that end.

At Corning, Perry county, Ohio, Saturday, a mob of over 1000 white miners attacked the colored employes of the Corning coal mine. The militia fired upon the mob, wounding a number, and the assailants then gallantly ran away.

Madame Janauschek arrived in Boston last Sunday morning by the steamer Samaria, from Liverpool.

The bells of the parish church of Boston, Lincolnshire, England, where John Cotton was for twenty years the vicar, were rung last Friday in honor of the 250th anniversary of the settlement of Boston, Mass.

George Mitchell, for the murder of a woman with whom he was living as his wife, was hanged at Cincinnati on Friday.

Michael Joyce and John C. Perry, two soldiers at the arsenal in Washington, D. C., were accidentally shot Saturday morning while handling a one-inch calibre Gatling gun, and have since died.

Jack Belford and Charles Hurly of Laconia were caught in the act of breaking into the store of G. H. Wilkinson & Co., late Saturday night. They are believed to be the same parties who tried to enter the stores of G. F. Mallard and Wiggin & Co., in Laconia, a short time ago.

Oliver Buskee, aged sixty years, of North Smithfield, R. I., was found drowned in a pond in that town, Sunday morning. He probably drove in on Saturday night, his horse being blind.

The defalcation by Paymaster James H. Nelson, who was attached to the United States pay office in New York, Paymaster Sprague says will not amount to over $8,000. The amount missing is between $6,000 and $8,000. Nelson was a sort of a club man, and liked sociability. His deficiency in the accounts was all through speculation. The government does not lose a dollar, as his bondsmen cover four times the amount missing.

Capt. Nelson, of the trading schooner Western Home, which arrived at San Francisco on the 18th inst., seventeen days from Alaska, reports that the Arctic revenue cutter Corwin is lying at one of the small ports, unable to proceed on her voyage, owing to the immense floes of ice which bar her way. Capt. Nelson further says: "The ice this year has offered more difficulties to voyagers of the northern seas than has been known for years. It has come down earlier than usual, and packs thicker. There is hope, however, for the Corwin being able to proceed on her search for the Jeannette and missing whalers as soon as a break in the ice occurs. It is generally believed by whalers who are familiar with the passage to be taken by the Corwin that whenever the ice packs and comes in early during the season a break occurs, allowing the vessel to proceed before real cold weather has come on."

The steamer Aurora, from Oporto bound for Southampton, England, has foundered at sea. Fifty persons were drowned.

Schooner J. H. B. arrived at Port Hawkesbury, N. B., Friday, and landed an insane man, who had been picked up by the schooner Apoline, forty miles east of the Magdalen islands, Monday, the 6th inst. The man was in a boat without oars, and navigating her with a piece of plank. The man said his name was William McIsaac, and stated that he had left Cape George the Friday afternoon previous. If his story is true he must have sailed 200 miles in an open boat.

The Hartford county superior court has granted the petition of Henry Ratz of Thompsonville, Conn., praying that his name be changed to Henry Raites. It was shown by the petitioner that his peculiar name was the cause of a great deal of annoyance to himself and members of his family. Mischievous neighbors spoke of him and his wife as the "old rats," and the children as "little rats," some going further and teasing them by calling them "mice."

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

For week ending Wednesday, Sept. 15.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

Amount of stock at market—Cattle 2912; sheep and lambs 1733; swine, 14,000; number western cattle 2513; eastern cattle 174; milch cows and northern cattle 207.

Prices of beef cattle per 100 lbs live weight—Extra quality $5 75 and $6 25; first quality $5 25 and $5 62½; second quality $4 87½ and $5 12½; third quality $4 50 and $4 75; poorest grades of coarse oxen, bulls, etc., $3 50 and $4 37½.

Brighton Hides 8½c per lb.

Brighton Tallow 6½ and 6½c per lb.

Country hides 7½ and 8c per lb.

Country Tallow 3½ and 4c per lb.

Calf skins 10 and 11c per lb, or from $1 25 and $1 75 per skin.

Lamb skins 75c and $1 each.

Sheared sheep skins 50c each.

Western cattle during the past week have advanced in prices fully ½c per lb over those obtained one week ago. The quality in most instances was very good, and the supply lighter than that of the previous week. The demand for shipping cattle has been active and the best lots sold at 6¾ and 6½c per lb live weight. Butchers have been paying from 5¾ and 6½c per lb live weight for beeves of the best grades suitable for their trade. There were but a very few western cattle in market this week sold for less than 5c per lb live weight. The supply from Maine was light, and consisted largely of cows and working oxen.

Working Oxen—There has been a moderate demand for working oxen and a fair supply in market. We quote sales of 1 pr, girth 7 ft 1 in, live weight 3100 lbs, $155; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 10 in, live weight 2850 lbs, $125; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 5 in, live weight 2500 lbs, $100; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 6 in, live weight 2600 lbs, $85; 1 pr, girth 7 ft, live weight 3100 lbs, $145; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 7 in, live weight 2500 lbs, $110; 1 pr, girth 6 ft 6 in, live weight 2800 lbs, $130.

Milch Cows—Most of the cows offered in market were of a common grade. We note sales of 2 cows and calves for $80; 2 cows and calves and 1 springer for $160 the lot; 1 new milch cow $30; do $35; 1 Ayrshire springer $38; 1 Jersey spring-er and 1 cow and calf $100 the lot; 1 springer $40; 1 milch cow $40; 1 do $35.

Store Cattle—The call for them has been light and there were but a few in market. We quote sales of 10 heifers at $21 per head; 8 two-year-old steers and heifers at $15 per head; 8 beef cows and heifers at 3½c per lb dressed weight, to reach 560 lbs each. Many of the small cattle that are in a fair condition are bought up to slaughter.

Sheep and Lambs—The supply from the west was light, all owned by butchers. Sheep costing from 5¾ and 6½c, lambs 6 and 6½c per lb live weight landed at the Abattoir.

Veal Calves—We quote sales of 15 eastern calves, average weight 130 lbs, at $5 per head; 21, average weight 120 lbs, at $6 per head. Prices for veal calves this week ruled from 5¾ and 6c per lb live weight.

Swine—Fat Hogs—Prices for western fat hogs have not been so firm as those of one week ago, those brought in this week selling 5¾ and 6½c per lb live weight, all owned by butchers.

A BRAVE LADY!

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation without Taking Chloroform.

(From the Courier.)

Mrs. Schoonmaker, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely loose the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skeleton. In this terrible strait, she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, New York, who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The "Favorite Remedy" is a priceless blessing to woman. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

The winter arrangement of working hours at the navy yard goes into effect on Wednesday morning of this week.

The sale of tickets to the "Pirates of Penzance" commences at Preston's this morning at nine o'clock. An early call for reserved seats is advisable, for tickets are put at but 75 cents each, and a large audience is sure to greet D'Oyly Carte's splendid company in this pleasing comic opera. See advertisement.

A very interesting gospel meeting was held in the Congregational church at Newcastle on Sunday, the three church organizations of the town uniting; there were about one hundred and seventy-five persons present. Mr. George Perkins conducted the meeting. Services were also held at Beech ridge, York, and at York village, by Messrs. Israel, Frye and Montgomery of this city.

The republicans raised a tall flag-pole on Congress street, Saturday, on the vacant lot opposite the republican headquarters in the Franklin buildings. Monday it was surmounted with an immense rooster, four feet high, crowing in honor of the glorious victory of the Maine republicans over the greenback organization and its democratic and "enforced prohibition" attachments.

The Hancock & English flag in front of the democratic headquarters is still "union down," having been sent out so agani after being hauled in. In consideration of the Maine election, it was perfectly proper for our democratic brethren to set their ensign as a signal of distress the last time; but what they wanted to put it out that way for at first, before the Maine election had been held, is a puzzle.

A paragraph has been going the rounds of the democratic press, outside of New Hampshire, which says that Hon. Frank Jones "has never been defeated in any contest in which he has been persuaded to engage." This is strictly true concerning the four electoral contests in which Mr. Jones was successful; but it is not true at all concerning the other four electoral contests in which he has been engaged, and in each of which he was beaten.

The "Tile club" had a rather small audience at Music hall on Monday evening, but gave a very pleasing entertainment. The piece, "Idle hours," is one of the sketchy trifles that have become so popular within a few years, depending for success upon the ability of the performers and the "specialties" introduced, rather than upon dramatic construction and deep-laid plot; but it is very amusing, and as presented by the Tile club is a musical feast of considerable merit.

Howe Call, Esq., of this city, the ex-silver-tongued-orator of the greenback party, who was not considered by the Portsmouth democrats as good enough to serve on a caucus committee appointed to notify of his nomination a candidate whom the democratic leaders did not intend trying to elect, is considered by the democratic national committee to be a good enough democrat to send on much more important missions. In a list of democratic appointments in Indiana, published in the Indianapolis Sentinel of the 15th inst., we notice "Hon. Howe Call, of New Hampshire, is assigned as the speaker at a mass meeting of the democrats of the 7th, 8th, 9th and 10th wards of Indianapolis on Friday night, the 17th." A prophet has honor save in his own country.

BOW MISSION SERVICES.

The matter of establishing a service on Saturday evenings was at one time thought to be impracticable by many friends of the cause, but it has not turned out to be so, for the gospel temperance meeting has become one of the permanent services of the mission work. "How to vote" was freely discussed at the last meeting, and the various opinions given were proof that all are very much interested in the issues of the day; but although the views of the several speakers were in many instances quite opposite, the utmost harmony prevailed. These services are free to all, no matter what may be their opinions, and all are welcome.

In the absence of Mr. Ham, Mr. Daniel L. Randall conducted the bethel service Sunday afternoon; a number of persons took part, and extracts were read from the "Sailor's Magazine" regarding work among seamen. It was announced that the hall would be open during the autumn months from 10:30 o'clock A. M. until noon every Sunday, for the special convenience of seamen.

The reform club held a social meeting on Sunday evening. L.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"Ultima Thule" is the title selected for a new volume of Mr. Longfellow's poems. This little book, published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., of Boston, contains the poems written by Mr. Longfellow since the publication of "Keramos" two years since. Ultima Thule is not a large book. If the poet has not been prolific in the number of his verses for the past two years, he has been none the less happy in the purity of his lines, the nobility of thought and richness of poetic grace which appear in the volume before us. A fine new portrait of the author, perhaps taken near his seventy-second birthday, when the chair made from the wood of the Village Blacksmith's chestnut tree was presented to him, adorns the volume. Price $1; for sale by Myers.

"The Iron Gates, and other poems by Oliver Wendell Holmes." No one is inclined to believe, on looking at Dr. Holmes' excellent portrait in the neat volume just issued by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., that the Autocrat has really reached the age of three score and ten, but will incline to think with Gail Hamilton that there must be a mistake in the figures. The name of the new volume of Dr. Holmes' lines is chosen from the poem read at the breakfast given in honor of the doctor's seventieth birthday by the publishers of the Atlantic Monthly last December. The other pieces are in part poems read by the author at the meetings of his college class, that of 1829. The beautiful descriptive poem of "the school boy," read at the centennial celebration of the foundation of Phillips Academy at Andover in 1878, is also given, wherein the former student describes the journey by stage towards the scene of his future studies,

"Slow rolls the coach along the dusty road,
Big with its filial and parental load."

Other occasional poems are added, all making an enjoyable volume of eighty-two pages, attractively printed and bound. Mr. Myers has it.

Naval Gazette.

The school ship St. Marys, Urben, arrived at New York on the 17th inst. from Newport, R. I.

The U. S. S. Lackawanna was at Callao on the 19th of August. The Wachusett sailed from that port on the 15th of August, for Valparaiso.

Comdr. Geo. W. Coffin is ordered to the naval observatory. Comdr. W. S. Schley is ordered to duty as inspector of the second lighthouse district, relieving Comdr. S. D. Ames.

Gunner Eugene Mack is detached from the Portsmouth navy yard and ordered to the magazine, relieving Gunner T. R. Wilson, who is ordered to the navy yard.

Leave of absence for one month has been granted Lieut. D. G. McRitchie, commanding the U. S. S. Tallapoosa.

Political Notes.

Hon. George M. Robeson has been nominated for re-election as representative in congress by the republicans of the first district of New Jersey.

A republican mass meeting at Valley Falls, R. I., Saturday night, was violently stoned, missiles of a pound's weight striking the speakers and reporters.

The democratic papers, about Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, were saying that the republican papers "agreed to treat the result in Maine as decisive of the hopes of the party in the presidential campaign." We were not previously aware of any such agreement; but are the democrats willing to abide by the same test as to their hopes?

The Boston correspondent of the Springfield Republican says that democrats as well as the republicans who have been in Boston from Maine the past few days admit that there is no doubt about Maine going strongly republican in November.

Congressman Aiken's declaration that if the south furnished the most of the democratic votes in congress it ought to have more of the plunder and more of its own way in the direction of affairs, continues to make trouble. The Newberry (S. C.) Herald, of September 8th, says the utterance was very untimely, and "not calculated to help the national democracy in its fight for the presidency." The Herald gives this sample of its way of helping on that fight: "It is poor policy to be squabbling and quarreling in the face of a common enemy. If there are evils to be corrected in the national party, it will be time enough to do it after the party gets into power." This is the Toombs view of the case. "The old boys of the south will see to it that Hancock does the fair thing by them." Southern sentiment is solid on that question.

The Newburyport Herald says: "Few people were aware of the unusual precaution taken by the Eastern railroad on 'Boston's birthday,' that of stationing a line of flagmen from Boston to Ipswich, one at every curve, so that there was not a rod of the road which was not under the constant inspection of two men. This was done to guard against the possibility of one train running into another, and enabled the dispatcher to send out trains in quick succession of one another."

—The latest thing in boots—stockings.

—An editor was accosted one day with, "I thought it was a rule of your paper never to give the authorship of any editorial article?" "That is our rule," said the editor. "But the proprietor of this paper told me who wrote the 'leader' yesterday," continued the caller. "Indeed!" quoth the editor: "who was it?" "He said he wrote it himself." "In that case," answered the editor, quietly, "he did not violate the rule. He merely lied."

—While a lawer was travelling by stage in New York, with the wife and daughter of a general in the United States army, the young lady said to him: "I asked pa the other day why it was that they built the front wheel of the wagon smaller than the hind wheel. He said they built it smaller so that it would run faster than the hind wheel, to keep out of the way. Can you tell me, Mr. C—?" The lawyer stammered and blushed, and said they made it smaller so that it would run easier, and it was fashionable. The old lady came to his relief by saying that it was not the province of professional gentlemen to answer questions pertaining to mechanical trades.

TODD. In York, Me., Aug. 29th, after an illness of eight hours, Dwight Grant Todd, aged 15 months, only child of George A. and Carrie M. Todd.

There's a pair of little hands
Laid to rest forevermore;
There's two pearly, dimpled cheeks
Whose rich blossoming is o'er.
Death has sealed two little eyes
That will no more smile or weep,
Tiny windows of the soul;
Little baby's gone to sleep.

Angels bore him safely home,
So for him we may not weep,
Softly to the doorway come,
Darling baby's gone to sleep.

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Brohchial Trochs" are sold only in boxes. Tu,th&f,&o

Dr. Mott's Endorsement of Speer's Port Grape Wine.

The following from the celebrated Dr. Mott, of New York, speaks wonders for Mr. Speer's efforts to raise the Oporto Grape in New Jersey. The doctor has spent years in Portugal and the wine districts of France, and knows what he is talking about.

62 MADISON AVENUE,
NEW YORK, April 11, 1878.

MR. ALFRED SPEER.—Dear Sir.—The visit which I made last year to your vineyards, wine-presses and vaults at Passaic, N. J., satisfies me thoroughly that the wines manufactured by you are pure and unadulterated, and the very best that can be offered to the public for medicinal uses.

Acting upon my favorable impression at the time, I have since recommended the Port Wine; more particularly in my practice, and am satisfied with marked benefit to my patients.

There can be no better proof to the doubting mind, as to the wine being made of the finest Oporto Grape, than a visit to the acres of land covered with the vine bearing the luxuriant fruit. Wishing you success in your praiseworthy enterprise, I remain respectfully yours,

ALEX. B. MOTT, M. D.,
Prof. of Surgery, Bellevue Hospital Medical College, &c., &c.

Republican Administration—A Splendid Showing.

The treasury department in reply to numerous inquiries, has just completed a statement showing the receipts and disbursements of the government from its organization to June 30, 1876, and the amount of losses and the ratio of such loss per $1000 to the aggregate received and disbursed, arranged as nearly as practicable in periods of administrations; also in the periods prior and subsequent to June 30, 1861. The ratio of losses to the aggregate of receipts for the period to June 30, 1861, was $3.59 for each $1000, and from this last date to June 30, 1879, $1.28 per $1000. For Andrew Johnson's term the loss was $2.06; for Gen. Grant's eight years, $1.24, and thus far for President Hayes' term, one cent on the $1000. On the disbursements for the same periods the losses to June 30, 1861, were $5.17 per $1000, and on the period from that time to June 30, 1879, forty-six cents per $1000. The loss for Johnson's term was fifty-seven cents; for Grant's, twenty-four cents; and for Hayes', eighteenths of a mill, on each $1000.

Opinion of Dueling.

The question is, however, are the communities where such a spirit exists and such affairs are engendered relapsing into the state of barbarism, peculiar to man in his primitive state, when he camped under a tree with a huge club, and attacked everybody else that hove in sight? It may ultimately come to that pass, that the milkman, on being reminded of the increasing thinness of his lacteous fluid, will demand satisfaction. The grocer, on sending in his bill, will have the compliment returned in the shape of a challenge to mortal combat, while the elector who fails to vote for both opposing candidates will lay himself liable to high-toned assassination. By degrees the thing will be regarded as too complicated, and men will go armed to the teeth, ready to spill blood whenever there is a disagreement of opinion. As the fool-killer appears to be neglecting his duty, perhaps it would be well to have a new office, a county duelist, whose duty it will be to do the public fighting.—Galveston News.

Worthless Stuff.

Not so fast my friend; if you could see the strong, healthy, blooming men, women and children that have been raised from beds of sickness, suffering and almost death, by the use of Hop Bitters, you would say, "Glorious and invaluable remedy." See another column.—Philadelphia Press.

—"Fruit is very high this year," said the tramp wistfully, as he passed the ten foot wall of a garden.

Liebgi Co's Cocoa Bef Tonic.

"As a counteractant to debilitating influences (lassitude, nervous depression, debility, malaria, dyspepsia, liver complaints, heart affections, dropsical troubles, derangements of the stomach and bowels) it is invaluable," says Professor F W. Hunt, M. D., Honorary Member Imperial Medical Society of St. Petersburgh, Russia, etc. All who are run down and debilitated should take it.

—Rev. Mr. Genneaux fell down stairs last Sunday morning, with a flower vase in one hand, a pitcher of water in the other, a lamp globe under his arm and a china saucer tucked in his coat pocket. He was trying to carry all these things down stairs, and he succeeded. But when he got them to the bottom and his anxious wife screamed from the head of the stairs to know if he had broken anything, he took an account of stock and calmly reported that "he had broken everything but the Sabbath." "The only thing," petulantly commented his careful and economical wife, "that we could afford to break."

The only stomach remedy in the world, guaranteed by your own druggist, is D. R. V. G. Dyspepsia Remedy.

KIDNEY-WORT
THE ONLY MEDICINE
That Acts at the Same Time on THE LIVER,
THE BOWELS,
and the KIDNEYS.
These great organs are the natural cleansers of the system. If they work well, health will be perfect; if they become clogged, dreadful diseases are sure to follow with
TERRIBLE SUFFERING.
Biliousness, Headache, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Constipation and Piles, or Kidney Complaints, Gravel, Diabetes, Sediment in the Urine, Milky or Ropy Urine; or Rheumatic Pains and Aches, are developed because the blood is poisoned with the humors that should have been expelled naturally.
KIDNEY-WORT
will restore the head to action and health, restoring every ill to health and life, giving them and you will live but to enjoy.
Thousands have been cured. Try and you will add one more to the number. Take it and health will succeed your pleadings.
Why suffer longer from the torment of an aching back?
Why bear such distress from Constipation and Piles?
Why be so fearful because of disordered urine?
KIDNEY-WORT will cure you. Try a package at once and be satisfied.
It is a dry vegetable compound and
One Package makes six quarts of Medicine.
Your Druggist has it, or will get it for you. Ask for it and be sure to get it. Price, $1.00.

A discovery which cures by the natural process.
ABSORPTION.
all diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System, when nothing else can. It is comfortable to the patient, certain in its effects, and the first cure for those painful and hitherto dreaded affections.
Diabetes and Bright's Disease,
while its cures of Gravel, Dropsy, Catarrh of the Bladder, Brickdust Deposit, Painful Urinating, Highly-Colored Urine, Nervous Weakness and Pain in the Back seem more like miracles than work of natural healing.
DELICATE FEMALES
or victims of wasted or prostrated energies, caused by irregular habits, the abuse of nature, and mental or physical overexertion, find their greatest relief in the use of DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, which strengthens and invigorates the nerval and restores the vigor of health.
PAIN IN THE BACK.
We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the only certain and permanent cure for every form of this prevalent and distressing complaint.
YOUNG MEN
suffering from nervous and physical debility, loss of memory, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or to close application to business or work, may be restored and manhood regained.
Avoid all kidney medicines which are taken into the system by way of the stomach; it is an old treatment well tried and proven inefficient, though sometimes effecting apparent cures of one complaint, they sow the seeds of more troublesome and permanent disorders. The price of our Pad brings it within the reach of all, and it will usually save many times its cost in doctors bills, medicines and plasters, which at best give but temporary relief. It can do good without, or harm, and will certainly effect a permanent cure. For sale by druggists, everywhere, or sent by mail, free of postage, on receipt of the price. Regular Pad, $1.00; Child's Pad (for incontinence of urine in children), $1.50; Special (extra size), $2.00. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving a history of this new discovery and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it. Address
DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., Toledo, O.
CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now receiving a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, and take no others.

THE
New Hampshire Gazette!
Established 1756.
The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.
It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.
— THE —
NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE
Contains more original matter
Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS
THE N. H. GAZETTE
Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities where it derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or SELF-PRESERVATION; Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.
Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail postpaid.
The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."
The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, whether due to pernicious habits or inherited. He is a Nervo specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."
An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.
The author refers, by permission, to Hon. P. A. BISSELL, M. D., president of the National Medical Association.
Address Dr. W. H. PARKER, No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston, Mass. The author may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience.

COCA BEEF TONIC.
Highest Medals. Indorsed and Prescribed by Medical Men of all Schools.
Professor Duncan Campbell, M.D., F.R.S., President of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, etc., etc., says: "It has more than realized my expectations."
Professor J. M. Carnochan, M.D., Professor of Surgery New York Medical College, says: "My patients derive marked and decided benefit from it."
Professor H. Goullon, M.D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Saxony; Knight of the Holy Cross, etc., says: "It gives more tone than anything I have ever prescribed."
Sir Robert Christison, M.D., LL.D., F.R.S., Physician to her Majesty the Queen; President Royal British Association, etc., etc., says: "The properties of the Coca are the most remarkable of any known to the medical world. From repeated personal trials I am convinced that its use is highly beneficial and tonic."
Valuable in malaria; ague; malarial debility; disappetence; low fever; marasmus; paralytic; spinal and nervous affections; female weaknesses; bilious and liver affections; weak throats; palpitation and other affections of the heart; fainting and falling sickness; weakness of the voice of actors, singers, public speakers and clergymen; colic; flatulency; sensickness; falling out of the hair; asthma; shortness of breath; wasting diseases; etc., etc. It is gratefully refreshing and restorative after prolonged mental and physical strain. It is pleasant and agreeable, and is readily retained by the most delicate stomach. Dr. Du Bois (British Medical Journal) found it of great service in consumption. Baron von Humboldt says he has never known a case of consumption or asthma among those accustomed to its use, and that they live to a great age, retaining their mental and physical faculties to the last (Cosmos).

SAMUEL CLEAVES & SON.

Daily Chronicle.

A Big House on a Small Bottom.

A correspondent of the New York World was in Concord on the day of the holding of the democratic state convention of New Hampshire, and sent to his paper the following, which as a specimen of how big a structure a skillful political correspondent can erect on a small foundation is really entertaining:

The democrats in New Hampshire have seconded their brethren in Connecticut, New Jersey, and Massachusetts in naming as their candidate for governor a man whom all parties respect and admire, to whose hands the administration of state affairs may be intrusted with absolute confidence. James E. English in Connecticut, Charles P. Thompson in Massachusetts, George C. Ludlow in New Jersey, and Frank Jones in New Hampshire form an admirable quadrilateral. It is no partisan enthusiasm that predicts the election of Mr. Jones. He is the most popular man in the state, as he is one of its most valued and respected citizens. He has never been defeated in any contest in which he has been persuaded to engage. He is not an office seeker—it is a matter of common knowledge that he has always deprecated the efforts of his friends to place him before the public as a candidate. He has done more for the city of his adoption, in the establishment and in the aid of public works and institutions, than has been done by any citizen since its foundation. For instance, after serving as its mayor for two terms with great credit, he devoted the entire salary of the office during the period of his incumbency to the aid of the public library. Although not a candidate before the convention, that body chose him today as the standard bearer of the party with almost unparalleled unanimity. The vote of Rockingham county alone will go far toward overcoming the republican majority at the last state election.

The career of Mr. Jones has been that of the typical American. With rare business abilities, he has worked his way to be one of the wealthiest men in the state. He was born in Barrington, N. H., on Sept. 15, 1832, just forty-eight years ago, the honor of to-day being paid him on the anniversary of his birth. His father was a charcoal burner, living in the woods of Barrington. He helped his father pile wood in the shape of cones, and covered it with sod, and after the fires were lighted he watched the smoking cones until the wood was properly charred. Then the piles were uncovered, and the charcoal was piled into long covered carts. His first entry into Portsmouth, the nearest business city, was on one of those charcoal carts. He started from home soon after midnight and arrived at the outskirts of the city as the sun rose out of the ocean. He stopped by the roadside, pulled out a parcel from under his seat, and, sitting on a stone wall, ate there his breakfast. Driving through the streets before many persons were astir, he halted on the public square in front of the stores and waited for a customer. His cart was black with charcoal dust, and there were traces of it on his hands and face. A widow lady on the way to market stopped on the square, looked at the charcoal, and asked the price of the load. In those days a cart load brought only a few dollars. The young driver named the price, and the widow told him to drive to her house. Before noon the load was transferred to the customer's bin, and after the lad had washed his face and hands the widow invited him to take a seat at her dinner table. He said, many years afterward, that it was the best meal he had ever eaten. He drove home that afternoon, and when he handed to his father the money received for the load the latter said: "Frank, that was a good bargain."

But city life had attractions for him, and when he was seventeen years of age he went to Portsmouth and was employed by his brother, a dealer in hardware. In four years he was a partner in the business. Four years later he sold his interest to his brother and entered the firm of John Swindels & Co., brewers. One year afterwards he purchased the interest of his partners and assumed control of the establishment. Gradually the business increased, and the small brick brewery was enlarged by additional buildings. At that time he lived in a small two-story frame house near the brewery. He took great interest in the affairs of the city, and in 1868 he was elected mayor, and was re-elected in the following year. His administration was marked by economy, and he suggested and started many public improvements. After his two terms as mayor, as already stated, he gave his salary to trustees as a subscription toward a fund for supporting a public library. Again called to the front, he was elected a representative to the forty-fourth congress, receiving 13,967 votes, against 13,631 votes for Charles S. Whitehouse, and 336 scattering; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth congress, receiving 13,925 votes, against 13,885 votes for Gen. Gilman Marston. During both terms he served on the committee on naval affairs, and his knowledge of the management of the Kittery navy yard opposite Portsmouth, aided him in suggesting reform.

His prosperity being assured, he purchased a large farm, within a few rods of where he stopped to eat his breakfast beside his charcoal cart, and built a large country seat. His flower garden is the pride of the city, and on holidays it is visited by hundreds of persons. It is tastefully laid out, and is ornamented with statuary, pagodas, and airy summer houses. In the winter time he lives in the Rockingham house, a hotel that he purchased, enlarged, and made the finest in the state. Last summer, also, he purchased the Wentworth, a large seaside house, at Newcastle, three miles from Portsmouth, which he fitted up at an ex-

A Campaign Boom.

One of the peculiar tactics of the political campaign is the boasted prospects of the democracy. Their's is an unceasing game of bluff and brag. Hancock to be elected, because somebody says so. Jones to be governor, because all the democrats believe he will be chosen. One of the games is to boast that prominent republicans in Portsmouth, men of pronounced views and uncompromising principles, will vote for Jones. Names of such gentlemen are given, and in some instances this has come home to the expected deserters of their principles, and the imputation of course has been indignantly denied, and yet is repeated daily. Whatever causes may have induced a very few republicans in years gone by, to vote for Mr. Jones as a candidate for mayor or even for congress, cannot now be relied upon as likely to again come to his aid. Such concessions, too often demanded, become reactive. We say to our friends in other parts of the state, give no credence to any such statements; they are simply made for effect.

Again, it is claimed boastingly that Mr. Jones is a director of the Eastern railroad, as was stated in the graphically described interview of the reporter of the New York Sun, (which, by the way, is not the case;) that the Eastern railroad wants Mr. Jones for governor, and (insatiate corporate greed) Mr. Sanborn for member of congress from this district!

It is said that the Barings, of London, have heard of Mr. Jones as the great financier of New Hampshire, and that the British interests in the Eastern railroad will be safe in matters of legislation if he is elected governor, and that every employe of whatever grade, from Seabrook to North Conway, is expected to vote for Jones and Sanborn, or retire from the company's service. Of course Messrs. Jones and Sanborn will deny this, but already the few republicans in the employ of the Eastern have been taunted with this suggestion. A leading rival line has seen this, and Mr. Sanborn will have all he can do, besides attending to his election, to retain the business of the road over which he is placed. Indeed, many of the bondholders of the Eastern regard it as unfortunate for their property that Mr. Sanborn should enter the contest for congress while remaining in the employ of the company. How this is to strike the Barings remains to be seen. But the boastful democrats insist that the Barings want a man in congress, and it will be cheaper with the influence of the Eastern to elect Mr. Sanborn, who would be pretty safe to manage, them to secure an outside democrat from some other section of the country.

Now without any special knowledge regarding the facts in the case, we believe that all this talk by the democrats is simply to intimidate some of the employes of the Eastern road who happen to be republicans. When Mr. Jones ran for congress this kind of talk was used, and men on the Eastern road to no little extent took the hint given,—not by Mr. Jones himself, for he is too shrewd for that,—but by those who knew what they were about. However, it is openly boasted that the Eastern railroad is for Jones and Sanborn. It cost the Concord railroad an immense sum to have a former superintendent chosen to office, and leading railway managers in the country agree that when their superintendents enter the hustings the corporations suffer to a greater or less extent.

The democracy do not seem to consider that other interests than their party's success, are involved in the property which to some extent is controlled in its detail and management by Mr. Sanborn, and that he is too shrewd a man to risk the retention of his position by undertaking to perform one-half of the acts mapped out for him. Col. Sanborn, as some of his Carroll county democratic opponents assert, is fierce in a democratic conclave, but mild and conservative with his republican friends. But he is not the man to prostitute the property he has to no small extent developed by using it to promote his own political purposes. Still the democrats boast that with the railway aid he can be elected. He will have a strong local opposition to meet in Carroll county, but this the democrats say the colonel's trading experience and smooth tongue can elsewhere overcome. At any rate, the republicans will insist upon knowing how far the railroad interests are to antagonize themselves against the wishes of the people in this district in the coming campaign.

News and Notes.

J. D. Carl of Pleasant Valley, Pa., his wife and child, R. S. Woodward and wife, and a hired girl named Jenny Powell, were poisoned on Sunday by eating corn cakes made from meal that had been mixed with arsenic, and set away to kill rats. Mrs. Carl and Mrs. Woodward died on Monday, and Jenny Powell was not expected to recover; the others it was thought might live.

The dead body of a young man, name unknown, was found at the base of a ledge in a pasture at Lynn, Mass., Saturday night, with two pistol-ball wounds in the region of the heart. The medical examiner decided it a case of suicide. There was nothing found on the body to establish its identity.

Miss Chase, the young white woman of Galesburg, Ill., who a short time ago married a disreputable negro named Munroe, just discharged from jail, where he had been confined for theft, has been taken in charge by her friends. On Monday, as the girl was waiting at the railroad station with her uncle and three brothers, Munroe walked up to the party and addressed one of them with the remark "Good morning, brother George," upon which brother George knocked him down, and then borrowing a revolver chased Munroe through the crowd, shooting at him every chance he got. Munroe was hit in the arm, but escaped; a bystander was badly wounded.

There were forty deaths from yellow fellow in Havana for the fortnight ending Sept. 19th.

A fellow giving the name of Wilby was discovered hidden under a bed in the house of Alvin P. Knapp of Danvers, Mass., Saturday evening, by two sons of Mr. Knapp, to whom the burglar surrendered after getting one bullet through an arm and having his breast grazed by another. A number of small articles stolen from other rooms in the house were found on the thief, who was held in $2000 for trial.

The steamship Alsatia, which sailed from New York for London last Saturday, has returned to port. When 250 miles east of Sandy Hook the coal in both bunkers was discovered to be on fire, and a short time after a terrible explosion occurred. Before the fire could be extinguished, the greater part of the coal was consumed. The extent of the damage could not be ascertained, and the vessel returned for examination.

Naval Gazette.

The training ship Portsmouth, Crowninshield commanding, arrived at New York on the 18th inst., from a cruise to the eastward.

The success attending the naval review at Hampton Roads last year has induced the secretary of the navy to repeat it this year upon a still more liberal scale. Not only the training ships Constitution, Portsmouth, Saratoga and Minnesota, but all the other war vessels constituting the home squadron—the Tennessee, Kearsarge, Vandalia, Alliance and Tallapoosa, the latter being especially for the use of the secretary—will take part in the naval manœuvres. The review will take place about Oct. 15th, or soon after the return of Secretary Thompson from Indiana. The reports from the several training ships it is claimed are of the most flattering character, and abundantly insure the success of the system of creating a corps of seamen who will be representative American seamen. Secretary Thompson expects to soon add still another vessel to the four already in the service.

Catch a Tartar

and when caught scrub well with SOZODONT. Don't spare it. Brush for dear life. If you destroy it, all the better for you and your teeth. It will destroy the health of the mouth, its beauty, and your sweet breath.

THE FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS of the Toledo, Delphos & Burlington Railroad Co. are popular with the most conservative investor on account of the extremely low mortgage, less than $7000 per mile of finished road, and for the certainty of the payment of interest and principal when due. This road, running through Northwestern Ohio and Central Indiana, has ample facilities for transportation, and is situated favorably for a permanent and prosperous business. The country is rich in cereal productions, and is inhabited by a thrifty and well-to-do class of people. The whole issue of these bonds, running 30 years at 6 per cent., is $1,250,000, upon 185 miles of road, with only $400 per mile to pay annually for interest. For merit and stability no better security is offered in the market.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

REV. SYLVANUS COBB thus writes in the Boston Christian Freeman:—We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colic pains, quiet sleep, and the parents unbroken rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." And during the process of teething, its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say that they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething siege, on any considerations whatever. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle. 5

A Yankee Girl is Lucky.

In the secluded inland town of Gardner, Worcester county, Mass., a happy couple, Russell Whitney and wife, have enjoyed all the pleasure that a well-spent life or toil ensures. With a slight surplus Mrs. Whitney invested one dollar by sending by mail to the Louisiana State Lottery Company prior to the August drawing, in the name of their little three-year-old girl, Grace Whitney, addressed to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., (or it would have had the same effect if addressed to same person, 319 Broadway, New York City), and now that young lady's future is secured as far as worldly good is concerned, for her ticket drew one-half the capital prize of 30,000 dollars. Who will be the next fortunate party to invest in the Grand Monthly Distribution on Oct. 12th, at New Orleans, La.

A BRAVE LADY!

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation without Taking Chloroform.

(From the Courier.)

Mrs. Schoonmaker, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely loose the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skeleton. In this terrible strait, she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, New York, who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The "Favorite Remedy" is a priceless blessing to woman. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

The schooner Parker M. Hooper arrived at the Concord railroad wharf, Tuesday noon, with over a thousand tons of coal on board.

City Marshal Entwistle has hoisted a Garfield & Arthur flag to the masthead of the staff in front of his residence on Cabot street, where formerly a democratic flag used to fly, in previous campaigns.

The Portsmouth Musical Association holds a meeting at the vestry of the Middle street church on Thursday evening at half-past seven o'clock, to make arrangements for the last and best picnic of the season.

The steamer Gypsy, employed as a pleasure yacht at the hotel Wentworth during the summer, has been hauled up for the winter at the Raynes shipyard, by Mr. Daniel Littlefield, and is being housed in.

A meeting of the greenback party will be held at their hall, No. 24 1-2 Market street, Thursday evening at seven o'clock, to choose delegates to the state convention, and perform such other business as may come before the meeting.

Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D., of Harvard college, will deliver his interesting lecture on "Russia," at Miss Morgan's seminary Tuesday evening, Sept. 28th, for the benefit of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The Boston Young Men's Christian Association's devotional committee announce that they have relinquished the management of the meetings held by Rev. Arthur A. Waite in the Glad Tidings tent [in Boston] and have no financial responsibility therewith."

A meeting of the Garfield and Arthur battalion will be held at the republican headquarters, Thursday evening at half-past seven o'clock, for organization. All who have signed the roll are requested to be present, as a matter of peculiar interest will come up for discussion.

The schooner Horatio Nichols started for Exeter on Monday, having put out about a hundred tons of coal at the wharf in this city. She got through the Portsmouth & Dover railroad bridge all right, and continued her voyage from the bridge on Tuesday morning, in tow.

The district court of the United States for the district of New Hampshire, Clark judge, came in at the United States court house in this city, Tuesday forenoon, to hear the salvage case concerning the schooner Mary S. Hontvet, but owing to the illness of the counsel on one side the hearing was postponed. The owners of the vessel gave bonds in $2000, and the schooner was turned over to them.

A big and evidently well fed horse belonging to Mr. Daniel Mason broke his halter when being led to water, Tuesday, and went on a little excursion about town. He did not hurry himself much—went just fast enough not to be caught—and after an hour's ramble, and upsetting several persons who tried to catch him, quietly trotted into his stable, evidently entirely satisfied with the whole affair.

The Garfield and Arthur cadets, a company of lads who are being trained up in the way they should go, held a meeting in Franklin hall last Thursday evening and made choice of the following officers: Thomas O. Marvin, captain; Fred Sise, 1st lieut., and Harry Ball, 2d lieut. The boys are already quite proficient in drill, and propose to parade in a neat uniform whenever their seniors make an appearance in torchlight procession within the limits of the city.

The Times of Tuesday evening contained the following: "One of the artists at Music hall last evening sketched a fine picture of Gen. Hancock as the next president of the United States. Everyone thinks just as he did." We saw that fine picture when it was put down in front of the audience, but failed to detect the faintest sound of applause. After the show was over we heard two young men discussing the question as to who it was intended for, one of them insisting that it was meant for Hancock, the other being equally positive that it was a likeness of "Baldy" Newman!

A telephone was put into Brooks & Co.'s store on Market street, Tuesday, connecting the store with the elevator near the Concord depot.

The proposed flag-raising by Mr. Daniel Trefethen, on Green street, Monday evening, was postponed to this (Wednesday) evening, on account of the weather.

A barn in Dover owned by George Page and occupied by the city omnibus line was burned on Monday evening, with part of the contents, including one horse. The carpenter shop of Beele & Shaw was also burned. Loss about $2,000; barn insured $800.

The Times of Monday says: "A freight train, made up of thirty-one cars, bound for Portland, passed through this city this afternoon. Business on the Eastern road seems to be as good as ever." The train referred to was the regular afternoon freight train, bound for Conway junction; it was composed of empty cars, and was much lighter than the majority of the freight trains passing through this city.

Mr. Editor: I do not wonder that you regard the "surprise" which Hon. Frank Jones expressed on learning that he had been nominated for governor, as being "unmistakably thin." It is no secret that at the democratic ward caucuses in this city only the most pronounced "Jones men" were allowed to have their names brought forward as delegates; and in my own ward, when a motion was under consideration to appoint certain persons delegates, a well-known Jones manager broke in with "Hold on; I've got a list here that are to be nominated"—and his list was nominated, too, no chance being allowed the caucus to vote for any other candidates if they wanted to. I. D.

THE PIRATES OF PENZANCE.

This comic opera, by Sullivan and Gilbert, the authors of "Pinafore," is to be presented at Music hall on Thursday evening, the 23d inst., by D'Oyly Carte's 5th Avenue Theatre Co. It was given here last spring by the same company, to the unqualified delight of all who were present; but though all who then attended will be on hand this time, there will be many others who have not yet seen the piece, so we give a brief synopsis of the plot.

A nurse, sent to bind a boy as apprentice to the "pilots" of Penzance, has by mistake bound him to the "pirates" until his twenty-first birthday. These pirates are brim full of honor and sentiment, and mercy to orphans, and ever actuated by a stern sense of duty. In the first act, which is laid at a time when the apprentice's term of service is nearly out, this stern sense of duty prompts him to declare that while he loves and respects his comrades, he must proceed to exterminate them when his indenture expires, as it will in a few hours, a decision which causes much regret, although its justice is cheerfully conceded by the other pirates. The pirate apprentice is beloved by his buxom nurse, the only woman he ever beheld, and he is inclined to believe that she is "the remains of a most beautiful woman," until chance brings to his retreat a bevy of maidens whom he surprises while they are paddling in the water. These young ladies are the daughters of a major-general, and with the youngest he falls instantly in love. His affection is promptly reciprocated, and while the young couple wander upon the beach, the sisters politely withdraw to discuss the weather in a bright, sparkling "Chatter chorus," which alternates with the lovers' pretty duo sung in waltz time. This is followed by the entrance of the valiant major-general, who relates his accomplishments with great volubility, in a song remarkable for its rapidity and grotesque measure. Then the pirates dash in, and seizing the helpless maidens propose to wed them at once, but are dissuaded upon ascertaining that they are "wards in chancery." The general plaintively appeals to the good-natured pirates in a song, "I am an orphan boy," and is straightway released with his charming family, it being their inflexible rule to always spare orphans. The parting is friendly and joyous, and as the general and his daughters clamber up the rocky incline the pirates dance merrily beneath, all uniting in chorus.

In the second act the general is discovered in a ruined chapel on his newly purchased estate. He is overwhelmed with remorse for the deception which he practiced upon the good pirates. He is not an orphan and never was, and feels that he has degraded his ancestors, who are buried around him, by having uttered this wicked lie. To be sure they are only "his ancestors by purchase," but his shame is none the less complete. The reformed young pirate marshals a squad of London policemen and proposes a raid upon his former companions. The chorus of policemen is one of the most extravagant conceits imaginable. Just before the attack is to be made, the ex-apprentice is confronted by his old captain and nurse, who acquaint him with the perplexing fact that he was born in leap year, and that while as a matter of fact he is over twenty-one years of age, his apprenticeship, according to the indenture, does not expire until his twenty-first "birthday," which will not arrive until 1940. Again, a sense of duty prompts him to return to the pirates, after his affianced has pledged herself to remain true to him until that time arrives. While the pirates are concealed in one nave of the chapel and the policemen in another, the general, who "fancies he has heard a noise," enters the main aisle and sings an "Ode to the evening breeze." Then follows a brief conflict between the pirates and police, in which the latter are vanquished, but they demand the surrender of the victors "in Queen Victoria's name," and the loyal pirates at once succumb. The tables being turned, the pirates announce that they are all noblemen, whereupon the general submissively orders their release, and gives each a bride.

The piece abounds in musical gems, almost as much as it does in the wild absurdity which helped make Pinafore so suddenly popular.

Reserved seat tickets can be procured at Preston's, at seventy-five cents each—a very low price, when the size and excellence of the company is considered. The previous performance of the Pirates of Penzance here was one of the best things offered for years, and we are assured by the agent that the company is stronger now than then.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

The U. S. S. Leyden came out of the dry dock at the navy yard, Tuesday.

The first Congregational society of York held a picnic at Barrell's grove, Beech ridge, on the afternoon of the 11th inst. There was a large attendance, and everything passed off well.

Hon. E. C. Moody of York is shipping hay to Rockport, and sending potatoes to Portsmouth in large quantities. "Ed" is a good farmer, however much he may blunder and wobble about in politics, in his hunt after office.

On Sunday, the 19th inst., Miss Susan Bradbury, who for many years has been a domestic in the family of S. P. Young of York, fell on a wood pile and broke her right shoulder blade—a serious misfortune for the venerable lady.

The schooner D. K. Ham, one of the fleet of "brickers" running from Dover point and Eliot to Boston, has gone on the marine railway at Kittery to receive a general overhaul under the superintendence of Mr. Warren Keen.

James Tyman of Biddeford, a democrat who signs his name with a cross, having sworn that Superintendant R. M. Hobbs of the Pepperell mills discharged him because he voted the democratic ticket, Mr. Hobbs comes to the front and swears that the fellow Tyman is a liar; and Charles H. Coffin, an active democrat, makes affidavit that he discharged Tyman for getting drunk and leaving his work without permission, and that Mr. Hobbs was not consulted in the matter and knew nothing about it. The democrats are particularly unfortunate in their pursuit of bulldozing cases in Biddeford.

Remarkable Cures of Kidney Diseases.

Mr. L. Jackson of Boston, an extensive produce dealer, was persuaded to give the Kidney-Wort a trial. He writes July 21st, for more and says:—

"I used most of one package myself last winter. I had soreness across my kidneys and my water would turn milky after standing a short time. The Kidney-Wort cured me. I gave some of it to a lady who had for a long time been obliged to make water every half hour or less, and suffered much from irritation of the urminary organs, and it cured her. About two months ago, I gave some of the medicine to a gentleman who is foreman in a sewing machine manufactory in Boston. I met him last Thursday, and he told me he was using the third package, and that the night before he laid all night without getting up to make water, a thing he had not done before for more than fifteen years. He says it has done more for him than all he has ever taken before, and he has paid out more than a thousand dollars for medicine. It is evident from these facts, that Kidney-Wort is a great thing for the kidney and urinary organs.

Lee Brumbaugh, a prominent lawyer of Miamisburg, Ohio, was killed on Monday afternoon by George Ware of Dayton, for improper intimacy with Ware's wife.

In all diseases of the kidneys, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished wonders. It dissolves calculi, corrects the chemistry of the urine, restores the normal functions of the kidneys, and prevents the organic degeneration which leads to Bright's disease. Send to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for pamplets.

Henry Lindley, who for several years was in the employ of Andrew Tiffany, a farmer of Jonesville, Mich., on Sunday went to the latter's house, shot Alice Tiffany, a girl eighteen years old, dead, and then killed himself. The girl had refused Lindley's offer of marriage, which is supposed to have led to the crime.

pense that his neighbors thought was ruinous. But he said that he meant to make it an honor to the city, and if it proved a pecuniary loss to him. The venture, however, proved a success from the start. In the city he owns several of the principal blocks, and this year he erected the National block, a large building, with amusement halls. He is a director of the Eastern railroad company, and a director of the Portsmouth Trust and Guarantee company, a banking institution. At each state convention since returning from congress he has been mentioned for the nomination for governor, but he always declined. He was mentioned for months past as the best man to run in the coming election, but he asked his friends not to put him in the race. "For twelve years," he said. "I have not had a day's vacation. I think I have earned one, and I want it." He intended to take a trip to Europe. He is slightly above the medium height, with a massive frame, brown hair and beard, mixed with gray. His generosity, integrity, and energy are appreciated beyond his own state, and he was known in congress as an honest, untiring representative.

The Newfoundland Fishery War.

On Monday morning, Sept. 26th, the schooner Victor, Captain Joseph Bowie, arrived at Gloucester, Mass., from a banks trip. Capt. Bowie reports that on Wednesday, Aug. 4th, at five o'clock in the afternoon, while the crew were watching for squid, three-fourths of a mile from shore, in Job's cove, Conception bay, some 250 natives surrounded the vessel and compelled them to desist from fishing under a threat of cutting the cable, allowing the vessel to drift ashore. One of the Newfoundlanders who failed to assist them as they desired was brutally beaten by his companions. The next day the Victor was again surrounded while the crew were fishing, by a large crowd, who struck at the captain and crew with their oars, slightly injuring two men. They afterwards boarded the vessel, and compelled the crew to heave up anchor and leave the cove.

The London (Eng.) Standard of the 20th inst. says: "With reference to the American fishery dispute reported from New York, and the alleged violence shown by Newfoundland fishermen toward the American vessel Moro Castle, in Conception bay, we may state that Her Majesty's ships Druid, Contest and Flamingo have been ordered to the fishery grounds."

A despatch from Washington says the treasury has issued orders for printing $25,000,000 in silver certificates.

Abraham Shepley of Westfield, Mass., a colored boy of fourteen, accidentally and probably fatally shot himself on Saturday. He was hunting with an old gun, when it exploded and the lock went crashing through his skull over the left eye, while the powder destroyed the sight of his right eye. A physician removed a piece of the skull, but it is very doubtful if the boy recovers.

HASTY READING.—Do not read hastily. Absorb what you read. Do not read too long at one time. A little food digested is better than a great deal gorged. Do not, however, lay down this paper without finishing and understanding this paragraph. The life of yourself, or some one dear to you, may depend upon it. There is a medicine for kidney, bladder, liver, and urinary complaints which cures the worst cases—even Bright's disease. It is called Hunt's Remedy, the Great Kidney and Liver Medicine. Get name in your mind, and remember it.

Sold by all druggists. Trial size, 75 cts.

In Louisville, Ky., Saturday night, Harrison and Edward Hall, colored men and brothers, had a fight, and Edward was fatally stabbed. The murderer is in jail.

I would say to my friends, and all who chance to read this, that I have used Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam in my family for a long time, and consider it a very valuable medicine. It cures when all other remedies fail, and I would cheerfully recommend it to those afflicted with coughs, colds, asthma, etc.

E. S. GETCHELL, Augusta, Maine.

Nancy Heywood, a maiden lady who lived with her brother in Rockland, Wis., was left at home by her brother Sunday evening, in company with a servant girl and the latter's sister. Returning, he found blood on the floor, and traced it to the body of his sister, which he found under a woodpile with her throat cut and covered with wood and boards. The girls have both been arrested, but claim to know nothing about the murder.

Pain in the back, resulting from strain, spinal affection, overwork or disorder of the kidneys, yields to the remarkable strengthening powers of Day's Kidney Pad.

At Milltown, Ky., Saturday evening, John and Simon Hancock were fatally shot and three others slightly wounded, in a bar-room fight. The bartender was also shot, accidentally. The fight was the result of an old feud.

Mrs. Jones, how is your health this morning: "Thank you, madam, much improved. I bought a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup last night, and after the first dose my cough was checked. I slept well, and have not coughed once this morning."

George W. Ripler shot his divorced wife in the neck at Milwaukee on Sunday evening, and supposing he had killed her, went into a yard and shot himself dead.

A nourishing agent for the weak, emaciated and dyspeptic.—Malt Bitters.

TRADE MARK

DAY'S Kidney PAD

A discovery which cures by the natural process.

ABSORPTION.

all diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System. When nothing else can. It is comfortable to the patient, positive in its effects, and the first cure for those painful and much dreaded affections.

Diabetes and Bright's Disease,

while its cures of Gravel, Dropsy, Catarrh of the Bladder, Brickdust Deposit, Painful Urinating, High-Colored Urine, Nervous Weakness and Pain in the Back seem more like miracles than cases of natural healing.

DELICATE FEMALES

or victims of secret or prostrated energies, caused by irregular habits, the abuse of nature and mental or physical over-exertion, find their greatest relief in the use of DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, which invigorates and invigorates the invalid and restores the vigor of health.

PAIN IN THE BACK.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the only certain and permanent cure for every form of this prevalent and distressing complaint.

YOUNG MEN

suffering from nervous and physical debility, loss of memory, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or to close application to business or work, may be restored and manhood regained.

Avoid all kidney medicines which are taken into the system by way of the stomach; it is an old treatment, well tried and proven inefficient, though sometimes effecting apparent cures of one complaint, they sow the seeds of more troublesome and permanent disorders. The price of our Pad brings it within the reach of all, and it will annually save many times its cost in doctors bills, medicines and plasters, which at best give but temporary relief. It can be used without fear or harm, and with certainty of a permanent cure. For sale by druggists generally, or sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of the price. Regular Pad, $1.00; Child's Pad (for incontinence of urine in children), $1.50; Special (extra size), $2.00. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving a history of this new discovery and a large record of most remarkable cures sent free. Write for it. Address DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., Toledo, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, and take no other.

THE

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a week'y invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

This Celebrated Native Wine is made from the juice of the Oporto Grape, raised in this Country. Its Invaluable are unsurpassed by any other Native Wine. Being the pure juice of the Grape, produced under Mr. Speer's own personal supervision, its purity and genuineness are guaranteed. The youngest child may partake of its generous qualities, and the weakest invalid use it to advantage. It is particularly beneficial to the aged and debilitated, and suited to the various ailments that affect the weaker sex. It is in every respect A WINE TO BE RELIED ON.

Speer's P. J. Sherry,

A delicate, fine flavored Sherry, from the Spanish grape, equal to the finest brands imported from Lisbon.

SPEER'S P. J. OR PEDRO J. BRANDY.

This noted Brandy is a pure distillation from the grape and is equal to the finest Hennessy or Otard Brandies, for medicinal purposes it can be relied upon as strictly pure.

Speer's Sambuci Wine!

celebrated for its beneficial qualities, highly esteemed by eminent physicians, used in European and American Hospitals and by the first families in Europe and America.

Excellent for weak and debilitated persons, the aged and infirm; improving the appetite and benefitting ladies and children.

AS A DIURETIC,

it imparts a healthy action to the kidneys and Urinary organs, very beneficial in Dropsy, Gout and Rheumatic affections.

☞ None genuine unless the signature of "ALFRED SPEER, Passaic, N. J.," is over the cork of each bottle.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or SELF-PRESERVATION; Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail post-paid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, whether due to previous habits or inherited. He is a Nervo-specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 8 cents for postage.

The author refers, by permission, to Hon. P. A. BISSELL, M. D., president or the National Medical Association.

Address Dr. W. H. PARKER, No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston, Mass. The author may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. dm&tt&tnov60

LIEBIG CO'S

COCA BEEF TONIC.

Highest Medals. Indorsed and Prescribed by Medical Men of all Schools.

Professor Duncan Campbell, M.D., LL.D., President Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, etc., etc., says: "It has more than realized my expectations."

Professor J. M. Carnochan, M.D., Professor of Surgery New York Medical College, says: "My patients derive marked and decided benefit from it."

Professor H. Goullon, M.D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Saxony; Knight of the Holy Cross, etc., says: "It gives more tone than anything I have ever prescribed."

Sir Robert Christison, M.D., LL.D., F.R.S., Physician to her Majesty the Queen; President Royal British Association, etc., etc., says: "The properties of the Coca are the most remarkable of late years in the medical world. From repeated personal trials I am convinced that its use is highly beneficial and tonic."

Valuable in malaria; ague; malarial debility; dumbvague; low fever; marasmus; paralytic; spinal and nervous affections; female weaknesses; bilious and liver affections; weak digestion; dyspepsia and other affections of the heart; epilepsy or falling sickness; weakness of the voice of actors, singers, public speakers and clergymen; colic; flatulency; seasickness; falling out of the hair; asthma; shortness of breath; wasting diseases; etc., etc. It is gratefully refreshing and restorative after prolonged mental and physical strain. It is pleasant and agreeable, and is readily retained by the most delicate stomach. Dr. McBean (British Medical Journal) found it of great service in consumption. Baron von Humboldt says he never knew a case of consumption or asthma among those accustomed to its use, and that they live to a great age, retaining their mental and physical faculties to the last (Cosmos).

LIEBIG CO'S

COCA BEEF TONIC.

Highest Medals. Indorsed and Prescribed by Medical Men of all Schools.

Professor Duncan Campbell, M.D., LL.D., President Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, etc., etc., says: "It has more than realized my expectations."

Professor J. M. Carnochan, M.D., Professor of Surgery New York Medical College, says: "My patients derive marked and decided benefit from it."

Professor H. Goullon, M.D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Saxony; Knight of the Holy Cross, etc., says: "It gives more tone than anything I have ever prescribed."

Sir Robert Christison, M.D., LL.D., F.R.S., Physician to her Majesty the Queen; President Royal British Association, etc., etc., says: "The properties of the Coca are the most remarkable of any known to the medical world. From repeated personal trials I am convinced that its use is highly beneficial and tonic."

Valuable in malaria; ague; malarial debility; dumb ague; low fever; marasmus; paralytic; spinal and nervous affections; female weaknesses; bilious and liver affections; weak throats; palpitation and other affections of the heart; epilepsy or falling sickness; weakness of the voice of actors, singers, public speakers and clergymen; colic; flatulency; seasickness; falling out of the hair; asthma; shortness of breath; wasting diseases; etc., etc. It is gratefully refreshing and restorative after prolonged mental and physical strain. It is pleasant and agreeable, and is readily retained by the most delicate stomach. Dr. McLean (British Medical Journal) found it of great service in consumption. Baron von Humboldt says he has never known a case of consumption or asthma among those accustomed to its use, and that they live to a great age, retaining their mental and physical faculties to the last (Cosmos).

Daily Chronicle.

The Electoral Commission.

The democrats have a great deal to say about the "infamous law creating the electoral commission in 1877," and one would naturally suppose that that measure was gotten up by the republicans and forced through congress by a partisan majority. The real facts are that the electoral commission was a democratic device intended to cheat the republicans out of the victory they had won. The vote by which the bill was adopted shows that this is true. In the house of representatives the vote on the adoption of bill stood as follows:

	Rep.	Dem.
For the bill	31	160
Against the bill	69	17
Not voting	7	7

In the senate the vote on the final passage of the bill stood:

	Rep.	Dem.
For the bill	21	26
Against the bill	16	1
Not voting	9	1

Thus it will be seen that the electoral commission was adopted by a vote that was substantially unanimous on the part of the democrats, while it received in neither house a majority of the republican vote.

—A tramp woke up suddenly with cold sweat standing in great beads upon his forehead. "What's the matter," asks his companion. "A frightful dream! I dreamt I was at work!" "I told you that that last mince pie would give you a horrid nightmare."

— Judge Thatcher, who succeeded Mr. Quincy on the municipal bench of Boston, was a man of stern and unbending temper. One of his prisoners, in addressing the court previous to sentence, used the words "also" and "likewise" in a way which implied a difference of meaning. "Do you know of any difference between the words 'also' and 'likewise?'" asked Judge Thatcher, gravely. "Yes, your honor," replied the prisoner. "Judge Quincy was patient, kind, courteous and gentlemanly. You are a judge also, but not likewise."

The Red Mark.

You have seen persons afflicted with erysipelas? Well, it is an awful thing. It disfigures the face almost beyond recognition, and is as dangerous as it is repulsive. It often causes sudden death, and is sometimes called "St. Anthony's Fire." Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., had it in both legs, and was cured by the use of Dr David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." His health is now perfect. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," is the very life of the blood. It cannot hurt you and is sure to help. Tell your neighbors so. Get it of your druggist, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y., enclosing one dollar for a bottle.

—A sail-boat upset on Lake Huron a few days ago, and the first person saved was a dress-maker. Survival of the fittest, as usual.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Worthless Stuff.

Not so fast my friend; if you could see the strong, healthy, blooming men, women and children that have been raised from beds of sickness, suffering and almost death, by the use of Hop Bitters, you would say, "Glorious and invaluable remedy." See another column.—Philadelphia Press.

—At the beginning of this century the church members in the United States were one to fifteen of the population; now they are one to five, and yet the church attendance is less now than then.

—Miss Clara Newton, an American actress in London, has qualified herself for a starring tour by marrying and getting a divorce, all within twelve months.

It must be good, for everybody recommends it, and the doctors prescribe it. We mean Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. Price 25 cents.

—Some people are like peaches, soft until you get at the hearts; and others are like chestnuts, pretty hard to get at, but sweet inside.

Scrofulous swellings, carbuncles and boils, blotches, pimples and eruptions, enlarged glands, internal soreness, torpid liver, and general clogged condition of the system, all yield in due time to nature's sovereign remedy—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Sold around the world by druggists and chemists. Foreign trade supplied from London branch. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., R. V. Pierce, M. D., President.

WEST BLUE MOUND, WIS., March 8th, 1879.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—Having suffered many weary months from liver complaint without relief, I was last summer induced to try your Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets. At the time I was scarcely able to walk. Owing to their effect I commenced to improve rapidly and now am well and strong as ever. I thank you from the depths of my heart for the good they have done me, and wish you all success. Yours truly,

MRS. S. STAGNER.

A Stupid Lie.

Gen. Patrick H. Jones contributes this bit of campaign literature to the great mass already on hand: "Of my own personal knowledge I say that Garfield and his chief supporters have arranged to create southern outrages. They will send some worthless fellow south, have him pelt a negro in the face and perhaps commit a worse assault, and then cry 'southern outrage.' I make this statement without fear of contradiction, and if necessary will produce the proof." Now won't some republican brother worry the general into producing the proof?—Boston Post.

We don't know exactly who "Gen. Patrick H. Jones" may be, never having heard of that great man before; but we do not hesitate to say that if he or any one else charges Gen. Garfield with sending men south to commit crimes in order that political capital may be made therefrom, he lies. And he tells a very silly and stupid lie, too.

The Maine Election.

The ups-and-downs in the election returns from Maine have finally settled upon an apparent plurality of 174 for Plaisted, the greenbacker, subject to the revision of the official canvass. The amendments to the constitution are adopted by a large majority; the question of the validity of the retroactive character of the amendment which provides for an election of the governor by a plurality vote may yet be tested, but if the democrats have a plurality it is doubtful if anything is done in the matter; the Garcelon scoundrelism will not be repeated by the republicans.

In the fourth congressional district, Capt. Boutelle reduced the fusion majority from 2826 at the previous election to 833, and the dubious French settlements gave over 900 majority against him. The captain's vote was 3137 more than the republican vote in the district in 1878. He wins honor, if not victory, by his noble fight.

Fusion and Confusion.

The greenback convention in Maine, on the 21st inst., agreed to fuse with the democrats on the electoral ticket, on the basis of four Weaver men and three Hancock men. Weaver has repudiated such a combination in advance; and Hancock would do the same, one would suppose, if he was honestly in favor of a sound financial policy. A hard-money democrat must wear his principles very loosely, if he can approve a national ticket composed four-sevenths of rag baby. The effect of this amalgamation upon the political action of the prosperous business men of the country must be adverse to the party which is so hungry for a change that it is willing to accept financial ruin for the present prosperity of the country.

The straight-out greenbackers, led by Solon Chase, held a second convention, repudiated the fusion ticket, nominated a full electoral ticket of greenbackers of the anti-Hancock stripe, and proclaimed to the world that the "late fusion and confusion in this state was due wholly to exigencies of state issues."

A High-Toned Thief Caught.

Silas M. Waite, the former president of the First National bank of Brattleboro, Vt., who absconded last June after stealing everything he could lay his hands on, amounting to almost half a million dollars, was arrested in Omaha, Nebraska, on the 21st inst., at the house of his brother-in-law, Truman Buck. Special Detective W. H. Shields, after tracking him a long way, found him there. Waite had purchased a cattle ranche in northern Nebraska, away from civilization, and had intended to enjoy his ill-gotten wealth there. Part of the money may be recovered. He was supposed to have gone to Europe.

The South Carolina Way.

A Democratic meeting recently held in Abbeville, S. C., resolved:

That we carry the next election in Abbeville, democratic, solid.

How the resolution is to be carried into effect is indicated by a correspondent of the Abbeville Medium, who reproaches the town with the possibility that it may be the only precinct in the county to go through the campaign without a mounted red-shirt club. "It is foolish," says this ardent Hancock man, to say there is no need of such a club. There is need of it. There is an element in this county awaiting signs of discord or lukewarmness in our ranks to put forward a ticket. If these malcontents know that we are still well organized and enthusiastic, they will recognize that there is no chance for them, and keep quiet. These red-shirt clubs mean organization, enthusiasm, determination and success." A programme for a mass meeting in that vicinity mentions twenty-four red-shirt clubs which have place in the procession. That is the South Carolina way.

News and Notes.

Donald McKay, the noted shipbuilder who constructed the celebrated clipper ships Great Republic, Sovereign of the Seas, Flying Cloud, and about one hundred and twenty other vessels, died at Hamilton, Mass., on the 20th inst. He was a native of Nova Scotia, and was about seventy years old when he died.

The case of C. M. Steadman, which attracted great interest about a year ago, has been finally settled. Steadman was preaching in the Baptist church in Dover, Me., where he married a young lady of high standing in the community, while at the same time he had a wife and family in the British provinces. The law court has overruled the exceptions filed in the case, and Steadman will soon receive his sentence. He has been confined in the Portland jail since his arrest a year ago.

The woman's body recently found in a box concealed beneath a mill in Wilton, Me., is supposed to have been procured for the purpose of dissection by some person unknown.

Apples are so abundant in South Carver, Mass., that men go about and entreat their neighbors to come and get the fruit. One gentleman made a sale of fifty bushels of nice apples for $1, and seemed delighted with the transaction.

Mrs. Nichols, an aged lady, tried to commit suicide at East Brookfield, Mass., on the 18th inst. She sat down near the track and waited until the North Brookfield train came, when she threw herself on the track. A man near by saw her and pulled her off.

Mrs. Mark Rossiter of Great Barrington, Mass., seventy-eight years old, was found dead in her bed on the 19th inst. She was a widow, and had lived alone for several years. She had always been known to keep a considerable amount of money in her possession, and about $30,000 in bonds were found in the house.

Part of a vessel's stern, with the word "Camden" on it, and the quarter-board of another vessel bearing the name "Emea," have been picked up on the beach near the St. John's river, Florida.

A carriage containing Aaron Stevens and Clara E. Trask, of Beverly, Mass., was struck by a train while crossing the railroad in that town on the evening of the 21st inst., and both the occupants killed. The train, which was from Gloucester, was late, and there is no flagman at the crossing.

The national conference of Unitarian and other Christian churches began its biennial session at Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 21st, in the Methodist church.

It is said that Major Walsh, of the Montreal police, has secured Sitting Bull for three years for a company of Canadians, who propose a tour of the United States and Canada with him, commencing the first of January. He will appear in a border life drama.

An affecting scene took place in a sick room in New York last week. A lady, who was only seventeen years of age, caught a severe cold from her baptism in the river last winter, when a hole was cut in the ice for the purpose. This cold clung to her, and she continued to fail in health. Meanwhile a young man, twenty years of age, became her accepted lover, and when it was seen that she could not live long, in accordance with her own wish preparations were made for her marriage. The bride was supported in an easy chair, while the ceremony was performed, and soon after died with her husband at her bedside.

E. D. Woods of Waterville, Vt., upon returning to his house one day last week found his wife and two children gone. The latter have been found, but not the woman.

The depredations of bears have become so serious at Wardsboro, Vt., that a hunt of 200 men was recently organized against them, but they succeeded in killing only a cub.

The total curvature of the fourteen miles of the Woodstock, Vt., railroad is 1,915 degrees; that is, if the curves were in one direction the rails would more than complete five circles in the distance.

A schooner with diving apparatus has found a sunken vessel in the Hudson river east of Chapen's island, near Dunderberg mountain, which is believed to have been Captain Kidd's. The craft is seventeen feet under mud and water. There are believed to be over $200,000 on board.

An attempt was made on the 18th inst. to set fire to the Congregational church at Huntington, Mass., but the rascality was discovered in time to prevent damage.

The house of S. K. Berry of North Thetford, Vt., was entered on the night of the 18th inst., by burglars, and some clothing, $250 in money and a rifle were taken.

The freight depot of the Boston & Maine railroad, on Causeway street, Boston, was burned with most of its contents, on the 21st inst. A train of eleven loaded cars, which was in the building when the fire commenced, was pulled out and saved. The building was a wooden structure, worth about $5000; and it and the freight in it were insured. The total loss is estimated at about $50,000.

Tell City, Indiana, had a $200,000 fire on the night of the 18th inst. On the 21st the city of Green Bay, Wis., had sixty dwellings, thirty barns and a church burned; loss $170,000, with little insurance.

By a recent landslip in Naini Tal, Bengal, eleven British officers, fifteen soldiers and eleven other persons were killed, and four others injured.

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or ever-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes. Tu,th&r,&c

A BRAVE LADY!

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation without Taking Chloroform.

(From the Courier.)

Mrs. Schoonmaker, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely loose the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skeleton. In this terrible strait, she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, New York, who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The "Favorite Remedy" is a priceless blessing to woman. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

AROUND HOME.

Mr. Charles W. Lord of this city, has joined Baird's New Orleans minstrels for the amusement season now commencing.

The steamer James Sampson has been fitted with a four-bladed propeller in place of her old three-bladed one, and had her rudder head packed, so that she runs much more steadily and smoothly than formerly.

The Pirates of Penzance, the most conscientious and musical pirates ever heard of, will appear at Music hall this evening. If you enjoy music of a really high order, when well executed, go to the entertainment to-night.

The schooner Mary S. Hontvet was towed up from Newcastle on Tuesday of this week, and berthed alongside of Tredick's wharf, where the sails and gear were taken out of her, preparatory to her going on the marine railway at Kittery for thorough repairs as soon as the schooner D. K. Ham should come off.

The democratic delegates of the 22d (or Newmarket) senatorial district met in convention at Newmarket on the 21st inst. Stephen Holt of Epping—"Farmer Holt," the ex-greenbacker—was chosen president, and Frank P. Locke of Newcastle secretary. On a ballot for candidate for senator, Chas. W. Pickering had two votes, Jerome C. Butler four, and Lafayette Hall twenty-three; and Lafayette Hall was declared the nominee. The 22d district consists of Epping, Durham, Newmarket, South Newmarket, Stratham, Newington, Greenland, Rye, North Hampton, Newcastle, and ward three, Portsmouth.

We are informed that a request of Capt. Horatio Trefethen, master of the steamer Mystic, endorsed by at least forty of the employes of the navy yard residing on this side of the river, asking that the steamer may be allowed the same privilege of landing at the yard as is now granted to the James Sampson, has been referred by the department at Washington to the authorities at the yard. Whether the matter has been left to the discretion of the officers of this station, we know not, but one thing is patent to us, and it is this; if one boat has the privilege to land at the yard, there seems to be no good reason for refusing the same right to the other.

In the Congregational denomination in this state are twenty pastors who have been in office for ten years or over. The oldest in office is Rev. Edw. Buxton of Webster, with a pastorate of forty-three years; Rev. Edward Robie, D. D., of Greenland, is the next, twenty-eight years in office; Rev. George Dustan, almost twenty-one years; then come Rev. Messrs. Berry of Pelham, Leeds of Hanover, and Marden of Piermont, each nineteen years; Rev. Mr. Blakely at Campton, sixteen years; Rev. George Merriam at Greenville, fifteen years; Rev. W. A. Rand, of South Seabrook, nearly fourteen years; Rev. Messrs. Ayer of Concord and Harmon of Winchester, thirteen years; Rev. M. T. Runnels of Sanbornton, twelve years. The other veterans are Rev. Messrs. Alvord of Nashua, Cochrane of Antrim, Gerould of Goffstown, Haines of North Hampton, Leach of Keene, Peabody of Stratham, and Dr. Spalding of Dover.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

Mr. J. Lang Ward's yacht Emma arrived at Kittery on the 22d inst., from Salem.

Working hours at the navy yard are now as follows: From 7:40 o'clock A. M. to 11:30, and from 12:30 P. M. to 4:30.

Charles Stewart, of York, came to this city on Thursday, the 16th inst., with a wagon load of baskets to sell. When he left home he said he should be back by two o'clock the same day, but up to the present time his family have not heard of him.

A medical practitioner calling himself Dr. Buzzell, of South Berwick, Me., having been practising in Seabrook recently, the local doctors sent Constable Calvin Eaton after him. Buzzell said that he had a regular diploma, and would produce it next time he came around.

Naval Gazette.

The U. S. S. Trenton, Admiral Howell's flagship, arrived at Villefranche, France, on the 7th inst. The Quinnebaug sailed from Havre on the 2d inst., and arrived at Bordeaux on the 6th; she is since reported as having arrived at Gibraltar. The Wyoming is at Leghorn, making repairs.

The Philadelphia Sunday Times says of the League island navy yard: "Captain Fitzburgh, U. S. N., has relieved Civil Engineer Craven in the department of yards and docks. Chief Engineer Shock, chief of the bureau of steam engineering, visited the island recently, and was received with the usual salute. He expressed himself much pleased with the work being done in the yard by Chief Engineers Stewart and McElwell. Commodore Crosby, the commandant of the yard, will be relieved on the 15th of October, and it is rumored that he will be succeeded by Captain E. Y. McCauley. Naval Constructor Hichborn has returned from Chester, where he has been engaged in superintending the construction of the double-turreted Miantanomah, and has resumed his duties at the island. The Miantonomah was built at Roach's shipyard, and was recently towed to the island by the tug Geneatte, where she will be laid up in ordinary until an appropriation is passed to build her turrets and an armored smoke-stack. This vessel has already cost the government over a million of dollars. Plans, specifications and estimates are being prepard to light the island with electric lights."

Political Notes.

The democratic congressional convention for the second district of New Hampshire was held in Concord on the 22d inst., and Alvah W. Sulloway of Franklin was nominated by acclamation, agreeably to the orders of Hon. Frank Jones. All the candidates whom the democrats were directed by Mr. Jones to nominate are now on the track.

The prohibitory state central committee of New Hampshire met in Concord on the 21st inst., and made nominations for congressmen, electors, councillors and senators, and made arrangements to formally open their state campaign at Dover on Tuesday, Sept. 28th. The committee refused to give the names of the nominees until after consulting them. Arrangements have also been perfected to place upon the stump at once a dozen or more speakers, who will discuss state issues and assail the policy of both political parties on the liquor question.

The greenback state convention of Maine was held at Portland on the 21st inst., and it was decided to stick to hash, and vote for Hancock and Weaver for president. Solon Chase and seventy-three other delegates left the hash convention, set up a "straight-out" one, and nominated a full greenback electoral ticket.

Wade Hampton has occasion to pray to be delivered from his friends. Recently one of them in New Orleans wrote to Hon. John Jay, complaining at his injustice in quoting the Staunton speech in his recent article in the International Review. Thereupon Mr. Jay calls attention to Wade Hampton's address before the Southern Historical society in October, 1873, in which he repeatedly asserts that "the principles for which the south fought during the war must be taught to our children," that they "may cling to them with unswerving fidelity." It is a bad year for Wade Hampton, the flower of southern chivalry.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 21st.

If the new National Museum building shall be completed in time, it is proposed to have the usual inauguration ball therein, on the 4th of March next. It would be better, in the opinion of those who have toiled and groaned through the last two of these alleged balls, to abandon them altogether. The unfinished treasury building used in 1868, was found to be altogether insufficient in size, and the jam was so great as to prevent an attempt at dancing. The experience four years later, in a building specially erected for the purpose, was not more encouraging.

The new postmaster-general is following in the early footsteps of his predecessor, in attempting to stop the delivery of money through the mails to certain lottery companies. Money orders in favor of these companies, their owners, or their agents, will not be cashed by postmasters.

Ex-Governor Shepherd of this district, in a letter just received here, says he believes the neighborhood of the mines he is now working in Mexico "will be the mining centre of the mining world." The governor, who is a man of enormous energy, represents the prospect at his mines as of the brightest, and says that only capital and public spirit are necessary to make the whole region immediately productive.

Under the direction of the republican congressional committee, Major Hanneman fired a national salute of two hundred guns, with a platoon of his district artillery, in honor of the republican victory in Maine, at the armory lot, last Saturday evening at sunset.

The advocates and friends of woman suffrage have arrived at widely different conclusions concerning the present state of that question in the various political parties. Mrs. Sara Andrews Spencer, of this city, for reasons of political preferment, has resigned the secretaryship of the Woman's National Suffrage association. She says the republican party has been thoroughly educated on the woman question, and seems well enough inclined, but dares not raise the issue in favor of woman suffrage before the people. Garfield, she says, stands in an attitude of respectful inquiry on the subject. Of the democratic party recently in convention at Cincinnati, she says it treated them handsomely, but quite left the subject out of their platform; that they will give them chivalry to the end of time, but not an action of justice. The greenback party, she says, has more courage than all the others combined.

KNOX.

An Instructive Description of Science.

A few days ago a Boston girl who had been attending the School of Philosophy at Concord, arrived in Brooklyn on a visit to a seminary chum. After canvassing thoroughly the fun and gum drops that made up their education in the seat of learning at which their early scholastic efforts were made, the Brooklyn girl began to enquire into the nature of the Concord entertainment.

"And so you are taking lessons in philosophy. How do you like it?"

"Oh! it's perfectly lovely. It's about science, you know, and we all just dote on science."

"It must be nice. What is it about?"

"It's about molecules as much as anything else, and molecules are just too awfully nice for anything. If there's anything I really enjoy it's molecules."

"Tell me about them, my dear. What are molecules?"

"Oh! molecules! They are little wee things, and it takes ever so many of them. They are splendid things! Do you know, there ain't anything but what's got molecules in it. And Mr. Cook is just as sweet as he can be, and Mr. Emerson too. They explain everything so beautifully."

"How I would like to go there!" said the Brooklyn girl, enviously.

"You'd enjoy it ever so much. They teach protoplasm, too, and if there is one thing perfectly heavenly it's protoplasm. I really don't know which I like best, protoplasm or molecules."

"Tell me about protoplasm, I know I should adore it."

"Deed you would. It's just too sweet to live. You know it's about how things get started, or something of that kind. You ought to hear Mr. Emerson tell about it. It would stir your very soul. The first time he explained about protoplasm there wasn't a dry eye in the house. We named our hats after him. This is an Emerson hat. You see the ribbon is drawn over the crown and caught with a buckle and a bunch of flowers. Then you turn up the side with a spray of forget-me-nots. Ain't it just too sweet? All the girls in the school have them."

"How exquisitely lovely! Tell me some more science."

"Oh! I almost forgot about differentiation. I am really and truly positively in love with differentiation. It's different from molecules and protoplasms, but it's every bit as nice. And Mr. Cook! You should hear him go on about it! I really believe he's perfectly bound up in it. This scarf is the Cook scarf. All the girls wear them and we named them after him just on account of the interest he takes in differentiation."

"What is it, anyway?"

"This is mull trimmed with Languedoc lace—"

"I don't mean that—that other."

"Oh! differentiation! ain't it sweet? It's got something to do with species. It's the way you tell one hat from another, so you'll know which is becoming. And we learn all about ascidians, too. They are the divinest things! I'm absolutely enraptured with ascidians. If I only had an ascidian of my own, I wouldn't ask anything else in the world."

"What do they look like, dear? Did you ever see one?" asked the Brooklyn girl, deeply interested.

"Oh! no; nobody ever saw one except Mr. Cook and Mr. Emerson, but they are something like an oyster with a reticule hung on its belt. I think they are just heavenly."

"Do you learn anything else beside all these?"

"Oh! yes. We learn about common philosophy and logic, and those common things like metaphysics, but the girls don't care anything about those. We are just in ecstasies over differentiations and ascidians, and Mr. Cook and protoplasms and ascidians and Mr. Emerson, and I really don't see why they put in those vulgar branches. If anybody beside Mr. Cook and Mr. Emerson had done it, we should have told him to his face that he was too terribly awfully mean." And the Brooklyn girl went to bed that night in the dumps, because fortune had not vouchsafed her the advantages enjoyed by her friend, while the Boston girl dreamed of seeing an ascidian chasing a molecule over a differentiated back fence with a club, for telling a protoplasm that his youngest sister had so many freckles on her nose that they made her squint-eyed.—Brooklyn Sunday Eagle.

"Under the Weather."

How many people drag through life about half ill, never really sick, but always miserable and doing their work in a listless, reluctant way. Uncharitable people call it laziness, but it is really sickness. It dulls the keen edge of pleasure and kills the zeal of living. All this results from impure blood. A bottle of Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" will transform such sufferers into new creatures by cleansing the blood and toning up the system. Hundreds are now living healthy and happy lives who never knew a "well day" till they took Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Sold by all druggists, $1.00 a bottle. Dr. David Kennedy, Proprietor, Rondout, N. Y.

—A gentleman who possessed an imitation rat tobacco-pouch thought he would enjoy the nervous shock of a friend by placing it where his friend's eye would see it suddenly. He was much mortified when the friend quietly took it up, helped himself, and then passed it about until the contents were gone.

Beautifiers.

Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes with all cosmetic of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such good health, strength, buoyant spirits and beauty as Hop Bitters. Political Notes.

General A. G. Lawrence writes a strong letter to the Garfield and Arthur club, of Newport, R. I., telling why he supports Garfield. He says: "If the solid south should succeed, half the blast furnaces of the country would be shut off. On every hand the effect would be felt. Every mercantile venture would suffer. The pioneer, breaking up the soil in the distant west, would drop his plough, knowing the markets would be closed to his products, the unfinished railroads remaining as monuments of the folly of change. It is the duty of everyone who worked to save the Union, to continue to endeavor to preserve the Nation." The significance of this letter is heightened by the fact that the writer is the son of Governor William Beach Lawrence, the inveterate Rhode Island democrat.

Rebel Brigadier Fitzhugh Lee has been defining the party's position at the south, and adding to the weight the democrats are putting upon the Hancock horse. In a speech delivered at Portsmouth, Va., on the 2d instant, pointing to the Confederate soldiers' monument, he said: "If you desire that those heroes buried yonder shall not have died in vain, vote the democratic ticket and vindicate the principles for which they sacrified their lives."

On figuring up the army vote for President in 1864, it is found McClellan had only 33,748 in a total of 150,645. It was extremely silly for Mr. Butler to make the statement that the majority of the soldiers were democrats. If he had said many democrats did good service in the war, everybody would have assented.

We suppose that there are a few so-called prohibitionists in New Hampshire who would rather help elect brewer Jones governor than lawyer Bell. They have an unalienable right to vote as they please; but everybody else has the right to consider them as utterly insincere in their prohibitory notions, as well as utterly unpatriotic in their general political action.—Lowell Courier.

Having made his calculations, Major Howell of the engineers modestly announces that $2,163,901 will be needed at the next session of Congress for the river and harbor improvements under his supervision in the four states of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Texas.—N. Y. Sun.

—The hay-cutter is the invention of no one man. Almost every farmer has had a hand in it.

The Liebig Co.'s Coca Beef Tonic.

"Is an invaluable preparation," says Dr. H. R. Stout, Jacksonville, Fla. It is rapidly curative in monthly sufferings, excessive flow, sick headache, chronic, sore throat, asthma, cough, shortness of breath, nervousness, sleeplessness. It rapidly restores lost vitality, whether from indiscretion or excess, and rapidly stops exhausting losses of fluids.

—An Ohio court has decided that married women do not own the clothes they wear. In a recent case the judge held that necessary and suitable clothing furnished by a husband to his wife, or purchased by her with money or means given to her by her husband for that purpose, does not become her property within the meaning of the statute concerning the rights and liabilities of married women.

An Admirable Medicinal Wine.

The most certain way to get the finest wine for medical use is to purchase Speer's Sambuci Wine, which is beyond doubt the purest and most admirable we have ever tasted. It is rich, nourishing and superior for general debility, female weakness, dysentery and consumption, and at the same time entirely free from any sort of spirit.—Frank Leslie's Magazine.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE ONLY MEDICINE

That Acts at the Same Time on THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, and the KIDNEYS.

These great organs are the natural cleansers of the system. If they work well, health will be perfect. If not, the poisons they should drain off develop fearful diseases. Kidney-Wort will restore the healthy action and all those destroying evils will be banished; neglect them and you will have not to suffer.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING.

Biliousness, Headache, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Constipation and Piles, or Kidney Complaints, Gravel, Diabetes, Sediment in the Urine, Milky or Ropy Urine, or Rheumatic Pains and Aches; are developed because the blood is poisoned with the humors that should have been expelled naturally.

KIDNEY-WORT

will restore the healthy action and all those destroying evils will be banished; neglect them and you will have not to suffer.

Thousands have been cured. Try it and you will add one more to the number. Take it and be well. It will give you gladden your heart.

Why suffer longer from the torment of an aching back?

Why bear such distress from Constipation and Piles?

Why be so fearful because of disordered urine?

KIDNEY-WORT will cure you. Try it quick and at once and be satisfied.

It is a very agreeable compound and

One Package makes six quarts of Medicine.

Your Druggist has it, or will get it for you. Insist upon having it. Price, $1.00.

DR. DAVIS' Kidney PAD

A discovery which cures by the natural process of ABSORPTION.

all diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System, when nothing else can. It is comfortable to the patient, positive in its effects, and the first cure for those painful and much dreaded affections,

Diabetes and Bright's Disease,

while its cures of Gravel, Dropsy, Catarrh of the Bladder, Brickdust Deposit, Painful Urinating, High-Colored Urine, Nervous Weakness and Pain in the Back, seem more like miracles than cases of natural healing.

DELICATE FEMALES

or victims of wasted or prostrated energies, caused by irregularities, the abuse of nature and mental or physical over-exertion, find their greatest relief in the use of DAVIS' KIDNEY PAD, which strengthens and invigorates the invalid and restores the vigor of health.

PAIN IN THE BACK.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the only certain and permanent cure for every form of this prevalent and distressing complaint.

YOUNG MEN

suffering from nervous and physical debility, loss of memory, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or to close application to business or work, may be restored and manhood regained.

Avoid all kidney medicines, which are taken into the system by way of the stomach; it is an old treatment well tried and proven ineffective, though somethose effecting apparent cures of one complaint, they sow the seeds of more troublesome and permanent disorders. The price of our Pad brings it within the reach of all, and it will annually save many times its cost in doctors' bills, and is the only remedy which at best give but temporary relief. It can be used without fear or harm, and with certainty of a permanent cure. For sale by druggists generally, or sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of the price. Regular Pad, $2.00; Child's Pad (for incontinence of urine in children), $1.50; Special (extra size), $3.00. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving a history of this new discovery and a large record of most remarkable cures sent free. Write for it. Address DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., Toledo, O.

CAUTION. Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, and take no other.

THE New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or SELF-PRESERVATION.

Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail post-paid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, whether due to pernicious habits or inherited. He is a Nervo specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."

COCA BEEF TONIC.

Highest Medals. Indorsed and Prescribed by Medical Men of all Schools.

Professor Duncan Campbell, M.D., LL.D., President Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, etc., etc., says: "It has more than realized my expectations."

Professor J. M. Carnochan, M.D., Professor of Surgery New York Medical College, says: "My patients derive marked and decided benefit from it."

Professor H. Goullon, M.D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Saxony; Knight of the Holy Cross, etc., says: "It gives more tone than anything I have ever prescribed."

Sir Robert Christison, M.D., LL.D., F.R.S., Physician to her Majesty the Queen; President Royal British Association, etc., etc., says: "The properties of the Coca are the most remarkable of any known to the medical world. From repeated personal trials I am convinced that its use is highly beneficial and tonic."

Valuable in malaria; ague; malarial debility; dumbague; low fever; marasmus; paralytic; spinal and nervous affections; female weaknesses; bilious and liver affections; weak throats; palpitation and other affections of the heart; epilepsy or falling sickness; weakness of the voice of actors, singers, public speakers and clergymen; colic; flatulency; seasickness; falling out of the hair; asthma; shortness of breath; wasting diseases; etc., etc. It is gratefully refreshing and restorative after prolonged mental and physical strain. It is pleasant and agreeable, and is readily retained by the most delicate stomach. Dr. Mead (British Medical Journal) found it of great service in consumption. Baron von Humboldt says he has never known a case of consumption or asthma among those accustomed to its use, and that they live to a great age, retaining their mental and physical faculties to the last (Cosmos).

Daily Chronicle.

Why a Pension Claim Was Rejected.

A rather funny thing happened the other day in Klnston, N. Y., in reference to a pension claim preferred against the government by a resident of Ulster county. The claim, which was one for services in the war of 1812, was forwarded to Washington, and in the course of time a reply was received from the authorities there containing a rejection of the claim. The following were given as the reasons for said rejection. It was alleged that the man had deserted in the war of 1812. For that offense he had been tried by a court-martial, and found guilty by that tribunal. They had sentenced him to be shot. Before the sentence could be carcried out the man deserted again. It is humorously suggested that he could not be blamed for the last desertion.

When the old man came to find out as to the result of his application he was little prepared for the surprise awaiting him. When informed of the reply received from Washington he claimed that he was not the man at all. It is suggested that, not knowing that the government keeps accurate and complete records of all the soldiers ever in its employ, he probably imagined that an occurrence transpiring nearly seventy years ago would have been blotted out from memory by this time. When one thinks of it, it is a little singular that a man who, by the finding of a court-martial, ought to have been shot so long ago for desertion, should now turn up as a claimant for pension from said government.

Life in San Francisco.

The other day one of our most esteemed young burglars was by some oversight arrested and fined for creating a disturbance. In default of the fine he was to stay in jail thirty days. The prisoner was deeply humiliated by this sentence, as burgling has been so dull recently that he was not in funds, though like most 'Frisco celebrities he would rather suffer death than endure the disgrace of being locked up. So he sent for a well-known Pine street broker.

"Mr. Skinnum," said the burglar, (they were old college chums,) "I want to make you a business proposition. Last month your house was entered and robbed of a fine breech-loader gun, a stem-winder watch and a pair of diamond studs."

"Yes well?"

"Well, I took 'em—but you can't prove it. Now, if you'll pay my present fine, I'll return you the gun or the watch, take your choice."

"I'll tell you what I'll do," said the broker, after a second's reflection; "I'll do it for the gun and the studs."

"Couldn't possibly," replied the crowbar artist. "I want the studs to wear to a dinner the boys are getting up. But I'll tell you what I will do. My dress vest buttons up pretty high; I can get along with one stud, so I'll let you have the other. Now, what d'yer say?"

"It's a go!" said the broker, and after handing the other a blank invitation for the next hop of the Peavine sociable, he passed out and settled up.—San Francisco Post.

HASTY READING.—Do not read hastily. Absorb what you read. Do not read too long at one time. A little food digested is better than a great deal gorged. Do not, however, lay down this paper without finishing and understanding this paragraph. The life of yourself, or some one dear to you, may depend upon it. There is a medicine for kidney, bladder, liver, and urinary complaints which cures the worst cases—even Bright's disease. It is called Hunt's Remedy, the Great Kidney and Liver Medicine. Get name in your mind, and remember it.

The Red Mark.

You have seen persons afflicted with erysipelas? Well, it is an awful thing. It disfigures the face almost beyond recognition, and is as dangerous as it is repulsive. It often causes sudden death, and is sometimes called "St. Anthony's Fire." Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., had it in both legs, and was cured by the use of Dr David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." His health is now perfect. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," is the very life of the blood. It cannot hurt you and is sure to help. Tell your neighbors so. Get it of your druggist, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y., enclosing one dollar for a bottle.

A ferry steamer capsized at Bordeaux, France, on the 22d inst., and six persons were drowned.

Stop that coughing; if you do not, it may kill you. A bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup only costs you 25 cents, and its timely use may save your life.

Democratic Arguments.

In Brooklyn, N. Y., on the night of the 21st inst., as a company of Boys in Blue, numbering about two hundred men, were on their way to take part in a republican procession, they were attacked by a large mob of democratic roughs from the back slums, and twenty or more of them seriously injured. Clubs, stones, slung-shots and pistol bullets were freely used by the Hancock men; and of the two hundred republican war-veterans who started for the rendervous of the procession, only fifty managed to reach the place. It was quite a victory for a free and full ballot and an honest count.

News and Notes.

Matters at Corning, Ohio, are reported quiet except that the strikers continue to indulge in threats as to what they will do as opportunity may offer. It is generally conceded that there will be no further serious trouble while the troops remain on duty.

A despatch from Shanghai, China, reports serious disturbances in Canton. The Europeans have been threatened and are in a state of alarm. The Catholic commission has been attacked. The military have been called out. Several rioters have been killed and wounded.

Ann Tousey of Coburg, N. J., aged twenty-four years, and married, used kerosene in lighting a fire, Monday morning, the 20th inst. She was enveloped in flames, burned from head to foot, and died on the 22d. A sister of the deceased was burned a year ago in a similar manner in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The project of securing the mammoth steamship Great Eastern to run between London, New Orleans and Galveston, to take out cotton and other products, and bring back immigrants, is in a fair way of being realized.

A letter from St. Augustine, Fla., says the pilots did not rob the bodies or steal the cargo of the lost steamer Vera Cruz. The robberies were by outside wreckers, who threaten to kill the man who telegraphed the facts north.

A gentleman of Providence, R. I., received on the 22d inst., a check for $40,000, which was all there was left of an investment which he and several other gentlemen made of $1,000,000 some years ago in a gold mine.

A day or two since Arthur Gladding, residing on Newport point, R. I., was at Coddington grove with several other men in his boat, and witnessed one of the most extraordinary sights ever seen in that neighborhood, in the shape of a monster sea turtle. It was at least fourteen feet long, covering the whole length of their boat, its flipper covering just the width of the boat. The root of the tail was as large round as a man's body. The turtle was three times as large as any ever seen there before. They tried to secure it, but its great weight, presumed to be nearly 2,000 pounds, prevented its being properly secured. In the effort to secure it an arm of one of the men got quite seriously injured.

Sadie White, the nineteen-years-old daughter of Hugh L. White of Richmond, Ky., and the acknowledged belle of the "Blue Grass region," committed suicide on the 22d inst. by cutting her throat while temperarily insane.

Jesse Grant, son of Ex-President Grant, and Miss Lizzie Chapman, daughter of W. S. Chapman of San Francisco, were married on the 22d inst., the ceremony being a very quiet and unpretentions one.

Mr. Henry Baxter of Hyannisport, Mass., left that place for Dennis on the 16th inst. in a small boat, which was found the next day upset, and as he has not been seen since it is supposed he was drowned.

At Point a Pitre, Guadeloupe, for four weeks ending August 14th, there were four deaths from yellow fever. At Nassau, N. P., for three weeks ending Sept. 14th, there were sixty-two cases of yellow fever, six of which proved fatal. For the week ending Sept. 11th there were no deaths.

The New York pilot boat Pet, while cruising well off shore on the 19th inst., fell in with the British schooner Gladiator, floating bottom up. The Pet was being in the track of vessels, men from the Pet went to sink her, and on cutting a hole in her bottom the stench which came out was so horrible that they were compelled to leave. One dead body was hanging from the bowsprit by a rope, and it was supposed that there were a number of corpses below. The Gladiator sailed from Barbadoes for Yarmouth, N. S., several months ago.

The barque Caribou, from Aspinwall, has lost her captain and two men by Chagres fever. A pilot boat's crew is taking the vessel from the Tortugas to Key West.

The minister of the United States at Pekin informs the department of state that the consul of the United States at Hong Kong has reported to him that during the quarter ending June 30th, 1880, 5,002 emigrants left Hong Kong for the United States, of whom seven were females, and forty-four boys.

The government has now little available room for the safe keeping of its surplus silver coin. Both the mints at Philadelphia and San Francisco are filled to overflowing, and there is not much space left for this purpose in the sub-treasury at New York. One million of standard dollars weigh thirty tons. It is understood that the secretary of the treasury will in his forthcoming annual report renew his recommendation to congress to discontinue the coinage of the standard silver dollars until a proportion of the immense accumulation can be worked off into permanent circulation.

Mary Jane Bell has been fined $20 for beating Rev. Mr. Halsey of Brooklyn, with an umbrella.

Mrs. Miller, wife of Rev. Mr. Miller of Shelburne Falls, Mass., supplies his desk during his vacation. She preaches original sermons, and her choir is reinforced by a detachment from the Shelburne Falls brass band.

Political Notes.

It is said that two prominent democrats have written to General Hancock asking his views as to the payment of the rebel claims, and that he has dodged the question in his answers to both.

The greenback state convention of Massachusetts met at Worcester on the 22d inst., and nominated Gen. Horace Binney Sargent for governor, with a full state ticket.

Yale students have organized a Garfield club of 600 members.

The Baltimore American warns such democratic repeaters in that city as propose to make a trip to Indiana, to arrange their business for a long stay, as they will be retained by local authorities if they undertake the game of 1876.

A gentleman just arrived in Washington from the first Tennessee district says the republicans will carry it in the coming congressional election by two thousand majority. He never saw such earnestness and enthusiasm displayed in any canvass.

Senator Bayard, in a speech at Anderson, South Carolina, the other day, attempted to bulldoze the independents. He said, "There are such things as treason to a party, which is as foul as treason to the country."

A Florida republican now in New York says: "The republicans of Florida have a majority of 1000 to 1500, with a fair count, and I believe the state election board is honest and will give us a fair count. There is very great enthusiasm existing throughout the state for Garfield and Arthur, and I fully believe that the republican electors will be elected."

New Hampshire Items.

At New Durham, Thursday, Mr. Frank Coburn, a life long democrat and former member of the legislature, raised a Garfield & Arthur flag. Senator Rollins was present, and addressed the people, of whom there was a large assemblage.

The proposed marriage of Hon. Jacob H. Ela, of Rochester, fifth auditor of the treasury, and Miss Mary Henderson of Keene, is announced.

The thermometer was down to twenty-four degrees above zero on Mount Washington, Sept. 22d. Frost feathers twelve or fifteen inches long were formed. The wind blew sixty miles an hour.

Major J. B. Whittemore of Hillsboro' has been appointed permanent secretary of the democratic state committee.

The annual meeting of the Salmon Falls manufacturing company was held at Salmon Falls on the 22d inst., and the following officers were elected: Directors, Amos A. Lawrence, John A. Burnham, Charles U. Cotting, True M. Ball, Wm. G. Means, Edward A. Browne; clerk, Orange S. Brown; treasurer, Howard Stockton.

The Gubernatorial Candidates.

We have another candidate for Gubernatorial honors from Rockingham county. Mr. Jones is undoubtedly the most available man whom the democratic party could have put in nomination. He is popular in his party, and his great wealth and liberality will enable him to furnish the sinews of war. Mr. Jones has served two terms in Congress very creditably, and was specially zealous and efficient in behalf of his constituents. He was very reluctant to accept a nomination, and only yielded at the last moment, at the representation of his associates that he is the only man who can give them any hope of success. He, however, enters the race weighted down with the fact that he represents, in his private business, a power which, does more than any other to undermine all which is pure and noble in American manhood; the election will show whether this will really have effect, so far as votes are concerned. New Hampshire is a steady, even-going state. It gives us no surprises like Maine. The two parties are each harmonious in themselves. The greenbackers will cut no figure. The circumstances will draw out a full vote. All in all, we have the strongest man in the democratic party, against the very ablest man the republicans could put into the field. We are sure of having for governor, at any rate, a citizen of Rockingham county, and one who was the unanimous choice of his party.—Exeter Gazette.

—A young man of Woodford county, Illinois, has died of the effect of taking too severe a shock of electricity while attending a circus. He was strong, and wanted to show the other boys present how much he could stand.

—"Madame, your boy can't pass at half fare, he's too large," said the ticket collector of a train which had been long detained on the road by the snow. "He may be too large now," replied the matron; "but he was small enough when we started." The collector gave in.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

For week ending Wednesday, Sept. 22.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

Amount of stock at market—Cattle 5068; sheep and lambs 2250; swine 13,500; number western cattle 4544; eastern cattle 288; milch cows and northern cattle 225; veals 9.

Prices of beef cattle per 100 lbs. live weight: Extra quality $5 75 and $6 25½; first quality $5 and $5 62½; second quality $4 62½ and $4 87; third quality $4 25 and $4 50; poorest grades of coarse oxen, bulls, &c., $3 25 and $4 12½.

Brighton Hides 5½c per lb.
Brighton Tallow 2½ and 3c per lb.
Country hides 7½ and 8c per lb.
Country Tallow 3½ and 4c per lb.
Calf skins 10 and 11c per lb, or from $1 25 and $1 75 per skin.
Lamb skins 75c and $1 each.
Sheared sheep skins 50c each.

The trade of beef cattle has been active and the quality of the ones from the west was better than those brought in one week ago. Prices upon the best grades of beeves fell off ½c per ℔ and upon common and medium grades from ½ @ ¾c per ℔ from those of our last quotations. Cattle suitable for the English markets have been selling at 8 @ 6½c per ℔ live weight, and a few lots were purchased by butchers to slaughter at $6 @ $6 40 per 100 ℔ live weight. From Maine there were a few very fair beef cattle and quite a good supply of working oxen, for which there has been but a moderate demand.

Working Oxen—There were some very nice pairs of working oxen in market. We quote sales of 1 pr. girth 7 ft. live weight 5000 ℔s. for $145; 1 pr. four years old, girth 6 ft 3 in. live weight 25-00 ℔s. $91; 1 pr. girth 7 ft. live weight 3000 ℔s. $230; 1 pr. girth 6 ft 10 in. live weight 2500 ℔s. $115; 1 pr. girth 7 ft. live weight 3000 ℔s. $140; 1 pr. girth 6 ft 10 in. live weight 2800 ℔s. $130; 1 pr girth 6 ft 6 in. live weight 3000 ℔s. $100.

Milch Cows—Extra cows $57 @ $63; ordinary, $39 @ $45; springers $18 @ $50. We quote sales of 5 milch cows at $47 each; 2 springer $63; 3 springers at $31 @ $40; 1 milch cow $50; 1 do $38; 3 springers for $34; 1 cow and calf $45.

Store Cattle—Not much call for them yet and but a few offer in market for sale. Nearly all the small cattle that were in a fair condition were taken by butchers for slaughtering purposes.

Sheep and Lambs—The supply from the west was very light, mostly owned by butchers, coasting from 5¼ @ 6c per ℔ live weight. There were over 2000 sheep and lambs brought into market from Maine, which were consigned to G. W. Holla to slaughter and market at a commission for the owners.

Swine—Fat Hogs—Prices 5¼ @ 6¼c per ℔ live weight.

Catch a Tartar

and when caught scrub well with SOZODONT. Don't spare it. Brush for dear life. If you destroy it, all the better for you and your teeth. It will destroy the health of the mouth, its beauty, and your sweet breath.

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone, when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes. Tu,th&f,&o

A BRAVE LADY!

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation without Taking Chloroform.

(From the Courier.)

Mrs. Schoonm ker, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely loose the sight of one of her eyes through an accident, and entertained inflammatory action therein for the two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skeleton. In this terrible strait, she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, New York, who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to lace a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The "Favorite Remedy" is a priceless blessing to woman. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

AROUND HOME.

The Rye cornet band will give a free concert on Market square some evening soon.

Taylor Gunnison will serve up a free chowder on Saturday evening, at Mr. Garrity's saloon on Daniel street.

The gentleman who advertised for money lost, in the CHRONICLE of Thursday, is requested to call at this office and get it.

The generous offer of the Times to tell the republicans of this city where to "find" a speaker is declined with thanks. They don't want anything cheap.

A large and highly respectable audience gathered in Music hall on Thursday evening to see the Pirates of Penzance, and their anticipations of an excellent entertainment were realized.

The Times advises the republicans to take down their rooster and paint it white, as the democrats did their liberty-poles and flag-staffs during the war. No; gentlemen; the republican bird never did and never will show the "white feather."

Mr. Editor: I would like to enquire if the high school committee have given permission for the boys of the school to organize the "High School Hancock & English Cadets?" also how it comes about that there are so many more alleged members of the company than there are boys attending the school? QUIZ.

Just a little hasty.—Our democratic neighbor feels so doubtful of Hancock's election, that he advertises for voters, promising them work on the navy yard for the next four years, at three dollars a day, if only they will vote democratic! Can't he pay in advance?

Mr. Lemuel B. Caswell, who conducts the fish-curing business on quite a large scale during the winter and spring, at Smuttynose island, Isles of Shoals, informs us that the dog-fish have been around the Shoals in such numbers as to drive all the other fish from their usual haunts. After the dog-fish disappear Mr. Caswell will employ a gang of about twenty-five men, in catching and curing.

On Tuesday evening next the Boys in Blue will appear in public for the first time in their new uniform, accompanied by the drum corps, and will raise a Garfield & Arthur flag at the head of Daniel street. They will then proceed to the republican headquarters in Franklin buildings, where another flag will be displayed; after which Hon. George M. Dewey, of Michigan, will speak in Music hall on the political issues of the campaign.

The Garfield and Arthur Battalion held a lively meeting in their hall Thursday evening. Several very spirited speeches were made, eliciting hearty applause. The enthusiasm which prevailed was of the most earnest character. Every speaker expressed faith in the ability of the republicans to elect Charles H. Bell as governor with a good majority. The meeting adjourned at nine o'clock, to meet at the same place to-night, when a permanent organization will be effected.

The curative properties of cod liver oil have long been acknowledged by the medical profession, in all civilized countries. But from the difficulty encountered in its general administration, on account of the reluctance of patients to take oil in its natural condition, however pure and fresh it may be, physicians long desired some preparation of cod liver oil that would so far disguise the characteristic taste and oder of oil that it would be acceptable to the most fastidious patients. The stuborn nature of the oil has however resisted all attempts to bring it into subjection to the will of even the most skillful pharmaceutists, until a gentleman of this city as the result of long experiment, discovered a method of making the oil exceedingly palatable without sacrificing any of its valuable medicinal qualities. Eminent physicians and druggists of Boston unqualifiedly pronounce it the most elegant and best preparation of cod liver oil they ever saw. The reputation of Portsmouth Cod Liver Oil is unequalled by any other in the market, and we have no doubt but the new preparation will meet an eager demand.

Schooner Gov. Goodwin, Doane master, arrived on the evening of the 22d inst. with 250 barrels of mackerel.

Charles Hammond of this city, an inmate of the insane asylum at Brentwood, fell down stairs on the 20th inst., while in a fit, breaking his arm and otherwise injuring him.

A lad in South Hampton recently captured a fine specimen of the knight heron, a very handsome bird rarely seen in this region. The bird was found with one of its feet fast held by a large turtle.

An adjourned meeting of the Garfield & Arthur Battalion will be held at the republican headquarters at 7:30 this (Friday) evening. All republicans who wish to join the organization are invited to attend.

Gen. Thom, U. S. A., the engineer officer in charge of harbor improvements in this section, has advertised for tenders for dredging the Exeter river between Furnald's and Gilman's wharves, the proposals to be opened Sept. 30th. The amount of matter to be removed is estimated at 5200 cubic yards.

The horse distemper which prevailed in this city, and indeed all over New England, in 1872, and was called the "epizootic," is again very prevalent in Boston, Lynn, Worcester and other cities of Massachusetts. The horse railroads and fire department in Boston are seriously incommoded, but the disease is of a milder type than during the epidemic of 1872.

Capt. Daniel Trefethen raised a democratic campaign flag on Green street, on the evening of the 22d inst., there being about three hundred people present. The drum corps played several pieces; speeches were made by Ephraim C. Spinney, Esq., of Kittery, and Hon. Daniel Marcy and Major David Urch of this city; there was also a bonfire, and cheers were given for the flag and the old gentleman who raised it. Owing to his advanced age, Capt. Trefethen was unable to respond.

A company of Hancock & English guards was formed in a room at the north mill, on the evening of the 22d inst., forty-two members signing the roll, most of them belonging on Christian Shore. It was voted to adopt the same uniform as the other similar democratic campaign club in the city, and the following officers were elected: Captain, Frank E. Dennett; 1st lieutenant, Albion Littlefield; 2d lieutenant, John W. Clark. The officers named were authorized to appoint subordinate officers.

A fine crayon likeness of Mr. Henry Jenkins, in the window of Montgomery's music and art store, calls out the admiration of all who see it and who know the original. Mr. Jenkns is an old seaman, and served in the navy in the war of 1812; he was mady years a rigger, during the days when ships were built here, and though now considerably over seventy years of age, and partially crippled by a paralytic shock, he still aids at supporting himself in an humble way by making mats from manila rope, carrying them about on his shoulders when he gets two or three finished, and selling them from house to house.

Col. Taggart of Goffstown and John F. Cole of Boston on Thursday last addressed a large gathering of people at Nottingham, where there was a republican flag-raising. To-day they speak at Epping, and on Saturday evening Mr. Cole speaks in the hall at South Seabrook. The republicans do not propose to attempt any "still hunt" performance in New Hampshire, nor to by fooled by any still hunt on the part of the democrats; the active work of the canvass has commenced early, and is to be kept up until election day. This is all that is needed to insure a republican victory, for our state is always republican when a contest is made.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, Sept. 23d:

Records of last meeting were read and approved.

Permission was granted to George A. Jackson to encumber a portion of Court and Liberty streets for building purposes.

Permission was granted to John H. Shillaber to encumber the corner of Bow and Linden streets for building purposes.

The petition of John J. Pickering for the relaying of sidewalk in front of his premises on Market street was granted, as well as that of John R. Reding for a similar purpose on State street.

The committee to whom was referred the petition of Daniel Mason for the removal of pig pen and the cause of filth at the dock at the foot of Vaughan street reported that the former had been removed, and recommended that the sewers belonging to the city and the soap factory be laid to low water mark. The report was accepted and referred to committee on sewers with the mayor added, to report.

Several petitions in regard to abatement of taxes, were referred to appropriate committees.

A resolution was offered that on a favorable offer the mayor be authorized to sell a portion of the shares of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad stock owned by the city. The subject was referred to the committee on finance.

In regard to the matter of obtaining water from Jones' pond, Raymond, for the use of the city, the city clerk by instruction of the committee made a partial report. Whereupon a discussion ensued, and the report was accepted and the committee given further time to obtain information.

A bill of Mr. Bean in regard to damages claimed for injuries to sheep by dogs was brought up, and postponed for one week.

In regard to the bill for the increase of pay of assessors of taxes, Alderman Hartshorn reported, that it was inexpedient to raise their pay. Voted, that the report be recommitted.

The committee on city lands and buildings reported, in regard to rent claimed by the city for the use of the dock at the foot of Vaughan street by Daniel Mason. The city solicitor reported that there was no evidence that Mr. Mason had ever agreed to pay the sum of ten dollars yearly rent, charged to him by the city. It was asserted by an alderman that the property of Mr. Mason had since passed into the possession of Ephraim C. Spinney of Kittery, and that a writ of ejectment would not lie against Mr. Mason. Referred to mayor and city solicitor, with power to act.

Board adjourned at twenty minutes past nine.

THE WATER SUPPLY.

The special committee appointed by the board of aldermen at their meeting on the 9th inst., to enquire as to the feasibility of supplying the city with water from Raymond pond, and to estimate the cost of the same, etc., reported progress on Thursday evening last. The committee having sent Major Vaughan as a subcommittee to Raymond, to obtain information as to the probable sufficiency of the water supply there, and on other points, that gentleman reported as follows:

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. Sept. 23, 1880.

Hon. William H. Sise, Mayor;

Sir: I have the honor to submit the following report of the information I have obtained regarding the ownership, capacity, location, etc., of the ponds in Raymond.

Jones' pond, which is about twenty-six miles from Portsmouth, covers an area of about 365 acres. It has two outlets, one of them emptying into the Lamprey river. The mill privilege on this outlet, and the right of flowage of the pond are owned by E. T. Nutter, Esq., of Portland, Me. He owns two saw mills, which are now running. This ownership he is willing to sell. Several springs and two or three small inlets supply the water. The bottom of the pond is hard,—gravel and stone,—free from mud. I am unable to state positively whether there are mill privileges other than that owned by Mr. Nutter, but I think not. The depth of the water varies, being I was informed nearly fifty feet at one point.

Governor's pond is about the same distance from Portsmouth as Jones' pond. It is of much higher altitude, a hundred feet or more. It has two outlets, one of which is at present entirely dry, and is fed by springs and one inlet. The average depth of the water, which is clear and sweet, is about seven feet. The bottom is not so hard as Jones' pond, but in many places I discovered fine white sand. It covers an area of about 225 acres. There are four owners, and it is not utilized.

The above information I obtained from many persons, residents of Raymond who are familiar with both ponds.

Very respectfully,
D. J. VAUGHAN.

—A Kansas City reporter records the fact that the defeated candidate "took his way to the train, wrapped in gloom and new store clothes. The gloom was an elegant fit, but the store clothes were too short in the legs and very baggy about the shoulders."

—In the coming days of woman suffrage: "Our candidate has risen from the humblest walks. When but a little girl, picking blueberries, barefooted, too poor to own a sun-bonnet, she read Homer's Odyssey in the original tongue. What do we see her now?" A voice: "The same homely, freckled, saucy thing she always was; so there." Meeting breaks up amid great coufusion and tearing of hair.

Remarkable Cures of Kidney Diseases.

Mr. L. Jackson of Boston, an extensive produce dealer, was persuaded to give the Kidney-Wort a trial. He writes July 21st, for more and says:—

"I used most of one package myself last winter. I had soreness across my kidneys and my water would turn milky after standing a short time. The Kidney-Wort cured me. I gave some of it to a lady who had for a long time been obliged to make water every half hour or less, and suffered much from irritation of the urinary organs, and it cured her. About two months ago, I gave some of the medicine to a gentleman who is foreman in a sewing machine manufactory in Boston. I met him last Thursday, and he told me he was using the third package, and that the night before he laid all night without getting up to make water, a thing he had not done before for more than fifteen years. He says it has done more for him than all he has ever taken before, and he has paid out more than a thousand dollars for medicine. It is evident from these facts, that Kidney-Wort is a great thing for the kidney and urinary organs.

"Under the Weather."

How many people drag through life about half ill, never really sick, but always miserable and doing their work in a listless, reluctant way. Uncharitable people call it laziness, but it is really sickness. It dulls the keen edge of pleasure and kills the zeal of living. All this results from impure blood. A bottle of Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" will transform such sufferers into new creatures by cleansing the blood and toning up the system. Hundreds are now living healthy and happy lives who never knew a "well day" till they took Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Sold by all druggists, $1.00 a bottle. Queen Victoria and Her Husband.

The publication of the fifth and last volume of "The life of the Prince Consort" reminds the Hour that Theodore Martin has omitted some of the minor episodes of domestic life of the queen and Prince Albert, which would, perhaps, have cost him his spurs had he related them in that work. When the august pair were first married, although the match was one of love—at least on the queen's part—her majesty could not always control her temper, and on the occasion of one of those trifling quarrels which occur even in the best regulated families, she threw a tea-cup at the prince's head. He, excessively indignant, retired to his apartments and locked the door. The queen's anger having somewhat abated, she thought him sufficiently punished, and knocked at the door. To the question, "Who's there?" she replied, in imperious tones, "The queen." Prince Albert did not answer, and she went away. By and by she thought she would try again, and to the "Who's there?" answered "Victoria." Again there was complete silence, and she again retired. With the perseverance characteristic of a woman alarmed at the trouble to come, she determined to try a third time, and in the response to the "Who's there?" replied, sobbingly, "Your own loving wife." This brought Prince Albert to terms, and peace was re-established. It is said there was no more tea-cup throwing in the happy family. Yet Victoria always remained an exacting wife, and never allowed her spouse what is bourgeoisement known as a latch-key. As the prince presided at many public dinners, it was often close to midnight before he could possibly reach Windsor, and he had accordingly always a storm to face for "keeping late hours." Finally, the queen ordered the castle gates to be closed at 10.30 P. M., and the now much-mounted husband was locked out if he happened to be behind time.

An African's Romance.

A negro in Paris, driven to suicide by sheer want, wrote down his story, sealed it in a tin box, secured the box to his person and drowned himself in the Seine. It appears from his statement that his father was an African chief, tributary to the negus of Abyssinia, who, having risen in revolt against his suzerain, was killed in fight. Two of the chief's sons, the elder of whom was the suicide, were captured by the negus, but contrived to escape. While wandering in the marshes of Bar-el-Azrak the elder brother climbed a tree to survey the surrounding country, and perceived a huge boa constrictor crushing his brother to death in its coils. Having lost his fellow fugitive in this terrible manner, he struggled onward through the great swamp for seven weeks, at length reaching the Egyptian outposts, where he was kindly received and forwarded to Cairo. The khedive not only relieved his wants, but paid his passage from Alexandria to Paris, where, as his note-book observes, he thought he could find a kindly reception. "Alas," he concludes, "there, as elsewhere, one must be of some use in order to live—and I, alas I have learned nothing. I prefer a violent death to perishing slowly by hunger."

—"I now have something for a rainy day," said old Mr. McSniffer the other evening, as he entered the room and greeted his family. "A windfall, a windfall!" screamed Mrs. McSniffer, in an ecstacy of mental paralysis. "No, no," he responded, quietly, as he drew his slippers from under the sofa, "it's an umbrella." Mrs. McSniffer told him he was a real mean old thing.

TRADE MARK

DAY'S Kidney PAD

A discovery which cures by the natural process,

ABSORPTION.

all diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System, when nothing else can. It is comfortable to the patient, positive in its effects, and the first cure for those painful and much dreaded affections,

Diabetes and Bright's Disease,

while its cures of Gravel, Dropsy, Catarrh of the Bladder, Brickdust Deposit, Painful Urinating, Hip-Gout, Pain in the Back, Nervous Weakness and Pain in the Back seem more like miracles than cases of natural healing.

DELICATE FEMALES

or victims of wasted or prostrated energies, caused by irregular habits, the abuse of nature and mental or physical over-exertion, find their greatest relief in the use of DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, which strengthens and invigorates the invalid and restores the vigor of health.

PAIN IN THE BACK.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the only certain and permanent cure for every form of this prevalent and distressing complaint

suffering from nervous and physical debility, loss of memory, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or to close application to business or work, may be restored and manhood regained.

Avoid all kidney medicines which are taken into the system by the stomach, they are drastic, for the most well tried and proven inefficient, though sometimes effecting apparent cures of one complaint, they sow the seeds of more troublesome and permanent disorders. The price of our Pad brings it within the reach of all, and it will annually save many times its cost in doctors' bills, medicines and plasters, which at best give but temporary relief. It can be used without fear or harm, and with certainty of a permanent cure. For sale by druggists generally, or sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of the price. Regular Pad, $2.00; Child's Pad (for incontinence of urine in children), $1.50. Special (extra size), $3.00. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving a history of this new discovery and a large record of special remarkable cures sent free. Write for it. Address DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., Toledo, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, and take no other.

Prices, 75 cents and $1.25. Large size the cheapest. Ask your druggist for HUNT'S REMEDY. Take no other.

KIDNEY-WORT

THE ONLY MEDICINE

That Acts at the Same Time on

THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, and the KIDNEYS.

They great organs are the natural cleansers of the system. If they work well, health will be perfect; if they become clogged, dreadful diseases are sure to follow.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING.

Biliousness, Headache, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Constipation and Piles, or Kidney Complaints, Gravel, Diabetes, Sediment in the Urine, Milky or Ropy Urine or Rheumatic Pains and Aches, are developed because the blood is poisoned with the humors that should have been expelled naturally.

KIDNEY-WORT

will restore the best by action and all these destroying evils will be banished; instead of them and you will have health and happiness.

Thousands have been cured. Try it and you will add one more to the number. Take it and health will once more gladden your heart.

Why suffer longer from the torment of an aching back?

Why have such distress from Constipation and Piles?

Why be so fearful because of disordered urine?

KIDNEY-WORT will cure you. Try a package and be satisfied.

It is a dry vegetable compound and

One Package makes six quarts of Medicine.

Your Druggist has it, or will get it for you. Insist upon having it. Price $1.25.

THE

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, or SELF-PRESERVATION; Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail postpaid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, whether due to pernicious habits or inherited. He is a Nervous specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.

The author refers, by permission, to Hon. P. A. BISSELL, M. D., president of the National Medical Association.

Address Dr. W. H. PARKER, No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston, Mass. The Author may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. dm&th 8ottnov29

LIEBIG CO'S

COCA BEEF TONIC.

Highest Medals. Indorsed and Prescribed by Medical Men of all Schools.

Professor Duncan Campbell, M.D., LL.D., President Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, etc., etc., says: "It has more than realized my expectations."

Professor J. M. Carnochan, M.D., Professor of Surgery New York Medical College, says: "My patients derive marked and decided benefit from it."

Professor H. Goullon, M.D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Nassau, Knight of the Holy Cross, etc., says: "It gives more tone than anything I have ever prescribed."

Sir Robert Christison, M.D., LL.D., F.R.S., Physician to her Majesty the Queen; President Royal British Association, etc., etc., says: "The properties of the Coca are the most remarkable of any known to the medical world. From repeated personal trials I am convinced that its use is highly beneficial and tonic."

Valuable in malaria; ague; malarial debility; dumbague; low fever; marasmus; paralytic; spinal and nervous affections; female weaknesses; bilious and liver affections; weak throats; palpitation and other affections of the heart; epilepsy or falling sickness; weakness of the voices of actors, singers, public speakers and clergymen; colic; flatulency; sensitiveness; failing out of the hair; asthma; shortness of breath; wasting diseases; etc., etc. It is gratefully refreshing and restorative after prolonged mental and physical strain. It is pleasant and agreeable, and is readily retained by the most delicate stomach. Dr. McBean (British Medical Journal) found it of great service in consumption. Baron von Humboldt says he has never known a case of consumption or asthma among those accustomed to its use, and that they live to a great age, retaining their mental and physical faculties to the last (Cosmos).

LAXATIVE AND CATHARTIC.

Highly recommended by leading physicians For CONSTIPATION and BILIOUSNESS. Very Pleasant to the Taste. Persons of sedentary habits, those who have malarial or other chronic diseases which produce Costiveness, confined bowels and the aged, will find them a mild and certain laxative which will not gripe or sicken. They are especially adapted to females and children, who dread the disagreeable taste and unpleasant action of other medicines. Invalids can safely take them. Ask your druggist for them in the cities.

Nice Snake Story.

The elephant driver said it was nothing for a snake (boa) to swallow a deer, and then entertained me with the following:

"A herd of wild elephants was roaming through the country once, and after staying some time at a salt spring began to pass on. One, however, a very large animal, stayed a little behind, being, in fact, the last to leave the spring. As he was hastening to join the others, a snake, (who had been watching in an adjacent tree,) threw its body out as the elephant passed by, and, keeping hold of the trunk of the tree with its extremity, caught hold of the elephant's hind leg. The monster stopped and turned round to see what was the matter; and by this the snake got a better hold, and wound itself round the elephant's body. Then commenced the tug of war. The elephant saw what was the matter and commenced to pull. But it could not disconnect the snake from the tree. Neither gave way, and the pulling continued with fearful vigor until a cracking was heard.

Suddenly the great tree around which the snake had fixed its hold was seen to sway, and gradually its lateral roots began to appear above the earth, the trunk to totter, and finally the topmost branches crashed to the ground. But the most marvellous part was that the trunk, having wide-spreading branches which rested on the ground, was raised a great distance from the earth. The snake, which still maintained its hold both on it and the elephant, was hoisted up the trunk and took the elephant with it. Next day a party of villagers out for firewood, when a short distance from the tree, saw the novel sight of an elephant suspended (apparently) in mid air. Upon closer inspection they found a snake was the connection with the tree, and one man got through the branches on to the trunk, and cut through the snake, which immediately fell to the ground with the elephant and was crushed by the fall."—English paper.

An Admirable Medicinal Wine.

The most certain way to get the finest wine for medical use is to purchase Speer's Sambuci Wine, which is beyond doubt the purest and most admirable we have ever tasted. It is rich, nourishing and superior for general debility, female weakness, dysentery and consumption, and at the same time entirely free from any sort of spirit.—Frank Leslie's Magazine.

—A Newport fox hunt came to an unexpected end the other day. The fox, a thoroughly reliable animal which had been employed by the Newport hunters for many years, died suddenly of old age.

A merchant down town sells more of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup than all medicines together. It surely must be the best remedy for a cough.

—A young lady surprised the gentlemanly clerk by offering him fifty cents in payment for a dollar purchase. "It amounts to a dollar, if you please," said the gentlemanly clerk. "I know it does," was the answer, "but papa is only paying fifty cents on the dollar now."

I would say to my friends, and all who chance to read this, that I have used Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam in my family for a long time, and consider it a very valuable medicine. It cures when all other remedies fail, and I would cheerfully recommend it to those afflicted with coughs, colds, asthma, etc.

E. S. GETCHELL, Augusta, Maine.

—The Philadelphia Herald says that the women of that city are busily engaged in getting up political clubs. They are about two feet long, and only appear on parade when the husbands of the women come home late at night.

The Liebig Co.'s Coca Beef Tonic.

"Is an invaluable preparation," says Dr. H. R. Stout, Jacksonville, Fla. It is rapidly curative in monthly sufferings, excessive flow, sick headache, chronic, sore throat, asthma, cough, shortness of breath, nervousness, sleeplessness. It rapidly restores lost vitality, whether from indiscretion or excess, and rapidly stops exhausting losses of fluids.

—Some of the wonderful drawings that have recently appeared in one or two of our leading magazines are called "art." We used to draw such "masterpieces" when we went to school, but the master always kept us in an hour for the offence. We don't believe that he knew art when he saw it.

Beautifiers.

Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes with all cosmetic of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such good health, strength, buoyant spirits and beauty as Hop Bitters. A trial is certain proof. See another column.—Telegraph.

—Dr. Hastings, of Boston, in speaking of religious joy and of singing as being the natural expression of that joy, remarked that some congregations had so little of it that they had to hire people to do their singing. "Why," says he, "I would as soon think of hiring a man to eat my breakfast."

Emaciation, dropsy, mental and physical weakness arrested by Malt Bitters.

—An American traveller saw on a London hotel register these words, "Sir A. T. Galt and fifteen children." The latter were ushered into the dining room by their governess, and were mostly girls, fine-looking and well behaved.

Democracy and National Banks.

The democrats had a big turnout in New York on the evening of the 23d inst., with torches, banners, and speeches and letters from prominent democratic leaders. Some of the remarks were evidently intended for the business men of New York rather than the greenbackers of Maine. August Belmont "eulogized Secretary Sherman's administration of the treasury department as judicious and intelligent, but claimed that the success was due in great part to favorable circumstances." Senator Bayard said the republican party "was responsible for delaying specie resumption at least five years. It was untrue that the democrats were opposed to national banks, and they had nominated for second place on their ticket one of the most successful of the national bank presidents of the country."

Why Butler Wanted Jones Nominated.

We may have been mistaken in saying last week that it was always Frank Jones' intention to accept the nomination for governor if certain conditions were complied with, and he may have been overpersuaded by the telegrams he received the day before the convention, to offer himself for sacrifice. General Butler, it seems, desires to play a conspicuous part in New Hampshire politics. On the day before the democratic convention he sent the following telegram to the chairman of the democratic national committee:

W. H. Barnes, Esq.—Telegraph Frank Jones at Phœnix Hotel, Concord, that he must accept the nomination for governor. With any other candidate New Hampshire is surely republican; with him it is doubtful.

A similar dispatch was also sent signed F. O. Prince. The substance of these telegrams were sent by Barnum to Frank Jones at Concord. Butler is also understood to have offered his services to stump the state, and to commence his campaign, with a couple of his lieutenants, in old Exeter, the stronghold of republicanism, and the home of the republican nominee for governor. We assure our democratic friends that should General Butler come here, the republicans will not follow their example when he spoke here some years ago, of calling him "Beast Butler," or accuse him of "stealing spoons at New Orleans." They will turn out en masse and give him a good house, for if they should neglect to attend, the show would be a slim one indeed. And we will also say to Mr. Barnum that the republicans of New Hampshire understand that his stratgedy lies in the way he brings up his resources at the last hour. There is no man living who can handle "mules" so well as he.—Exeter News-Letter.

News and Notes.

By an earthquake in Chili two hundred lives are reported lost.

As Mr. S. T. Sanborn and wife, of Winchester, Mass., were crossing the track of the Boston & Maine railroad at a point in Wilmington where the woods are thick on both sides of the road, their carriage was struck by a train, Mr. Sanborn being instantly killed and his wife fatally injured, on the 23d inst.

There was a little snow storm at Stowe, Vt., on the morning of the 25d inst.

The erection of a new gingham mill, to be 294 by 165 feet, has been begun at Adams, Mass. A dye house and dyeing room, 160 by 30 feet, is also to be built. The mill will employ 350 or 400 hands. The mill will be controlled and run by the Renfrew Manufacturing company.

The Gloucester, Mass., city council held a special meeting Thursday evening to hear the report of the committee chosen to investigate the sources, supply and probable expense of establishing a system of water works. The committee on reporting submitted the report of Hon. Phineas Ball, chief engineer, recommending Dick's meadow and the adjacent ponds and water sheds as the best source of supply, with a pumping station at Mill brook, and a distributing reservoir on Bond's hill. The board of aldermen issued a warrant for meetings in the several wards Oct. 12th, to vote on an act to supply the city with pure water.

The sophomores at Wesleyan University, Middleton, Conn., a few nights since tried to buy off a band with which the freshmen were serenading President Beach. A fracas ensued, and the sophomores, who were armed with rotten eggs, besmeared their opponents badly.

At the wedding reception of Dr. Simon Denton of Hancock county, Ill., Sept. 23d, seventy guests were dangerously poisoned. The theory is that the drug was introduced into the water, of which they drank freely. Medical aid was summoned and antidotes administered. Some of the guests were alarmingly ill and vomited blood, but no deaths have yet occurred.

A. A. Chase, editor of the Scranton, Pa., Times, was arrested Thursday for libelling D. W. Connolly, candidate for Congress, in his paper. He was held under bail.

The schooner Mary E., of Gloucester, Mass., Madson master, arrived at that port on the 22d inst. from a halibuting cruise to Greenland; she was the only vessel engaged in that fishery this season, the other vessels that strated being driven back by the ice early in June. Capt. Madson reports very severe weather at Greenland, interfering with the fishery operations, but he obtained a moderate fare of fletched halibut, which will command a good price, and the vessel will stock about $6,000.

Fishing schooner George Clark, Jr., arrived at Gloucester on the 23d inst., and reports that two of her crew, Michael Condon and John Proctor, left the vessel on the 16th inst. to visit trawls, and did not return. Condon has a wife in Gloucester; Proctor belongs in Nova Scotia.

Political Notes.

The returns from all the counties in Arkansas except one, and official from all but one of the counties received, give T. J. Churchill, democrat, for governor, 83,975 votes, and W. P. Parks, greenbacker, 31,530.

The accidental bursting of a mail bag in the Washington post office, supposed to contain franked matter from the democratic campaign committee, disclosed the fact that the committee had been grossly violating the law. Nine packages were received Tuesday, containing matter wrapped in four-pound packages, which was discovered to be democratic campaign literature, no part of which had appeared in the Congressional Record, together with vast quantities of blank envelopes. Under frank of S. S. Cox, a bag full of empty envelopes, in packages of five hundred were recently received. The penalty for attempting to defraud the mail in this way is $300 for each offense.

Naval Gazette.

The findings of the court which investigated the fire in the ropewalk at the Charlestown navy yard have been sent to Washington. It is understood that the superintendent, Mr. Weber, is exonerated from all blame, and that overheated boxes and shafting had nothing to do with the origin of the fire.

Pay Inspector W. W. Williams, is detached from duty as inspector of provisions and clothing at the Washington navy yard, and ordered to the Trenton as fleet paymaster of the European station, relieving Pay Inspector F. C. Crosby, who will return home.

Lieut. Andrew Dunlap is detached from the Powhatan, and placed on waiting orders. Lieut. J. N. Hemphill is ordered from the naval observatory to the Powhatan. Lieut. E. S. Prime is ordered to the Yantic.

British Shipwrecks.

A British parliamentary "Blue Book," just issued, gives a list of British ships which have been reported to the board of trade as having foundered or as missing between Jan. 1, 1873, and May 17, 1880, together with summaries showing the tonnage of the ships lost in each year, the trades in which they were engaged, the description of cargo with which they were laden, and the number of lives lost. The grain-laden vessels lost within this period were 256, with a tonnage of 132,536, and the lives lost were 2,443. Of coal-laden vessels 534 were lost, tonnage 196,974, and 2,779 lives. Of vessels laden with metals and metallic ores, 124 were lost, tonnage 38,808, with a sacrifice of 369 lives. Of timber-laden ships 178 were lost, tonnage 84,290, and 675 lives. Of vessels laden with other cargoes 518 were lost, tonnage 141,661, with a loss of 1,855 lives. Under the head of "General" the number of vessels lost was 162, with a tonnage of 85,025, and 2,106 lives. Of vessels in ballast 183 have been lost, tonnage 51,659, and 495 lives. The unknown a re ten in number, tonnage 3,231, and 104 lives. The total number of vessels lost was 1,965, tonnage 729,194, and no fewer than 10,827 lives.

Men, Women, and Money.

In any true view of marriage the man and the woman are necessarily partners, in the fullest sense of the term. Their interests, financial and other, are identical. They have one home, one family, one life, and what affects one, does the other equally. Their business in life has two sides to it. Upon one side, money must be earned in some sort of active business for the support of the common household, for the education of the children, and for their proper settlement in life. Something must be provided, also, for the maintenance of the family in the event of the death of the money-earning member of the household. This part of the work belongs to the man, because nature has fitted men for its performance.

On the other side, a different, but by no means less important, task is set. A home must be made where life may be pleasant, and wholesome, and profitable, where the children may grow pure in mind, where characters may be formed for life, where the domestic affections may have full play for the amelioration of life, and for the growth alike of father, mother and children in all that goes to make life worth living. This home-making and home-ruling belong by nature and right to the wife. How helpless a man is to accomplish it, every man and woman know by observation. A well ordered, wholesome home is something that money will not buy, something that cannot be hired. The importance of its creation and maintenance in the life work of man and wife is not second to that of bread-winning, and will never be so while the truth remains that man does not live by bread alone.

The woman who faithfully discharges her functions, does her full half of the joint work of man and wife, and as her husband is not less concerned than she in the results of her success, so she is equally concerned with him in the successful management of his part of the common task. The home that woman makes is not hers alone, but is the common possession of the pair; and on the other hand, the fruits of the man's labor are equally a common possession. If loss comes, it is the loss of both. Ruin in business affects both, as ruin in the household does.

It is an utter and lamentable misconception, therefore, to regard the wife as a beneficiary or dependent of the husband, or to regard the money that she uses as a gift from him, it is her money as well as his, and in spending it she spends her own. If two men are engaged in business together as copartners, the one conducting the active operations while the other keeps the books, nobody thinks of regarding the book-keeping member of the firm as a dependent upon the other, although he actually brings in none of the money returns of the business.

This is the only view of the relations of husband and wife which sound reason can take, and it is the view actually taken, we are persuaded, by the great body of reasonable husbands and wives.—N. Y. Post.

"It is Not My Business."

A wealthy man in St. Louis was asked to aid in a series of temperance meetings, but he scornfully refused. After being pressed, he said:

"Gentlemen, it is not my business."

A few days after, his wife and two daughters were on the lightning express. In his grand carriage, with liveried attendants, he rode to the depot, thinking of his splendid business, and planning for the morrow. Hark! did some one say "Accident?" There are twenty-five railroads centering in St. Louis. If there has been an accident, it is not likely it has occurred on the——and Mississippi railroad. The horses are stopped on the instant, and upon inquiry he finds that it occurred twenty-five miles distant on the——and Mississippi. He telegraphs to the superintendent:

"It will give you five hundred dollars for an extra engine."

The answer flashes back, "No!"

"I will give one thousnd dollars for an engine."

"A train with surgeons and nurses has already gone forward, and we have no other."

With white face and anxious brow, the man paced the station to and fro. That is his business now. In a half hour, perhaps, which seemed to him a half century, the train arrived. He hurried toward it, and in the tender found the mangled, lifeless forms of his wife and one of his daughters. In the car following lay his other daughter, with her dainty ribs crushed in and her precious life oozing slowly away.

A pint of whisky, which was drank fifty miles away by a railroad employe, was the cause of the catastrophe.

Who dares say of this tremendous question, "It is not my business."

Who can deny the superior healing and curative powers of the Day Kidney Pad that have given it a fair and impartial trial?

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

REV. SYLVANUS COBB thus writes in the Boston Christian Freeman:—We would by nó means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colic pains, quiet sleep, and the parents unbroken rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." And during the process of teething, its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say that they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething stage, on any considerations whatever. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle. 5

A BRAVE LADY!

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation without Taking Chloroform.

(From the Courier.)

Mrs. Schoonover, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely loose the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skeleton. In this terrible strait, she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, New York, who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The "Favorite Remedy" is a priceless blessing to woman. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

AROUND HOME.

The greenbackers of Portsmouth met in their hall last Thursday evening, and chose delegates to the state convention appointed to meet at Manchester on the 29th inst.

The steamer Knickerbocker, Atkins master, of Bath, Me., arrived at this port on Friday, and sailed again the same evening with the schooner Parker M. Hooper in tow, bound to the Kennebec to load ice.

Messrs. D. H. Montgomery and Wm. A. Loyne are delegates from this city to the state convention of the Young Men's Christian Association, at Pittsfield, and leave for that place this morning to represent the work in this vicinity.

Hon. F. W. Miller, the energetic editor of the Portsmouth Weekly, which he has made a great success, was taken down several days ago by some severe stomachic disorder, and confined to his bed; we are pleased to hear that he is improving, though slowly.

A milk-wagon owned by Isaac Stockbridge of Exeter, and driven by a young man named Smith, was partially wrecked in that town some weeks ago by "cradle-holes" in the road. The case has been settled by the town, which pays $62.50 in full for all claims.

At the brokers' board in Boston, Friday, $1000 in Eastern railroad 4 1-2 per cent bonds sold at ninety-one, and $500 at par; $6000 in Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway bonds sold at 80 1-4; twenty-five shares of Eastern railroad stock brought $28.75 per share.

The News-Letter of the 24th inst. says: "The members of the Exeter Sportsmen's club will have an excursion, Sept. 29th, probably to Gerrish's island, where the annual pigeon shoot will be held. The steamer Lottie has been chartered, and one of the best times is expected."

Blanche Sherwood, the child actress, who has appeared on the stage at Music hall as "Topsy" in Uncle Tom's Cabin, in which part she displayed wonderful dramatic power for one so young, and also as a member of a juvenile opera company, has been engaged to act with Frank Mayo's combination during the coming season.

The chairman of the meeting at which the Garfield & Arthur battalion was organized on Friday, remarked in closing a brief address that to ensure the success of a cause its advocates must enter into it with enthusiasm, and that lively and demonstrative speakers always elicited applause. He then called upon Alderman Noyes for a speech.

At the republican convention for the 22d (Newmarket) senatorial district, Samuel A. Haley of Newmarket was nominated as candidate for state senator. Mr. Haley is one of the most successful business men in the county, having been cashier of the Newmarket bank since its organization; he has been treasurer of the county of Rockingham, assistant assessor and afterward assessor of his district, and is now chairman of the board of selectmen of Newmarket.

Some of the democrats who attended the party's senatorial convention in the 23d district, are inclined to grumble, asserting that the delegates had no real choice as to who should be the nominee of the convention. They say that Mr. Jones sent orders for Lafayette Hall to be nominated, just the same as though he owned the democratic party. Well, what if he did? He does own the democratic party of New Hampshire, and the growlers may as well become quietly reconciled to that fact, before they are made to be.

At a fully attended meeting of the Garfield & Arthur Battalion, held in their armory Friday evening, the following officers were elected: Captain, Wallace Hackett; 1st Lt., H. Davis Smith; 2d Lt., Charles E. Hatch. Captain, William R. Foster; 1st Lt., William A. Hodgdon; 2d Lt., Edward A. Hall—of their respective companies. Several very effective speeches were made and much enthusiasm was aroused. The company officers were chosen a committee to naminate a commander, and other officers for the approval of the battalion at a meeting to be held next Tuesday evening.

There was a slight frost on Thursday night last, the first of the season in this immediate vicinity.

The police of Exeter have notified bicycle riders to keep off the sidewalks, under pain of prosecution.

The soldiers and sailors of the late war residing in Exeter and vicinity, have formed themselves into a company called the Garfield & Arthur Veterans.

The man who attends Music hall when a musical entertainment is given, and keeps time to the music by swinging his leg while his knee is pressed hard against the back of the seat in front of him, by which means he succeeds in destroying all pleasure for the occupant of that seat, we sincerely regret to say is not dead, and we fear he will not die very soon. He was at Music hall last Thursday evening. He is not so general a nuisance as the fellow who drums out the time with his foot to the annoyance of every decent person in the house, but he is a concentrated pest to the person so unfortunate as to sit next before him.

POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY, Sept. 24; Batchelder, J.

A young man who was arrested on the previous day, on a complaint made by a young woman that he had not dealt fairly by her, was brought into court and dismissed, the parties having agreed on a settlement.

A young girl about seventeen years old was complained of by her father as being a stubborn child, whom he thought should be sent to the reform school. There was a great deal of evidence—or at least talk—offered, from which it appeared that the girl and her step-mother do not love each other either wisely or too well; but the end of it all was that the case was dismissed.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

There was a pigeon-murdering match near Eliot depot on Thursday last, the perpetrators being "sporting men" from Boston.

The democrats of Eliot had a rally last Thursday evening, with music by the South Berwick band, and speeches by Major David Urch and Hon. Daniel Marcy of this city.

Mr. Benjamin Rogers, one of the best citizens of York, met with a serious accident on Tuesday last, while engaged in drawing a load of iron from Eliot depot to his home. As the team was ascending Frost hill, the load became disarranged, and Mr. Rogers attempting to keep it in place, a bar of iron fell upon him, fracturing his right leg between the knee and ankle.—Journal.

Spiritualism.

Mrs. C. A. Mansfield is in town, and brought with her three of the best mediums in the world. They will appear at Franklin hall, Monday evening, Sept. 27th, and show the people of Portsmouth some wonderful spirit power in full gas light. These manifestations are genuine, endorsed by the press and the public wherever they have appeared. The following are some of the tests that usually take place in the presence of these mediums: The many forms that appear around them are truly wonderful and seen by all present, they stand beside you, converse with you as in life, and are recognized by their friends. A table is raised four or five feet and floats in mid air, a guitar is played and passed around the room by the invisible power, and a great many other manifestations take place in the presence of these wonderful mediums, that will convince everybody who attends. Come early; the doors will be closed as soon as the seats are full. All are invited. Doors open at seven o'clock, commence at eight.

Fate of Sir John Franklin's Party.

The arrival at New Bedford, Mass., is announced of the expedition headed by Lieut. Frederick Schwatka, which sailed from New York June 19th, 1878, for Hudson's bay and King William's Land, for the purpose of seeking further data upon the fate of Sir John Franklin. Though unsuccessful in the special object of the search, which was the recovery of the records of the Franklin expedition, which according to Esquimaux testimony were believed to exist at a specified point that had not been attained, the explorers nevertheless obtained many relics of the Franklin party, including the remains of Lieut. Irving. They have, moreover, carried out to the letter the instructions of the promoter of the expedition, Mr. Morrison, to make it a geographical success. They brought away, with other relics of the Franklin expedition, the prow of one of their boats, the sledge upon which it was transported, and part of the drag-rope upon which the poor fellows tugged until they fell down and died in their tracks. In addition to these, the party secured a board which may serve to identify the ship which completed the northwest passage. The party also brought the remains of Lieut. Irving, the third officer of the Terror, which were identified by the prize medal found in his opened grave.

The party were threatened with starvation, after their return to Hudson bay, Capt. Barry of the schooner Eothen having previously left for home, carrying with him the much needed supplies for the search expedition. The party was picked up by Capt. Michael Baker of the bark George & Mary, of New Bedford, at Depot island, Aug. 1st, they having returned to that point from their sledge journey to King William Land on the 4th of March of the present year. The sledge journey was the longest ever made through the unexplored Arctic region, both as to time and distance, the party having been absent from their base of operations in Hudson bay eleven months and four days. During that time they travelled 2,819 geographical, or 3,251 statute miles. It was the only sledge journey ever made that covered an entire Arctic winter. During the summer and fall of 1879 they made a complete search of King William Land, and the adjacent mainland, travelling over the route pursued by the crews of the Erebus and Terror upon their retreat toward Back's river, and while so engaged the party buried the bones of all those unfortunates remaining above ground, and erected monuments to the memory of the fallen heroes.

Their research established the fact that the records of Franklin's expedition are lost beyond recovery. The Natchilli Esquimaux, who had found a sealed tin box, about two feet long and one foot square, filled with books, at a point on the main land near Back's river, where the last of the survivors of Franklin's party are supposed to have perished, were interviewed by Lieut. Schwatka. The natives broke open the box and threw out the precious records, which were then either scattered to the winds of thirty Arctic winters, or destroyed by children who took them into their tents for playthings. This point was not only searched by Lieut. Schwatka's party, but by nearly the entire Natchilli nation, inspired by a promise of a great reward for the discovery of any remnant of the books or papers. This search failed to discover any of the records, but resulted in the finding of the skeleton of a sailor about five miles inland. Its existence was previously unknown even to the local tribes. Every native who could impart any information concerning the lost crew was hunted up and interviewed. Some of them had not seen a white man since Capt. Crozier's party was there. Much valuable information as to the loss of the Franklin records was compiled. It also made known that one of Franklin's ships drifted down the Victoria straits, and was unwittingly scuttled by the Ookjoolik Esquimaux, who found it near an island off Grant point during the spring of 1849. At that time one man was lying dead in the steerage; and during the same year the natives saw tracks of four white men in the spring snows on the main land.

—A scene in a picture gallery shows a "model model" in a man who serves as a model for an artist, and in the artist's absence explains the picture to a lady visitor. "From whom did Mr. McGlip paint that head?" "From yours obediently, madam. I sit for the 'eds of all 'is 'oly men." "He must find you a very useful person." "Yes, madam; I order his frames, stretch his canvas, wash all his brushes, set his palette and mix his colors. All he's got to do is to shove 'em on."

New Hampshire Items.

The Plymouth water company has been unable to commence operations on the water works, as the party owning land next below them refuses to allow the water to be turned from its natural channel. The company will be obliged to stand a lawsuit, or wait till next June for a charter from the legislature.

There is a peat bog at Plaistow, from which the Boston & Maine Railroad is obtaining fuel for the dummy engine used on the mill tracks at Lawrence.

A daughter of George C. Brock of Bristol, three years old, while playing on the bank of Newfound river, Thursday, fell into the water and was drowned.

Asa Knight has won a verdict of $600 against the city of Nashua for injuries received in falling into a cellar hole in Barker's building. The opening was not guarded in any way, and the Telegraph says there are many similar ones in the city. A cheap rail would have saved the city a large bill.

On Monday evening, Sept. 20th, the neighbors and friends of Hon. John Proctor and wife, of Andover, met by invitation at the Proctor house in that village, to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of the couple. Some three hundred persons were present.

Hon. Sylvanus Hewes, the oldest man in Lyme, died recently at the age of ninety-one years. He was an excellent citizen, and greatly respected by all who knew him. Mr. Hewes was a member of the state senate in 1845.

—"Like to go barefoot, bub?" inquired a kindly gentleman of a tough-soled gamin. "Yezzur, most always, sir. No snide of a boot-black yelling at yer, 'Have er shine?' Going barefoot is the racket. Ow, ow." He had just stepped on a hot coal from a tinman's furnace standing on the sidewalk, and his subsequent remarks were a revelation of the wonderful command of language in one so young.—New Haven Register.

KIDNEY WORT

THE ONLY MEDICINE

That Acts at the Same Time on THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, and the KIDNEYS.

These great organs are the natural cleansers of the system. If they work well, health will be perfect; if they become clogged, dreadful diseases are sure to follow.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING.

Biliousness, Headache, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Constipation and Piles, Kidney Complaints, Gravel, Diabetes, Sediment in the Urine, Milky or Ropy Urine; or Rheumatic Pains and Aches, are developed because the blood is poisoned with the humors that should have been expelled naturally.

KIDNEY-WORT

Will restore the healthy action and all these sufferings will be banished. Kidney-Wort cures now with the same power as it has done in the past.

Thousands have been cured. Try it and you will add your testimony to the many others in health who consider it a blessed gift.

Why suffer longer from the torment of an aching back?

Why bear such distress from Constipation and Piles?

Why be so fearful because of disordered urine?

Kidney-Wort will cure you. Try it and see if it does not.

It is dry, prepared vegetable, and one Package will make six quarts of Medicine.

They prefer it to any other dry or liquid medicine. Invest upon trying it. Price $1.25.

HUNT'S REMEDY

CURES WHEN ALL OTHER MEDICINES FAIL, as it acts directly on the Kidneys, Liver, and Bowels, restoring them at once to healthy action. HUNT'S REMEDY is a safe, sure and speedy cure, and hundreds have testified to having been cured by it when physicians and friends had given them up to die. Do not delay, but at once HUNT'S REMEDY.

Send for pamphlet to

WM. F. CLARKE, Providence, R. I.

Prices, 75 cents and $1.25. Large size the cheapest. Ask your druggist for HUNT'S REMEDY. Take no other.

TRADE MARK

DAY'S Kidney PAD

A discovery which cures by the natural process.

ABSORPTION.

all diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System, when nothing else can. It is comfortable to the patient, positive in its effects, and the first one for those painful and much dreaded affections,

Diabetes and Bright's Disease,

while its cures of Gravel, Dropsy, Catarrh of the Bladder, Brickdust Deposit, Painful Urinating, High-Colored Urine, Nervous Weakness and Pain in the Back seem more like miracles than cases of natural healing.

DELICATE FEMALES

or victims of wasted or prostrated energies, caused by irregular habits, the abuse of nature and mental or physical over-exertion, find their greatest relief in the use of DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, which strengthens and invigorates the invalid and restores the vigor of health.

PAIN IN THE BACK.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the only certain and permanent cure for every form of this prevalent and distressing complaint.

YOUNG MEN

suffering from nervous and physical debility, loss of memory, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or to close application to business or work, may be restored and manhood regained.

Avoid all kidney medicines which are taken into the system by way of the stomach; it is an old treatment well tried and proven ineffectual, though sometimes effecting apparent cures of one complaint, they sow the seeds of more troublesome and permanent disorders. The price of our Pad brings it within the reach of all, and it will annually save many times its cost in doctors' bills, medicines and plasters, which at best give but temporary relief. It can be used without fear or harm, and the certainty of a permanent cure. For sale by druggists generally, or sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of the price. Regular Pad, $2.00; Child's Pad (for incontinence of urine in children), $1.50. Special (extra size), $3.00. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving a history of this new discovery and a large record of most remarkable cures sent free. Write for it. Address

DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., Toledo, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on the reputation of our genuine article, we deem it advisable to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, and take no other.

THE

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, or SELF-PRESERVATION; Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail post-paid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Times says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, which are due to pernicious habits or inherited. He is a Nervo specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.

LIEBIG CO'S COCA BEEF TONIC.

Highest Medals. Indorsed and Prescribed by Medical Men of all Schools.

Professor Duncan Campbell, M.D., LL.D., President Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, etc., etc., says: "It has more than realized my expectations."

Professor J. M. Carnochan, M.D., Professor of Surgery New York Medical College, says: "My patients derive marked and decided benefit from it."

Professor H. Goullon, M.D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Saxony; Knight of the Holy Cross, etc., says: "It gives more tone than anything I have ever prescribed."

Sir Robert Christison, M.D., LL.D., F.R.S., Physician to her Majesty the Queen; President Royal British Association, etc., etc., says: "The properties of the Coca are the most remarkable of any known to the medical world. From repeated personal trials I am convinced that its use is highly beneficial and tonic."

Valuable in malaria; ague; malarial debility; dumb ague; low fever; marasmus; paralytic; spinal and nervous affections; female weaknesses; bilious and liver affections; weak throats; palpitation and other affections of the heart; epilepsy or falling sickness; weakness of the voice of actors, singers, public speakers and clergymen; colic; flatulency; sea sickness; falling out of the hair; asthma; shortness of breath; wasting diseases; etc., etc. It is gratefully refreshing and restorative after prolonged mental and physical strain. It is pleasant and agreeable, and is readily retained by the most delicate stomach. Dr. Mollenn (British Medical Journal) found it of great service in consumption. Baron von Humboldt says he has never known a case of consumption or asthma among those accustomed to its use, and that they live to a great age, retaining their mental and physical faculties to the last (Cosmos).

Repairing the White House.

During President Hayes' two months' absence a portion of the executive mansion at Washington is having a thorough overhauling at the hands of an army of workmen. The improvements to the mansion are confined to the lower floor, as the late democratic congress refused to appropriate sufficient money to repair the very dilapidated condition of the floors above, where repairs are most sadly needed. There are cracks in the wall of one room large enough to admit a person's finger, and in the room occupied by Secretary Pruden and his clerks the gilt mouldings are dropping off and the enameled paper has peeled off in patches here and there. Neither paint nor plaster has been used in these rooms since Gen. Grant's first term.

The work now progressing in the main corridor and vestibule is devoted to laying a flooring of English tiles in bright colors and attractive designs, and in preparing for it the alarming discovery was made that the brick arches, supposed to support the main floor, had settled two feet, and stout beams of wood had been forced up through the chimney flues, and laid across, so as to render the flooring safe. As long as these beams lasted the support was ample, but where they came in contact with the flues they were blackened and dangerously charred from the heat, proving that it was only a matter of time for them to separate, and bring the floor down by the force of their fall. The billiard room has been abolished, and now forms a part of the conservatory, the wood work of which is being entirely replaced, and besides enlarging it somewhat, it will be completely regilded. The main portion of the mansion, made unsightly by cobwebs, falling plaster, and other marks of decay, will be thoroughly repaired, and paint will be liberally applied where required.

That Strange Old Passion.

The supper table of Nantasket beach, says a letter writer, to the "lookers-on in Vienna" was a pleasant and amusing sight. A young gentleman of twelve was seated beside a blonde of ten, to whom he was distractedly attentive.

"Do you like chocolate?" asked she.

"No," was the reply.

"Oh, I do," from the little woman.

"Then I shall adore it," from her admirer.

The flirtation made such rapid progress that soon one spoon was found sufficient for the two. Subsequently I saw this couple seated apart from the hollow crowd, "far in a wild," jammed into a corner, with the boy declaring in a burst of passionate emotion that he never, never would love any other than the listening angel in the whole wide world—a declaration which I am confident was artfully drawn out by the skillful maneuvres of the coquette.

"Under the Weather."

How many people drag through life about half ill, never really sick, but always miserable and doing their work in a listless, reluctant way. Uncharitable people call it laziness, but it is really sickness. It dulls the keen edge of pleasure and kills the zeal of living. All this results from impure blood. A bottle of Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" will transform such sufferers into new creatures cleansing the blood and toning up the system. Hundreds are now living healthy and happy lives who never knew a "well day" till they took Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." Sold by all druggists, $1.00 a bottle. Dr. David Kennedy, Proprietor, Rondout, N. Y.

—A little girl who had seen an advertisement of an aquapult, and was told by her teacher that it was a machine for throwing water, naturally and innocently inquired if a catapult was a machine for throwing cats.

I would say to my friends, and all who chance to read this, that I have used Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam in my family for a long time, and consider it a very valuable medicine. It cures when all other remedies fail, and I would cheerfully recommend it to those afflicted with coughs, colds, asthma, etc.

E. S. GETCHELL, Augusta, Maine.

—There has been an unusually short catch of sardines across the water this season, and out of 2000 cases ordered by Boston importers only 600 have been received. The American market requires a smaller fish than the English, but the fish this year run large, and no fish have yet been caught in any quantity fit to pack for this market, so that the orders that have been sent out may be filled in the larger sizes, and the endeavor made to make them popular.

No wonder the people have confidence, when the best physicians are prescribing Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in all cases of coughs, colds, etc.

—"A man recently died in New Orleans from eating matches," showing that eating matches may be as fatal as starving or walking matches.

The careworn and overworked find comfort and strength in Malt Bitters.

—The London Times says that the Russian nihilists carry about their persons the types with which they do their printing. If it is necessary to issue a proclamation or other document, the compositors meet in secret, and in the quickest possible way put in type the manuscript, and then print it from a hand press. When the necessary number of copies is ready, the press is taken to pieces and put into the pockets of the conspirators, who immediately return to their homes.

The best blood purifier in the world is D. R. V. G. Dyspepsia remedy. Guaranteed by your own druggist.

The Narragansett Disaster.

The officers who investigated the steamer Narragansett disaster, have forwarded their report to Gen. Dumont.

They find, after a careful review of all testimony and the circumstances of the collision, that George F. Nye, master of the Stonington, did (or through his pilot,) alter the course of the Naragansett without giving proper signals as required; that he failed to stop his steamer without properly locating the Naraganset, or until proper signals could be given, answered, and understood as required; upon sighting the Narragansett, through carelessness or forgetfulness the signal was given to start the steamer, which caused the collision. Upon his own admission there was found in Capt. Nye a disposition to totally disregard the law as far as it relates to the conveyance and transportation of a greater number of passengers than is allowed by law, and in consequence thereof he is liable to the penalty prescribed by section 4,413 for violation of the pilot rules, and that also his license as master and pilot would be revoked had it not already expired by limitation.

The inspectors find that Capt. Young, master of the Narragansett, proceeded upon his trip without the engineer's department of his steamer being in charge of a chief engineer as required by law; that while claiming to be in charge of the whole of his steamer and responsible for her navigation, upon sighting the Stonington and after the signal had been given to slow and stop, through carelessness or excitement the signals were given to go ahead, thereby forcing his steamer across the track of the Stonington and contributing to the collision of the two steamers. Capt. Young is also charged with poor judgment for leaving his steamer in a lifeboat with his pilot so soon after the collision, with so many passengers remaining on board, and in consequence of this and other violations his license as master and pilot of steam vessels is revoked.

The steamship company is censured for not providing the Narragansett with a complement of licensed engineers, and the number of watchmen required by law.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 23d.

A letter was received in this city yesterday, from a readjuster leader of Petersburg, Virginia, stating that another conference of conservatives would be held in that state at about the time of the Ohio and Indiana elections, October 12th. No opinion was expressed as to the probable result, and nothing was said as to the influences which brought about the conference.

Representative Acklen, of Louisiana, who has been recently twice defeated for renomination, is here. He will make no terms with the regularly nominated democratic candidate in his district, except that they both retire from the contest. It is needless to say that no member of congress, republican or democratic, cares to have Acklen elected again.

It appears that the farmers are not willing to sell their grain at ruling prices. They are holding it back for higher figures, basing their expectations upon the prices of last year, when the European deficit was about 256,000,000 bushels and our surplus 180,000,000, bushels. This year our surplus is estimated at 200,000,000 bushels, and the European deficit at only 72,000,000, so it is quite plain that American farmers need not keep back their grain for the prices of last season. They can sell their grain at figures much below what they got for the last crop, and net a fair profit. And they will have to content themselves with that, this year.

The return of the fall season (chronologically at least) is only apparent through the influx of visiting strangers to this city. From now on, sheepish bridal couples will be seen on the streets and at the several points of interest in Washington; not only these, but some who generally wait for autumn for their season of recreation. Just now the Smithsonian Institute seems to be the special attraction for visitors. It is estimated that for the past week the average of visiting strangers have aggregated two hundred daily. Many are disappointed because the new museum, which is to be filled with many familiar contributions from the centennial, and the many curiosities Uncle Sam has gathered in the past century, is not open to the public. The building itself is completed, save the floor and the introduction of heating appliances. The appropriation having been exhausted, it is probable the flooring will not be laid until next spring, and the building will not be formally opened until that time.

One of the features of the Smithsonian collection which is now attracting more than passing attention is the grouped photographic collection of the eminent scientists of the world. Included herein are also the photographs of the correspondents of the Institute. It is a study to analyze these faces. They differ as the lights and shades of a picture, and yet in each face there is to be found some marked characteristic. It would seem for one thing that scientific men as a rule are blondes, and have blue eyes.

News and Notes.

James Behan and son of Ticonderoga, N. Y., while attempting to cross the railroad track ahead of an approaching train, Friday, were struck and instantly killed.

A gentleman who arrived in New York by the Pizarro, says that a telegram from Lima was received at Chimbote before the steamer left there, saying that the Chilians again bombarded Callao, Aug. 31st.

At Amherstburg, Ontario, where dredging was going on, 300 pounds of Hercules powder exploded on board of a glycerine scow, Friday. One man was seriously injured. The scow was blown to atoms. The Canada Southern depot, and coaches in the yard, were badly shaken.

The boiler in Loose & Sons' fruit drying house at Monroe, Mich., exploded with terrific violence Friday, killing Henry O'Brien, the engineer, Leonard Martin, cutter, and a boy named Cheveman, and wounding nine others. Thirty persons were at the time around the building, which was demolished.

Schooner Greyhound brings to San Francisco news of a revolt of natives against the French in the island of Dominica, of the Marquessa group. Several whites and natives were killed. The white inhabitants fortified themselves as well as possible, but were on the point of surrendering when relieved by a French gunboat from Nukahiva, and the insurrection suppressed.

Six convicts at work half a mile from the Idaho penitentiary overpowered the guard, Friday, obtained their arms, and fled. The guards and soldiers pursued them, and a running fight followed. One convict was mortally wounded, but the others escaped. Sergt. Nottingham of Co. F. First Cavalry, was severely wounded. One of the guards, and an emigrant who happened to be present, were also wounded.

Marie Roze, the celebrated prima donna, sailed from London last Thursday on steamer City of Richmond, for New York, to fill her professional engagement with Strackosh. She is accompanied by her husband, Henry Mapleson.

John W. Patterson has been arrested at Potosi, Ill., for killing James G. Clark near Sedalia, Mo., twelve years ago. Patterson was arrested at the time, but bought his way out of jail, and, after wandering about Arkansas and Missouri for some years, finally settled down in Illinois, reformed, married a respectable woman under an assumed name, and went to work. He thought that his crime had been forgotten, but a letter found among the papers of Patterson's father after the old man's death, furnished the trail which led to his arrest, while digging a well.

The British gunboat Druid arrived at St. Pierre, Miquelon, Friday, and left next day for the west coast of Newfoundland. Bankers are arriving at St. Pierre daily, bringing in poor catches, and the last trip was almost a failure. Most of the fleet are preparing to leave St. Pierre for France.

George Shaw shot his wife while she was in bed, at Detroit, Mich., Thursday night, hitting her in the forehead, but inflicting only a slight wound. He then shot himself three times, and will probably die.

Gen. Grant says there is not a word of truth in the story that he was robbed by a private secretary of a valuable set of diamonds sent to him from Japan. No such present was ever sent to him, and he never met any such loss.

Charles Schneider, of Cincinnati, four years ago was book-keeper for John Grossins, and married his daughter. A few months ago Mrs. Schneider returned to her father's house with her three-years-old child, and her husband was refused admittance. Friday he forced his way into the house, knocked his wife down, and fired three shots at her, wounding her slightly in two places. He was locked up.

The unknown schooner reported sunk about three miles off Sandwich, Mass., has been examined by divers. She is a very old vessel, of about seventy-five tons register, and is breaking up fast. She had a deck load of bricks. The word Portland was on her stern, but her name could not be made out. Her boat had been cut from the davits, and probably sank between the vessel and the shore, as an empty boat drifted on the beach the day of the storm in which the schooner went down. No bodies were found. The schooner L. W. Peirce, sixty-five tons register, sailed from Portland for Boston about the time of the storm, with a load of bricks, and has not arrived at Boston; she was leaky before starting, and some of her crew deserted; the schooner off Sandwich is supposed to be this one.

Alfred Smith, correspondent of the California Associated Press at Sierra City, Cal., was murdered on Wednesday of last week. His brains were beaten out with rocks, and the body deposited in his house, which was fired. Thomas Devine, his next neighbor, with whom the deceased had a long-standing lawsuit over a land title, has been arrested for the crime. The deceased was a native of Herkimer county, N. Y.

The schooner Martha C., of Gloucester, Mass., arrived at that port on Friday from a trip to the banks. Capt. Charles Martin, master of the schooner, reports that his vessel was twice boarded by hostile parties of Newfoundlanders, Aug. 2d and Aug. 29th, while the crew were engaged in jigging for squid, and fishing operations forbidden. The invaders threatened on the latter occasion to drive the vessel from the grounds. Capt. Martin dared them to interfere with him, and continuing to fish, was not further molested. He reports hearing that several Newfoundlanders had been arrested by the local authorities for unlawful interference with American fishermen.

Naval Gazette.

Leave of absence has been granted to Comdr. G. C. Remey for one month, to Pay Inspector C. H. Eldredge for the same time, and to Surgeon Theoron Woolverton for two weeks.

Capt. R. S. Cullum, U. S. M. C., is granted leave of absence for thirty days.

The U. S. S. Tallapoosa, McRitchie, arrived at Boston on the 24th inst., from New York.

The training ship Constitution sailed from Delaware breakwater on the 23d, for sea.

The U. S. S. Despatch arrived at the Washington navy yard on the 22d inst., for repairs.

Entertaining Hancock Unawares.

A Titusville man, who appears to have no peace of mind unless he is talking politics, and very little then, returned from New York yesterday, and this story followed him on the next train:

He was riding in a street-car Saturday, and after having read all the signs in the car, turned to a fine-looking stranger on his right and said:

"Got a vote in the city, I suppose?"

"Yes, I vote in New York," replied the stranger.

"How's politics looking down here?"

"I hardly know; don't take much interest in politics myself."

"Things are booming all along the line for Hancock," suggested Titusville.

"Ah, indeed!"

"Fact. I never saw anything like it. Everybody is yelling Hancock and English. Made up your mind how you are going to vote?"

"I'm a democrat, like yourself," said the stranger, quietly, "but I guess I'll vote for Garfield this time."

"Oh, come, now," pleaded Titusville, hitching up a little closer in his earnestness; "don't go back on the best man we have ever had. Give us a boost."

"I would like mighty well to see a change; will vote the straight democratic ticket except Hancock. I can't—"

"Oh, yes, you can, though. Hancock's a superb statesman and soldier, and you know yourself that Garfield's a little off color in some respects."

"Yes, I know, but I guess I'll have to vote for him all the same."

The Titusville man couldn't understand why this should be, and pressed an explanation.

"You see," said the stranger, smiling pleasantly, "I met Mr. Garfield shortly after the nomination. We were bantering each other, like men will, you know, and he proposed to vote for me if I'd vote for him——"

"What!" exclaimed Titusville, "you are not General——"

"Yes," interrupted the stranger, "I am General Hancock, at your service."

The Titusville man immediately saw the resemblance to his published portraits, and apologized for not having recognized him the moment he entered the car; he certainly would have known him only that General Hancock was the last person he expected to see, etc.

After inviting Titusville to drop over to Governor's island and take dinner with him, the general bade him good-day, and left the car. The Titusville man watched his ideal statesman and soldier disappear in the tempestuous sea that flows along Broadway, and then he made the appalling discovery that his gold watch and chain had been stolen. While he was lamenting like Rachel for her children, the gentleman who looked like Hancock was perhaps explaining to his pals how he "nipped a yokel's ticker."—Titusville Herald.

A BRAVE LADY!

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation without Taking Chloroform.

(From the Courier.)

Mrs. Schoonmaker, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely loose the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, walking skeleton. In this terrible strait, she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, New York, who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The "Favorite Remedy" is a priceless blessing to woman. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

AROUND HOME.

Yacht Bonita, from Vinalhaven, Me., arrived at this port on Saturday for a load of apples.

Schooner [Josie Johnson, Hodgdon master, of Newburyport, arrived at this port on Saturday afternoon with ninety-one barrels of mackerel, caught to the eastward of York ledge.

The schooner Elizabeth M. Smith, of this port, Raymond master, bound from Weehawken for Fairhaven, Mass., put into Vineyard Haven on the 23d inst., leaking about fifty strokes an hour.

Among the arrivals in the lower harbor on Sunday was the sloop yacht Imperia, of Boston. There were eleven lumber-laden coasters anchored in "crooked lane," back of Clarke's island, Sunday evening, and about twenty in Pepperell's cove.

The republicans of this city will hold a meeting at the headquarters this (Monday) evening. Mr. John F. Coles of Boston, a veteran "Boy in blue," who accompanied Gen. Sherman in his march from Atlanta to the sea, will be present, and with others help make the meeting lively and interesting.

Some persons entered the hen house of Mr. John Banks, Saturday night, probably expecting to capture some valuable game fowls, which happened to be perched on a tree and so escaped the notice of the thieves. Mr. Banks is prepared to give them a warm reception on a second attempt, should one be made.

The big well of the Eastern railroad, near the depot in this city, was last week bottomed on a ledge at the depth of about twenty-five feet. Sinking operations were suspended, Friday and Saturday, owing to indications of a possible cave-in, and a stout curbing was put in position at the bottom on Saturday. No water supply worth mentioning had been struck up to Saturday night.

Daniel Wells of Newmarket, aged about eighty years, was found dead in the kitchen of the Shute house in that town on the morning of the 24th inst. He was employed in the hotel years ago, at the time it was conducted by Charles E. Smith; and when the latter purchased the Kimball house in Dover, Mr. Wells went with him to that city, and was employed in the stable of the hotel there.

The friends of Mr. Elbridge A. Batchelder, of Cambridgeport, Mass., proprietor of Batchelder's Baggage Transfer at the Eastern railroad depot in Boston, and formerly proprietor of the news-stand in this city sold by him to Moses Brothers, will regret to learn of his serious illness. He has been ailing for some time and has been quite feeble. On Wednesday of last week, while getting out of his carriage, he fell and sustained serious injuries, sine which accident he has been unconscious, and his recovery is doubtful.

From other places, since the presidential campaign commenced, we have had frequent reports of the throwing of stones and other missiles at political processions. We hope that our city will not be disgraced by any such displays of cowardly ruffianism, and that if any such contemptible acts are indulged in, the perpetrators may be detected and punished. In another column is a notice from Mayor Sise, warning all evil-disposed persons as to what they may expect in case they are caught thus interfering with the rights of others.

Marvin's cod-liver oil emulsion with the hypophosphites of lime and soda, is a preparation of cod-liver oil which does away with every possible objection to taking oil which the most delicate invalid can imagine. Mr. Marvin, who is a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association, has succeeded in solving the difficult problem which has vexed physicians and pharmacists so long, viz., how can cod-liver oil be rendered palatable and easy of administration? If the concurrent testimony of eminent physicians and our own sense of taste may be relied upon, the question is satisfactorily answered. The emulsion as prepared by Mr. Marvin is a very agreeable medicine, and is destined to revolutionize the old methods of administering that valuable remedial agent, cod-liver oil.

A white dove, which has been for some time a pet of the merchants of Daniel street, was run over on Saturday forenoon by a team, which severed its head from the body.

On Friday night, as the freight train from Portland which arrives in this city at midnight was approaching the station, the rear car jumped the track just after leaving the end of Portsmouth bridge, fortunately going off on the side farthest from the highway, as otherwise it would have gone down the embankment and possibly have caused serious damage to the train. The derailed car was hauled along over the sleepers for a considerable distance, finally stopping close to the Noble's island bridge. The delay was slight. On Saturday forenoon at about nine o'clock the shifting engine of the Eastern road ran off the track on Noble's island, owing to a misplaced switch; no harm was done.

A CLOSE SHAVE.

On Saturday afternoon at five o'clock, as the train from Dover was passing the Green street crossing, Capt. Daniel Trefethen came very near being run over, and would probably have been killed but for the promptness and courage of Mr. Barrett, the young man employed to flag the crossing.

Capt. Trefethen, who is eighty years of age and quite hard of hearing, was crossing the track on his way home, and neither saw nor heard the approaching train; and Mr. Barrett, (who has but one leg, having lost the other by a railroad accident when a boy,) seeing his peril, had barely time to spring foward, catch the old gentleman in his arms, and throw himself and his burden clear of the rails, both falling heavily to the ground as the locomotive went by. Capt. Trefethen, who was rendered unconscious by the fall, was picked up by Messrs. Daniel Littlefield and Wm. R. Martin, and on regaining his senses warmly thanked the plucky young fellow for saving his life.

This young man, Barrett, seems to get along better and do better on one leg than a good many men can on two, and we do not know as he would use an artificial leg if he had one; but we venture to suggest that if a dozen or so persons wanted to express in an appropriate manner their approbation of a brave and humane act performed under difficulties, they could do so by "chipping in" and presenting Mr. Barrett with an artificial limb of the most approved construction. We don't know as he would accept it, but we do know that he deserves it.

YORK COUNTY ITEMS.

The schooner D. K. Ham came off the railway at Kittery on Saturday, and went up the river. The schooner Mary S. Hontvet went on the ways Saturday afternoon.

Edward S. Marshall, proprietor of the Marshall house, at York, has commenced work on the projected addition to that favorite summer resort. It is to be seventy feet in length, and to project from the northerly wing toward the harbor.

The Biddeford Times says that "Gupper block, so called, at Salmon Falls, Me., was destroyed by fire at about nine o'clock on the night of the 23d inst. The house was two story, four tenement, and unoccupied, situated opposite the school house and within a stone's throw of the residence of N. M. Came, and owned by him. The fire started in the chambers; how, no one can tell. It has been suggested however that it was set on fire by the ghosts of that locality. One of the last occupants of this house was the celebrated 'Sal Dipper,' who was frightened away by a stroke of lightning received while a resident there."

Last Thursday evening the democrats of Eliot neck—men, women, children and families—turned out en masse to enjoy a "barbecue" and celebrate something, and paraded the town in a torchlight procession, preceded by the South Berwick band. After cheering the various democratic headquarters they all repaired to the town hall, and found there a "barbecue" of hot coffee, crackers and cheese, which they attacked and shattered, if they did not conquer. Whether this exhibition was intended as a celebration of the alleged greenback victory in Maine or not, your reporter cannot say. The total number of torches in the procession was forty-nine; woman without torches, not counted. Major Urch of Portsmouth read a speech, but the poor light in the hall somewhat detracted from the solemnity of the occasion by causing him to frequently lose his place.

BOILING ROCK.

Political Notes.

Gen. Hancock has written a letter in which he declares that if elected president he would veto any legislation which might come before him providing for the payment of any rebel claims of any kind whatever.

On a small Garfield and Arthur flag in Hooksett is this inscription: "Hancock is a good soldier, but we don't know about his statesmanship. Garfield is a good soldier, and we know he is also a statesman. Neither the rich nor the poor can afford to stop in the rushing stream of business to swap horses. Hurrah for Garfield and Arthur."

Solon Chase is deposed from the editorship of Chase's Enquirer by the proprietors, because he will not endorse the fusion sell-out in Maine.

—A Galveston school teacher had a great deal of trouble making a boy understand his lesson. Finally, however, he succeeded, and drawing a long breath, remarked to the boy, "If it wasn't for me you would be the biggest donkey on Galveston island."—Galveston News.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

REV. SYLVANUS COBB this writes in the Boston Christian Freeman:—We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing indeed, by giving an infant troubled with colic pains, quiet sleep, and the parents unbroken rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." And during the process of teething, its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say that they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething siege, on any considerations whatever. Sold by all druggists. 25 cents a bottle. 5

Remarkable Cures of Kidney Diseases.

Mr. L. Jackson of Boston, an extensive produce dealer, was persuaded to give the Kidney-Wort a trial. He writes July 21st, for more and says:—

"I used most of one package myself last winter. I had soreness across my kidneys and my water would turn milky after standing a short time. The Kidney-Wort cured me. I gave some of it to a lady who had for a long time been obliged to make water every half hour or less, and suffered much from irritation of the urinary organs, and it cured her. About two months ago, I gave some of the medicine to a gentleman who is foreman in a sewing machine manufactory in Boston. I met him last Thursday, and he told me he was using the third package, and that the night before he laid all night without getting up to make water, a thing he had not done before for more than fifteen years. He says it has done more for him than all he has ever taken before, and he has paid out more than a thousand dollars for medicine. It is evident from these facts, that Kidney-Wort is a great thing for the kidney and urinary organs.

—"Do you get any holidays in your office?" asked a returned divine of a cheery-looking worker in secular walks. "Oh, yes, we get a day to get buried on."

The Red Mark.

You have seen persons afflicted with erysipelas? Well, it is an awful thing. It disfigures the face almost beyond recognition, and is as dangerous as it is repulsive. It often causes sudden death, and is sometimes called "St. Anthony's Fire." Mr. S. B. Carpenter, of Grandville, N. Y., had it in both legs, and was cured by the use of Dr David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." His health is now perfect. Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy," is the very life of the blood. It cannot hurt you and is sure to help. Tell your neighbors so. Get it of your druggist, or write to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y., enclosing one dollar for a bottle.

—And now it is American whiskey that is being exported to England. Slowly, but surely, we are paying off that Alabama score.

Parties sick and afflicted run no risk in buying D. R. V. G. Guaranteed by your druggist to give satisfaction, or money refunded. Try it.

A Remarkable Shipwreck.

The history of one of the most remarkable of modern shipwrecks can now be written in full. On the 8th of April last the steamship America, of 2,500 tons, left Southampton, Eng., for Madeira and the Cape, having on board fifty-eight passengers. On the morning of the 23d the shaft of the propeller broke, and the vessel foundered. She went down rapidly, but the crew had been regularly drilled in the launching and equipment of the boats, and all the preparations to quit her were made without panic, confusion or wasting of precious time. The passengers had all abandoned their baggage, but each was allowed to carry one change of clothing on his arm; and after the captain,—the last man to leave the vessel,—had made a careful inspection to satisfy himself that there was no one left behind, the little flotilla of eight boats stood by the America till she sank, and then headed for the African coast, some two hundred miles distant. On the 25th, three of them were in sight of land when they were picked up by the Glasgow steamer Congo; an American bark, the Emma Herriman, saved three more, and a seventh fell in with a German schooner, the Moltke, bound for Madeira. There remained to be accounted for the dingy, containing seven of the crew, and after a gunboat had been sent out in search of her without obtaining any tidings, she was given up as lost. Three months after the shipwreck, however, on the 21st of July, the men were landed in the Portuguese settlement of Loanda, having doubtless been picked up soon after the wreck by a Portuguese coaster, as it is hardly to be imagined that so small a craft should have made its way from a point 250 miles southwest of Cape Palmas to Loanda, 1,200 miles away across the Gulf of Guinea. The passengers saved by the Herriman proceeded on their way in another steamship, which also was wrecked, and in this second disaster one of their number, Mr. Paterson, a distinguished South African statesman, perished, the only person from the America that lost his life. Of course the shipwrecked men had remarkably good luck throughout; but still it was such a model shipwreck, the crew were so well trained and disciplined and the boats so staunch and well prepared, that it must be admitted they deserved their fair fortune after the catastrophe.

HASTY READING.—Do not read hastily. Absorb what you read. Do not read too long at one time. A little food digested is better than a great deal gorged. Do not, however, lay down this paper without finishing and understanding this paragraph. The life of yourself, or some one dear to you, may depend upon it. There is a medicine for kidney, bladder, liver, and urinary complaints which cures the worst cases—even Bright's disease. It is called Hunt's Remedy, the Great Kidney and Liver Medicine. Get name in your mind, and remember it.

Sold by all druggists. Trial size, 75 cts.

—The locomotive which went down at the Tay bridge disaster is now running regularly between Edinburgh and Glasgow. For three months it lay at the bottom of the Tay, but when it was brought up it was found uninjured, except the funnel, dome and weather-board, which had to be renewed. It ran on its own wheels to Glasgow just as it came out of the long bath.

In all diseases of the kidneys, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished wonders. It dissolves caculi, corrects the chemistry of the urine, restores the normal functions of the kidneys, and prevents the organic degeneration which leads to Bright's disease. Send to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for pamplets.

—"I am a sergeant in the old guard," said the fat passenger, who is always the last man in the boarding house to come down to breakfast, and as he saw the look of inquiring intelligence pass around the table, he added—"the laggard." But the tall thin passenger near the foot of the table took all the sand out of his joke by saying he thought he was going to say "slug-gard."

DAY'S Kidney PAD

IS STRONGLY ENDORSED.

Rev. E. F. L. GAUSS, Galena, Ill., writes: "For over ten years I had been a great sufferer from pains in the small of the back and region of the kidneys, which was most excruciating and at times almost insufferable. Doctoring brought no relief, and I was finally advised to go abroad and seek the climate of my youth. In Germany and Switzerland, eminent physicians, after close examination, declared my sufferings to arise from disease of the Kidneys, of long standing, and could do me no good. I was wearied, benefited by the climate and consequently returned. No sooner had I been here and resumed my pastoral work, when the old trouble grew again so intense as to make life a burden. A few months ago I came in possession of one of Day's Kidney Pads, and the effects were truly wonderful. The pains at once grew less and are now, after wearing the second Pad, entirely gone, and there can be no doubt that I am entirely cured, as I write this among the very pictures of health. I write this perfectly voluntarily, and it is dictated only by true and grateful hearts. I consider the Day Kidney Pad Co., God's agents and great benefactors of mankind. May all the suffering be helped as I have been in my earnest wish."

CHAS. DAVIS, 124 Myrtle Street, Boston: "I have now used Day's Kidney Pad thirty days, and it has done for me more good than any remedy I have ever tried."

LARIMORE & DEAN, Druggists, Niles, Mich.—(30 years in business)—"DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is having a large sale and gives better general satisfaction than any remedy we ever sold."

CASPER WEITZEL, Policeman, Lancaster, Pa.—"I have been a great sufferer from Kidney complaint, and after wearing Day's Kidney Pad feel better than I have in 15 years."

Dr. A. J. STONER, Decatur, Ill.—"Your Pad is doing great good here. It sells every day and gives universal satisfaction."

For sale by drug'ists, or sent by mail (free of postage) receipt of the price—Regular, Pad, $2.00; Special (extra size), $3.00; Children, $1.50. Our book, "How a life was saved," giving the history of this great discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it. Address,

DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., TOLEDO, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now offered, making a sale on our reputation, we feel it our duty to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD and take no other.

TESTIMONIALS.

I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

THE

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth; a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or SELF-PRESERVATION; Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail post-paid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, whether due to pernicious habits or inherited. He is a Nervo-specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.

The author refers, by permission, to Hon. P. A. Bissell, L. M. D., president of the National Medical Association.

Address Dr. W. H. PARKER, No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston, Mass. The author may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. dm&th&tnov80

SAMUEL CLEAVES & SON.

Daily Chronicle.

Porter's Flip and Harvard's President.

Porter was an institution in Cambridge. He was a person of varied accomplishments and kept "a house of call." None like him to brew bishop or mingle a "shandy gaff." But his d'œuvre was "flip." It is reported among the students that Ganymede, when dying—it is all nonsense about Ganymede being immortal; he left Jupiter's service, married Hebe, sat up an inn with his savings, and died at a good old age—it is reported that Ganymede left Porter the recipe for making both nectar and ambrosia, which recipe he surreptitiously copied from Juno's recipe book, and Porter, improving on the idea, conceived the happy thought of mingling both divine materials, and producing a fine beverage—something which should combine the elements of supernal drink; a harmony of solid and fluid, to which each element should contribute its celestial flavors. He carried out the idea. He mingled the ambrosia and nectar, and all Olympus turned pale with envy—for the result was "flip."

With such a classic origin, it was not to be wondered at that undergraduates who are notorious for their love of mythological matters, should find themselves attracted to Porter's, and there refresh their reminiscences of Olympus with draughts of the divine beverage.

In fact, such was their devotion to this classical study, and so inspired did they frequently get—inspired even to the Pythonic pitch of being unintelligible in their speech—that the matter attracted the attention of the president of the college, a venerable gentleman of the period, whose name I have forgotten.

Heartless and ignorant persons, entirely misconceiving the spirit in which the undergraduates visited Porter's, reported to this worthy person that the students were in the habit of getting drunk every night on "flip."

The president put on his most authoritative wig and sternest countenance, and sallied out to "blow up" the classic Porter for leading his students astray.

First of all, in order to speak more decisively, he will taste this noxious beverage with his own lips. With dignity he enters Porter's. He interrogates Porter:

"Do my students visit your house, sir?" said the president, frowning and indignant.

"A few, sir," modestly replies Mr. Porter.

"They come here frequently, Mr. Porter?"

"They drop in now and then, sir."

"And they drink a beverage called 'flip,' sir?"

"Sometimes, sir!"

"They drink a great deal of it, Mr. Porter?"

"Well—yes, sir! they do drink considerable."

"They get drunk on it, Mr. Porter?"

The discreet Porter remained silent.

"Make me a—a—'flip,'" at length says the venerable president, still frowning and indignant.

Porter, whose sangfroid had never for a moment forsaken him, displays all the resources of his art. Presently a superhuman flip, with an aromatic foam creeping over the edge of the goblet, is the result of this effort. He hands it respectfully, with some anxiety, to the president, on whose face judicial thunderclouds have been gathering. He pauses. Another sip. The thunder-clouds have not yet flashed forth any lightnings. Porter, resigned, awaits the outburst.

The president gazes wonderingly at his glass. A general emollient expression seems to glide over his face, and smooths the frowning brow. The lips relax, and a smile seems about to dawn. He lifts the glass once more to his lips, heaves a sigh, and puts it down. The glass is empty!

"Mr. Porter," he says, "the students get drunk on this, sir?"

Porter sees that the storm is passed, and boldly answers in the affirmative.

"Sir!" says the venerable man, walking bravely away—"sir, I don't wonder at it!"

Where They Go?

A good, pious old citizen of Bedford was peaceably walking to church last Sunday morning, when he came upon a small boy engaged in the wicked and unsabbatical occupation of tying a can to a dog's tail.

"My son," calmly and gently remarked the gentleman, "do you know where little boys go who desecrate the Sabbath?"

The small boy inquired:

"To jail?"

"No, my son; to a worse place than jail."

There was no longer a look of inquiry in that boy's face, but he answered with the assurance of one who knew whereof he spoke:

"To Sunday-school."

The old gentleman moved on disgusted. If he had been a Philadelphian, he would have been reminded of the reply a preacher got when he asked a small boy whom he met carrying a fishing pole and line down Gray's Ferry road on Sunday:

"My friend, where do the bad little boys go who go fishing on Sunday?"

The Thirtieth-ward gamin meekly responded:

"Back of the Arsenal, sir."—Philadelphia paper.

—A polite reporter who interviewed Thomas Hughes, in place of describing him as bald-headed, writes: "The fine outlines of his head are not hidden by any growth of hair, except at the sides and back, where there is a fringe of iron-gray."

Faintness before eating, pain and distress afterward, prevented by Malt Bitters.

The October Elections.

The will be four state elections in October, as follows:

Georgia will elect on Wednesday, October 6th, state officers and a legislature, which latter will choose a United States senator. It should be noted that Georgia will not elect its representatives in Congress at this election, but will choose them on Tuesday, November 2d.

Indiana will elect on Tuesday, October 12th, state officers, representatives in Congress, and a legislature which will choose a United States senator.

Ohio will elect on Tuesday, October 12th, minor state officers, representatives in Congress, and a legislature.

West Virginia will elect on Tuesday, October 12th, state officers, and a legislature which will choose a United States senator. The people will also vote upon two proposed amendments to the constitution of the state—one relating to courts and the other to the right of trial by jury in certain cases. As in Georgia, the representatives in Congress in West Virginia will be elected on Tuesday, November 2d.

It may be added that the town elections in Connecticut will be held on Monday, October 4th, and that a proposed amendment to the constitution of the state will be submitted to the vote of the people, the amendment providing that hereafter all judges of the supreme court of errors and of the supreme court shall, upon nomination of the governor, be appointed by the legislature.

News and Notes.

A singular combat took place in a pasture at Lynn, Mass., Saturday afternoon, between two parties of boys—the "Laighton streeters" and the "Rockaway streeters"—about fifty on a side. Every boy in the crowd took a pocketful of stones to the battlefield, and at a signal given the fight commenced, the lines being a fair stone's throw apart. The police interfered, and captured several of the leading warriors.

Mr. Jesse Thing of Starks, Me., aged seventy-two years, was found dead in his house one night last week. He was an eccentric old man, and lived alone. When found he had evidently been dead a day or two.

Bristol, R. I., on Friday last celebrated the 200th anniversary of its settlement. The town was gaily dressed and decorated. A national salute was fired at sunrise, and the church bells rang an hour. The procession comprised military, escorting the state and town officials, a company of gentlemen in ancient costume carrying and guarding a flag presented to the town in 1710 by Col. Byfield, the fire department, sons and daughters of Bristol, and representatives of the trades. The column moved through thronged streets to a tent on the common, where Col. Lebaron Colt delivered an address of welcome, Prof. J. Lewis Diman of Brown university delivered an oration, Bishop Howe of central Pennsylvania a poem, and the school children sang an original ode and a hymn. In the afternoon dinner was served, and speeches made by prominent gentlemen; and four trees, in honor of the four founders of the town, were planted on the common with appropriate ceremonies.

Steamer Maggie Harper exploded her steam pipe Saturday night near Louisville, Ky. The engineer was badly scalded and jumped overboard, and was drowned. Five colored roustabouts were scalded, two of them fatally. None of the passengers were hurt.

A dispute over a game of cards at Palmer, Mass., on Wednesday night of last week, resulted in Albert Murphy and Jerry Lyons, both of Munson, being stabbed by William Atwood and a man named Ripley. Lyons was dangerously cut in the neck, and his life was despaired of awhile, but it is now thought may recover. Murphy was not so badly injured, though severely wounded. Atwood was arrested.

A cooking range in the kitchen of Rev. Father Lynch's parsonage at North Adams, Mass., exploded last Thursday evening, tearing down a portion of the ceiling and side wall leading to the dining-room, where Fathers Lynch and Smith and Dr. Maloney were seated. Smith was thrown across the room into Maloney's lap. The room was filled with smoke, and the report was as loud as a cannon. The housekeeper and a girl in the kitchen at the time escaped unhurt. The windows were smashed and the range and fireplace were ruined. Damage several hundred dollars.

In the superior court at Portland, Me., Friday, James M. Lowe, who murdered his brother at Cumberland, was sentenced to imprisonment for life. Sally Morrisey was sentenced to imprisonment for life for murdering an infant two years ago.

Near Powhattan, Ohio, on the 23d inst., Benjamin Terchner deliberately shot his father dead. The victim, who was a widower, eighty years old and possessed of considerable property, was about to marry again, and to prevent this his son killed him. The assassin gave himself up, and said he couldn't stand the thought of his father marrying again and keeping him out of one-third of the property.

Lord Mountmorris, a small land owner in Galway, Ireland, who was on bad terms with his tenants, having refused to reduce their rents, was murdered near Ballinrobe last Saturday evening, being shot off his horse when on his way home from a public meeting. He received six rifle wounds, either of which would have been fatal.

Theodore Glancy, editor of the Santa Barbara, Cal., Press, was fatally shot in the street at Santa Barbara on the 26th inst., by Clarence Gray. The murderer, who was a candidate for office, had been severely reflected upon by Glancy.

A despatch to New York from St. Johns, Newfoundland, says that the Howgate expedition has collapsed, the Gulnare not getting beyond the seventeenth parallel of latitude. She left St. Johns on the 30th of July, and on the 9th of August encountered a gale, smashing a hole in her stern, lost a boat, and had her bulwarks stove, and lost a deck load of lumber intended for a house to accommodate the party to be left in the Arctic. The Gulnare remained at Disco from Sept. 8th to the 21st, repairing; then went to the coal mines above Rittenbank, but could only obtain a short supply of coal owing to non-anchorage and ice. Dr. Pavy and Mr. Clay remained at Rittenbank to make researches in natural history. From Rittenbank to St. Johns the Gulnare made most of her way slowly under sail. After repairing at St. Johns the expedition will proceed to Washington.

The horse St Julien trotted a mile in 2:13 1-4 at Beacon park, Boston, on Saturday. It is claimed that the Beacon park track is at least three seconds slower than that at Chicago, where Maud S. was recently credited with trotting a mile in 2:10 3-4.

At Eagle Lake, Texas, in a difficulty Sunday morning, Dr. B. C. Jones shot and desperately wounded his cousin, Robert Flowers.

A boiler exploded in a saw mill fourteen miles east of Leadville, Col., Saturday, instantly killing Washington Emery, the engineer, and James Mengies.

At Fall River, Mass., Saturday, the case of George Gunton, editor of the Labor Standard, arrested for libel, came up, and he was adjudged guilty; he was held in $500 to appear at the December term of court.

Thomas Mullen of Holliston, Mass., eleven years old, was attacked by a vicious horse loose in the street, Saturday morning, and kicked and jumped on several times. He received serious injury in the back, and his recovery is doubtful. The horse is owned by Daniel Mahoney.

The exodus of Nova Scotians to the United States is steadily increasing. The steamer for Boston from Halifax last Saturday, the second that week, was crowded, and many were refused tickets. The decrease in population is becoming daily more noticeable.

The Chicago wholesale houses are doing a business twice as large as last year.

Six white and four colored convicts were publicly whipped at Newcastle, Del., Saturday.

The mackerel receipts at Gloucester last week were larger than for any previous week this season, aggregating 12,950 barrels, and the fleet reported excellent prospects. The Newburyport Herald of the 27th inst. says: "The fishing schooners yesterday brought in good fares of large and choice mackerel, caught in the bay."

The ship Vaguelin, which arrived at New York on the 25th inst., from Bremen, brought in John Proctor and Michael Condon, two of the crew of the fishing schooner George Clark, Jr., who were picked up by the ship off George's bank, after being adrift in a dory fifteen hours.

Maine Election—Another has a Limit.

The amendment to the constitution providing for the election of governor by a plurality vote, is adopted by 20,000 majority.

The votes of the several counties, as reported to the Kennebec Journal of the 25th inst., are as follows:

	Davis.	Plaisted.
Androscoggin	4817	4566
Aroostook	2976	3532

WEST BLUE MOUND, WIS., March 8th, 1879.

DR. R. V. PIERCE: Dear Sir—Having suffered many weary months from liver complaint without relief, I was last summer induced to try your Golden Medical Discovery and Pellets. At the time I was scarcely able to walk. Owing to their effect I commenced to improve rapidly and now am well and strong as ever. I thank you from the depths of my heart for the good they have done me, and wish you all success. Yours truly,

MRS. S. STAGNER.

Worthless Stuff.

Not so fast my friend; if you could see the strong, healthy, blooming men, women and children that have been raised from beds of sickness, suffering and almost death, by the use of Hop Bitters, you would say, "Glorious and invaluable remedy." See another column.—Philadelphia Press.

A despatch from San Francisco states that the bark Frances Palmer was boarded Aug. 27th, by Capt. Hooper of the cutter Corwin, off Icy cape, who reported all well on board the cutter. The Corwin was bound for Plover bay for coal, and thence would return to Herald island.

The Liebig Co.'s Coca Beef Tonic.

"Is an invaluable preparation," says Dr. H. R. Stout, Jacksonville, Fla. It is rapidly curative in monthly sufferings, excessive flow, sick headache, chronic, sore throat, asthma, cough, shortness of breath, nervousness, sleeplessness. It rapidly restores lost vitality, whether from indiscretion or excess, and rapidly stops exhausting losses of fluids.

A man of Northfield, Conn., a day or two ago, with suicidal intent waded into a pond until the water reached his chin; no one made any frantic effort to save him, but, on the contrary, somebody told him where he could find deeper water. After considering the matter, and taking a drink from a bottle which he had with him, he concluded to come ashore, and postponed his suicide until another time.

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes. Tu,th&f,&c

A BRAVE LADY!

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation without Taking Chloroform.

(From the Courier.)

Mrs. Schermerhorn of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the pain range so entirely from the right side of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skeleton. In this terrible strait, she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, New York, who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The "Favorite Remedy" is a priceless blessing to woman. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

HUNT'S REMEDY

THE GREATEST

KIDNEY AND LIVER MEDICINE

EVER KNOWN.

HUNT'S REMEDY has saved from lingering disease and death hundreds who have been given up by physicians to die.

HUNT'S REMEDY cures all Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs, Dropsy, Gravel, Diabetes, and Incontinence and Retention of Urine.

HUNT'S REMEDY encourages sleep, creates an appetite, braces up the system, and renewed health is the result.

HUNT'S REMEDY cures Pain in the Side, Back, or Loins, General Debility, Female Diseases, Disturbed Sleep, Loss of Appetite, Bright's Disease, and all Complaints of the Urino-Genital Organs.

HUNT'S REMEDY quickly induces the Liver to healthy action, removing the causes that produce Bilious Headache, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Costiveness, Piles, &c.

By the use of HUNT'S REMEDY the Stomach and Bowels will speedily regain their strength, and the Blood will be perfectly purified.

HUNT'S REMEDY is purely vegetable, and meets a want never before furnished to the public, and the utmost reliance may be placed in it.

HUNT'S REMEDY is prepared expressly for the above diseases, and has never been known to fail.

One trial will convince you. For Sale by all Druggists. Send for Pamphlet to WM. E. CLARKE, Providence, R. I. Prices, 75 cents, and $1.25 (large size).

Wanted.

ONE OR TWO SMALL CHILDREN to board, or a BABE to bring up by hand. A pleasant home, and the best of care. Enquire at No. 66 Pleasant Street.

Fishing boat Metacom, Davis master, of Boston, arrived at this port from the Isles of Shoals Monday, with eight barrels of extra mackerel.

"My Partner," a drama something in the style of the "Danites," is making a decided hit on the New England circuit. It will be produced in this city shortly.

A procession consisting of six young fellows from Exeter, mounted on bicycles, visited this city on Saturday afternoon, and after taking a turn around Market square headed for Exeter again.

The epizootic is very prevalent in this city, a large proportion of the horses being more or less affected by it. Some of the animals are very sick, but we have not heard of any deaths from the epidemic as yet.

Three small boys were arrested on Monday for breaking into the store of Charles W. Tucker the previous day, by forcing a trap in the floor. It is said they once before effected an entrance in the same manner.

A public-spirited citizen on Monday commenced the compilation of a list of the various public wells in this city which have at different times been discontinued, and will give the result of his research to the public shortly.

The Grand Commandry of Knights Templar of the state of New Hampshire meets at Concord to-day.

Dayton O. Shaw, while returning home at New Hampton on Thursday night of last week, was attacked by tramps with knives, after they demanded his money. He escaped with a few cuts on his arm, after fighting them off. There is no clue to the identity of the assailants.

Captain Charles Currier, an old and respected citizen of Manchester, died on Sunday after a brief illness, aged seventy-three years. He was overseer of the Amoskeag corporation, and the oldest overseer in the city. He was a charter member of Mechanics' lodge, I. O. O. F., and belonged to the relief societies of the order and to Wonalancet encampment. He was one of the founders of the Franklin street Congregational church.

The house of John Wallace, near North Sandwich, was destroyed by fire a few days ago, during his absence. Mrs. Wallace succeeded in rescuing her mother, who is 100 years old, and blind and deaf, with great difficulty, being badly burned in her back, face, and arms, and having her dress burnt off in her effort. The family lived in a hermit sort of fashion, three miles from any neighbors, and no help could be obtained in season to save the house or contents. They are quite widely known to summer tourists.

While blasting was in progress this week on land belonging to James A. Edgerly, Esq., on Prospect hill, Great Falls, silver was discovered, which, it is claimed, will assay as heavily to the ton as any yet discovered in the Acton. If it shall prove that the hill is an inexhaustible repository of mineral wealth, 'Squire Edgerly's well, when done, will be well done, indeed. Developments are awaited. —Great Falls Journal.

Political Notes.

Hon. Frank Jones has accepted the democratic nomination for governor of New Hampshire.

The official returns of the Vermont election are as follows: Total vote, 70,709; Farnham, republican, 47,894; Phelps, democrat, 21,223; Heath, l., 578; scattering, 14. Farnham's majority, 25,079.

A prominent democrat in Arkansas is credited with the statement that the vote on the repudiation amendment to the constitution of that state, which has surely been adopted, will not be announced until after the presidential election, lest it might hurt General Hancock in the north.

One of the most notable accessions to the republican party in New York is that of Hon. Porter Sheldon of Jamestown, Chautauqua county. Mr. Sheldon is an ex-member of Congress, and was a Tilden elector in 1876. He is a close personal friend of Gen. Garfield, whom he pronounces "the most learned, accomplished and just statesman in the land."

Hon. Hamilton Fish, remarking upon the heading of an Arkansas paper bearing Gen. Hancock's name coupled with a rebel flag, said: "I don't say that it reflects upon Gen. Hancock's patriotism. But it shows who his followers, his supporters, are. It shows upon what men he depends for election. What would his chances amount to were he not certain of the vote of that state in which this rebel flag paper is published? That's the point. Who does he look to for votes chiefly, federals or confederates? People are thinking of these things."

—Josh Billings suggests that if a man is on his way to the woods to commit suicide, and a bull suddenly gives chase, the chances are that he will run for his life.

—A meddlesome old woman was sneering at a young mother's awkwardness with her infant, and said: "I declare, a woman never ought to have a baby unless she knows how to hold it." "Nor a tongue either," was the quiet rejoinder.

Beautifiers.

Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes with all cosmetic of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such good health, strength, buoyant spirits and beauty as Hop Bitters. A trial is certain proof. See another column.—Telegraph.

—There is one respect in which the savage has the advantage over the civilized man—he is never awakened in the early morning by the horrible rumbling of wagons over the pavement.

An Admirable Medicinal Wine.

The most certain way to get the finest wine for medical use is to purchase Speer's Sambucci Wine, which is beyond doubt the purest and most admirable we have ever tasted. It is rich, nourishing and superior for general debility, female weakness, dysentery and consumption, and at the same time entirely free from any sort of spirit.—Frank Leslie's Magazine.

For sale by A. P. Preston, David Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists; H. F. Gerrish, C. E. Laighton & Son, grocers.

A Woman's Five-Minutes Call.

Out of a five-minute call a woman will gather inspiration for a good hour's speech when she gets home. She will tell her husband—who is interested, you know I—that Mrs. Stuckup has "new furniture the second time in three years, if I'm not mistaken; and lace curtains with lambrequins; and her black silk dress made over; and her hair done up in a new way—higher than she used to wear it—not becoming a bit; and her little girl's got her hair banged, and is all dressed in white, and is going to Miss Giddigirl's school in the fall, and her cook's gone off mad; and says she is almost tired to death, and is going to Swampscott next week; and Miss Flirt's going to have young Spoonington after all; and Miss Smith's going to give her a pair of bouquet-holders—she says they are good enough for her—she got them cheap up at Ragshop's; and Mrs. Ferguson's got a boy with lots of hair on its head, and looks three months old, so everybody says; and that Lovewell girl's fellow is dissipated, they say, and the Lovewell girl's father ordered him out of the house, and she's been taking on awful, and declares she will have him; and the Stiggrenses have moved out of town; and the Browns have lost everything; and Miss Smith bought a whole piece of cotton cloth; and—" By this time the husband is asleep, or has fled. A man could never make as much out of a week's visit. All that he could remember would be that Brown's got a mighty pretty wife, or keeps good cigars, or some other equally inconsequential matter.

It Was a General.

One Sunday, during the war, Brown, the late sexton of Grace church, was performing the duties of grand usher at the church, when a soldier, who presented a seedy appearance, walked up the main aisle and took a seat in the chancel. All at once there was a buzz among the congregation, and the sexton stepped up to the stranger, and tapping him on the shoulder, said:

"I will show you to a seat, sir."

The soldier rose and followed Brown, who led him to a rear pew. As he entered the pew and was about to sit down, the stranger removed his faded uniform coat and dislosed a handsome brand-new military suit, with the straps of a major-general upon the shoulders. Then there was another hum of conversation, and a rustling of silks as the congregation moved in their pews to get a view of the man. Again Sexton Brown approached the soldier, and said:

"General, I'd be pleased to give you a good seat."

"Oh never mind," said the military gentleman. "I'm much obliged to you. I've been among the commoners for the last year or two, and I guess I can worship God back here among them as well as up in front."

Brown retired as gracefully as possible, and was quite surprised before the service was over to learn that the soldier in the seedy overcoat was Major-General Nathaniel P. Banks.

French Way of Washing Clothes.

A system of washing clothes has lately been introduced in some French towns which is worthy of special mention. Its economy is so great as to reduce the cost. This is the process:

Two pounds of soap are reduced with a little water to a pulp, which having been slightly heated, is cooled in ten gallons of water, to which is added one spoonful of turpentine oil and two of ammonia; then the mixture is agitated. The water is kept at a temperature which may be borne by the hand. In this solution the white clothes are left for two hours before washing them with soap, taking care in the meantime to cover the tub. The solution may be warmed again and used once more, but it will be necessary to add half a spoonful of turpentine oil and another spoonful of ammonia. Once washed with soap, the clothes are put in hot water, and the blue is applied.

This process, it is obvious, saves much time and fuel, while it gives to the clothes a whiteness much superior to that obtained by any other process, and the destructive use of the washboard is not necessary to clean the clothes from impurities.

—All the new cloaks are lined with a color contrasting with the material.

PEARLINE

THE GREAT INVENTION

FOR WASHING AND CLEANSING

Is hard or soft water, WITHOUT SOAP, and without danger to the finest fabric.

SAVES TIME and LABOR AMAZINGLY, and is rapidly coming into general use. Sold by all Grocers. Beware of vile counterfeits. Its great success tempts dangerous imitations, but PEARLINE is the only safe article. Always bears the name of James Pyle, New York.

IS STRONGLY ENDORSED.

Rev. E. F. LAMUS, Galena, Ill., writes—"For over ten years I had been a great sufferer from Kidney complaint, with pain in the small of the back and region of the kidneys, which was most excruciating and at times almost insufferable. Doctoring brought no relief, and I was finally advised to go abroad and seek the climate of my youth. In Germany and Switzerland eminent physicians, after close examination, declared my sufferings to arise from disease of the Kidneys, of long standing, and could do me no good. I was, however, benefited by the climate and consequently returned. No sooner had I been back and resumed my pastoral work, when the old trouble came back so intense as to make life a burden. A few months ago I came in possession of one of Day's Kidney Pads, put it on, and the effects were truly wonderful. The second Pad, entirely gone, and there can be no doubt that I am entirely cured, as I write this some weeks after its use, and am strong and look upon the very picture of health. I write this perfectly voluntarily, and it is dictated only by truth and gratitude. Indeed, I consider the Day Kidney Pad a God-send to those of great benefactors of mankind. May all the suffering be helped as I have been to my earnest wish."

CHAS. DAVIS, 124 Myrtle Street, Boston: "I have now used DAY'S KIDNEY PAD thirty days, and it has done me more good than any remedy I have ever tried."

LARIMORE & DEAN, Druggists, Niles, Mich.—"Day's Kidney Pad is having a large sale and gives better satisfaction than any remedy we ever sold."

CASPER WEITZEL, Fruitcleaner, Lancaster, Pa.—"I have been a great sufferer from Kidney complaint, and after wearing your Pad 25 days I feel better than I have in 15 years."

Dr. A. J. STONER, Decatur, Ill.—"Your Pad is doing wonders here. It cells every day and gives universal satisfaction."

For sale by druggists, or sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of the price—Regular, Pad, $2.00; Special Pad (extra size), $3.00; Children's, $1.50. Our book, "How a life was saved," giving the history of this new discovery, and a large record of more remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it. Address,

DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., TOLEDO, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them against buying a Kidney Pad and take no other.

KIDNEY-WORT

The Only Remedy

THAT ACTS AT THE SAME TIME ON

THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, and the KIDNEYS.

This combined action gives it wonderful power to cure all diseases.

Why Are We Sick?

Because we allow these great organs to become clogged or torpid, and poisonous humors are therefore forced into the blood that should be expelled naturally.

KIDNEY-WORT WILL CURE

by causing free action of these organs and restoring their power to throw off disease.

Why Suffer Bilious pains and aches? Why tormented with Piles, Constipation? Why disfigured over disordered kidneys? Why so nervous or sick headached? Why have sleepless nights?

Use KIDNEY WORT and rejoice in health. It is a dry, vegetable compound and one package will make 12 quarts of Medicine. If not of your Druggist, he will order it for you. Price, $1.00.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt the assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

This humorous edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail postpaid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, whether due to permicious habits or inherited. He is a Nervo specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.

SAMUEL CLEAVES & SON.

Daily Chronicle.

The Mennonites in Kansas.

Frank Wilkinson, who has been visiting the Mennonite settlements in Kansas, says "the story of the success of the people that has been widely published is, in my opinion, a skillfully devised lie told in the interest of the railroad companies. That pleasant little paragraph of the tale which says that the Mennonites do not care for grasshoppers, (meaning locusts, probably,) being used to them, and that they quickly dispose of them, is a very silly lie, the truth being that since 1855 the Mennonite settlements in Russia have not been troubled with locusts. That year they came from Turkey and destroyed the crops just as they destroy the crops in our western states when they emigrate from the Rocky mountains to the southeast." He adds: "From what I saw and was told by these people, I judge the success of the Mennonites in Kansas to have been greatly overrated. The facts are, that if a German Mennonite brought sufficient money with him to pay for his land and start properly in his farming operations, he has generally held his own: may even have made a little money; very seldom has lost any. Without money when he started life in his new home, and forced to mortgage, he is growing poorer. The Poles and Bohemians had nothing when they came here. They have it yet. As a race the Mennonites are frugal, industrious and law abiding. They are not a bright, intelligent people. They are not any more successful in their farming operations than their American neighbors. They have no intention of becoming citizens of this republic."

—When a fisherman gets a "good bite" he sits with bated breath as well as baited hook.

—"I don't like a cottage-built man," said young Sweeps to his rich old uncle, who was telling the story of his early trials for the hundredth time. "What do you mean by a cottage-built man?" asked his uncle. "A man with only one story," answered young Sweeps. That settled it. Young Sweeps was left out of his uncle's will.

What Dealers Say.

LANCASTER, PA., March 27th, '80.

MESSRS. WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Gentlemen— Kidney-Wort is giving general satisfaction. I will swear by it all the time as it has done me more good than any physician was able to do.

J. R. KAUFFMAN, Druggist,

Gentlemen—Mr. John Beal, of Woodford Co., wishes us to tell you that two boxes of Kidney-Wort cured him of a severe liver complaint. He is selling lots for us by his recommendations.

W. A. ZINDEL, Druggist, Peoria, Ill.

—The result of a recent torpedo experiment at Montreal on a vessel of seventy tons, is thus described: When the torpedo exploded the even surface of the river rose in a dense, white, cloud-like mass to a height of probably 200 feet. For one instant it remained almost stationary, without a sound, only the lower portions rolling over the river on every side. A dull, heavy roar and shock followed this extraordinary interval, and a moment later the great white mass broke into volumes, and black spars, kegs, splinters and debris of all sorts shot off from the cloud of smoke and spray, and, after rising in some cases far up into the air, rained down on every side like sky-rockets.

FOR THE GOOD OF HUMANITY.—Of all the discoveries which have ever been made by man or woman, which has accomplished more for the "Good of Humanity" than anything else, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest; for men are now as good and enthusiastic in its praises for curing them of kidney complaints and weakness of the urinary and genital organs as women are in its efficacy for curing female complaints.

—The New York World says that a lady teacher in a Sunday school has "horsewhipped the superintendent with an umbrella, for showing her an uninvited partiality." A critic says: "Most women would have knifed him with a pitch-fork, or pistolled him with a sawhorse."

Time is money, but health is happiness. If you have a bad cold, or cough, use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. It will cure you. Price 25 cents.

—Little Jeanne has a sister, a year married. Last week this sister became the mother of a pretty babe. "Look, mademoiselle," said the nurse, showing the new-born to its little aunt; "isn't it the prettiest dolly you ever saw?" Jeanne danced with delight. Then she approached to take it from the nurse's arm. A cry of disgust arose. "Oh!" screamed Jeanne, "it's nothing but a meat baby!"

D. R. V. G. is a purely vegetable compound, and will do all is claimed for it. See other column.

—The late Judge W——, on a visit to Niagara when the car was in use on the inclined plain, raised and lowered by steam power, went into the starting-house to witness the descent, too timid to go himself. After the car started, fully impressed with the danger, he turned to the man in charge and said: "Suppose, sir, the rope should break?" The man, with a serious countenance and a single eye on business, replied: "Oh, they all paid before they went."—Harper's Magazine.

Beautifiers.

Ladies, you cannot make fair skin, rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes with all cosmetic of France, or beautifiers of the world, while in poor health, and nothing will give you such good health, strength, buoyant spirits and beauty as Hop Bitters. A trial is certain proof. See another column.—Telegraph.

An Admirable Medicinal Wine.

The most certain way to get the finest wine for medical use is to purchase Speer's Sambuci Wine, which is beyond doubt the purest and most admirable we have ever tasted. It is rich, nourishing and superior for general debility, female weakness, dysentery and consumption, and at the same time entirely free from any sort of spirit.—Frank Leslie's Magazine.

—Establishing a newspaper is like pouring water into a leaky cask—if you have grit enough and water enough to keep the vessel full, possibly the staves may swell up and become water-tight.

It speaks for itself; is what a lady said of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup the other day; for a single bottle cured my child of a most dreadful cough.

—He who troubles himself more than he needs grieves also more than is necessary, for the same weakness which makes him anticipate his misery, makes him enlarge it, too.

A Woman's Five-Minutes Call.

Out of a five-minute call a woman will gather inspiration for a good hour's speech when she gets home. She will tell her husband—who is interested, you know!—that Mrs. Stuckup has "new furniture the second time in three years, if I'm not mistaken; and lace curtains with lambrequins; and her black silk dress made over; and her hair done up in a new way—higher than she used to wear it—not becoming a bit; and her little girl's got her hair banged, and is all dressed in white, and is going to Miss Giddigirl's school in the fall, and her cook's gone off mad; and says she is almost tired to death, and is going to Swampscott next week; and Miss Flirt's going to have young Spoonington after all; and Miss Smith's going to give her a pair of bouquet-holders—she says they are good enough for her—she got them cheap at Singsbops; and Mrs. Ferguson's got a boy with lots of hair on its head, and looks three months old, so everybody says: and that Lovewell girl's fellow is dissipated, they say, and the Lovewell girl's father ordered him out of the house, and she's been taking on awful, and declares she will have him; and the Stiggenses have moved out of town; and the Browns have lost everything; and Miss Smith bought a whole piece of cotton cloth, and—" By this time the husband is asleep, or has fled. A man could never make as much out of a week's visit. All that he could remember would be that Brown's got a mighty pretty wife, or keeps good cigars, or some other equally inconsequential matter.

It Was a General.

One Sunday, during the war, Brown, the late sexton of Grace church, was performing the duties of grand usher at the church, when a soldier, who presented a seedy appearance, walked up the main aisle and took a seat in the chancel. All at once there was a buzz among the congregation, and the sexton stepped up to the stranger, and tapping him on the shoulder, said:

"I will show you to a seat, sir."

The soldier rose and followed Brown, who led him to a rear pew. As he entered the pew and was about to sit down, the stranger removed his faded uniform coat and disclosed a handsome brand-new military suit, with the straps of a major-general upon the shoulders. Then there was another hum of conversation, and a rustling of silks as the congregation moved in their pews to get a view of the man. Again Sexton Brown approached the soldier, and said:

"General, I'd be pleased to give you a good seat."

"Oh never mind," said the military gentleman. "I'm much obliged to you. I've been among the commoners for the last year or two, and I guess I can worship God back here among them as well as up in front."

Brown retired as gracefully as possible, and was quite surprised before the service was over to learn that a soldier in the seedy overcoat was Major-General Nathaniel P. Banks.

French Way of Washing Clothes.

A system of washing clothes has lately been introduced in some French towns which is worthy of special mention. Its economy is so great as to reduce the cost. This is the process:

Two pounds of soap are reduced with a little water to a pulp, which having been slightly heated, is cooled in ten gallons of water, to which is added one spoonful of turpentine oil and two of ammonia; then the mixture is agitated. The water is kept at a temperature which we may borne by the hand. In this solution the white clothes are left for two hours before washing them with soap, taking care in the meantime to cover the tub. The solution may be warmed again and used once more, but it will be necessary to add half a spoonful of turpentine oil and another spoonful of ammonia. Once washed with soap, the clothes are put in hot water, and the blue is applied.

This process, it is obvious, saves much time and fuel, while it gives to the clothes a whiteness much superior to that obtained by any other process, and the destructive use of the washboard is not necessary to clean the clothes from impurities.

DAY'S Kidney PAD

IS STRONGLY ENDORSED.

Rev. K. F. L. GRUSS, Galena, Ill., writes—"For over ten years I had been a great sufferer from pains in the small of the back and region of the Kidneys, which was most excruciating and at times almost insufferable. Doctoring brought no relief. I was finally advised to go abroad and seek the climate of my youth. In Germany and Switzerland eminent physicians, after close examination, declared my sufferings to arise from disease of the Kidneys, of long standing, and could do me no good. I was, however, benefited by the climate and consequently returned. No sooner had I been back and resumed my pastoral work, when the old trouble grew again so intense as to make life a burden. A few months ago I came in possession of one of Day's Kidney Pads, put on, and the effects were truly wonderful. The second pad, entirely gone, and there can be no doubt that I am entirely cured, as I write this some weeks after its use, and am strong and look again the very picture of health. I write this unsolicited, voluntarily, and it is dictated only by truth and gratitude. Indeed, I consider the Day Kidney Pad a God-send, and the great benefactors of mankind. May all the suffering be helped as I have been in my earnest wish."

CHAS. DAVIS, 124 Myrtle Street, Boston: "I have now used Day's Kidney Pad thirty days and it has done me more good than any remedy I have ever tried."

LARIMORE & DEAN, Druggists, Niles, Mich.—(35 years in business)—"Day's Kidney Pad is having a large sale and gives better general satisfaction than any remedy we ever sold."

CASPER WITZEL, Policeman, Lancaster, Pa.—"I have been a great sufferer from my complaint, and after wearing your Pad 25 days I feel better than I have in 10 years."

Dr. A. J. STONER, Decatur, Ill.—"Your Pad is doing great good here. It sells every day and gives universal satisfaction."

For sale by druggists, or sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of the price—Regular Pad, $1.00; Special Pad (extra size), $3.00; Children's, $1.00. Our book, "How a life was saved," giving the history of this new and valuable remedy, and a large number of remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it. Address,

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, or, SELF-PRESERVATION! Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, mention 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail postpaid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, which are due to pernicious habits or inherited. He is a Nervo specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."

SAMUEL CLEAVES & SON.

Daily Chronicle.

The Mennonites in Kansas.

Frank Wilkinson, who has been visiting the Mennonite settlements in Kansas, says "the story of the success of the people that has been widely published is, in my opinion, a skillfully devised lie told in the interest of the railroad companies. That pleasant little paragraph of the tale which says that the Mennonites do not care for grasshoppers, (meaning locusts, probably,) being used to them, and that they quickly dispose of them, is a very silly lie, the truth being that since 1855 the Mennonite settlements in Russia have not been troubled with locusts. That year they came from Turkey and destroyed the crops just as they destroy the crops in our western states when they emigrate from the Rocky mountains to the southeast." He adds: "From what I saw and was told by these people, I judge the success of the Mennonites in Kansas to have been greatly overrated. The facts are, that if a German Mennonite brought sufficient money with him to pay for his land and start properly in his farming operations, he has generally held his own: may even have made a little money; very seldom has lost any. Without money when he started life in his new home, and forced to mortgage, he is growing poorer. The Poles and Bohemians had nothing when they came here. They have it yet. As a race the Mennonites are frugal, industrious and law abiding. They are not a bright, intelligent people. They are not any more successful in their farming operations than their American neighbors. They have no intention of becoming citizens of this republic."

—"I don't like a cottage-built man," said young Sweeps to his rich old uncle, who was telling the story of his early trials for the hundredth time. "What do you mean by a cottage-built man?" asked his uncle. "A man with only one story," answered young Sweeps. That settled it. Young Sweeps was left out of his uncle's will.

What Dealers Say.

STERLING, ILL., April 10th, 1880.

Kidney-Wort still continues to sell better than any other patent medicine on our shelves, and it always does good work. Customers praise it to us, and recommend it to their neighbors.

LANCASTER, PA., March 27th, '80.

MESSRS. WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Gentlemen— Kidney-Wort is giving general satisfaction. I will swear by it all the time as it has done me more good than any physician was able to do.

J. R. KAUFFMAN, Druggist,

Gentlemen—Mr. John Beal, of Woodford Co., wishes us to tell you that two boxes of Kidney-Wort cured him of a severe liver complaint. He is selling lots for us by his recommendations.

—The result of a recent torpedo experiment at Montreal on a vessel of seventy tons, is thus described: When the torpedo exploded the even surface of the river rose in a dense, white, cloud-like mass to a height of probably 200 feet. For one instant it remained almost stationary, without a sound, only the lower portions rolling over like the river on every side. A dull, heavy roar and shock followed this extraordinary interval, and a moment later the great white mass broke into volumes, and black spars, kegs, splinters and debris of all sorts shot off from the cloud of smoke and spray, and, after rising in some cases far up into the air, rained down on every side like sky-rockets.

FOR THE GOOD OF HUMANITY.—Of all the discoveries which have ever been made by man or woman, which has accomplished more for the "Good of Humanity" than anything else, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest; for men are now as loud and enthusiastic in its praises for curing them of kidney complaints and weakness of the urinary and genital organs as women are in its efficacy for curing female complaints.

—Little Jeanne has a sister, a year married. Last week this sister became the mother of a pretty babe. "Look, mademoiselle," said the nurse, showing the new-born to its little aunt; "isn't it the prettiest dolly you ever saw?" Jeanne danced with delight. Then she approached to take it from the nurse's arm. A cry of disgust arose. "Poh!" screamed Jeanne, "it's nothing but a meat baby!"

—The late Judge W——, on a visit to Niagara when the car was in use on the inclined plain, raised and lowered by steam power, went into the starting-house to witness the descent, too timid to go himself. After the car started, fully impressed with the danger, he turned to the man in charge and said: "Suppose, sir, the rope should break?" The man, with a serious countenance and a single eye on business, replied: "Oh, they all paid before they went."—Harper's Magazine.

Returns that Require Amending.

Next to the shameful fact that a governor and council of a New England state could be found to act so dishonorably as did the Garcelon gang of political thieves, the most remarkable thing about the attempted theft of the state of Maine last year was that all the returns from towns giving fusion majorities should be technically correct, while many of the republican towns sent in defective returns. This remarkable fact is emphasized by the numerous blunders made this year by fusion town clerks, which show that education has gone back terribly in a brief period in that state, or else that Garcelon and his pals lied like pickpockets when they said the fusion returns in 1879 were correct. The following, from a Maine paper, show how the fusion town clerks spell this year:

The name of the fusion candidate for governor is Harris M. Plaisted. In Bluehill the fusion votes are returned for Morris M. Plaisted; in one ward in Ellsworth, for Harrison M. Plaisted; in Appleton, for Harris M. Plaisted; in Vassalboro, for Hiram M. Plaisted; in Union, for Harris H. Plaisted; in Porter, for Harras M. Plaisted; in Enfield, for Harris M. Plasted; in Foxcroft, for Harris W. Plaisted; in Concord, for Harris M. Plasted; in one of the ranges, for Horrais M. Plaisted; in another, for Harris Plaisted; in Knox, for Harris M. Plasded; in Jonesport, for Harris M. Plasted; in Charlotte, for Harris M. Plaistead; in Talmadge, for Harris M. Plaistaisted. The aggregate of votes misreturned is 1696.

It is proabable that in nearly or quite all these towns the votes as cast were for Harris M. Plaisted, the blunders being in the making out of the returns—the work of fusion town clerks, who have developed a surprising amount of ignorance since last year, when all their returns were "technically correct." These errors the statutes of Maine provide a correction for; but it was just such errors that the Garcelon thieves refused to correct, when made by clerks of republican towns—and in some cases in which the returns were correct when sent in, they were made incorrect by Garcelon & Co. with a stroke of the pen; should their code of morals be adopted by the republicans, and the votes counted as returned by the clerks, in defiance of law and justice, Davis would have a large plurality, though there are a few republican towns from which the returns are defective, Phipsburg returning 176 votes for Daniel F. David, and Beddington thirty-nine for Danniel F. Davis. But the "brute scoundrelism" of Garcelon is not to be repeated by republicans; the returns will be corrected, as the law provides; and if Harris M. Plaisted has been elected, he will take his seat, even though a dozen fusion town clerks have forgotten how to spell since last year.

Greenadembracracy.

The attitude of greenbackism and democracy toward each other, and of Gen. Weaver and Solon Chase toward their own party and the democrats, seems somewhat mixed and very funny.

The greenbackers have a regularly nominated candidate of their own for president, in the person of Gen. Weaver—an unquestioned fiat-money inflationist. On the other hand, the democrats have nominated for vice president a very successful national banker; and their candidate for president may also be a hard-money man—at any rate, no public act if his shows that he is not, as outside of his military record he is a nonentity, absolutely without a record, in which fact lies his sole strength. Taking what is known of the democratic candidates, and the declarations of democratic leaders, and it may safely be asserted that the democratic ticket is not a fiat-money one.

It would naturally be supposed that the greenbackers would support the greenback ticket, and that a failure to do so would be denounced as treason by their own party, and regarded as such by all others. Yet when Gen. Weaver, during his stumping tour in Maine, urged his party friends to be true to their principles, he was at once denounced as having sold out to the republicans; and a similar charge is brought against Solon Chase, the father of greenbackism and a man who has done more to advance it than any other score of men who can be named, because he refuses to be made a cat's-paw for hauling Hancock & English "gold bug" chestnuts out of the fire.

This seems ludicrous enough; but it is more than matched by the leader of the greenback party in Pennsylvania, who has sent a telegram to Gen. Weaver, the greenback candidate for president, informing Weaver that he has forfeited all claims upon the greenback party by his urging of the greenbackers to vote for himself, the regular candidate of their party, rather than for the democratic candidates!

Two New Democratic Saints.

For many years the two men in the republican party most roundly abused by the democrats were Gen. Benjamin F. Butler and Gen. Daniel E. Sickles. "Beast Butler" and "Spoon-thief Butler" were among the most endearing terms applied by the democratic papers and orators to the former, who was accused of all the crimes in the ancient calendar, and quite a number of new ones previously unheard of; while Sickles was denounced as an assassin of the blackest dye, and the republican party was held up as unworthy of trust because he belonged to it. But a change has come o'er the spirit of the democratic dream; Butler and Sickles are both "out for Hancock," and whenever either of them opens his mouth on the stump the democratic party throws up its hat, and loudly calls upon the world to listen to the convincing utterances of the great and good man who has sought congenial companionship in the democratic party.

News and Notes.

The owners of the lost steamer City of Vera Cruz, in New York, think it very strange that for days past they have received no news regarding the life raft, containing twelve persons, which was reported washed ashore near Titusville, Fla. All efforts to reach them by telegraph have failed.

James Flanigan and Charles H. Willard escaped from jail at Salem, Mass., Tuesday morning, by sawing off a bar of their cell door, and knocking a watchman down.

Charles F. Chase, aged eighteen years, and Florence Waterhouse, aged fifteen, belonging in Portland, Me., eloped Aug. 18th and went to North Andover, Mass., where, being penniless, they kept secluded in the woods in that vicinity until the first of the present month, when both went to Lawrence and secured rooms at a boarding house on Essex street, representing themselves as brother and sister. Chase recently obtained employment in Sprague's bobbin shop. The suspicions of the boarding master being excited, he notified State Officer Philbrick, and he in turn notified the Portland authorities. Monday afternoon Chase's parents arrived, and took them both to Portland.

A Down Town Merchant

Having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homeœopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still worse; and while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties, and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and the little fellow awoke next morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the sudden and wonderful change, and although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering, crying babies and restless night have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet failed to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudice of the mother. Sold by all Druggists. 25 cents a bottle. 6

The Pig Question.

Shall the pig of the future be a spherical package of "animate lard," without any meat to speak of, or preferably a "razor-back" type, with bristles and vertabræ, a modicum of tough muscle, with scarcely enough of the oleaginous to grease the griddle? It may not be wise to run to porcine extremes. In medio tutissimus ibis. On one hand we may not avoid extremes by breeding off the extremities; on the other, the cultivation of legs may prove a legacy of evil. The nose must long remain a foremost feature, but it should not remain too long. "Root, hog, or die," may be a barbarous maxim, yet all corn and no roots tends not to health and assuredly not to longevity. The dissimilarity of the two types is marked: the one has more of spirit, the other of grace; one of the embodiment of restless ness, the other of inertia; the agile type has more of energy and health, the sedentary hog has possibly more of scrofula. If the latter is not fit to eat, the former is fit for nothing else. The "pig of the period" should not resemble an exclamation point.

It is possible, on the other hand, that "improvement" may be carried too far, sacrificing health to rotundity and accumulation, edible leanness to lard. The production of meat, the most in the shortest time, is a law of economic production that must preclude all use of the razor-back variety, and tend toward symmetry and centralization. At the same time, pampering and overfeeding and breeding to excessive fat contravene in equal degree the same economic law, by causing disease, often wholesale destruction. The extension of "cholera" is coeval with this improvement and overfeeding with corn to the exclusion of grass and the wholesome variety demanded by this omnivorous animal. Let the breeder have still some regard for compactness and symmetry, but give the animal wide range, good pasture, quick and constant growth, variety of food in fattening, and early preparation for the knife; and the result will prove alike satisfactory to pocket and palate.—New York Tribune.

AROUND HOME.

The democrats of ward four held a meeting on Monday evening to form a Hancock & English club. Thirty-one persons signed the roll.

The train from Boston due in this city at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon, did not arrive until nearly twelve o'clock, Tuesday. The delay was occasioned by the derailing of a car or cars in the tunnel at Salem.

Mr. Charles Hart, who ran the engine of the little steamer Pinafore at the Shoals during the season recently ended, has gone to Boston to work in Whittier's machine shop on Tremont street, to finish learning the trade of machinist.

The little Norwegian ponies brought to this country by Ole Bull, and which attracted considerable attention in this city last spring, when they were taken through here on their way to pasture at Ole Bull's place in Eliot, were taken away a day or two since.

The Times of Tuesday evening says: "If you wish a job there [on the navy yard] be willing to be slaves to the republican masters." Two or three days ago it was warning republicans that the only way they could hope to secure jobs on the yard for the next four years, at three dollars a day, was to vote the democratic ticket! The Times is not the first "power" which has tried to bribe the righteous by the offer of something which it did not possess power to hand over.

The three seals which have attracted so much attention from visitors to Major Urch's aquarium during the past summer, are to be taken outside the harbor and set at liberty some day next week. As they are very tame, and apparently as fond of human society as dogs are, it is very probable that they will come up alongside of boats that may go outside the harbor, for the purpose of interviewing the crews. If they do, we hope that no person will abuse the poor creatures' trust in mankind, and do them any wanton injury.

The lecture and spiritual demonstrations, so-called, which took place at Franklin hall, on Monday evening, had an attendance quite respectable in number and quality, believers and sceptics. The principal medium being possessed of considerable magnetism, managed to keep his mixed audience quiet. The simple cabinet arranged upon the stage was pronounced by well-known citizens to be without any apparent fraud. The manifestations, as reported by those who entered the cabinet with the medium, (the latter being tightly bound to a chair by gentlemen present,) were remarkable; but the audience would have been much better satisfied if there had been no cabinet at all. The lecturer, although professing spiritualism, wished to impress upon the audience that he desired them to believe the performance to be due to his skill or to spiritualism, just as they preferred,—as they would have done anyway, whether invited to or not.

THE REPUBLICAN RALLY.

A large number of people assembled in the vicinity of Market square, Tuesday evening, to witness the republican flag-raising, and they were well repaid for their trouble. The Garfield & Arthur Battalion, with the Kittery cornet band, and the Boys in Blue (seventy-one men—their first appearance in public, too,) headed by the Metcalf drum and fife band, paraded with torches, amid made a fine display.

The flag of the Boys in Blue was run out first, at the head of Daniel street, and was saluted with hearty cheers, music by the cornet band, and a brilliant display of fireworks, each person in the procession having Roman candles throwing colored fires. The companies and spectators then proceeded to Franklin building, where a splendid flag was run out from the republican headquarters, and more cheering, music and fireworks.

The companies then marched around by way of Congress, Middle, State and Chestnut streets to Music hall, where the Garfield & Arthur Battalion fell out of the line, the Boys in Blue marching to their armory and leaving their torches, and then returning to the hall, which was filled with an enthusiastic and highly intelligent audience, to whom Hon. George M. Dewey of Michigan made a stirring and convincing speech which was received with much favor.

The opening rally of the campaign was a decided success.

BOW MISSION SERVICES.

A very interesting gospel temperance meeting was held at the mission hall, Saturday evening, the attendance being quite good.

The bethel service, Sunday afternoon, was conducted by Mrs. Hooper. It was of a social character, and quite a number took part.

The reform club held a meeting Sunday evening, as usual.

Gospel meetings were held in the Christian Baptist church's at Newcastle and Rye, Sunday evening, the services at both places being well attended; Mr. Horace E. Frye conducted the meeting at Newcastle, and Rev. Mr. Jones and Deacon John S. Rand that at Rye. The services at Newcastle will be continued for several weeks; arrangements are also being made for a series of meetings at Newington and in other places where there are no settled pastors, and where there appears to be a special need of work. L.

There will be a special union meeting at the mission hall this (Wednesday) evening at 7:30 o'clock. All are heartily invited. Bring "Gospel hymns."

POLICE COURT.

TUESDAY, Sept. 28; Batchelder, J.

George Weeks and Mary Weeks were brought up on a charge of brawl and tumult, and both were adjudged guilty. The woman was fined $1, costs $6.90; the case against the man was hung up on the hook.

Willie Kirby, Fred Kirby and Jasper Smart, boys ten or twelve years of age, were charged with breaking and entering the store of Charles W. Tucker. Held in $100 each for trial at a higher court.

THE BOYS IN BLUE.

People were prepared for a fine display when it was known that the "Boys in Blue" were to parade on Tuesday evening, but in no sense were they expecting or looking for so large a turnout, or such gorgeous and elaborate campaign uniforms (the best ever seen here) as the veterans who "vote as they shot" wore on this occasion. It is patent to every one that the military sentiment of Portsmouth—the soldiers who saw actual service in the field, are nearly unanimous for Garfield and Arthur; and had all the uniforms for the battalion been ready for this display, this would have been the largest gathering of veterans seen in Portsmouth since the war. The men looked and marched splendidly, and the consciousness that they had participated in the struggle for the national union lent a dignity to each which could not fail to impress the throngs of spectators.

SOUTH SEABROOK, Sept. 27th.

Reese Owen of this place has been awarded the contract for supplying the city of Newburyport with seventy-five cords of pine wood, at $4.50 per cord.

The schools in this district are being taught as follows: The grammar school by Charles S. Ward, of the senior class of Dartmouth college, and the primary school by Miss Mary N. Withington of Newburyport.

George D. Dodge, Esq., the prohibitionist candidate for governor of New Hampshire, spoke on temperance and prohibition at the vestry on Thursday evening, the 23d inst., South Seabrook thus having the honor of hearing the first gun of the prohibition campaign. Mr. Dodge's remarks were very interesting. The Atlantic cornet band furnished music for the occasion.

Mr. John F. Coles spoke in the vestry, Saturday evening, from a republican standpoint, to an audience of three hundred or more, and though his address lasted two hours and twenty minutes, his audience were interested to the end. The Atlantic cornet band furnished some excellent music, creditable both to the band and to Mr. Daniel B. Follansbee, who has been its leader since it was organized about ten years ago.

The greenback party have a meeting at the town hall this (Monday) evening, to choose delegates to the state convention. E. Y. Turner, Esq., teacher of the high school at East Salisbury, is to open the campaign at the vestry this week. Hon. Isaac Bradford, of Exeter, is to speak for the democrats at the same place. ENO.

New Publications.

Andrews' Bazar for October appears as usual, sparkling with good things adapted to the season. If we are competent to judge, the new fall styles are very handsome. The proprietor of this favorite lady's paper is active and untiring in bringing out new attractions; the offers he makes to his subscribers are really wonderful, when we consider the low price, only one dollar per year, at which the Bazar is furnished. In short, business energy of the right kind is brought to bear in its management. Ladies should send ten cents for a sample copy. W. R. Andrews, publisher, Tribune building, New York.

The United Service for October has the following list of contents: "Capt. Pierce's translation of Virgil," by O. O. Howard; "The capture of the Peruvian monitor ram 'Huascar' by the Chilian squadron;" "War correspondents," by Capt. P. H. Salusbury, 1st Royal Cheshire Lt. Infantry; "French galleys at the 18th century," by Medical Director Shippen, U. S. N.; "Trials of staff officers;" "Jean de Vienne," by J. K. Laughton, R. N.; "The question of lineal promotion;" "Reminiscences of the confederate navy," by John N. Maffit; "Editorial notes" and "Service literature." Philadelphia; L. R. Hamersly & Co.; $5 per year, single number fifty cents.

The leading papers in the October number of the Sanitarian are: "Are there diseases of acclimation?" by Dr. A. Fernandez-Caro; "Isthmian salubrity and the Panama canal," by Geo. H. Boyland, M. D.; "Homes for the people," by Gen. James Bintliff, of Wisconsin; "Preventable diseases," by Edward R. Maxson, M. D.; every one of which is worthy the attention of all persons interested in the preservation of health and the protection of human life. "Menu" is, as usual, filled with wholesome excerpts, useful to all housekeepers. The "Editor's table" is very full and interesting: "Tuberculosis as an infectious disease," in its relation to milk for babies, especially, should receive the attention of all intelligent persons; "New Orleans' responsibility for obstructing commerce" is plainly stated, with reference to her open port conditions as a passway for yellow fever, and it is made to appear that her merchants had better take heed lest her health authorities sacrifice their interest to a mere caprice of state's rights, rather than accept the proffered offer of the national board of health to protect them from yellow fever. "The adulteration of soaps" continues to be a subject of discusion, and contains many important points to all housekeepers. A. N. Bell, publisher, No. 8 Spruce street, New York city.

Naval Gazette.

Lieut. Herbert Winslow is detached from the Powhatan, and placed on waiting orders. Lieut. James M. Grimes is detached from the New York navy yard, and ordered to the Powhatan.

Naval Constructor Fernald has been selected by the chief of the bureau of construction, to complete plans for rebuilding the ironclads Terror, Amphitrite, Monadnock and Puritan, and reports for this duty at the Charlestown navy yard.

New Hampshire Items.

The Lake Village Times says a worthless fellow decamped from that town eight or nine years ago, leaving a wife and two small children to struggle with poverty and want. A few months after a bundle of his clothes came home by express, with a note saying he was sick with small-pox. Nothing was heard from him for years, and supposing him to be dead, the wife recently remarried and removed to a distant city. Now comes word that her first husband is not dead, but is near the end of a long term of service in the prison of a neighboring state.

The fifteenth annual reunion of the Twelfth New Hampshire regiment, at Laconia on Monday, was largely attended. Gov. Head, Adj't. Gen. Ayling and Gen. J. N. Patterson were among the distinguished guests.

Political Notes.

The Indianapolis Journal says: "While in Congress, Mr. English did three notable things. First, he voted against the expulsion of Bully Brooks for his brutal attack on Senator Sumner; second, he introduced a bill to bribe the people of Kansas with a large land grant into adopting a slavery constitution; and third, he favored the removal of troops from Washington at a time when the secessionists were plotting to capture the Capital."

One of the democratic senators from West Virginia, who has for years been barking at the manner in which the books of the treasury department have been kept, and getting investigating committees appointed to overhaul them, has himself been detected in an attempt to defraud the treasury of fifteen or twenty thousand dollars by false vouchers.

—"Yes," continued the old gentleman, warming with his subject, "It is scandalous, perfectly scandalous. Why, in New York, if you will believe it, they spend more every year for tobacco than they do for bread!" "Is that so?" responded the youngster, betrayed momentarily into something bordering on animation. "Is that so?" he repeated, removing his cigarette to say it; "well, I suppose it's wuth more."—Boston Transcript.

To the Editor. For the benefit of any of your readers who may be interested, I beg to say, from personal observation, that Bright's disease of the kidneys is certainly curable. My friend, Mr. Joshua Tuthill, of Saginaw, Mich., was attacked by it, and was in a most critical situation. His family physician recommended him to take Hunt's Remedy, the great kidney and liver medicine. He did so. His symptoms gradually subsided, and, at the end of a short time, entirely disappeared. He was completely cured, and is a well man to-day. Recommend your readers to try Hunt's Remedy.

Respectfully, Amos G. Torrey.

—Little Paul brought a bouquet to his godmother. "And who gathered all these beautiful roses?" she asked. "Mamma—but," he added, impressively, "she cut them with my knife!"

Many people suffer, and know not what ails them. Try D. R. V. G. If no benefit is received, your druggist will refund the money.

—A couple of lovers went together from Ripon, Wis., to Fond du Lac, and telegraphed back to the girl's parents: "May we get married? Please wire consent immediately, as ceremony will be performed this evening anyhow."

It can be used without fear of harm and with the certainty of a permanent cure—Day's Kidney Pad.

—The late Rev. Dr. Symington, not feeling well one Sabbath morning, said to his beadle, who was a "character," "Man Robert, I wish you would preach for me to-day." "I canna do that," promptly replied Robert. "But I often pray for you."

Pure water, fresh air, sunlight and a bottle of Adamson's Botanic Balsam (in case of cough or cold) will save many doctors' bills and give health and vigor that no money can procure.

—An indolent but erudite chap being asked to explain the paradox of how it was possible for a lazy man to attain so much education, replied: "I didn't—attain it; I—just—heard—it—here—and—there, and was too lazy to forget."

Richer in bone and fat producing materials than all others are Malt Bitters.

Absinthe Drinking.

The end of the habitual absinthe drinker is as terrible as it is sure and inevitable. He becomes first brutalized, dull and obtuse, then he goes raving mad, and finally is either partially or entirely paralyzed, unless disease of the liver or stomach puts an speedy end to his existence. The liqueur is the more seductive and dangerous because at first it seems to invigorate the digestive organs, while in reality it is doing them nothing but harm. "Until the very day when he is seized with illness," says Dr. Dehant, "the victim seems to be in unusually good health; but the first time he is subjected to a medical examination it is found that his whole system is deranged. Nothing is more difficult than to cure an absinthe drinker, for his first illness is usually also his last, and is terminated by death."

Oatmeal.

Our older readers remember when the only use of oatmeal among us was to make gruel with for the sick. There are a few people who still look upon it as only fit for use when light diet is needed, or when a physician prescribes it. Such persons are "behind the age," and we are glad that at least among the more intelligent classes of Americans, it has become a common article of food.

But in Scotland, where people are noted for brain and brawn, it has long been the staple food. Says a recent Scotch writer: "For the past forty years I have made my breakfast of a pint of oatmeal porridge, with very rare exceptions, and nothing else, fasting for four hours afterwards. If, however, I take any other form of breakfast, I find myself very hungry before the next meal, which is never the case when I have had my porridge." He adds: "I feel assured that if the laborers of the southern counties, with their children, would but take a basin of oatmeal porridge and milk, with such other food as they can procure in the interval, we should have a much stronger and healthier race of men and women."

We have no doubt, not only that such a diet would give us a stronger and healthier race of men and women, but that it would save children from many of the ills now so rife among them. It is easily digested, nutritious, makes muscle, and gives a clear head, which cannot be said of a large portion of the food used in this country.—Exchange.

Fashion's Wondrous Changes.

One thing greatly amused me, says a newspaper correspondent: Last season at Saratoga I overheard a lady from New York describing the dress of a Shakeress, which she declared was too prim and ridiculous to be seen in. It is wonderful what changes a few short months will bring in one's opinions and the style of one's dress, especially of a woman's. To-day directly in front of me in the meeting house sat my Saratoga critic, clad in a dress which was almost an exact copy of the Shaker garb—a short kilted skirt of just the heliotrope shade which the sisters wear, and with round waist gathered at the belt, over which was deftly laid the neat folds of an India mull neckerchief! She was actually dressed in the "prim and ridiculous" costume over which she had so recently shrugged her pretty shoulders and turned up her little aristocratic nose. But then she did not look like a Shakeress after all, for upon her graceful head was placed a flower garden and a fruit stall, yclept a hat, that in turn would have been set upon and scoffed at by every right-minded Shakeress in the house; and upon her dainty feet were worn a pair of French-heel kid boots that in contrast with the flat-bottomed gaiters of the sisters was a shameful frivolity, not to be tolerated by a disciple of Mother Ann Lee.

—Fine feathers make big millinery bills.

—The old poke bonnet is poking its way into fashion again.

—A singular accident occurred on a Colorado railway the other day. Several cars were thrown over an embankment and wrecked, owing to the high wind which had prevailed, blowing out the sand of the embankment from under the rails, leaving the track suspended without support. Such incidents are not uncommon in that section, and are called "dry washouts."

KIDNEY-WORT

The Only Remedy

THAT ACTS AT THE SAME TIME ON THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, and the KIDNEYS.

This combined action gives it wonderful power to cure all diseases.

Why Are We Sick?

Because we allow these great organs to become clogged or torpid, and poisonous humors are therefore forced into the blood that should be expelled naturally.

KIDNEY-WORT WILL CURE

by causing free action of these organs and restoring their power to throw off disease.

Why Suffer Billious pains and aches?
Why troubled with Piles, Constipation?
Why frightened over disordered Kidneys?
Why endure nervous or sick headaches?
Why pass sleepless nights?

Use KIDNEY WORT and rejoice in health. It is a dry, vegetable compound and One package will make six qts of Medicine.

If your Druggist, he will order for you. Price, $1.00.

TRADE MARK

DAY'S Kidney PAD

IS STRONGLY ENDORSED.

Rev. E. F. L. GAUSS, Galena, Ill., writes—"For over ten years I had been a sufferer from pains in the small of the back and region of the kidneys, which was most excruciating and at times almost insufferable. Doctoring brought no relief, and I finally gave up in despair and sought the climate of my youth, in Germany and Switzerland, eminent physicians, after close examination, declared my sufferings to arise from disease of the kidneys of long standing, and could do me no good. I was, however, benefited by the climate and consequently returned. No sooner had I been back and resumed my pastoral work, or had the trouble grew again so intense as to make life a burden. A few months put it on, and the effects were truly wonderful. The pains at once grew less and are now, after wearing the second Pad, entirely gone, and there can be no doubt that I am entirely cured, as I write this some weeks after its use, and am strong and look again the very picture of health. I write this perfectly voluntarily, and it is dictated only by truth and gratitude. Indeed, I consider the Day Kidney Pad Co., God's agents and great benefactors of mankind. May all the suffering be helped as I have been if my earnest wish."

CHAS. DAVIS, 124 Myrtle Street, Boston: "I have now used DAY'S KIDNEY PAD fifteen days, and it has done me more good than any remedy I have ever tried."

LARIMORE & DEAN, Druggists, Niles, Mich.—"Of years in business—DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is having a large sale and gives better general satisfaction than any remedy we ever sold."

CASPER WEIGEL, Philosophan, Lancaster, Pa.—"I have been a great sufferer from Kidney complaint, and after wearing your Pad 26 days I feel better than I have in 15 years."

Dr. A. J. STONER, Decatur, Ill.—"Your Pad is doing great good here—fifl sells every day and gives universal satisfaction."

For sale by drug'ists, or sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of the price—Regular Pad, $1.00; Special Pad (extra size), $1.00; Children's, $1.50. Our book, "How a Life was saved," giving the history of this new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it. Address

THE

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail post-paid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, albeit or dueto pernicious habits or inherited. He is a Nervo-specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.

The author refers, by permission, to Hon. P. A. Bissell, L. L. M. D., president of the National Medical Association.

A SPLENDID OPPORTUNITY TO WIN A FORTUNE. TENTH GRAND DISTRIBUTION, CLASS K, IN NEW ORLEANS, TUESDAY, October 12th, 1880—125th Monthly Drawing.

LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY COMPANY.

This institution was regularly incorporated by the Legislature of the State for Educational and Charitable purposes in 1868 for the term of Twenty-five Years, in which contract the inviolable faith of the State is pledged, which pledge has been renewed by an overwhelming popular vote, securing the franchise in the new constitution adopted December 2d, A. D., 1879, with a capital of $1,000,000, to which it has since added a reserve fund of over $350,000. ITS GRAND SINGLE NUMBER DISTRIBUTION will take place monthly on the second Tuesday. It never scales or postpones. Look at the following Distribution:

SAMUEL CLEAVES & SON.

Daily Chronicle.

"Why Didn't You Say So?"

A dapper little man, with a very large nose and a well worn black coat, was ushered into the Yorkville court in a very unceremonious manner by Policeman Hartigan. The prisoner gave his name as John Doe, and nodded to the clerk with that familiar air assumed only by old acquaintances.

"John," said the magistrate, "I would hardly believe you capable of getting drunk, but the officer has charged you with it."

"Oh, you musn't mind the cop; he's off his nut," said the prisoner, tapping his forehead significantly.

"Never mind the officer; he can take care of himself."

"I don't know about that. He only came through Castle Garden last winter, and he ain't got the potato bugs out of his hair yet."

"How many times have you been drunk this year, John?"

The prisoner scratched his head a moment. "Give me a piece of paper, Judge," he said; "I never did amount to much in mental arithmetic."

"It must have been a great many times."

"Well, I should say so. Let me see. Once on election day, twice on Christmas, once on New Year's day, once celebrating the birth of the Father of his Country, and forty other times, not speaking of the Fourth of July. I have also been locked up seven or eight times for being only half drunk. I am always discharged."

"You are, eh? You won't get off this time, for you will get a lesson in sobriety that will cure you, I hope, forever."

"Whatever you say, Judge; I am satisfied?"

"What is your occupation?"

"I'm a printer."

"Good gracious! Why didn't you say so before, and save time. You are discharged."

The prisoner shut one eye and opened it again, and, having thus indulged in an unmistakable wink, left the court room in triumph.—N. Y. Herald.

Liebig Co's Coca Beef Tonic.

"It has more than realized my expectations," says Professor Duncan Campbell, M. D., LL. D., President Royal College Physicians and Surgeons; Member General Council University of Edinburgh, etc. Invaluable for debility, weak lungs, billiousness, dyspepsia and female complaints.

Set Back 42 Years.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of 30, although I am 72, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial." —(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

—New Bedford is now basking in what somebody has called the light of other days. She has just welcomed home a whale ship with 1700 barrels of sperm oil.

Never give up the ship. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure you, as it has done others. It costs little, and can never harm. Price 25 cents.

—The death of Dr. Jackson recalls a bonmot of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes, when the quarrel between Jackson and Morton was raging as to which should have the honor of having discovered anæsthetics. Dr. Holmes suggested that a monument be erected bearing statues of both, with an index on the pedestal pointing upwards, and underneath it the words, "To Ether."—Lowell Courier.

Pleasant Letters.

They are sheets of sunshine. A Methodist clergyman of Hartford, Conn., writes Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., that "Favorite Remedy" cured him of chronic liver disease and indigestion, from which he had suffered for a long time. This was splendid, but nothing more than anyone may expect who uses this medicine. One dollar a bottle is a small consideration when health is in question. The clergyman says he is going to introduce Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" among his people. He can't do better. Health is always a friend of religion.

—The Conquest family of actors, who came to America from Europe in July, have gone home. Their manager lost $10,000, and the troupe lost about $600 a week at New York. Before appearing at all, Mr. Conquest, Sr., fell and was made a cripple so that he could not go on the stage at all. The younger Conquest was also badly hurt by a fall, and Miss Conquest fell from a wire and suffered severely. It was an unexampled run of ill-luck.

Many people suffer, and know not what ails them. Try D. R. V. G. If no benefit is received, your druggist will refund the money.

—The new minister of finance in Russia is Professor Bunge. He is expected to stop all waste from the national bar'l.

Disease prevented and medical bills lessened by a timely use of Malt Bitters.

The Unterrified Subjected.

Never since the days of Franklin Pierce has there been such arbitrary subjection of the democratic party of New Hampshire as is to-day exercised by Mr. Jones. The condition of his acceptance was the invariable naming of every other candidate. The democracy wanted Mr. Jones' means. He was not inclined to furnish this unless he had absolute control. He wanted to find other candidates who would bear part of the expense, for the outlay must be generous. When it came to bouncing Boss Bingham for his wealthy brother George, who in a pecuniary sense is an abler man than Harry, the Ancient War Horse was inclined to kick, but he was promised the Littleton post-office, and he subsided, quietly folding his congressional aspirations before the orders of the man whom "every man and every woman in the state demanded should be governor!" and who is to take the combined chances of Bingham and Sinclair for the United States senate.

Knights Templar.

At the annual conclave of the Grand Commandry of Knights Templar of the state of New Hampshire, held in Concord on Monday, Sept. 28th, the following were elected officers for the ensuing year:

Sir Benjamin Franklin Rackley, Dover, R. E. Grand Commander;
Sir Nathan Parker Hunt, Manchester, V. E. Deputy Grand Commander;
Sir Milton Andrew Taylor, Nashua, E. G. Generalissimo;
Sir John Francis Webster, Concord, E. G. Captain General;
Sir Daniel C. Roberts, Concord, E. G. Prelate;
Sir Andrew Bunton, Manchester, E. G. Senior Warden;
Sir Washington Freeman, Portsmouth, E. G. Junior Warden;
Sir Frank Albert McKean, Nashua, E. G. Treasurer;
Sir George Perley Cleaves, Concord, E. G. Recorder;
Sir Edward Richard Kent, Lancaster, E. G. Standard Bearer;
Sir Charles Newell Towle, Concord, E. G. Sword Bearer;
Sir John H. Woodward, Keene, E. G. Warder;
Sir David R. Peirce, Great Falls, E. G. Captain of the Guard.

A Democratic Row.

The democrats in the fourth congressional district of Massachusetts had a doubled-barrelled convention on the 29th inst., and nominated Leopold Morse (the present incumbent) and William Gaston for Congress. In the original convention there was a noisy and disreputable row between the supporters of the two prominent candidates, and Mr. Morse was charged by one of the other side with having once been convicted of stealing two dollars from a blind cripple! [If that is the worst charge they can bring against him, the democrats had better not make any change.] On a vote being taken, the old democratic instinct of ballot-box stuffing was apparent, there being one and one-half votes too many, but Morse was declared the nominee. The Morse faction then withdrew from the hall, and nominated Charles Levi Woodbury for presidential elector. The other faction nominated William Gaston for Congress, and Charles A. Prince for elector.

Greenback State Convention.

The greenback state convention of New Hampshire was held at Manchester on Wednesday, Sept. 29th, when candidates were nominted as follows:

For governor, Warren G. Brown, of Whitefield;

For railroad commissioners, Nathaniel Wiggin of Greenland, John D. Emery of Manchester (one place to be filled:)

Representatives in Congress—Lafayette Chesley of Chester, Dist. 1; John F. Woodbury of Manchester, Dist. 2; D. T. Chase of Claremont, Dist. 3; Presidential electors, Lafayette Morse of Northumberland, Gardner J. Greenleaf of Portsmouth, P. B. Holmes of Greenland, D. C. Whittemore of Manchester, E. M. Blodgett of Wentworth.

Chronicle Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28th.

The democratic congressional committee and the postmaster of this city have made amicable arrangements as to the mail matter improperly franked. The committee will exercise greater care hereafter. The committee also reduces the number of its employes, and the amount of matter sent out.

The taking of testimony in Ex-Senator Senators Christiancy's divorce suit has ceased for the present. He does not continue the payments of alimony, or of the expenses necessary in carrying on the case.

An official report just published shows that during the last fiscal year, of the mail matter sent from this country to Europe 248,385 pounds were in letters, and 1,025,340 pounds were in newspapers. Of both letters and newspapers, a little more than one-half was sent to Great Britian, and about one-fourth of the whole was sent to Germany.

The demand for fractional silver has doubled within the past week. The demand is principally for quarters, dimes, and half dimes. Much of the silver is sent out in $70 bags, which go through the mails as registered matter. This is getting to be quite a popular way of ordering silver, in places where there are no banks, and distant from the centers where fractional silver accumulates. Some silver has been sent in this way to post offices as far distant as Oregon. It is noticed that in sending orders to the treasury, the term "fractional silver coin" is very frequently construed to include one, two and three cent pieces, and nickels, but it does not; these coins should be ordered direct from the mint. The cashier of the treasury is now shipping to various parts of the country principally the south and west, about $25,000 in fractional siver daily. KNOX.

Political Notes.

The republicans had an immense rally at Warren, Ohio, Sept. 28th. Gen. Grant was president, and on taking the chair made a strong speech. He was followed by Senator Conkling and Gen. Logan.

The democratic state convention of New York was held on Tuesday, Sept. 28th. There was a rather stormy time and a small bolt.

The supreme court of California has decided that no county or municipal officers are to be voted for at the election this fall, either in San Francisco or the interior counties. This undoes a great amount of county convention work by the various political parties.

Gov. Cullom of Illinois has ordered the election of four additional judges for the Cook county superior court, in accordance with the provision of the state constitution giving one judge to each 50,000 persons. This addition to the judiciary is rendered necessary by the large increase of population given to Cook county and Chicago by the last census. Superintendent Walker gives the official figures for Cook county's population as 607,568.

The republicans had rousing rallies at Concord and Rochester on the evening of Sept. 28th. Eagle hall in Concord was crowded to hear Hon. Wm. P. Frye of Maine; in Rochester, Hon. J. W. Patterson was the speaker.

(Communicated)

The State Convention of the Y. M. C. A.

By invitation of the clergymen, officers of the Young Men's Christian Association, and prominent laymen, the 8th annual state convention was this year held in the Congregational church at Pittsfield; it was considered by those who have attended nearly all the former sessions that this was one of the best and most successful in every sense of the word. Nearly two hundred delegates and visitors were in attendance, among whom were many prominent business men from different parts of the state, and one gentleman representing three states. Mr. R. C. Morse, general secretary of the International work, was with us; and quite a number of prominent clergymen from various parts of the state took part in the public service.

Nearly all the delegates were strangers in Pittsfield, and all were enthusiastic in their praise of the hospitalities received from the residents of the town. Their churches, homes and hearts were alike thrown open to receive us; the delegates from "the city by the sea" received a cordial reception, and as we carried the pleasant greetings from our city, together with a hearty invitation from the pastors and prominent laymen asking for the convention to hold its next session with us, and our pledge of a Portsmouth welcome, it indeed was good to be there.

The Congregational church, in which all the sessions of the convention were held, is a beautiful structure, built of brick with excellent taste, and is very nicely furnished. The other churches in the village are a credit to any town, and we understand that the academy and the schools are fully equal to those of any village with the same number of inhabitants, about two thousand five hundred.

The work and business of the Y. M. C. A., in this and other states, I will write you about at some other time, but of our local needs I would like to say a few words; all admit we have attempted to do something in the way of reaching young men and helping them, as it is our duty to do—yet we have scarcely accomplished anything. Without a suite of rooms, containing reading-room, and rooms for classes and receptions. But in order to have these things we need the means, and we know our people will help us when the matter is brought before them, as it will be soon.

The next annual convention will be held in this city, at which time we expect to give the visitors a hearty welcome, as our friends are able to do; and in closing I would say the work of the Y. M. C. A. is in perfect accord with the pastors and churches throughout the country.

—While on the Peninsula, during the war, an officer one day came across a soldier belonging to one of the most predatory companies of the Irish brigade. The fellow had the lifeless bodis of a goose and hen tied together by the heels, dangling from his musket. "Where did you steal those, you rascal?" the officer demanded. "Steal is it! Faith I was marching along with Color Sergeant Maguire, and the goose—bad cess to it—came out and hissed at the American flag, and bedad I shot him on the spot!" "But the hen, sir? how about the hen?" "It's the hin, is it? Bad luck to the hin! I caught her laying eggs for the rebel army, and as a federal soldier I couldn't stand that anyhow, and I give her a kick that stopped that act of treason!"

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage by eloquent Congregatione Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been tested with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by time and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes. Tu,th&f,&c

AROUND HOME.

Work was commenced upon the alterations and improvements to the savings bank building, on Monday.

The schooner H. B. Gibson was on the 29th inst. discharging a cargo of bark at Moses H. Goodrich's wharf near the north millbridge, a place that is visited but seldom by craft of this kind.

The Times of Sept. 29th advertised the republican rally of the previous evening to the extent of about a column and a half, showing that Mr. Dewey's speech must have hit the democrats pretty hard.

Messrs. C. L. Brown & Co. have this week shipped to Washington by steamer a hundred barrels of apples. The barrels containing these apples are made at Raymond, and the heads are inserted without nails.

Michael Hogan, alias Donahoe, of Newburyport, was arrested in Lynn, Mass., Sept. 28th, on suspicion of burglary. On overhauling his effects, the Eastern railroad tickets stolen from the station at North Hampton recently were found.

The U. S. S. Tallapoosa is to sail today, for Washington and intermediate naval stations. Lieut. D. G. McRitchie, commanding the Tallapoosa, is to have a leave of absence commencing to-day, and the steamer will in the meantime be under the command of Lieut. Joseph E. Jones.

The Times is disappointed because the "Boys in Blue" did not turn out with over one hundred men on the occasion of their first parade. Don't worry, neighbor; they will soon turn out with considerably over a hundred. But—say; where are the much-talked-of "fifty-one" Hancock veterans?

The Hancock & English club of ward four, on the evening of the 28th inst., elected Shirley B. Cunningham captain, James W. Lefavour first lieutenant, and William S. Hazel second lieutenant. The club propose to put a uniformed company numbering fifty members on the street, for campaign parades.

The Boys in Blue are to organize another company of veterans for their battalion, the uniform to be like that of the first two companies. We opine that our citizens will see that there is no lack of assistance rendered to these "dogs of war," many of whom not being particularly well off in worldly goods can ill afford the necessary outlay to equip themselves for the campaign. Major Tilton and the officers and men of the battalion have reason to congratulate themselves at the success attending their first parade, for it is conceded by democrats and republicans alike that no finer display by a single campaign organization was ever made in our city.

GARFIELD & ARTHUR BATTALION--ATTENTION!

All members of the battalion are ordered to appear at headquarters this (Thursday) evening at 7:30 prompt, for formation of companies and decision on uniforms. PER ORDER OF ADJUTANT.

COCHECO MANUFACTURING CO.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of this corporation was held at Dover, on Wednesday, the 29th inst., Amos A. Lawrence of Boston presiding.

The affairs of the company appeared from the report of the treasurer to be in excellent condition. The mill buildings are being rebuilt from past profits, and the one on the line of one of the old mills, now being put up, will be ready for roofing in October.

The following named officers were re-elected without opposition:

Directors, Amos A. Lawrence, John A. Burnham, S. Ingersoll Bowditch, T. Jefferson Coolidge, John McDuffee, John L. Gardner, Jr., Howard Stockton.

President, Amos A. Lawrence.

Treasurer, Howard Stockton.

Clerk, Zimri S. Wallingford.

The attendance of stockholders was not as large as upon former occasions, although a goodly interest in the annual dinner seemed to be manifested by the aid of several of the solid men of Dover, who were, as is the custom, the guests of the company. Rev. Dr. Spalding acted as chaplain at the table.

The improvements now going on are important to the proper development of the company's facilities, and with the mill recently completed, and the reorganization of the work as contemplated, and the building now in process of erection, the company will better than ever before be able to profitably produce its wares, which have such a stable position in the dry-goods market.

EASTERN RAILROAD NOTES.

The directors of the Maine Central and the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroads were in session at Portland on Wednesday.

The Sunday train leaving Portland for Boston at 2:30 o'clock P. M., and this city at 4:20, has been discontinued. The Pullman train for Bangor runs daily, Sundays included.

The ice business is still booming. Homans & Webster, of Gloucester, have shipped from Wolfeboro' quite a portion of their stock of 40,000 tons, but it is thought it will take six weeks longer to ship the remainder of the lot.

Mr. Stockton, treasurer of the Cocheco Man'g Co., and Mr. Perkins, station agent at Dover and Portsmouth, on Wednesday of this week made an examination of the grounds where the new freight house of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad is to be located at Dover, near the premises of the Cocheco Co.

The construction of a new station at South Berwick, on the line of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroad, has been begun. The building will be in keeping with the wants of the place, which is largely accommodated by the Eastern line. A new woodshed has been built at Conway junction.

The White mountain travel over the Eastern railroad, the past season, has been unprecedented. The White mountain express trains have been constantly well filled with passengers. The business from this source more than realizes the most sanguine expectations of the road, and yields from the traffic over the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway line a very large sum over and above the rental paid for his branch.

The Eastern railroad bridge at Saco, built of iron, was made unsafe for travel last night by the breaking of a stringer. Several freight trains due in this city from eastern points are unable to get along. The passengers on the Pullman train had to be transferred.—Times, Sept. 29th.

President Phillips, with the engineers of the road, inspected the bridge on the afternoon of the 29th, and found that the breaking of the stringer was owing to a flaw in the iron, all other parts of the structure being in perfect order. The broken piece can be easily replaced, and in the meantime the bridge is made perfectly safe by wooden supports.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

The supreme court in session at Alfred will adjourn this week.

The U. S. S. Alliance commenced coaling at the navy yard on Wednesday.

The York county cattle show, agricultural horse-trot and fair opens at Biddeford to-day, continuing the rest of the week.

Our New York Fashion Letter.

FALL WRAPS.

The influence of the dolman is felt throughout the world of out-door garments. True, there are such things as jackets in existence, and they are fashionable too, but for one of these, I fear to say how many fall wraps are characterized by the peculiar features of the dolman. It is true, likewise, that the newer name of "visite" is constantly given, but after all 'tis but a name. And thirdly, moreover, it is true that the dolman or visite of to-day, differs materially from what it once was—but this is so much the better, because the good points are retained and the objectionable ones discarded. There is an elegance in a dolman which is not possible to a jacket, and now that a certain "flappingness" (excuse me for coining a word) has given way to modifications of shape by which it hangs as closely to the figure as a jacket, there is nothing handsomer or more becoming. In view of cold weather, styles are long; and if you ask me for a desirable model, I would say "the Zerah." A jacket is certainly more jaunty, and one of the most striking novelties in this line is the Langtry casaque. Nearly tight-fitting, it is slightly double-breasted, and has a hood which, reaching to the waist, can be lined with the same goods as the garment, or in contrast. Circular wraps are affected by dolman ideas; some of the newest being fitted to the figure, and with arm-holes. But the genuine circular is not yet thrown aside. It you have one, wear it; but do not make up new material in a shape that is on the wane.

STYLES OF MAKING.

The "Jersey" is a startling novelty; so much so that it is yet doubtful whether it will be worn by any but a few who delight in whatever is conspicuous. This new garment is woven throughout of heavy silk or wool, dyed in fashionable colors, such as garnet, plum, dark blue, etc. It is intended to be worn in place of a basque, and fitting like wax, gives especial opportunity for the showing-off of a fine figure. Reaching high about the throat, it is finished with ribbing; and ribbing appears also at the wrists. Now the very existence of the Jersey is proof that costumes close around the hips will remain in vogue. We are aware of the inauguration of round waists, with full skirts hanging partly or entirely plain; styles bunched on the hips are still seen; and all the above ideas are kept separate, intermingled or modified, until one can hardly say what is fashionable and what is not. Then too, we observe polonaises, overskirts and basques, trimmed and untrimmed skirts, so really there is no end of liberty. The Violetta costume, a tight-fitting polonaise reaching to the bottom of the skirt at the sides, and looped high in the middle of the back, is combined with a short walking skirt, plain in front and at the sides, and plaited full at the back. The Castilia overskirt is arranged with a double apron draped in the middle and falling in two points, producing the effect of panniers, and the back draped in a simple and graceful manner; it is suitable for all classes of goods, and with the Leila basque would be especially adapted to a cloth costume. The Valentina train has a long, pointed apron, and panels at the sides, with full, long train at the back.

ACCESSORIES.

Lace is now an important part of woman's dress, being much more freely used than formerly. This doubtless is owing to the success of Breton and Languedoc, and so manufacturers have this fall introduced some charming varieties. Puzzled how to describe them, I have bethought me of the illustrations in Lord & Taylor's catalogue which lies by me. They are beautifully accurate, the white laces portrayed on dark surfaces with such clearness and delicacy that it seems as if they could be handled. Send a postal asking for a copy, and you will see not only the illustrations but the new ways of making up into 'kerchiefs, jabots, etc. I recommend this also because there is so much more to be written than I can mention, and if I may refer you to a guide which will inform you on many points I have left untouched, 'tis all the better for both of us. My conscience is relieved, and you are benefitted, particularly as you are put to no expense. The other day, Mrs. A. T. Stewart wore a costume the jet trimmings upon which cost $700. This is one among many evidences of the popularity of jet. Fringes and passementeries composed entirely of it, or intermingled with silk, are very fashionable, as well also as the passementerie medallions that are a feature of the day. Trimmings of material are much used, and here the styles are in great measure the same as formerly—plaitings, shirrings or gaugings; kilt plaits are quite wide, but box plaits are quite narrow, and knife plaits are either plain or in shell designs. For cloth or flannel costumes, rows of machine stitching are much liked, and for costumes of all kinds cords have unusual prestige, hanging or looped in any way that seems tasteful. Buttons are more fanciful than ever, and the limit as to size is great, since large ones on suits for street wear are the dimensions of a trade dollar. And in parting I would say, "don't neglect the accessories of your dress," for as Sam Weller says, "It's the seasoning as does it." LUCY CARTER.

NEW YORK Sept. 27th.

—There is very little style about chess. It gives a man no opportunity to balance himself on one leg, lean half over a green table, and jab a real ivory ball with a cue held across the small of his back. There is no running the first base or going over three fences to find a ball, in chess; and there is no bull's eye to hit—which are disadvantages, in a way. Then a mean, little six-by-nine man, with a bulging forehead and a watery eye, and spectacles, can whip a man twice his size, which is an anomaly calculated to disturb the equillibrium of nature.—Hartford Times.

—The latest artistic craze is for dresses made of house flannel. The effect of these is better than might be expected. The color is usually a cool yellow. When Russian and Turkish towelling was first used for dresses, it was thought that frugality of fabric could go no further, but soon after common kitchen towelling became a fashionable material. Then we had work-house sheeting, idealized by embroidered apple blossoms, sunflowers, wild-roses or briony. Now that we have reached house flannel, I suppose the next step will be sacking, or crumb-cloth, or garden matting. When fashion begins to tread a measure to any particular tune, she seldom stops until, like Jock o' Hazeldean, she's "o'er the borders and awa'."—London Truth.

—The champion jack-of all-trades belongs to England, and lives near Chichester. He has served as seaman in the four quarters of the globe, and acted as steward, sailmaker, cook, mate and navigator. He now hangs out his sign as "Professor Pullinger, contractor, inventor, fisherman, builder, carpenter, joiner, sawyer, undertaker, turner, cooper, painter, glazier, sign painter, wooden pumpmaker, paper hanger, boat builder, clock cleaner, locksmith, umbrella repairer, china and glass mender, net knitter, wire worker, grocer, baker, farmer, taxidermist, copying clerk, letter writer, accountant, surveyor, engineer, land measurer, house agent, vestry clerk, assistant overseer, clerk to the Selsay Sparrow club, clerk to the Selsay police, assessor and collector of land tax and property and income tax, and collector of church and highway rates."

A BRAVE LADY!

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation without Taking Chloroform.

(From the Courier.)

Mrs. Schoonmaker, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely loose the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skeleton. In this terrible strait, she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, New York, who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The "Favorite Remedy" is a priceless blessing to women. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

Though Shaking Like an Aspen Leaf

With the chills and fever, the victim of malaria may still recover by using this celebrated specific, which not only breaks up the most aggravated attacks, but prevents their recurrence. It is infinitely preferable to quinine, not only because it does the business far more thoroughly, but also on account of its perfect wholesomeness and invigorating action upon the entire system.

Summer's Heat

Relaxes the system and renders us liable to attacks of diarrhœa, dysentery, bloody-flux, cholera-morbus, cramps in stomach, colic, and other painful and dangerous affections for which Dr. Pierce's Compound Extract of Smart-Weed — compounded from the best French brandy, Jamaica ginger, smart-weed, or water-pepper, anodyne, soothing and healing gums and balsams, is a most potent specific It is equally efficacious in breaking up colds, fevers, and inflammatory attacks. Every household should be supplied with it. Fifty cents by druggists.

—Rev. Mr. Williams, recently preaching at Chaplin on Abraham's call to offer up Isaac, very gravely remarked; "It was no doubtful voice. I believe that Abraham knew that he heard the voice just as plainly as you know you hear my voice, if you are awake." Such a straightening up of a congregation as followed is not often seen in sermon time.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures, but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

—Every man has three characters. That which he exhibits, that which he has, and that which he thinks he has.

Not Open to Objection.

Temperance people often say that most of the popular medicines they see advertised are nine-tenths rum. That is true of many, but not of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." The doctor agrees with his temperance friends that it is better to die of disease than of drink. "Favorite Remedy" cures kidney troubles, liver complaints, constipation of the bowels, as nothing else does or ever did. It drives away sickness. It cools the blood. It costs only a dollar to try it. Ask your druggist or send to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

Vanderbilt's Income.

Some one has made a very curious calculation of what Mr. Vanderbilt could do with his money. William H. Vanderbilt's income from his investments in $51,000,000 four per cent government bonds is represented at $5000 daily, which is $208.25 per hour, $3.47 per minute, or five cents per second. Assuming that he is paid by the second, he can not possibly spend his money, as he could not select purchases and put down the pieces fast enough. He could not throw it away; to pick up, cast, recover, pick up and cast again would take him two seconds, and if he worked all through the twenty-four hours without rest, he could only dispose of one-half his income. By living economically, saving up for four years, he could, by placing his five-cent pieces side by side, make a nickel belt around the earth, or by converting his savings into one-cent pieces, and mounting them in a pile, he would, in twenty-years, erect a road to the moon and have $500 to invest when he got there. Should his amusements take a charitable twist, he could, out of a year's receipts, give every man, woman and child in the United States twenty cents, and have money left over. Other glowing possibilities occur to the glowing fancy of the calculator. In one day he could go to 8000 different circuses, eat 10,000 pints of peanuts, drink 5000 glasses of lemonade and have money left to get his boots blacked.

Flies and their Work.

Three blue-bottle flies, says Linnæus, will devour a horse as soon as a lion could do it. The statement is no doubt somewhat of an exaggeration, but it is not so far over the mark as it may be supposed to be. One fly, it has been stated will produce 20,000 eggs, and no sooner are the maggots hatched from them than they set to work with such vigor that in twenty-four hours they will increase in weight some over 200 times. In about three weeks every one of them may have become a perfect fly, half of them, perhaps, females, each capable of depositing another 20,000 eggs in any dead rat or "high" leg of cotton that threatens to breed pestilence in the air. It will thus be seen that it was a very dubious work of wisdom on the part of St. Bernard to "excommunicate" all the flies from his part of the world.

—Eminent medical authorities hold that the drinking of ice-water is the worst thing a person can do. "It drives from the stomach its natural heat, suspends the flow of gastric juice, retards digestion, and shocks and weakens the delicate organs with which it comes in contact." And in spite of all this, barkeepers persist in setting it out to a man along with the other little tumbler. It is no wonder we are a nation of dyspeptics.—Peck's Sun.

Dropsy and Rheumatism.

Dropsical and rheumatic persons find the use of Speer's Port Grape Wine, of New Jersey, and the Wine Bitters, of incalculable benefit. Their purity and valuable properties have given them a wide reputation among physicians throughout this country and Europe. This wine took the highest premium at the late Centennial. It is excellent for weary and debilitated females.

—An amusing joke has just been played upon the bishop of Grenoble, France. A local newspaper printed a violent republican speech by a cure in the good bishop's diocese, which so excited his ire that he immediately published a letter severely rebuking him for plunging into secular things, and threatening to dismiss him from his priestly function. But it turns out that the obnoxious speech was delivered in 1796, and its author has been dead fifty years.

D. R. V. G. is a purely vegetable compound, and will do all is claimed for it. See other column.

KIDNEY-WORT

The Only Remedy THAT ACTS AT THE SAME TIME ON THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, and the KIDNEYS.

This combined action gives it wonderful power to cure all diseases.

Why Are We Sick?

Because we allow these great organs to become clogged or torpid, and poisonous humors are therefore forced into the blood that should be expelled naturally.

KIDNEY-WORT WILL CURE

by causing free action of these organs and restoring their power to throw off disease.

Why Suffer Bilious pains and aches? Why tormented with Piles, Constipation? Why frightened over disordered Kidneys? Why such sufferers or sick headaches? Why have sleepless nights?

Use KIDNEY-WORT and rejoice in health. It is a dry vegetable compound and One package will make six quart Medicine. It is put up in dry vegetable form, ready for you. Price, $1.00.

TRADE MARK

DAY'S Kidney PAD

IS STRONGLY ENDORSED.

Rev. E. P. L. GAUSS, Galena, Ill., writes—"For over ten years I had been a great sufferer from pains in the small of the back and region of the Kidneys, which was most excruciating and at times almost insufferable. Doctoring brought no relief, and I was finally advised to go abroad and seek the climate of my youth. In Germany and Switzerland, eminent physicians, after close examination, declared my sufferings to arise from disease of the Kidneys, of long standing, and could do me no good. I was, however, benefited by the climate and consequently returned. No sooner had I been back and resumed my pastoral work, when the old trouble grew again so intense as to make life a burden. A few months ago I came to possession of one of Day's Kidney Pads, put it on, and the effects were truly wonderful. The pains at once grew less and are now, after wearing the second Pad, entirely gone, and there can be no doubt that I am entirely cured, as I write this some weeks after its use, and am strong and look again the very picture of health. I write this perfectly voluntarily, and it is dictated only by truth and gratitude. Indeed, I consider the Day Kidney Pad Co., God's agents and great benefactors of mankind. May all the suffering be helped as I have been to my earnest wish."

CHAS. DAVIS, 124 Myrtle Street, Boston: "I have now used DAY'S KIDNEY PAD thirty days, and it has done me more good than any remedy I have ever tried."

LARIMORE & DEAN, Druggists, Niles, Mich.—30 years in business:—"DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is having a large sale and gives better general satisfaction than any remedy we ever sold."

CASPER WEITZEL, Policeman, Lancaster, Pa.—"I have been a great sufferer from Kidney complaint, and after wearing your Pad 25 days I feel better than I have in 15 years."

Dr. A. J. STONER, Decatur, Ill.—"Your Pad is doing great good here. It sells every day and gives universal satisfaction."

For sale by druggists, or sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of the price—Regular, Pad, $1.00; Special Pad (extra size), $3.00; Children's, $1.50. THE

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, or SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood invigorated.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail post-paid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, whether due to pernicious habits or infection. He is a Nervous specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.

"The author refers, by permission, to Hon. P. A. BISSELL, M. D., president of the National Medical Association.

Address Dr. W. H. PARKER, No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston, Mass. The author may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. dm&th&t1nov80

CANTERBURY SHAKERS' BLOOD-PURIFYING SARSAPARILLA.

Prescribed by Physicians and Druggists for nearly Fifty Years.

THE SHAKER'S SARSAPARILLA is just what it purports to be.—Dixi Crosby, M. D. I have long prescribed it, as I think it is a most valuable medicine.—Jeremiah Blake, M. D., Gilmanton, N. H. Have known it for nearly half a century. Our confidence in it is in no way impaired. —Carlton & Hovey, Druggists, Lowell. I speak with confidence of it, having prescribed it for eighteen years.—S. M. Dinsmor, M. D., Francestown, N. H. Give me the Shakers' Sarsaparilla in preference to all others.—C. A. Guilmette, M. D., Boston. I have the most unbounded confidence in its healing and renovating properties.—Wm. E. Prescott, Druggist, Portsmouth, N. H. I consider it the best preparation made.—A. G. Wilber, Druggist, Boston.

Do not fail to make a trial of this great Blood Purifier, Appetizer and Tonic, the first and best of all medicines called Sarsaparilla, which is prepared from selected SHAKER ROOTS, HERBS AND BERRIES by the CANTERBURY SOCIETY OF SHAKERS, and is beyond all comparison the purest, safest, and most effective family medicine in the World. Ask for CORNETT'S SHAKERS' SARSAPARILLA. The genuine is signed by THOMAS CORBETT, its inventor, and sold by druggists generally.

Imprisoned Witnesses.

Worst of all, though, is the system of locking a witness up so he may be at hand when required in court. It is not necessary that a man should even be accused of crime, or suspected of it, in order that he may be made a prisoner in New York. The inmates of the House of Detention for witnesses are, as a matter of fact, all prisoners.

The system operates thus:—A crime is committed and it is witnessed, perhaps by chance, by a stranger in the city, or some one without a fixed residence. The person committing the crime is arrested, and the chance witness is taken in custody, too. The criminal has friends who get him out on bail, after a few days. The witness has no friends, and is locked up in the House of Detention. It may be six months before the criminal is brought to trial, or it may be even longer. In the meantime he is at liberty to go and come as he pleases, saunter on Broadway, visit the theatres, call on his friends, take trips out of town, and have a good time generally. And while the man who committed the crime is thus enjoying himself, the unlucky fellow who merely saw him do it, and who probably never committed a crime, is a close prisoner in the House of Detention. He sits behind doors and windows, eats prison fare, and feels that he is not only outraged, but disgraced as well. It is a common thing for men to be confined in the House of Detention for months, while the criminals whom they are held to swear against walk the streets, and it has happened more than once that persons trying to escape from imprisonment there have been severely punished.

Talk to a judge or a lawyer about the gross outrage inflicted on these imprisoned witnesses and he will say, "Oh, yes, it seems rather harsh, certainly; but the ends of justice must be taken care of." The ends of justice, forsooth! The ends of injustice, of cruel wrong, of unmitigated oppression, is what these men should say. It is simply a disgrace to humanity that one should be made a prisoner in order that another may be punished. The system represented by the House of Detention is a blot on civilization. We have heard a good deal about the inhumanity of imprisonment for debt. Is that as bad as to imprison a man for being a chance witness to a crime in which he had no part? If the House of Detention for witnesses were empty some day, and some one took a keg of gunpowder there and blew it to pieces, the act would be one which every fair-minded man should applaud.—CASPAR, in Detroit Free Press.

—Little Edith, who has heard her mamma speak of blighted affection—"Mamma, and you think if a person is really and truly in love, it would be wicked to deprive her of the object of her affections?" Mamma—"Why, certainly, Edith, dear; but where in the world did you learn all that?" Edith—"I heard you tell it to Mrs. Jinglejaw to-day. And, mamma, I'm awfully in love with that loaf of cake in the cupboard." It is needless to say that Edith and the object of her affections were immediately united.—Boston Transcript.

Not Open to Objection.

Temperance people often say that most of the popular medicines they see advertised are nine-tenths rum. That is true of many, but not of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." The doctor agrees with his temperance friends that it is better to die of disease than of drink. "Favorite Remedy" cures kidney troubles, liver complaints, constipation of the bowels, as nothing else does or ever did. It drives away sickness. It cools the blood. It costs only a dollar to try it. Ask your druggist or send to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

—It is said the oyster is poor and thin. This comes of spending the season at the watering-places. Nearly everybody is poor after sojourning at one of these resorts a few months.

FOR THE GOOD OF HUMANITY.—Of all the discoveries which have ever been made by man or woman, which has accomplished more for the "Good of Humanity" than anything else, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest; for men are now as loud and enthusiastic in its praises for curing them of kidney complaints and weakness of the urinary and genital organs as women are in its efficacy for curing female complaints.

—The time has come when a lady can make her dress almost as she chooses, and still be in the fashion.

Tens of thousands are suffering to-day from Kidney complaint without knowing what it is that makes them feel depressed and miserable. Day's Kidney Pad is the remedy that will remove the cause of your sufferings.

—Silver jewelry is more fashionable than gold in England just at present, and the indications are that before long it will become so here.

They say business is dull; sugar and coffee are selling slowly. Not so with Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, we understand our druggists can hardly supply the demand.

—New Bedford is now basking in what somebody has called the light of other days. She has just welcomed home a whale ship with 1700 barrels of sperm oil.

Many people suffer, and know not what ails them. Try D. R. V. G. If no benefit is received, your druggist will refund the money.

—The new minister of finance in Russia is Professor Bunge. He is expected to stop all waste from the national bar'l.

A Short-Lived Carard.

The democratic papers of Sept. 30th—including our neighbor, the Portsmouth Times—all put black headlines over a statement sent from Washington that Senator Jones of Nevada had virtually left the republican party, and would advocate the election of Fair, a democrat, in place of Senator Sharon. The lie was hardly coined before it was "nailed" by Mr. Jones, who says he was never a more ardent republican than now. Most of the democratic papers will omit to print Jones' indignant denial, and those that do print it won't use any startling headlines.

The Speech of Gen. Grant.

The speech of Gen. Grant, on taking the chair at the immense mass meeting of republicans at Warren, Ohio, Sept. 28th, was as follows:

In view of the known character and ability of the speaker who is to address you to-day, and his long public career and association with leading statesmen of this country for the past twenty years, it would not be becoming in me to detain you with many remarks of my own, but it may be proper for me to account to you on the first occasion of my presiding at political meetings for the faith that is in me.

I am a republican, as the two great political parties are now divided, because the republican party is the national party, seeking the greatest good for the greatest number of its citizens. There is not a precinct in this vast nation where a democrat cannot cast his ballot and have it counted as cast, no matter what the predominance of the opposite party. He can proclaim his political opinions, even if he is one among thousands, without fear and without proscription on account of his opinions. There are fourteen states, and localities in some others, where republicans have not this privilege. This is one reason why I am a republican.

But I am a republican for many reasons. The republican party assures protection to life, property, public credit, and the payment of the debts of the government, state, county or municipal, so far as it can control. The democratic party does not promise this. If it does, it has broken its promises to the extent of hundreds of millions, as many northern democrats can testify to their sorrow.

I am a republican as between existing parties, because it fosters the productions of the field and farm and of manufactories, and it encourages the general education of the poor as well as rich. The democratic party discourages all these when in absolute power. The republican party is the party of progress and of liberality toward its opponents. It encourages the poor to strive to better their condition, the ignorant to educate their children to enable them to compete successfully with their more fortunate associates, and in fine, it secures an entire equality before the law of every citizen, no matter what his race, nationality or previous condition; it tolerates no privileged class; every one has an opportunity to make himself all he is capable of. Ladies and gentlemen, do you believe this can be truthfully said in the greater part of fourteen of the states of this Union to-day which the democrats control absolutely.

The republican party is a party of principles, the same principles prevailing wherever it has a foothold. The democratic party is united in but one thing, and that is in getting control of the government in all its branches. It is for internal improvements at the expense of the government in one section, and against them in another. It favors the repudiation of solemn obligations in one section, and the honest payment of its debts in another (where public opinion will not tolerate any other view.) It favors fiat money in one place and good money in another. Finally it favors the pooling of all issues not favored by the republicans, to the end that it may secure the one principle upon which the party is a most harmonious unit, namely, gaining control of the government in all its branches.

I have been in some part of every state lately in rebellion within the last year. I was most hospitably received at every place where I stopped. My receptions were not by the Union class alone, but by all classes without distinction. I had a free talk with many who were against us in the war and who have been against the republican party ever since. They were in all instances reasonable men, judged by what they said. I believed them, and believe now, that they sincerely want a break-up in this solid south in its political condition. They see that it is to their pecuniary interest as well as to their happiness, that there should be harmony and confidence between all sections. They want to break away from the slavery which binds them to a party name; they want a pretext that enough of them can unite upon to make it respectable. Once started, the solid south will go as Ku-Kluxism did before, and is so admirably told by Judge Tourjee in his "Fool's Errand." When the break comes those who start it will be astonished to find how many of their friends have been in favor of it for a long time, and have only been waiting to see some one take the lead. This desirable solution can only be attained by the defeat, and continued defeat, of the democratic party as now constituted.

New Mode of Adjusting Fire Losses.

The lose by fire of a large clothing stock in Boston seemes to have been adjusted by a new mode, as will be seen by an extract subjoined, which we take from a Boston paper:

The underwriters have been furnished an entertaining topic for discussion in the results of the salvage on the Whitten, Burdett & Young loss. It seems that this is the first case of any magnitude where the insurers have taken the merchandise and paid a total loss. In May last, when the proofs of loss on this immense clothing stock were accepted by the adjusters, calling for a payment of $450,000 on an insurance of $570,000, they elected to take the goods in the upper stories, paying a total loss. They employed thirty men for five weeks, cleaning, assorting and packing the goods, sending about 400 packages to New York where three sales were held, realizing $52,098, which makes a dividend of 9 14-100 per cent on each of the 106 policies. It has cost about twenty-five per cent of the value to market these goods. The last sale of 5600 overcoats was made September 2d, and it is thought that the underwriters gained at least $9000 by the delay, owing to the improvement in the condition of the markets since July. The accumulated deposits while awaiting this dividend have earned $178.31 in interest. The adjusters in their report, state that this stock was in such condition when removed that it took over six weeks to place it in a merchantable shape, and when completed a large portion had to be stored until a season suitable for a sale. This delay appeared to be unusual, but the proceeds realized fully justify the committee's action. In the account rendered is found no charge made for the services of the adjusters, they having decided to leave that matter for the companies to make any remuneration for their services they may approve. The success that has attended this settlement, it is thought, will induce the underwriters to make a feature of taking partially damaged merchandise and paying total losses (as is permitted by the usual form of policy) and strive to secure the profit which some business ness houses roll in speculating in partially damaged stocks. The adjusters in the above clothing loss were John Sise, James H. Leighton, N. A. Clarke, C. F. Whittaker and H. C. Eddy.

News and Notes.

Frank Beiron, a former land agent of the Burlington & Missouri Railroad, who defrauded a large number of people in Michigan and other states by selling them worthless railroad land certificates, has been arrested at Omaha.

It is reported in New York that a sharp competition has again broken out in the west between the agents of the trunk line railroads, causing a general demoralization of rates. Freights from Chicago to Europe by way of Montreal are quoted as low as forty-nine cents, a cut of sixteen cents per 100 pounds.

James Hanna of Oakland, and a male companion, were found dead in bed at the Burlett house in Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 29th. They blew out the gas when retiring, and were suffocated. James Forrester and wife went to Indianapolis, Ind., from Laporte, Sept. 28th. They stopped at the Pyle house that night, and instead of turning off the gas blew it out. In the morning Forrester was found dead in bed, and his wife so nearly dead that there are no hopes of saving her life.

A large elephant called "Chief," while being taken from a car at Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 27th, became enraged, crushed Mr. King, his keeper, to death, and pranced through the streets, but was finally recaptured.

In the case of Charles A. Stratton for murder of Elmer Franks near Jamestown, N. Y., last February, a verdict of murder was rendered, and Stratton was sentenced to Auburn prison for life. Stratton was jealous of Franks' attention to Mrs. Stratton. The latter was a sister of Emily Crosby, who was murdered near Jamestown in July, 1879; and Franks' father was murdered a few years since at Niagara Falls.

The dead bodies of a Mrs. Tyndall, of Burlington, N. J., and Horace P. Wilbur, a prominent lawyer of Philadelphia, who has been trying to get a divorce for the woman, were found in the river at Philadelphia, the woman on the 28th ult., and the man on the 29th. It is believed to be a dual case of suicide.

Anna Stroker, aged seventeen years, has confess the murder of her employer, Miss Nancy Heywood, at Manitowoc, Wisconsin.

The national reunion of the surviving prisoners of the late war was in session at Indianapolis on the 29th ult. Mayor Caven welcomed the visitors on behalf of the city, which was responded to by Hon. Samuel McKee of Kentucky. About 300 delegates were present.

James M. Deuell, Esq., of New York, has been appointed clerk of the circuit court of the United States for the southern district of New York, succeding John I. Davenport, recently resigned. Mr. Deuell is familiar with the requirements of this important office, having for a long time past discharged almost all of the duties of the position, while Mr. Davenport has been engaged in his duties of supervisor. Mr. Deuell was at one time secretary to Senator Conkling, in Washington. He is an able man, and abundantly capable of filling the office of clerk of a court in which are constantly pending controversies involving perhaps greater amounts than any in the country, with the exception of the supreme court of the United States.

The barn of David Fogg, of New Hampton, was burned Sept. 28th by an incendiary fire, with forty tons of hay. Loss $800.

Hand over That Belt.

The Boston Post some days ago contained the following item of political "news:"

At a republican rally in Gloucester, on Wednesday evening, Collector Babson made the most remarkable speech of the evening, accusing the present administration of total neglect of the fishermen, and stated the Sunset Cox was the only man in Congress who seemed to take any interest in the matter.

The Cape Ann Bulletin, published at Gloucester, copies the Post's item, and adds:

Of all the lies promulgated in this campaign, the above takes the lead; and we call upon the New York Sun, which we think holds the belt now, to surrender it forthwith to the Post. "Fair play is a jewel."

Pleasant Letters.

They are sheets of sunshine. A Methodist clergyman of Hartford, Conn., writes Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., that "Favorite Remedy" cured him of chronic liver disease and indigestion, from which he had suffered for a long time. This was splendid, but nothing more than anyone may expect who uses this medicine. One dollar a bottle is a small consideration when health is in question. The clergyman says he is going to introduce Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" among his people. He can't do better. Health is always a friend of religion.

—A Harlem man asked a neighbor what sort of a man Mr. P——' was. "Well," said the conscientious neighbor, "I don't know much about him, but I should think he would make a tip-top stranger."

Disease prevented and medical bills lessoned by a timely use of Malt Bitters.

—Placards bearing the inscription "Hot tea and coffee" are now displayed on very many of the drug stores on Broadway and other streets in New York.

That would have kept all pure.

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes. Tu,th&f,&o

AROUND HOME.

The Rye cornet band, with invited guests, had a picnic at Wallis' sands, Rye, on Thursday.

Assistant Marshal Franklin Cole has for several days been confined to his house by an attack of erysipelas.

The Portsmouth Musical Association, to the number of about seventy-five persons, had a picnic at Stratham on Thursday.

The ward two republican committee met on Wednesday evening, Sept. 29th, and organized for the ensuing year with William O. Sides as chairman and Newton Johnston as secretary.

Darius C. Durgin, the farmer who some time ago had a public discussion in Dover with a democratic lawyer, has challenged Editor Foster of the Dover Democrat to a public political debate.

The division in the ranks of the Hancock veterans, consequent upon the election of that gallant "100-days man" as commander, still continues, and it is extremely problematical if the "marching fifty-one" ever parades under its present head. "The good die young."

The prohibitionists of Dover on Tuesday evening of this week raised a campaign flag bearing the names of Dow and Thompson, the prohibition candidates for president and vice president, and of Geo. W. Dodge, the party's candidate for governor in this state. Wm. H. Dodge of Dover was the principal speaker.

The ship Constantine, of 1281 tons register, built at this port in 1850 by the late George Raynes, and repaired in 1876, has been sold at New York, where she was owned, for $14,500. The Portsmouth-built ships still maintain their high repute in the market; here is one thirty years old, and yet in good condition for future service. The Constantine's frame was wholly of New Hampshire pasture oak, and was one of the heaviest ever put into any vessel by Mr. Raynes.

Edward W. Merrill, of South Berwick, Me., nineteen years of age, has been arrested for breaking into the house of Jos. W. Bennet of Dover on the 26th ult., and stealing money and a pair of stockings. When arrested Merrill had the stolen stockings on his feet, and in his pocket was found a loaded revolver which he acknowledged having bought with the stolen money. He had an idea of becoming a highwayman. In default of $300 bonds, he was committed to Dover jail.

The huge well which the Eastern railroad has had men working upon—or in—for several weeks, is not a success as yet, no water supply having been reached, though rock has. A second section of circular curbing was placed on the first one, on the 29th ult., and blasting operations were proceeded with until some time in the afternoon on the 30th, when a cave-in on one side of the hole considerably demoralized the upper section of the stout curbing, and induced the men in the pit to get out with much alacrity.

Alderman William S. Hazel, having been elected a lieutenant in the democratic campaign company of ward four, was on Thursday afternoon presented with a magnificent sword by some of his admirers. This "weepon" is about four feet long, weighs something like twenty pounds, and will be toted in a wheelbarrow by a small boy whenever the gallant lieutenant goes on the warpath. The boys had the whole thing nicely laid out, but our aldermanic friend turned the tables on them nicely by "smoking" the entire plot.

The Jones Cadets of Christian Shore are an exceedingly "high-toned" and exclusive organization, if we are to believe the representations of some of the members. "No Irishman can get in," and "We haven't got a 'mucker' in the crowd," are expressions used by members in conversation with outsiders—"mucker" being, as we are informed, a slang term used to designate an American citizen of Irish birth. We know of no republican organization so closely walled in that it will not admit any respectable man, whatever his race or color, so only that he is with the republicans in principle.

Miss Morgan's school has begun with a goodly number of pupils.

The schooner Jeanie Lippitt, Capt. Crowell, arrived here to-day from Baltimore with 11,000 tons of coal.—Times, Sept. 30th.

The Portsmouth Gas company are extending their pipe in Miller avenue, past the Morgan school, as far as Mr. Tibbetts' residence; thence it is to go westerly to Broad street, to supply the new Webster mansion.

The Newmarket Advertiser says that Eben L. Chapman has been removed to Portsmouth jail, because Jailor Hoyt feeds him on oysters. Chapman has not been removed, and we suppose Mr. Hoyt can feed his prisoners on what he likes so long as it costs the county no more.—Exeter Gazette.

Mr. D. H. Montgomery's house at the corner of Miller avenue and Merrimack street has received a coat of paint on the outside, and the plasterers are putting the skim-coat upon the interior walls. When completed it will be one of the finest and most conveniently-built houses of the west end.

Mr. Cyrus L. Brown has an apple evaporating apparatus at work in a building on Hancock street, and is now employing about fifteen persons, nine of whom are females, at the work of drying apples and packing them for the market. He has a large lot of fruit on hand now, and proposes to do a big business in this branch of industry, which is a new one in this city.

Cols. Pickering of Greenland and Butler of this city had votes in the recent democratic senatorial convention for the Newmarket district, but the orders were for Mr. Hall to be nominated. Col. Pickering had made a good run, and according to usage, we are informed by a Greenland democrat, should have received the nomination; but Mr. Hall has the nut, as he is more willing to contribute.

J. Warren Towle, Esq., of Exeter, was the supposed coming man to be nominated county solicitor at the democratic county convention; but he sinned by not zealously supporting Mr. Jones for Congress when he ran against Gen. Marston. Warren was summarily wiped out, and Charles M. Lamprey, a lawyer in Hampton, announced himself as the selection of Mr. Jones, and of course took the prize.

Nath'l Wiggin, Esq., one of the greenback candidates for railroad commissioners, returned Sept. 29th, from a trip to the west. He reports the greenback element as sanguine of making an impression upon the country in November, although they may not elect a President. The democracy in the west, as everywhere, are anxiously coquetting with the soft-money party, in order to save votes for Hancock and both kinds of money.

GARFIELD & ARTHUR BATTALION--ATTENTION!

Companies A and B of the Garfield & Arthur battalion, will meet at the headquarters on Friday evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock sharp, for drill.

WINCHESTER CADETS.

A large number of the young men of this city, prospective voters, have formed themselves into a battalion under the name of the Winchester Cadets, a name selected in honor of Hon. Ezra H. Winchester, our candidate for presidential elector. The object of the organization is the furtherence of the election of Garfield & Arthur. They will turn out with the larger organizations in local demonstrations, and possibly accompany them out of town on some occasions. They will be well uniformed, and will number about seventy-five torches. The following is a list of the officers:

Arthur S. Gerrish, major; Fred C. Sides, adjutant; Herbert White, quartermaster; Charles A. Hayes, sergeant major.

Co. A.—George M. Ayers, captain; Samuel Kingsbury, 1st lieutenant; Frank Palmer, 2d lieut.; Albert Vaughan, 1st serg't.

Co. B.—Fred Brown, captain; William Peirce, 1st lieut.; Judson Marvin, 2d lieut.; John Kingsbury, 1st serg't.

AN ANSWERING SHOT.

Mr. Editor: The reckless scribbler of the Times, who has disgusted his party friends for the past nine months by his egregious blunders, palpable misstatements and absurd contradictions, appears if possible more ridiculous than ever in the issues of that mendacious sheet this week. In one issue he praises the Metcalf drum corps as being a "fine-looking company of young men," "entirely non-partisan," etc., and in another criticises them by impertinently asking "where did the Metcalf drum corps get their uniforms?" adding "the state may like to know." I would suggest to this short-memoried individual that the best way to get a direct answer to his question is to go man-fashion to this fine-looking company of non-partisan young men, in which case I warrant he will get all the satisfaction and information he desires.

In his paper of Tuesday he informs the public that "the Boys in Blue have up to this time raised funds to pay for seventy-five uniforms, and it is possible that the managers will find a sufficient force to fill the greater part of that number," and only twenty-four hours later, in speaking of the republican turn-out on Tuesday evening, he said: "The Boys in Blue was a disapointment to every one, as it was supposed they would turn out over one hundred men!" Could stupidity go further? Again he says: "We saw some in the ranks who could not have been more than five years old at the time of the rebellion." I call upon this slanderer to name one of the seventy-five men who turned out with the Boys in Blue last Tuesday evening "who was not more than five years old at the time of the rebellion," or stand publicly convicted of deserving the name I apply to him. The writer of this article believes himself to have been the youngest participant in that procession, and he was old enough to enlist in '61, and did so. BOY IN BLUE.

GARFIELD & ARTHUR CLUB IN KITTERY.

At a meeting of the republicans of Kittery, held Wednesday evening, the 29th ult., a Garfield & Arthur club was formed. The meeting was called to order by Calvin L. Hayes, Esq., as temporary chairman, with Dennis M. Shapley as temporary secretary. Permanent organization was effected by choice of A. A. Hayes as president, M. F. Wentworth, Robert Briard, H. C. Lovell and Charles Chickering as vice presidents, B. S. Goodspeed as secretary, and J. R. Philbrick as treasurer.

M. F. Wentworth, Daniel C. Norton and Augustus Stevenson were appointed a committee to secure a suitable hall for the use of the club.

A battalion of Garfield & Arthur Cadets, consisting of three companies, was organized, and the following officers elected:

D. M. Shapleigh, major; E. A. Duncan, adjutant.

Co. A.—Augustus Stevenson, captain; J. W. Richardson, 1st lieut.; Edgar Greenleaf, 2d lieut.

Co. B.—Moses D. Moore, captain; Daniel Perry, 1st lieut.; Wm. K. Stiles, 2d lieut.

Co. C.—Nicholas C. Spinney, captain; Henry W. Taylor, 1st lieut.; Chas. Chickering, 2d lieut.

About two hundred names were subscribed to the muster rolls of the three companies before Thursday evening.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

A new catalogue of the law library of the York county bar at Alfred has been printed.

Rev. Jesse Durell of Rochester, N. H., is building a cottage near the Ocean Bluff hotel at Kennebunkport.

The alleged blackmail case in Berwick, in which an aged and highly respected deacon's name was involved, has been settled.

The republicans of Eliot propose to organize a campaign club, and will have a uniformed company of fifty or more members.

The U. S. S. Alliance, which has been lying at the navy yard for some weeks, will drop down to the lower harbor at slack water to-day.

The U. S. S. Tallapoosa sailed from the navy yard at half-past ten o'clock in the forenoon on the 30th ult., for Washington via Boston and New London.

At the supreme court at Alfred, on Tuesday of this week, while a case against one Wormwood was being argued in behalf of a boy who had sued him to recover compensation for labor, the defendant, either owing to the bad air of the court house or the gall in the argument of the boy's counsel, fainted and fell to the floor. He was carried out to the porch of the court house, and soon revived. The jury found for the boy.

Naval Gazette.

The U. S. S. Shenandoah was at Rio Janeiro on the 5th of September; all well.

The U. S. S. Marion was at Montevideo Aug. 16th.

Despatches at the navy department from Rear Admiral Patterson, commanding the naval force on the Asiatic station, bearing the date of Sept. 3d, report the flagship Richmond at Yokohama, Japan; the Ashuelot at Tientsin, China; the Monocacy at Chefoo, China. The Alert left Yokohama Sept. 3d for Chefoo. The Palos was at Kobe. The Swatara arrived at Yokohama on the 24th of August. The health of the squadron was generally excellent.

—A convention in Wisconsin has informed its candidate for Congress that $3,000 a year is enough pay for him, and that he must promise if elected to return the remaining $2,000 to the treasury, "where it rightfully belongs," and, further, that he must not be paid any mileage unless he shall first make affidavit that he has not accepted a free pass on a railroad.

—Mrs. Myra Bradwell, the editor-in-chief of the Legal News, was once, according to the Inter-Ocean, asked what was her idea of men's rights. "The best," she said, "is to delude one man into the idea that the Lord never made another such woman as herself." A woman smart enough to say that will have no trouble about securing her rights.

What Dealers Say.

STERLING, ILL., April 10th, 1880.

Kidney-Wort still continues to sell better than any other patent medicine on our shelves, and it always does good work. Customers praise it to us, and recommend it to their neighbors.

O. A. OLIVER & Co., Druggists.

LANCASTER, PA., March 27th, '80.

MESSRS. WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Gentlemen— Kidney-Wort is giving general satisfaction. I will swear by it all the time as it has done me more good than any physician was able to do.

J. R. KAUFFMAN, Druggist.

Gentlemen—Mr. John Beal, of Woodford Co., wishes us to tell you that two boxes of Kidney-Wort cured him of a severe liver complaint. He is selling lots for us by his recommendations.

W. A. ZINDEL, Druggist, Peoria, Ill.

—A correspondent wishes to know our opinion of "Touch the harp gently." It is first class. Any song calculated to make people touch a harp gently ought to be encouraged. Of course, one that would induce them to leave it alone entirely would be preferable; but, as Benjamin Franklin said, a move in the right direction beats standing still.

TO THE EDITOR. For the benefit of any of your readers who may be interested, I beg to say, from personal observation, that bright's disease of the kidneys is certainly curable. My friend, Mr. Joshua Tuthill, of Saginaw, Mich., was attacked by it, and was in a most critical situation. His family physician recommended him to take Hunt's Remedy, the great kidney and liver medicine. He did so. His symptoms gradually subsided, and, at the end of a short time, entirely disappeared. He was completely cured, and is a well man to-day. Recommend your readers to try Hunt's Remedy.

Respectfully, AMOS G. TORREY.

—A grocer who roused the ire of one of his customers by presenting at his house a bill for goods rendered was waited on soon after by a daughter of the debtor, who said: "I wish you wouldn't come with the bill when papa is at home—it makes him nervous to be dunned."

D. R. V. G. is a purely vegetable compound, and will do all is claimed for it. See other column.

Memorials of Sir John Franklin.

It was on the 19th of May, 1845, that Sir John Franklin and 138 men sailed from England in the ships Erebus and Terror on his third voyage to discover the long-sought for northwest passage through the Arctic ocean from the Atlantic to the Pacific. His ships were last seen in Baffin's bay, two months after they sailed. As Franklin was not expected to return till 1847, it was not till 1848 that his prolonged absence led to the sending out of several expeditions in search of him; but no traces could be found. Other expeditions followed in the next ten years with a similar result. In 1859, however, the mystery was solved by the discovery of a record on the shores of the Arctic waters, making it certain that the ships of Franklin were crushed early in 1847, and that Sir John and his men died one by one in their vain efforts to reach civilization.

Several expeditions have been sent out since to obtain further intelligence of the Franklin party; and now information has been received that the vessel sent out last year by the New York Herald, has discovered further traces of the lost men. None of the written records of the party were found, and therefore the world is still in the dark as to the catastrophe of the disastrous voyage, and of the exact fate of the leader and his men; but it was definitely ascertained that the records were destroyed by the Esquimaux, and that, therefore, further search will be useless. The final exploration of the only region left unexplored by Prince William's land, and that in a thorough manner, with the result of finding various graves and relics, shows the region where the party met their fate, and reveals all that the world is ever likely to know concerning it. The Herald party made a journey of nearly eleven months on sledges, when the thermometer was one hundred degrees below the freezing point.

The name of Sir John Franklin will be associated with that of La Perouse, as the intrepid and unfortunate explorers who went into unknown seas and there perished, leaving but the shadow of their fate to sadden their countries and incite even more glorious and enduring enterprise than their own in the search for rescue and the recovery of their bones. The history of the search for Sir John Franklin is without exception and to a degree, the noblest record of international philanthropy and good feeling, as well as of courage and energy, which the world has to show.—Lewiston Journal.

Lamb skins 75c and $1 each.
Sheared sheep skins 50c each.

The supply of cattle in market for the past week has not been so large as the week before last, and as the demand for shipping cattle has not been so active prices upon the best grades of cattle were also 10 to 25 per lb lower than those one week ago. Common grades sold at last week's prices. The trade has been fair but not so lively as it has been sometimes. There were a few very extra cattle sold at 6½c per lb live weight, but the larger portion of butchers' cattle sold at 5½ @ 5½c per lb live weight. The cattle from Maine consisted most y of working oxen, milch cows, and stores, with a few cattle among them suitable for beef.

Working Oxen—The trade for them has been moderate and there was a good supply in market. We quote sales of 1 pr. girth 7 11 6 in. live weight 2450 lbs. $80; 2 prs. girth 6 ft 8 in. live weight 2600 lbs. $125; 1 pr. girth 6 ft 8 in. live weight 2600 lbs. $105; 2 prs. girth 6 ft 4 in. live weight 2600 lbs. at $105 per pair; 1 pr. girth 6 ft 4 in. live weight 2600 lbs. at $105 per pair; 1 pr. girth 6 ft 3 in. live weight 2600 lbs. at $95; 2 prs. girth 6 ft 6 in. live weight 2600 lbs. at $105 per pair; 1 pr. girth 6 ft 3 in. live weight 2600 lbs. $105; 1 pr. girth 7 ft. live; 2 prs. girth 6 ft 2 in. live weight 2400 lbs. $105; 1 pr. girth 6 ft 10 in. live weight 2000 lbs. $120; 1 pr. girth 6 ft 5 in. $95; 1 privately watched, girth 7 ft 2 in. live weight 2700 lbs. at $125.

Store Cattle—There were a few store cattle brought in from Maine. We quote sales of 14 two years old heifers at $17 each; 3 yearlings at $9 per head; 2 do at $10 each; 10 two year old heifers and steers at $27.50 each; 2 two year old steers at $27.50 each; 2 two year old heifers at $25 each. No large lots in market.

Milch Cows—Fair supply in market, but not a very active demand. We quote sales of 7 choice cows and calf $50; 1 springer and 2 cows with calves at $45 each; 1 do and calf $37.50; 2 springers $75.50 the pair; 2 at $40 each; 2 cows and calves for $85; 4 springers $37.50 each; 4 do $32 each; 1 do $35; 2 two year olds $30 each.

Sheep and Lambs—Those from Maine were all consigned to G. W. Hollis to slaughter and market at commanding prices. Western sheep and lambs were also owned by butchers, and cost landed at Brighton, sheep 5½ @ 6½c, lambs from 6 @ 6½ per lb live weight.

Swine—Fat hogs cost this week from 5½ @ 6c per lb live weight. A few extra ones cost ¼c per lb higher than 6c per lb.

TRADE MARK DAY'S Kidney PAD

IS STRONGLY ENDORSED.

Rev. E. F. K. CUSUS, Galena, Ill., writes—"For over ten years I had been a great sufferer from pains in the small of the back and region of the Kidneys, which was most excruciating and at times almost insufferable. Doctoring brought no relief, and I was finally advised to go abroad and seek the climate of my youth. In Germany and Switzerland, eminent physicians after close examination, declared my sufferings to arise from disease of the Kidneys, of long standing, and could do me no good. I was, however, benefited by the climate and consequently returned. No sooner had I been back and resumed my pastoral work, when the old trouble came again so intense as to make life a burden. A few months ago I came in possession of one of Day's Kidney Pads, put it on, and the effects were truly wonderful. The pains at once grew less and are now, after wearing the second Pad, entirely gone, and there can be no doubt that I am entirely cured, as I write this some weeks after its use, and am strong and look again the very picture of health. I write this perfectly voluntarily, and it is dictated only by truth and gratitude. Indeed, I consider the Day Kidney Pad a God-send to my fellow sufferers of my kind. May all the suffering be helped as I have been in my earnest wish."

CHAS. DAVIS, 124 Myrtle Street, Boston: "I have now used Day's KIDNEY PAD thirty days, and it has done me more good than any remedy I have ever tried."

LARIMORE & DEAN, Druggists, Niles, Mich.—"Of years in business"—"DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is having a large sale and gives better general satisfaction than any remedy we ever sold."

CASPER WEITZEL, Policeman, Lancaster, Pa.—"I have been a great sufferer from Kidney complaint, and after wearing your Pad 30 days I feel better than I have in 15 years."

Dr. A. J. STONER, Decatur, Ill.—"Your Pad is doing great good here. It sells over my head gives universal satisfaction."

For sale by druggists, or sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of the price—Regular Pad, $2.00; Special Pad (extra size), $5.00; Children's, $1.50. Our book, "How a life was saved," giving the history of this new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it. Address,

KIDNEY-WORT

The Only Remedy THAT ACTS AT THE SAME TIME ON THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, and the KIDNEYS.

This combined action gives it wonderful power to cure all diseases.

Why Are We Sick?

Because we allow these great organs to become clogged or torpid, and poisonous humors are therefore forced into the blood that should be expelled naturally.

KIDNEY-WORT WILL CURE

BILIOUSNESS, PILES, CONSTIPATION, KIDNEY COMPLAINTS, URINARY DISEASES, FEMALE WEAKNESS, AND NERVOUS DISORDERS, by causing free action of these organs and restoring their power to throw off disease.

Why Suffer Billous pains and aches? Why tormented with Piles, Constipation? Why frightened over Diseased Kidneys? Why endure nervous or sick headaches? Why have sleepless nights?

Use KIDNEY WORT and rejoice in health. It is a dry, vegetable compound and one package will make a pint of medicine. If of your Druggist, he will order it for you. Price, $1.00.

OFFICE OF COMMONWEALTH DISTRIBUTION CO.,

COURIER-JOURNAL BUILDING, LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 24th, 1880.

In direct violation of an agreement with Ex-Postmaster General Key, ordering the delivery of Registered Letters and the payment of Money Orders to the undersigned, pending the litigation in the United States Supreme Court, the Third Assistant Postmaster General has seen fit, in the absence of his superiors, to set aside said order. The grounds upon which he justifies this action are, that all lotteries in Kentucky have been repealed, and are therefore illegal, and being illegal, are necessarily fraudulent, when, in fact, the franchise under which this Company draws unlike that of the Louisiana Lottery Company, has never been repealed, and yet the Post Office Department discriminates in favor of that Company.

Comment is useless. Legal action will at once be taken by this Company, and, until further notice, correspondents are requested to send all remittances by plain letter or by express. Don't send by money order or registered letter.

MRS. LYDIA E. PINKHAM, OF LYNN, MASS.

DISCOVERER OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

The Positive Cure for all Female Complaints.

THIS FRESHENING RESTORES BLOOD TO ITS NATURAL CONDITION, DIRECTS THE VITAL POWER ARIGHT, STRENGTHENS THE MUSCLES OF THE UTERUS AND LIFTS IT INTO ITS PLACE, AND GIVES IT TONE AND STRENGTH, SO THAT THE CURE IS radical and entire. It strengthens THE BACK AND PELVIC REGION; IT GIVES TONE TO THE WHOLE NERVOUS SYSTEM; IT RESTORES DISPLACED ORGANS TO THEIR NATURAL POSITION. THAT FEELING OF BEARING DOWN, CAUSING PAIN, WEIGHT AND BACKACHE, is ALWAYS PERMANENTLY CURED BY ITS USE.

It will, at all times and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the laws that govern the female system.

For the cure of Kidney Complaints of either sex, this Compound is unsurpassed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is prepared at the proprietors laboratory.

No family should be without Lydia E. Pinkham's LIVER PILLS. They cure Constipation, Biliousness, and Torpidity of the Liver. 25 cts.

GEO. C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston. Sold by Druggists.

SMITH'S MEDICATED PRUNES LAXATIVE CATHARTIC. Pleasant to the taste; Effective without Griping. CURE CONSTIPATION, BILIOUSNESS AND LIVER TROUBLES. They take the place of the nauseating and violent cathartics used to relieve Costiveness, Piles, and torpidity of the Liver. For adults, one or two CANDY PRUNES acts as a mild laxative; two or three have the effect of cathartic medicine or purging. No bad effects follow; natural results follow the use of these PRUNES without nausea or griping. One half of a prune taken at bed-time acts like a charm. The medication is entirely vegetable and healthful. Physicians recommend them. Druggists keep them.

CANTERBURY SHAKERS' BLOOD-PURIFYING SARSAPARILLA.

Prescribed by Physicians and Druggists for nearly Fifty Years.

THE SHAKER'S SARSAPARILLA is just what it purports to be.—Dixi Crosby, M. D. I have long prescribed it, and think it a most valuable medicine.—Jeremiah Bishop, M. D., Gilmanton, N. H. Have known it for nearly half a century. Our confidence in it is in no way impaired.—Carlton & Hovey, Druggists, Lowell. I speak with confidence of it, having prescribed it for eighteen years.—S. M. Demmon, M. D., Francestown, N. H. Give me the shakers' Sarsaparilla in preference to all others.—C. A. Guillette, M. D., Boston. I have the most unbounded confidence in its healing and renovating properties. Wm. R. Preston, Druggist, Portsmouth, N. H. I consider it the best preparation made.—A. G. Wilber, Druggist, Boston.

Do not fail to make a trial of this great Blood Purifier, Appetizer, and Tonic, the first and best of all medicated Sarsaparillas, which is prepared from selected SHAKER ROOTS, HERBS AND BERRIES by the CANTERBURY SOCIETY OF SHAKERS, and is beyond all comparison the purest, safest, and most effective family medicine in the world. Ask for CORBETT'S SHAKERS' SARSAPARILLA. The medication is skilfully combined by CORBETT, its inventor, and sold by druggists generally.

New Hampshire Items.

J. C. Clough was shot in the head during a drunken quarrel by Eben Bowley at Fremont, Wednesday night, the 29th ult. Both parties reside in Fremont. The injured man is thirty-five years of age. He is still living, but lies in a precarious condition. Bowley has not been arrested.

The tenth anniversary of the consecration of Bisop Niles, of the Episcopal diocese of New Hampshire, was marked Wednesday evening, Sept. 29th, at Concord, by the presentation to him by the clergy in his charge of $1,000, with the request that on account of his impaired health he take a vacation of one year, the bishopric salary to be continned during his absence.

John Giles, a freight brakeman on the Boston & Maine railroad, was fatally injured on the 29th ult., at Greenwood, Mass., by falling between the cars, several of which passed over him. One arm and one leg were cut off, and his head and back were badly cut. He was taken to the Massachusetts general hospital, and died there in the evening. The unfortunate man was a native of Durham, thirty years old, and leaves a wife and two children. He had been ten years in the employment of the railroad, and was a strictly sober and trustworthy man.

Dropsy and Rheumatism.

Dropsical and rheumatic persons find the use of Speer's Port Grape Wine, of New Jersey, and the Wine Bitters, of incalculable benefit. Their purity and valuable properties have given them a wide reputation among physicians throughout this country and Europe. This wine took the highest premium at the late Centennial. It is excellent for weary and debilitated females.

For sale by A. P. Preston, David Kimball, F. B. Coleman, druggists; H. F. Gerrish, C. E. Laighton & Son, grocers.

John Blanchard, a saloon keeper of Manchester, was murdered on Thursday evening last by Edward Powers, in a drunken row.

Set Back 42 Years.

"I was troubled for many years with Kidney Complaint, Gravel, &c.; my blood became thin; I was dull and inactive; could hardly crawl about; was an old worn out man all over; could get nothing to help me, until I got Hop Bitters, and now I am a boy again. My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of 30, although I am 72, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial."—(Father.)—Sunday Mercury.

Liebig Co's Coca Beef Tonic.

"It has more than realized my expectations," says Professor Duncan Campbell, M. D., LL. D., President Royal College Physicians and Surgeons; Member General Council University of Edinburgh, etc. Invaluable for debility, weak lungs, billiousness, dyspepsia and female complaints.

—At a grand review by George III of the British fleet in 1789, there was a boy who mounted the shrouds with so much agility as to surprise every spectator. The king particularly noticed it, and said to Lord Lothian, "Lothian, I have heard much of your agility; let us see you run up after that boy." "Sire," replied Lothian, "it is my duty to follow your majesty."

Pure water, fresh air, sunlight and a bottle of Adamson's Botanic Balsam (in case of cough or cold) will save many doctors' bills and give health and vigor that no money can procure.

—"Well, I'm getting about tired of this 'ere life," said an ultra specimen of the genus tramp. "Going half-starved one day and drenched to the skin another; sleeping one night in a barn, the next night under a hedge, and the third in the lock up; this life isn't what it used to be. Tell yer what 't is, boys, if it wasn't for the looks of the thing, I'd go to work."

Many people suffer, and know not what ails them. Try D. R. V. G. If no benefit is received, your druggist will refund the money.

—Cassel's "Natural History" is responsible for this best of parrot stories. A prize show of this showy bird was held in the north of England. After many others had been brought forward in front of the judges, one bird, on having its cover removed, won the prize by acclamation. Looking round on the company into which he had so suddenly been introduced, he exclaimed, "By Jove! what a lot of parrots!"

Food is digested and assimilated by Malt Bitters. Hence increased flesh.

Hon. Frank Jones' Letter.

Mr. Jones' letter of acceptance of the democratic nomination for governor of New Hampshire, is printed in some of the papers. He indulges in the old joke about not being a candidate, and thinks there is not much danger to the country if Hancock should be chosen president, Mr. Jones perhaps "means well, but he don't know." If the democracy who were to control congress were like him, or as he claims to be, opposed to the refunding of the cotton tax, opposed to repudiation, sound upon questions of tariff, and not likely to be seduced by any greenback craze, we might possibly stand four years of democratic rule. When Mr. Jones was in congress he had the good sense to vote against the silver craze, and in many respects was a conservative man of healthful ideas amid unsound legislators. But we see Mr. Leopold Morse, his friend, whose course in congress was more or less influenced by Mr. Jones' advice, thrown over, or at least attempted to be sacrificed, because he dared to do right upon certain questions coming before congress. If Mr. Jones will look over the changes likely to occur in congress, and be frank in his consideration of the programme to be supplied by the southern managers, he will (like hundreds of other democrats) believe, even if in this exigency he cannot avow, that safety to the interests of the country depends upon the election of Gen. Garfield as President.

State Expenditures.

Under this heading, the Manchester Union calls the attention of the public to the condition of the state finances, and claims that the republican party should take a rest, and allow the democratic party "to look over the books." The Concord Monitor says the books are open, and the public can judge of the sincerity of these sham reformers by their own record.

During the campaign two years ago, other democratic sheets undertook to make an issue of this subject, but their guns were spiked, after the first round, by Col. Carter, state treasurer, in a statement from the record comparing the expenditures of the years 1871 and 1874, when the democrats had the entire control of the state government, with those of republican administrations immediately preceding and following those years. Here are the figures:

Expenses for year ending
June 1, 1871,	$145,774.72	Republican
" 1872,	153,210.29	Democratic
" 1873,	161,542.26	Republican
" 1874,	174,692.48	"
" 1875,	184,304.81	Democratic
" 1876,	158,486.22	Republican

The above figures furnish a sufficient answer to the ridiculous claim that the democratic party is better qualified than the republican party to manage the state's finances. The republican party is proud of its administration of this department of the state government, and challenges the closest investigation.

The Union gives the figures of the state tax for the year ending June 1st, 1855, $69,855.75. It is true the state tax has been increased from that sum to $339,880 in 1879, but the Union neglects to inform its readers that the credits to the towns on account of railroad and savings bank taxes, literary fund and insurance taxes, for the year 1879, amounted to $355,202.67, leaving a balance of $44,677.33 only to be paid by the towns.

Railroad Taxes in New Hampshire.

The state board of equalization has completed its work of assigning the taxes of the railroads of the state, and the following is the result: Eastern, $4,085.12; Boston & Maine, $17,600; Ashuelot, $1,715; Boston, Concord & Montreal, $25,464.73; Fitchburg, $217.50; Nashua & Lowell, $4,683.70; Wilton, $3,111.50; Cheshire, $11,421.25; Grand Trunk (lessee of the Atlantic & St. Lawrence,) $5,000; Northern, $23,253.32; Concord, $30,455.62; Manchester & North Weare, $975.13; Concord & Portsmouth, $5,558.12; Dover & Winnipesaukee, $4,168.75; Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway, $2,036.87; Manchester & Lawrence, $17,458.42; Concord & Claremont, $4,375; Sullivan County, $6,250; Worcester & Nashua, $2,372.50; Mount Washington, $1,750.50; Monadnock, $1,865; Suncook, $1,593.77. The tax this year has been assessed at the same rate on all the roads, but their valuation, as determined by the board, does not differ materially from that of last year. This year all of the railroads pay the same rate of tax, without regard to the rate of tax of other property in towns through which they pass, as was the case in 1879, the supreme court having decided that all the roads should be taxed equally.

A Call For Democratic Campaign Funds.

Stilson Hutchins has a very panicky letter in the Washington Post of last Thursday morning. He says the democrats have not been able to raise more than $100,000 all told, and advocates a popular subscription. Some of the statements in his letter are strong arguments why democrats who desire to see the prosperity of the country continued should abandon the democracy, as Mr. Hutchins admits some have done. He says, for instance, that "every interest that can be affected by the tariff is aroused. That is the secret of DePauw's candidacy in Indiana. He has a million invested in plate glass works, and the republicans told him if he wanted to keep the protection he is now getting out of the tariff, he must vote for and contribute money to the republican ticket. The argument with him was effective enough to turn a life-long democrat into a republican, and make him fill out a check for $10,000. On the other hand, I say that the democrats comparatively have no money, and do not seem to be able to get any. The largest contribution made to the fund of the national committee so far is $25,000, which was given by Mr. Tilden, and that was only sent in last week, whereas it has been asserted over again that the old gentleman has given $100,000. The next most liberal contribution was from that sterling and most liberal and steadfast of democrats, Augustus Schell, who gave $20,000. Judge Hilton, I see by the papers, has given $100,000. It is not not true; not one-twentieth part true. Altogether the collections of Mr. Barnum's committee up to this hour are less than $100,000." It won't do for the republicans to assume too much on the democratic lack of funds. As Stilson Hutchins says the democratic treasury is low, the presumption is that it is full.

News and Notes.

The famous Stevens battery at Hoboken, N. J., was sold on the 29th ult. for $55,000. Upwards of a million of dollars have been spent upon it, and now it goes for old iron.

One of the vessels lost on the Florida coast in the storm which wrecked the steamer Vera Cruz was the barque Miriam, 598 tons register, of Camden, Me., with all hands. The wreck was found bottom up on the beach twenty miles from St. Augustine.

The coinage executed at the United States mint in Philadelphia during September aggregates 3,700,716 pieces, valued at $2,103,864. Of this amount there were sixteen double eagles, 55,076 eagles, 65,576 half eagles, sixteen three-dollar gold pieces, sixteen quarter eagles, sixteen gold dollars, 1,200,000 silver dollars, and 2,380,000 cents.

Wednesday, the 29th ult., a negro employed on the St. Johns & Lake Eustice railroad in Florida killed a white boss. He was arrested and carried to Fort Mason. At night a band of men overpowered the guard, took the negro out, and lynched him.

One of the men whose political sayings are now most widely quoted by the democrats is Forney of the Philadelphia Times, some years ago a republican, later a democrat in disguise, and now a democrat without any disguise, earnestly advocating the election of Hancock. On the 30th of May, 1868, the same Forney wrote: "Gen. Garfield, the orator of the day, was in fine health and spirits. Gen. Hancock, handsome but haughty, was not in the procession to the graves at all, evidently hating the affair because it was not intended to honor the rebels. Hancock is evidently beginning to discover that he cannot be the democratic candidate for president without turning his back on all those who stood by him."

—Dead issues—Old newspapers.

—General Dan Sickles sat at lunch the other day in Delmonico's, and fingered his crutch while he watched at a table hard by a slim fellow with a red moustache, James Barton Key. Twenty or more years ago Sickles, in the bright sunshine of a warm Washington afternoon, shot Philip Barton Key, putting shot after shot into him.

—Rev. J. W. Grubbs officiated at what was intended to be a mock marriage, at Springfield, Mo., but afterward declared that the knot was legal, and made a formal record of the certificate. The couple were indignant at this action, and had the clergyman prosecuted. He was fined $25 for making a false return; but he has appealed, and for months the pair will not know whether or not they are husband and wife.

Or old, or young, or grave or gay,
Those who now let their teeth decay,
With breath we can't endure;
The thought their after life will haunt,
That they neglected SOZODONT,
That would have kept all pure.

A Down Town Merchant

Having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquaintng his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homœopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still worse; and while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties, and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and the little fellow awoke next morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the sudden and wonderful change, and although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering, crying babies and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet failed to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudice of the mother. Sold by all Druggists. 25 cents a bottle. 6

AROUND HOME.

See notice of auction sale this forenoon, of horse, phaeton, etc.

The ladies of the Portsmouth Humane society will hold their first meeting at Mrs. Lyman's, on Austin street, Monday afternoon, Oct. 4th.

A portion of the frame of the new Eastern railroad freight house in Dover arrived in that city on the 20th ult., and the building will be put up at once.

The republicans of this city have engaged Gen. John L. Swift of Boston, one of the finest orators in the country, to speak in Music hall on Saturday evening, October 9th.

A democratic campaign flag was raised at the north mill-bridge, Friday evening. Remarks were made by Calvin Page, Esq., Major Urch, and Capt. Dennett of the Jones Cadets. There was a large attendance.

Capt. O. C. Badger, U. S. N., who has been spending a few weeks in this city, left on Friday for Philadelphia, where he is assigned to duty as executive officer of the naval asylum, of which Admiral D. McN. Fairfax is governor.

Thursday evening, the 7th inst., will be presented at Music hall, Bartley Campbell's great American drama "My Partner," which the New York Herald pronounces "the best play of American life that has been brought on the boards."

The Portsmouth & Dover railroad paid on the first inst. a dividend of one and a half per cent, being a portion of the dividend due in July 1879, of which had been paid before one per cent; the remaining half per cent was required to pay the legal expenses.

Three worthy democratic barbers of this city, on Thursday evening, the 30th ult., went to Newington to a grand democratic flag raising, and while they were raising their voices for Hancock & English, somebody else raised a valuable robe out of their carriage.

The "high-toned" and exclusive Jones Cadets of Christian Shore, are now not so exclusive as they were, several Irishmen having been admitted to membership, as the commander testifies in a note to the Times. This does not alter the fact that no Irishmen were admitted until very recently, and that some of the earlier members boasted that none would be admitted.

The Moses H. Goodrich engine company, with a number of invited guests and the American band of Kittery, went to Newburyport on Friday as the guests of the H. P. Mackintosh company of the latter city. They were received at the depot by the Mackintoshes and escorted on a march about town, (stops being made on the route at the houses of fire engines Naiad Queen and Torrent,) to the city wharf, where the party embarked on the steamer May Queen for Plum island, where a clam-bake was enjoyed. On returning to the city the visitors were quartered at the American and City hotels, and in the evening there was a complimentary ball.

The Dover Republican says: "Some little time ago Charlie Dore went into a store on Franklin street, and stated that when Edward Hudson was mayor of Dover one hundred torches were borrowed in Haverhill, Mass., for a republican celebration in Dover, and that the Haverhill parties have since seen neither torches or money to pay for them. Foster's Democrat took up the song, and now a fellow democrat of Charlie's says that he has recently discovered in Charlie's barn three barrels of torches. This looks a little suspicious, inasmuch as Charlie was the only person who seemed to know much about the hundred Haverhill torches, and about the same number have just been found in Charlie's barn with the dust of years upon them."

PUBLIC BEQUESTS.

The following public bequests were made by the late Miss H. Louise Penhallow of this city: To the Howard Benevolent society of Portsmouth, $2000; to the Ladies Humane society, Portsmouth Atheneum, and Public Library in Portsmouth, $1000 each; South Parish Sunday school, $3000; to the American Unitarian association, $5000; to the New Hampshire Asylum for the Insane and the New Hampshire Historical society, $1000 each; to the New Hampshire Reform school, $1000 (to furnish books for the library;) to the South Parish in Portsmouth, $5000—which will be increased on the lapsing of life interests in several other bequests.

A SHOT RE-FIRED.

Editor Chronicle: The heavy man of the Times, in his issue of the 1st inst., has a rejoinder to my communication which appeared in your issue of the same date and which you headed "An answering shot;" he does not even attempt to give me an answer, but feebly sneers, and protests that his account of the republican rally on the 28th ult., was "a remarkably fair one." I said nothing about his general report of the rally, but of his particularized statements concerning the Boys in Blue. Speaking of that organization he said: "We saw some in the ranks who could not have been more than five years old at the time of the rebellion." That is false! If he spoke the truth, and not a malicious and baseless slander, let him name one of the juvenile veterans of whom he "saw some in the ranks," and not sneak behind the shelter of mere general statements and petty flings. He probably thought it would be "smart" to say what he did about the Boys in Blue, and accordingly said it, without caring in the least whether it was true or false.

That he does not regard truth as at all essential to his political squibs is shown by two other items of his concerning the Boys in Blue. One day he told his readers that the Boys in Blue had "raised funds to pay for seventy-five uniforms," and added that it was "possible" the managers might be "able to fill the greater part of that number;" within less than five hours after this statement was printed the Boys in Blue had a parade, and in describing this parade he said it "was a disappointment to every one, as it was supposed they would turn out over one hundred men," thereby intimating that no one believed what he said about the organization a few hours before the parade took place, in which he was undoubtedly correct. BOY IN BLUE.

RETROSPECTIVE.

The schooner H. B. Gibson lying in close proximity to the north mill-bridge, at the wharf of Hon. Moses H. Goodrich, suggests some reflections.

The grant for the use of the water of what now constitutes the north mill-pond was originally made by the town of Portsmouth to Peter Livius, upon the condition that he would build a foot-bridge with a draw to allow the passage of vessels going up and down the creek. Of course it is well known that no one now living ever had any knowledge or cognizance of a draw at the north mill-bridge, so that the wharf of Mr. Goodrich is at the head of navigation of that pretty little bay where, during the last two hundred years, so many crafts have been built until lately, from the skiff and the ponderous gondola up to the beautiful and finely-modelled clipper ship, by Livius, Meserve, Boyd, Thompson, Remick, Darton, Tobey, Tibbetts, Fernald and the Rayneses. The most of the vessels passing through the Noble's island bridge into this branch of the Piscataqua for the past few years, have arrived at the lumber yard of Thomas E. Call, Esq.

The Goodrich family purchased the tan yard (which has ever since been managed and for many years owned by Hon. Moses H. Goodrich) in the year 1837, of the heirs of John Hanscom, himself an industrious and prosperous business man at the time of his decease. Mr. Goodrich uses yearly two hundred cords of hemlock bark, procured mostly from the counties of Rockingham and York, and occasionally imported from the British provinces, as in this case. The hides are those of animals slaughtered in this vicinity. He has sometimes used imported hides, but on account of their superiority prefers the raw hides brought in here, which he uses altogether now. The bark is ground into tan by water power from the north mill-pond, on the premises.

For forty-three years Moses H. Goodrich has with great regularity walked up and down Vaughan street, and that portion of it which is now known as Elm street, with only short intervals of absence. During that period he has seen girls and boys of Christian Shore grow to maturity, go into active life, and many of them pass away. He has been honored by his party with many nominations, and several times elected by his fellow citizens to offices of honor. He is a well preserved man, and from the remarkable regularity of his life he bids fair to conduct his business with his usual success for many years to come. VIATOR.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, regular meeting, Thursday evening, Sept. 31st:

The First National bank was granted permission to encumber Market square for building purposes.

The quarterly pay roll of the fire department, to the amount of $1404.68, was ordered to be paid.

Rev. James DeNormandie and others notified the board that they designed opening to the public the library of the Young People's Union, with the intention of making it the nucleus of a permanent free library; and they asked the city to provide a suitable room, and supply gas and fuel two evenings each week. Referred.

The special committee on the water question announced that they had no further report to make, and by a vote of six to three the matter was indefinitely postponed.

CENSUS OF YORK COUNTY.

The following table gives the population of the several towns in York county, Me., in the year 1870 and 1880, from which it appears that Alfred, Buxton, Dayton, Eliot, Kittery, Lebanon, Limerick, Limington, Lyman, Newfield, Parsonsfield, Waterboro', Wells and York have all lost during the last decade, the remaining towns and cities, however, having gained enough to increase the total for the county by 1,125. Kittery shows a loss of 103, Eliot of 129, York of 191, Wells of 290. Hollis has a little more than held its own, having made a gain of one. South Berwick gained 167, Berwick 483, and North Berwick 178. The largest gain made by any one place was by Biddeford, 2371.

—The four-masted schooner William L. White, of Taunton, now lying at a Boston wharf, is the first vessel carrying four fore-and-aft-sails ever constructed for the coastwise trade and for seagoing. It was thought at first there might be experienced some disadvantage when the wind was due aft on account of the spanker becalming the forward sails; but, practically, there is none, for under such circumstances a variation from her course of one point keeps all her sails full, and the speed thus obtained enables her to hold her own with vessels carrying square sails, notwithstanding the added distance caused by the slight divergence from the true course.

—A young lady has a Sunday school class of rather bright boys, averaging between seven and nine years. Recently she requested each pupil to come on the following Sunday with some passage of Scripture bearing upon love. The lads heeded the request, and in turn recited their verses bearing upon that popular topic, such as, "Love your enemies," "Little children, love one another," etc. The teacher said to the boy whose turn came last, "Well, Robbie, what is your verse?" Rising, he responded, "Song of Solomon, second chapter, fifth verse—'Stay me with flagons, comfort me with apples; for I am sick of love.'"

A BRAVE LADY!

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation without Taking Chloroform.

(From the Courier.)

Mrs. Schoonmaker, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely loose the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skeleton. In this terrible strait, she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, New York, who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The "Favorite Remedy" is a priceless blessing to woman. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

The accumulated evidences of nearly thirty years show that the Bitters is a certain remedy for malarial disease, as well as its surest preventive; that it eradicates dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and nervousness, counteracts a tendency to gout, rheumatism, urinary and uterine disorders, that it imparts vigor to the feeble, and cheers the mind while it invigorates the body.

For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures, but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

—An exchange, speaking of a political meeting, says; "David Davis sat on the chairman's right hand." That chairman's hand must resemble a jelly-fish after a log has been rolled over it.

Summer's Heat

Relaxes the system and renders us liable to attacks of diarrhœa, dysentery, bloody flux, cholera-morbus, cramps in stomach, colic, and other painful and dangerous affections for which Dr. Pierce's Compound Extract of Smart-Weed—compounded from the best French brandy, Jamaica ginger, smart-weed, or water-pepper, anodyne, soothing and healing gums and balsams, is a most potent specific. It is equally efficacious in breaking up colds, fevers, and inflammatory attacks. Every household should be supplied with it. Fifty cents by druggists.

—At a recent press dinner in London, Sir Alexander Galt told the London journalists that there was scarcely a village in North America the inhabitants of which did not have a paper containing as much news as the London dailies.

D. R. V. G. is a purely vegetable compound, and will do all is claimed for it. See other column.

—A man in Ithaca forbade his daughter to meet her lover, and afterward obtained a note which she had written to the young man, making an appointment to meet him in the cemetery. He forwarded the note, and at the appointed time concealed himself behind a gravestone, and heard it ⅌ two plan ⅌ to go west and be married. He then presented himself, and ordering a carriage, took them to a minister's, where they were made man and wife.

KIDNEY-WORT

The Only Remedy THAT ACTS AT THE SAME TIME ON THE LIVER, THE BOWELS, and the KIDNEYS.

This combined action gives it wonderful power to cure all diseases.

Why Are We Sick?

Because we allow these great organs to become clogged or torpid, and poisonous humors are therefore forced into the blood that should be expelled naturally.

KIDNEY-WORT WILL CURE

by causing free action of these organs and restoring their power to throw off disease.

Why Suffer Billious pains and aches? Why tormented with Piles, Constipation? Why frightened over disordered Kidneys? Why endure nervous or sick headaches? Why have sleepless nights?

Use KIDNEY WORT and rejoice in health. It is a dry, vegetable compound and One package will make six quarts of Medicine. Of all druggists, or send by mail for one dollar, for you. Price, $1.00.

TRADE MARK

DAY'S Kidney PAD

IS STRONGLY ENDORSED.

Rev. E. P. L. GAINES, Galesburg, Ill., writes—"For over ten years I had been a great sufferer from pains in the small of the back and region of the Kidneys, which was most excruciating and at times almost insufferable. Doctoring brought no relief, and I was finally advised to go abroad and seek the climate of my youth. In Germany and Switzerland, eminent physicians, after close examination, ascribed my sufferings to arise from disease of the Kidneys, of long standing, and could do me no good. I will, however, benefited by the climate, and consequently my sufferings to arise from disease of the Kidneys, of long standing, and could do me no good. I will, however, benefited by the climate, and consequently returned. No sooner had I been back and resumed my pastoral work, when the old trouble grew again so intense as to make life a burden. A few months ago I came in possession of one of Day's Kidney Pads, put it on, and the effects were truly wonderful. The pains at once grew less and are now, after wearing the second Pad, entirely gone, and there can be no doubt that I am entirely cured, as I write this some weeks after its use, and am strong and look again the very picture of health. I write this perfectly voluntarily, and it is dictated only by a feeling of gratitude. Indeed, I consider the Day Kidney Pad a God's agents and great benefactors of mankind. May all the suffering be helped as I have been in my earnest wishes."

CHAS. DAVIS, 124 Myrtle Street, Boston: "I have now used Day's KIDNEY PAD thirty days, and it has done me more good than any remedy I have ever tried."

LARIMORE & DEAN, Druggists, Niles, Mich.—"Day's KIDNEY PAD is having a large sale and gives better general satisfaction than any remedy we ever sold."

CASPER WEITZEL, Pottstown, Lancaster, Pa.—"I have been a great sufferer from Kidney complaints, and after wearing your Pad for 15 days I feel better than I have in 15 years."

Dr. J. STORER, Decatur, Ill.—"Your Pad is doing great good here. It sells every day and gives universal satisfaction."

For sale by druggists, or sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of the price—Regular, Pad, $2.00; Special Pad (extra size), $3.00; Children's, $1.50. Our book, "How a Life was saved," gives full history of this new discovery, and a large record of cures remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it. Address,

THE

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled "THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, or SELF-PRESERVATION." Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundredth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jeweled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail post-paid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, whether due to pernicious habits or inherited. He is a Nervo-specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.

The author refers, by permission, to Hon. P. A. Hisch, L. L. M. D., president of the National Medical Association.

Address Dr. W. H. PARKER, No. 4 Bulfinch Street, Boston, Mass. The author may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. dm&th &ctnov60

OFFICE OF

COMMONWEALTH DISTRIBUTION CO.,

COURIER-JOURNAL BUILDING, LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 24th, 1880.

In direct violation of an agreement with Ex-Postmaster General Key, ordering the delivery of Registered Letters and the payment of Money Orders to the undersigned, pending the litigation in the United States Supreme Court, the Third Assistant Postmaster General has seen fit, in the absence of his superiors, to set aside said order. The grounds upon which he justifies this action are, that all lotteries in Kentucky have been repealed, and are therefore illegal, and being illegal, are necessarily fraudulent, when, in fact, the franchise under which this Company drew while that of the Louisiana Lottery Company, has never been repealed, and yet the Post Office Department discriminates in favor of that Company.

Comment is useless. Legal action will at once be taken by this Company, and, until further notice, correspondents are requested to send all remittances by plain letter or by express. Don't send by money order or registered letter.

Highest Medals. Indorsed and Prescribed by Medical Men of all Schools.

Professor Duncan Campbell, M.D., LL.D., President Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, etc., etc., says: "It has more than realized my expectations."

Professor J. M. Carnochan, M.D., Professor of Surgery New York Medical College, says: "My patients derive marked and decided benefit from it."

Professor H. Goullon, M.D., Physician to the Grand Duke of Saxony; Knight of the Holy Cross, etc., says: "It gives more tone than anything I have ever prescribed."

Sir Robert Christison, M.D., LL.D., F.R.S., Physician to her Majesty the Queen; President Royal British Association, etc., etc., says: "The properties of the Coca are the most remarkable of any known to the medical world. From repeated personal trials I am convinced that its use is highly beneficial and tonic."

Valuable in malaria; ague; malarial debility; dumbago; low fever; marasmus; paralytic; spinal and nervous affections; female weaknesses; bilious and liver affections; weak throats; palpitation and other affections of the heart; epilepsy or falling sickness; weakness of the voice of actors, singers, public speakers and clergymen; colic; flatulency; seasickness; falling out of the hair; asthma; shortness of breath; wasting diseases; etc., etc. It is gratefully refreshing and restorative after prolonged mental and physical strain. It is pleasant and agreeable, and is readily retained by the most delicate stomach. Dr. McBean (British Medical Journal) found it of great service in consumption. Baron von Humboldt says he has never known a case of consumption or asthma among those accustomed to its use, and that they live to a great age, retaining their mental and physical faculties to the last (Cosmos).

Hancock's Cabinet.

Under the above heading, the Washington Post publishes the following:

The first important duty devolving upon President Hancock after his inauguration will be the formation of a cabinet. Considerable interest will attach to his selections, which, we feel authorized to announce, General Hancock will make himself. The general will be the recipient of advice upon this subject from many sources and quarters. We propose to content ourself with simply suggesting what we consider would be an ideal democratic cabinet:

Secretary of State—Jere S. Black, of Pennsylvania.

Secretary of the Treasury—Samuel J. Tilden, of New York.

Secretary of War—George B. McClellan, of New Jersey.

Secretary of the Navy—Thomas A. Hendricks, of Indiana.

Secretary of the Interior—Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio.

Postmaster-General—John B. Gordon, of Georgia

Attorney-General—Benjamin F. Butler, of Massachusetts.

With such a coterie of advisers, the first democratic president since the war would enter at once upon a most successful administration of the nation's affairs.

Lady Godiva a Myth.

One by one the roses fade. It seems that now that we have lost Beatrice Da Cenci, William Tell, and a host of other old standbys, we are to be called on to bewail the departure of that scantily-attired equestrienne, Lady Godiva. A writer in Notes and Queries says she is a myth. It is impossible that she should have ridden through Coventry, for the reason that Coventry was not in existence at the time. There is, however, some foundation for the legend. Godiva was a lady possessing vast wealth, with which she determined to found and endow an abbey. This she did, "stripping herself of all she had," and thence the legend. Coventry gradually arose around the abbey, and had no streets, and consequently no tolls, until Godiva had been dead at least a century.

What Dealers Say.

STERLING, ILL., April 10th, 1880.

Kidney-Wort still continues to sell better than any other patent medicine on our shelves, and it always does good work. Customers praise it to us, and recommend it to their neighbors.

O. A. OLIVER & CO., Druggists.

LANCASTER, PA., March 27th, '80.

MESSRS. WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Gentlemen— Kidney-Wort is giving general satisfaction. I will swear by it all the time as it has done me more good than any physician was able to do.

J. R. KAUFFMAN, Druggist.

Gentlemen—Mr. John Beal, of Woodford Co., wishes us to tell you that two boxes of Kidney-Wort cured him of a severe liver complaint. He is selling lots for us by his recommendations.

W. A. ZINDEL, Druggist, Peoria, Ill.

—At an inn in Suffolk county the landlord has a sign posted up outside his door, "Good beer for sale here, but don't take my word for it."

Pleasant Letters.

They are sheets of sunshine. A Methodist clergyman of Hartford, Conn., writes Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., that "Favorite Remedy" cured him of chronic liver disease and indigestion, from which he had suffered for a long time. This was splendid, but nothing more than anyone may expect who uses this medicine. One dollar a bottle is a small consideration when health is in question. The clergyman says he is going to introduce Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" among his people. He can't do better. Health is always a friend of religion.

—"Mr. Smith," said a lady at a fair, "won't you buy this bonquet to present to the lady you love?" "I wouldn't be right," said Mr. Smith; "I'm a married man."

One of the most estimable citizens may be thankful for the introduction of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, for its timely use has saved his life.

—Two daughters of a Long Island farmer ran away because he kept the house too warm. They then ran back home again because the world was too cold.

Many people suffer, and know not what ails them. Try D. R. V. G. If no benefit is received, your druggist will refund the money.

—A yoke of oxen are anchored at the bottom of Lake Michigan. Being hitched to an anchor on a ferryboat, they backed overboard and dragged it along.

TO THE EDITOR. For the benefit of any of your readers who may be interested, I beg to say, from personal observation, that Bright's disease of the kidneys is certainly curable. My friend, Mr. Joshua Tuthill, of Saginaw, Mich., was attacked by it, and was in a most critical situation. His family physician recommended him to take Hunt's Remedy, the great kidney and liver medicine. He did so. His symptoms gradually subsided, and, at the end of a short time, entirely disappeared. He was completely cured, and is a well man to-day. Recommend your readers to try Hunt's Remedy.

Respectfully, AMOS G. TORREY.

—Donn Piatt says: "From the recent terrible marine disasters we are led to decide that water is becoming more dangerous to human life than whiskey."

Death of Nathaniel White.

Nathaniel White of Concord died in that city on Saturday morning, of heart disease, at the age of about seventy years, having been unwell for some time. He leaves a wife and five children.

Mr. White was one of the most liberal and public spirited citizens of Concord. In all good works, in all reformatory and progressive measures, he was found, not only encouraging by his influence, but by generous contributions evincing his appreciation.

Among his many thoughtful acts was going through an entire regiment once leaving Concord for the seat of war, and placing a dollar in the hand of every soldier that he might secure a good dinner on the first day's march.

The enthusiastic reception of his name presented as a candidate at large for elector in the recent republican state convention shew how he was regarded throughout the state, and he was known far and wide as one of those men who achieved a competence by the happy possession of brain, pluck, sound common sense and a breadth of ideas, all happily commingled and working in effective harmony. To our sister city no less than to the state Mr. White's death is a severe public loss, and he will be missed greatly at the Capital, especially for his generous charities and liberal benefactions.

Mr. White was one of the late firm of Cheney & Co.'s United States & Canada Express company, and had large business interests in various parts of the country. He was at one time prohibition candidate for governor, and had been a representative to the legislature. He was director in several railroads, and was identified with many charitable institutions.

Political Notes.

The heart of the ancient democratic element in Mr. Morse's district in Massachusetts is said to have been fired by Gen. Butler, who has a grudge against Morse because he didn't support him for governor; and the prejudices of the Irish element have been stimulated against Morse, whom the newly-made Irish voters denounce as a German Jew, unfit to be trusted with the power of the pure democracy.

One of the De Pauws, the great glass manufacturers in New Albany, Indiana, and heretofore a democrat, made a speech in a republican meeting a few days since. He said that 113 democratic votes were cast in Congress for the Wood tariff bill, and 115 (nearly every one of them republicans) against it. He asked: "Do you know what would have been the result of the passage of this Wood tariff bill? I willl tell you. Within six months of its passage every manufacturing industrial establishment in New Albany would have been closed—destroyed." Then he told the workingmen that if they wanted their wages reduced to fifty and seventy-five cents a day, the rates paid under the operation of the democratic tariffs of 1846 and 1858, to vote for Landers and Hancock.

A correspondent of the New York Herald recalls the pledges of Polk, Pierce and Buchanan when they were democratic candidates for the presidency—the former against the annexation of Texas; of Pierce and his friends that the compromise of 1850 should be the final settlement of the slavery question; and of Buchanan in his letter of acceptance, relative to the organization of the territories of Kansas and Nebraska—all of which were broken under the pressure of party dictation, and he expresses the fear that Gen. Hancock may be forced by these men to change his sentiments respecting southern claims.

Revenue agent Latham, in charge of the district of Alabama, has forwarded to the internal revenue bureau the report of a deputy who recently visited Marion and Lamar counties for the purpose of arresting illicit distillers. The parties arrested were taken from the revenue officers and released by armed citizens, who said the time for interfering with the making of whisky was at an end. The officers were obliged to retreat, and the agent now awaits instructions from Washington.

Hon. Eben F. Pillsbury, recently of Maine, has been summoned to Indiana. This indicates that the democrats expect to be beaten at the polls, and rely for success only on their ability to count out the republicans. Pillsbury can teach them how to alter and falsify election returns if any one can.—Traveller.

Kentucky visitors in Indiana are getting indignant. Wherever they locate themselves for the purpose of voting, they find themselves "spotted" by republican volunteer detectives.—Kennebec Journal.

News and Notes.

There are at present eight sardine factories in Eastport, Me., running full blast night and day, turning out weekly about 3,500 cases for market and giving employment to about 600 hands, male and female.

Asa S. Farnum, a farmer at Tolland, Mass., arrived at home unexpectedly on Wednesday evening of last week, quarrelled with his wife because supper was not ready, and then went into the orchard and hanged himself on an apple tree.

Isaac Rittenhouse of Leelonia, Ohio, while drunk on the night of Sept. 30th, drove his family out of the house, and then with a lighted torch which he carried set the house on fire, and was consumed with the building.

The trial of Walter Winsor for the murder of Miss Amelia F. Potter, a woman fifty years of age, in Johnston, on the 7th of last June, was begun at Providence, R. I., on Thursday last. Winsor is but sixteen years of age, but his fiendish deed has had no parallel in the history of crime in that state. It is understood that Winsor's counsel will put in the plea of insanity.

The bee keepers, in convention at Cincinnati, report that the honey crop of 1880 was about half the usual yield, bad weather affecting the production.

The grand jury of St. Johns county, Fla., which has been investigating the alleged robbery of trunks and bodies which came ashore from the wreck of the Vera Cruz, has found true bills against Edward Moody and E. Allen, the latter a hotel keeper at Matanzas.

It is now asserted that Sheriff Gathreanx, of New Orleans, is a defaulter to the state of Louisiana for tax collections amounting to $150,000. The deficit of the state and city is estimated at a quarter of a million.

In Providence, R. I., last Thursday night, a republican meeting was broken up by howling and yells, and by stones thrown recklessly by a mob of men and boys on the outside.

Julis Hayes, a widow, was burned to a crisp at Buffalo, N. Y., Thursday, having run into her house to save a few effects while the house was on fire.

Clark Record, a livery stable keeper of Portland, Me., was arrested, Thursday night of last week, for passing counterfeit money. He finally confessed that the money was obtained of William R. Card of Gorham. Card was arrested Friday morning, and committed after an examination. He said he had purchased $160 worth of counterfeit money for $30 per hundred, and had sold Record $100 of it. Friday afternoon the officers arrested Howard E. White of Windham on a charge of dealing in counterfeit greenbacks.

During the months of July, August and September, Special Officer Al. Watts of Boston captured and killed 691 unlicensed dogs. He also captured and returned to their owners a number of valuable dogs, which were roaming about without collars. He reports that the black-and-tan and Spitz dogs are seldom seen now.

Mary Hill, aged twenty-seven years, committed suicide at Portland, Me., by taking arsenic, last week. No cause is assigned.

The stage between Pearce City, Mo., and Eureka Springs, Ark., was stopped on the 20th ult. twenty miles from the former place by six masked and well-armed men, and the passengers, eleven men and one woman, were robbed, and about $900 taken, of which A. P. Mann, assistant engineer of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad lost $270, and A. H. Chaplin, his clerk, $175. Two other passengers threw away pocket books, containing $1,500, when the stage was stopped, but recovered them when the robbers had left. Chaplin attempted to draw a revolver, but a bullet from one of the robbers, which passed through his coat sleeve, admonished him to keep quiet.

George Winn, aged nineteen years, a Boston & Albany brakeman, was fatally hurt at Millbury, Mass., Friday, while shackling cars. The cars passed over both legs and one arm.

William H. Fairchild, who has, as occasion served, borne the aliases of Burton, Clarke, Howell and Shoemaker, and has served terms in the Michigan and Ohio penitentiaries, was arrested at Chicago on Friday for the murder of an old man named Richard French in 1878, whom Fairchild and his wife enticed to Kansas under the promise of taking care of him, and then murdered him in cold blood.

Dr. Albert G. F. Goerson of Philadelphia, charged with the murder of his wife by poison, was on Friday convicted of murder in the first degree.

The body of Joseph Dumas, of Northfield, Vt., was found in the river at Montpelier on the 1st inst. An autopsy shew that wounds on the head caused his death, and a man and wife named Stone have been arrested on suspicion of murder.

August Floodman, a Swede, employed in a rolling mill at Worcester, Mass., was at work rolling wire rods on Thursday last, but when a red-hot rod came through the rollers failed to catch it with his tongs, and in an instant it coiled about his legs, cutting one foot completely off and injuring the other so badly that it had to be amputated at the city hospital, to which he was taken.

In the case of the state of Maine against Elisha Linscott and Elizabeth Jack, alias Elizabeth Jackson, of Appleton, indicted for the murder of an illegitimate infant of which they were the parents, which was on trial several days at Rockland last week, the jury failed to agree, and were discharged after being out nine hours. The jury stood seven for acquittal and five for manslaughter.

A Down Town Merchant

Having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, procured a supply for the child. On reaching home and acquainting his wife with what he had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of Homeopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still worse; and while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties, and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and the little fellow awoke next morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the sudden and wonderful change, and although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering, crying babies and restless night have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never yet failed to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudice of the mother. Sold by all Druggists. 25 cents a bottle. 6

AROUND HOME.

Hon. Charles H. Bell was in this city on Saturday.

The Garfield & Arthur Battalion are notified to meet at headquarters this (Monday) evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The ladies of the Portsmouth Humane society will hold their first meeting at Mrs. Lyman's, on Austin street, Monday afternoon, Oct. 4th.

The Portsmouth Shoe Factory will pay a semi-annual dividend of $1.50 a share over the counter of the National Mechanics & Traders' bank on the 9th inst.

A novel feature in the republican campaign in this city will be one borrowed from the west and seldom witnessed in New England—a barbecue, to be held in Langdon park or at the Plains.

Oscar Laighton and his sister, Mrs. Thaxter, sailed from Boston Saturday morning in the Batavia for Europe. We hope favorable winds will attend the tourists across the ocean, and that they will not become "contributors to the Atlantic" except in a literary sense, as in times past.

About two hundred vessels were fishing in Ipswich bay on Friday last, and all took more or less mackerel. Two schooners took one hundred and fifty barrels each, and almost every vessel made a fair catch. The mackerel were mostly fat number twos, with a good sprinkling of number ones.

The fishing schooner W. E. King, of Salem, Henry Becker of Newcastle master, put into Newcastle on Friday with one hundred wash-barrels of prime mackerel, taken off Boar's Head. Also two other schooners, names not reported, came into smooth water to dress their fish, of which they had full fares.

We invite attention to the advertisement of Mr. George Riddle's reading in this city next Friday evening. He appears this time in an entirely different line from his Shakesperean readings, the two scenes advertised being both humorous, both bran new, and both written expressly for Mr. Riddle.

The republicans of Stratham raised a Garfield & Arthur flag near the post-office in that town on Friday evening last. The Exeter cornet band furnished music, and there was speaking by Hon. J. H. Gallinger of Concord and Edwin F. Jones of Manchester. Campaign companies were present from Exeter and South Newmarket, and a large number of people took part.

Yesterday two ladies from Portsmouth were driving home with their team, and when near the Catholic cemetery in this city the harness broke, which caused the horse to run away, upsetting the wagon and throwing out one of the ladies. Bernard Feeney captured the horse, and probably saved the lady remaining in the carriage from serious injuries. The lady who was thrown out was severely contused about the head, and the carriage was slightly damaged.—Dover Democrat, Oct. 1st.

The Moses H. Goodrich fire engine company returned on Saturday afternoon from their visit to Newburyport, arriving at three o'clock. They had a short march about town before proceeding to their engine house, and looked and marched finely. The Kittery band, which the company took with them to Newburyport, has made marked improvement in playing since its reorganization, and is a decidedly creditable organization for any country town to boast of.

C. L. Brown & Co. last week got ready for shipment their first lot of evaporated apples, consisting of two hundred cases containing fifty pounds of fruit each, a total of 10,000 pounds; this lot goes to Europe. The apples put up by this firm are the handsomest we have ever seen, partly owing, perhaps, to the extra quality of the fruit grown this year. The apple crop is reported to be immense—larger than ever before known. Messrs. Brown & Co. can purchase all they want of best quality Baldwins, shaken from the trees, at fifteen cents a bushel, delivered. For hand-picked Baldwins of the first quality the producers get a dollar a barrel, delivered; the empty barrels cost thirty cents each, and the cost of picking and marketing is at least twenty-five cents per barrel.

Louis Mestayer, the actor who took the part of the Judge in "The Danites" when that play was performed at Music hall not long ago, died in New York on the 29th ult., at the age of fifty-nine years.

The Eldredge Brewing Company have opened an office at No. 124 Water street, in Boston, between Kilby and Broad streets, for the transaction of their Boston business and to meet a want required by the increase of their sales of ale, porter and lager beer in that vicinity. A large refrigerator will be built there to receive lager not delivered directly from the cars to their customers. One of their brewery wagons has been sent to Boston to do teaming in the city and between the railroad stations.

Calvin Page, Esq., in the course of his harangue to the unterrified on Friday evening, on the occasion of the flag-raising at the north mill-bridge, assured his hearers that Hon. Daniel Marcy is to be Hancock's secretary of the navy, and visions of lots of soft jobs on the navy yard danced before the eyes of his hearers. But Stilson Hutchins, of the Washington Post, says Thomas A. Hendricks of Indiana is to be the secretary of the navy after Hancock gets in. This discrepancy must be settled before the election comes off.

One of the most gorgeous flag-raisings yet seen in this locality took place Friday evening at the north mill-bridge, when and where a large flag ten feet long was raised under the auspices of the Christian Shore Cadets, who turned out about thirty-five men and boys to receive a company of about seventy commanded by an ex-confederate officer who is of course an ardent Hancock man. To give light to the celebration three torches were put in use—more would have been, we are informed, had the kerosene fund not given out—and two bunches of crackers were fired off. Judge Page made a speech, and was followed by the 100-days veteran; and take it all in all, we ne'er shall look upon its like again. TANYARD.

"MY PARTNER."

This drama was performed in Nashua last week by the same company that will present it at Music hall on Thursday evening, and the Telegraph of next day said:

The audience was the largest of the season, and everybody was appreciative and thoroughly satisfied. It is an American drama of the "new school," that is to say: It is not of the sensational order, and its success does not depend upon an indiscriminate use of gunpowder. The scene is laid near a California mining camp, and the characters are true to life, being overdrawn only to the degree necessary for successful acting. The plot is perfect and the dialogue crisp and smooth. Mr. Aldrich, an old actor of recognized merit, has the burden. He gives an even performance throughout, being equal to every situation. He depicted joy and grief, honor and fidelity, in a masterly manner. It was an artistic and vigorous performance, and received merited applause. Mr. Barr's character was less attractive to the general audience, but those who were seeking something to admire in art were not disappointed in him. His performance was even and worthy. The Heathen Chinee by Mr. Charles T. Parsloe was something new, and the audience would not have tired were his lines doubled. Mr. Parsloe is a careful actor who never slights his parts, and deserves well his success. Mr. Frank Morant, the candidate for re-election, was capital. He kept the audience in good humor, and showed some fine bits of acting. The ladies were meritorious. They performed their parts carefully, and were appreciated by the audience. The company will be welcome again at any time.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

Recently a man calling himself Prof. Powers, and claiming to have been a teacher in Bryant & Stratton's commercial college at Troy, N. Y., started writing schools at Kennebunk depot and Wells. At each place he held his school one evening, collected fifty cents of each pupil, and then left without paying for his board. Where he went to is not known, and he probably gave the people an assumed name.

The police and deputy sheriffs in Biddeford and Saco made themselves very obnoxious to the liquor dealing fraternity last week. On Wednesday eight saloons in Biddeford were raided, and seizures made at each place. On Thursday the city marshal of Saco captured ten gallons of whiskey at the Boston & Maine depot in that city, and a deputy sheriff seized a barrel of beer at the same place, and thirty gallons of whiskey at the Eastern depot.

SOUTH ELIOT, Sept. 30th.

It is some time since our streets have been so quiet and free from noise as they were last night. Was this on account of the demogreenback flag-raising at Newington drawing from our town the Hancock & English Guards, who recently "barbecued" on crackers and cheese, and listened to the "few feeble remarks" of Bro. Urch of Portsmouth? Bro. "Pointer," in the Times, suggests that "Boiling Rock" was in error as to the number of torches carried in the "barbecue" procession (which "Pointer" puts at seventy,) and that he obtained his information from a small boy. That is false. The only mistake I made was in giving the number of torches too high; I gave it as forty-nine, when there were really but forty-six, the count being made at Nigger Corner.—— Col. Haley was kind enough to invite us to attend the Newington flag-raising, and enjoy the crackers and cheese and cider dispensed by the brethren there, but we declined. We understand that the representative from Eliot spread himself on the occasion, and made one of his eloquent appeals to the "reason" of his fellow countrymen. To sooth the feelings of the lieutenant of the Hancock Guards, I sign myself

C. H. S., or "BOILING ROCK."

The Exeter Sportsmen's club had a pigeon-shooting match at Kittery on Wednesday of last week. The participants embarked on board the steamer Lottie at seven o'clock in the morning, arriving at their destination at eleven. About one hundred tame pigeons were killed, and the News-Letter says that "all voted the first annual excursion of the club a success." If the legislature of Maine does its duty in the premises, the first annual excursion of the club to the state of Maine for such a purpose will be also its last one. Such exhibitions are now illegal in Connecticut, Massachusetts and New Hampshire, and we have no doubt will be in Maine next year.

New Hampshire Items.

Robert Smith, a saloon keeper of Manchester, took two ounces of laudanum, Friday, with the intention of committing suicide, he having become despondent from excessive dissipation. Prompt remedies were applied, and he recovered.

Sheriff Kent has investigated the alleged shooting of J. C. Clough of Fremont by Eben Bowley, and states that the parties were both on a spree when Clough was hurt, and that neither can give a satisfactory account of the affair. Clough is not dangerously injured, the wound probably not being from a pistol shot, but a scalp wound from some other cause. Bowley is at his work, and is friendly with Clough.

The republicans of Great Falls and vicinity had a grand rally last Thursday evening. It was the biggest political demonstration ever held in that place.

A young bear was recently killed by a train on the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad, just above New Hampton station.

Naval Gazette.

The training-ship Saratoga arrived at Fortress Monroe on the 1st inst., thirty-four days from Madeira; all well.

Sailmaker John S. Franklin is detached from the receiving ship St. Louis, at League island, and placed on waiting orders. Sailmaker Robert L. Tatem is ordered to the St. Louis.

The following officers have been ordered to the Despatch: Commander McGregor, to command; Lieutenant F. M. Wise, executive; Lieut. James D. Kelly, Passed Assistant Surgeon Aulick, Assistant Paymaster H. R. Smith, and Passed Assistant Engineers C. H. Manning, E. P. McCartney and L. W. Wooster. It is reported the Despatch will be ordered to Europe on a three years cruise.

Pickles in Glass Jars.

We have many letters asking how to put up pickles so that they will look like those sold in glass jars at the stores. These pickles look beautifully, but we cannot advise our readers to try to imitate them in all respects. The fine appearance of these pickles is due to two things, the "greening" and the use of colorless vinegar. The very green pickles are made so by soaking them in a solution of alum and verdigris. The use of a small quantity of alum, an ounce to every five gallons of water, to harden the pickles, is not objectionable. After the salted cucumbers have been thoroughly freshened by soaking in blood-warm water, and changing it every day until the cucumbers are fresh enough, they are put into the alum water and kept at blood-heat for a day, or until sufficiently hard. If they are not green enough, be sure not to use verdigris. The vinegar used is called "White wine vinegar," but it is really made from whiskey and water. Its only merit is, that it is colorless; it is a pure acid, and without the fine fragrance and flavor that belong to cider, or even real wine vinegar. For home use, cider vinegar is vastly preferable; but the pickle makers, for the sake of looks, use the other.—American Agriculturist.

—An Ohio newspaper speaks of a man being bruised by the "emphatic gesture of a mule."

A BRAVE LADY!

She Endures the Pain of a Severe Surgical Operation without Taking Chloroform.

(From the Courier.)

Mrs. Schoonmaker, of Creek Locks, Ulster Co., N. Y., had the misfortune to entirely loose the sight of one of her eyes, through an accident, and endured painful inflammatory action therein for two long years; the other eye finally becoming sympathetically affected, her general health seriously suffering; indeed, she was a mere wreck, a walking skel ton. In this terrible strait, she consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, New York, who told her at once that the injured eye must be removed. She quietly but firmly said: "All right, Doctor, but don't give me chloroform. Let my husband sit by my side during the operation, and I will neither cry out or stir." The work was done, and the poor woman kept her word. Talk of soldierly courage! This showed greater pluck than it takes to face a hundred guns. To restore her general health and give tone and strength to the system, Dr. Kennedy then gave the "Favorite Remedy," which cleansed the blood and imparted new life to the long suffering woman. She rapidly gained health and strength, and is now well. The "Favorite Remedy" is a priceless blessing to woman. No family should be without it. Your druggist has it. If not send to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, New York.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

The accumulated evidences of nearly thirty years show that the Bitters is a certain remedy for malarial disease, as well as its surest preventive; that it eradicates dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint and nervousness, counteracts a tendency to gout, rheumatism, urinary and uterine disorders, that it imparts vigor to the feeble, and cheers the mind while it invigorates the body.

For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.

Temperance people often say that most of the popular medicines they see advertised are nine-tenths rum. That is true of many, but not of Dr. David Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy." The doctor agrees with his temperance friends that it is better to die of disease than of drink. "Favorite Remedy" cures kidney troubles, liver complaints, constipation of the bowels, as nothing else does or ever did. It drives away sickness. It cools the blood. costs only a dollar to try it. Ask your druggist or send to the doctor at Rondout, N. Y.

—He had an auburn-haired girl, and promised to take her out riding. She met him at the door when he drove up, and he exclaimed, "Hello! Ready?" She misunderstood him, and they don't speak now. Thus slang makes another slap at love's young dream.

FOR THE GOOD OF HUMANITY.—Of all the discoveries which have ever been made by man or woman, which has accomplished more for the "Good of Humanity" than anything else, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest; for men are now as loud and enthusiastic in its praises for curing them of kidney complaints and weakness of the urinary and genital organs as women are in its efficacy for curing female complaints.

—"The papers talk of civil engineers," said old Mrs. Briggs. "I wonder why they ain't no civil conductors."

D. R. V. G. is a purely vegetable compound, and will do all is claimed for it. See other column.

—There's one good thing about St. Julien. He won't lecture.

It is not a cure-all. But for diseases of kidneys, bladder or urinary organs, Day's Kidney Pad is the best cure yet discovered.

—Charles Livingston, the unsuccessful Brooklyn faster, turns out to be an impostor. He has been identified as Walter Moorcraft, who has figured in various disreputable performances, and his landlady says his alleged wife supplied him with food and stimulants during the pretended fast.

Teachers, authors and others of sedentary habits highly prize Malt Bitters.

Railroad Litigation.

Judge Clifford has given the following opinion in the case of the Ogdensburg & Lake Champlain Railroad company vs. Boston & Lowell Railroad corporation. "This bill is brought for an account and for payment of such proportion of the money lent by the Ogdenburg & Lake Champlain Railroad Company, the plaintiff, under an agreement set out in the bill, as is due from the Boston and Lowell Railroad corporation. The agreement is between the Northern Transportation Company of Ohio, of the first part; Smith and Stark, who are to act as trustees, of the second part; the Vermont Central, Vermont & Canada, Northern (of New Hampshire) and Lowell railroad companies, of the third part; and the plaintiff, of the fourth part. It was to be in force for nineteen years from March 1, 1871. The companies mentioned own most of the line of railroad between Ogdensburg and Boston, and the object of the agreement was to secure the business of the Northern Transportation company, who run a line of steamers from Ogdensburg over the northern lakes. It was alleged that when the agreement was made the plaintiff's road had been leased to the Vermont & Canada and Vermont Central railroads for twenty years from March 1, 1870; that the plaintiff paid $600,000 to the parties of the second part, in accordance with the agreement; that the presidents and treasurers of the plaintiff and defendant corporations fixed and determined the amount to be paid semi-annually to the sinking fund, as provided in the agreement; that the parties of the third part did thereafter pay the the amount so fixed, in proportion to their respective shares of the gross earnings until September 1, 1874, and have made no payments since that time, and that there remains due the plaintiff $372,000; that the defendant company is bound to pay to the plaintiff such proportion of the sum remaining due them for advances as the amount of gross earnings of the defendant from the business bears to the total gross earnings of the parties of the third part. There was a demurrer to the bill, and the case was argued upon the bill and demurrer. The court has now sustained the demurrer. They say that the theory of the bill is that the company composing the party of the third part are absolutely bound to pay the plaintiff the sums advanced. The demurrer assumes that the payments are to be made out of gross receipts from the Ogdenburg business. Upon a most careful reading of the contract we are of opinion that the parties of the third part have not bound themselves to pay this advance at all events. It seems to us that the parties of the third part are willing to rely upon the security which would be furnished by buying up the bonds, stock and debt of the transportation company, and that the plaintiff trusted to that and the pledge of the gross earnings of the business. Upon this construction of the contract it becomes necessary that the bill should allege that these were gross receipts up to the time when the business was stopped, beyond what was paid to the sinking fund. We are of the opinion that the whole gross receipts from the business mentioned in the contract which accrued to the defendant during the time that the steamboats continued to run are pledged to the plaintiff, but that no payment can be demanded of the defendant beyond the amount of these receipts, and that the bill must be amended before an account of these receipts can be ordered." Similar cases are pending against the Nashua & Lowell and the Northern railroads in this state, in the circuit court for the district of New Hampshire.

A DISCOVERY BY ACCIDENT,

supplying a want which men of eminent ability have devoted years of study and experiment to find—a specific for diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System—and from the time of its discovery has rapidly increased in favor, gaining the approval and confidence of medical men and those who have used it, it has become a favorite with all classes and where it introduced has superseded all other treatments. In short, such is its intrinsic merits and superiority, that it is now the only recognized reliable remedy.

DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS

are the most prevalent, dangerous and fatal affections that afflict mankind, and so varied and insidious in their character that persons often suffer for a long time before knowing what ails them. The most characteristic symptoms are gradual wasting away of the whole body; pain in the back, side or loins, a weak, feeble, exhausted feeling, loss of appetite and dread of exertion; scanty and painful discharge of variously colored urine; inability to retain or expel the urine; minute shreds or casts in the urine; and, when the disease is of long duration, there is usually sleeplessness and general nervous prostration.

THE ONLY CURE.

We say positively and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the first and only infallible cure for every form of Kidney disease. It is the best remedy yet discovered for this complaint, and more effectual in its operation than any other treatment. By using faithfully and persistently no case will be found so inveterate as not to yield to its curative influence.

STRONGLY ENDORSED.

We have the most unequivocal testimony to its curative powers from many persons of high character, intelligence and responsibility. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving the history of this new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it.

DAY'S KIDNEY PADS are sold by druggists, or will be sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of their price, Regular, $1.00. Special, for obstinate cases of long standing, $5.00; Children's, $1.50.

Address,

DAY KIDNEY PAD CO., TOLEDO, O.

CAUTION. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for DAY'S KIDNEY PAD, take no other and you will not be deceived.

KIDNEY-WORT

PERMANENTLY CURES
KIDNEY DISEASES,
LIVER COMPLAINTS,
Constipation and Piles.

DR. E. H. CLARK, South Hero, Vt., says, "In cases of KIDNEY TROUBLES it has acted like a charm. It has cured many of the bad cases of PILES, and has never failed to act efficiently."

NELSON FAIRCHILD, of St. Albans, Vt., says, "It is of priceless value. After sixteen years of great suffering from Piles and Costiveness it completely cured me."

C. S. HOGARON, of Tecumseh, says, "one package has done wonders for me in completely curing a severe Liver and Kidney Complaint."

IT HAS WONDERFUL POWER. WHY?

BECAUSE IT ACTS ON THE LIVER, THE BOWELS AND KIDNEYS AT THE SAME TIME.

Because it cleanses the system of the poisonous humors that develope in Kidney and Urinary diseases, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Piles, or in Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Female disorders.

KIDNEY-WORT is a dry vegetable compound and can be sent by mail prepaid.

One package will make six qts of medicine.

THE
New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

EDISON'S

POLYFORM.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, or SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Two hundred edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. Three hundred pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail post-paid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success in dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, which are the pernicious habits or inherited. He is a Nervo specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes when such power and ability."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.

OFFICE OF

COMMONWEALTH DISTRIBUTION CO.,

COURIER-JOURNAL BUILDING, LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 24th, 1880.

In direct violation of an agreement with Ex-Postmaster General Key, ordering the delivery of Registered Letters and the payment of Money Orders to the parties entitled, pending the litigation in the United States Supreme Courts, the Third Assistant Postmaster General has seen fit, in the absence of his superiors, to set aside said order. The grounds upon which he justifies this action are, that all lotteries in Kentucky have been repealed, and are therefore illegal, and being illegal, are necessarily fraudulent, when, in fact, the franchise under which this Company draws while that of the Louisiana Lottery Company, has never been repealed, and yet the Post Office Department discriminates in favor of that Company.

Comment is useless. Legal action will at once be taken by this Company, and, until further notice, correspondents are requested to send all remittances by plain letter or by express. Don't send by money order or registered letter.

Democratic Endorsements of Garfield.

Before Gen. Garfield became a candidate for President, the democrats were quite ready to certify to the purity of his character. It is only since he became a candidate that they have aroused to the necessity of blackening his fame in order to defeat him. In proof of what the democrats really think of Garfield, we publish below the opinions of some of the most influential democrats in the country as to his character:

Garfield holds to-day the honored position of being the only poor man among the political leaders.—Dorn Piatt.

He would not do a dishonest act for his own sake or its own sake.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

I will tell you whom I think the republicans should nominate and whom I consider their strongest man; he is a true man, a man of principle, an honest man, and would make a good President for us all. Personally, I consider him the best man you could nominate. I refer to General James A. Garfield, of Ohio.—Thomas A. Hendricks, democratic candidate for vice-president in 1876.

If he would carry the principles which regulate his private life into his public conduct, he would make the best chief magistrate we ever had.—Judge J. S. Black, of Pennsylvania.

In the midst of the organized carnival of corruption which has been going on now so many weary months and years at Washington, it is really satisfactory to catch glimpses now and then of honesty for honesty's sake, and without consideration of party. General Garfield, of Ohio, is a republican of republicans, but it is his simple due, which we gladly pay him, to admit that he has done more than any other single member of his party during the last session of Congress to show that it is not impossible for a man to act with a congressional majority, and yet to keep his self-respect and the respect of honest men.—New York World, May 30, 1872.

As to the Credit Mobilier matters with which General Garfield has been charged, I believe he was altogether innocent of them. It will not do for the democratic party to throw mud at Garfield, because if they do they will elect him.—Hon. Alex. H. Stephens, of Georgia.

I am proud to call Garfield my friend, and I would not call any man my friend whom I even suspected of dishonesty.—Hon. Henry B. Payne, of Ohio.

Garfield is one of the most sincere and honorable men I ever knew in public life, and his record is without a flaw.—Hon. Randolph Tucker, of Virginia.

No living American in my estimation stands higher for integrity and purity than James A Garfield.—Hon. Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio.

Garfield's honesty and integrity are beyond question.—Judge J. S. Black.

Gen. Garfield, personally considered, is singularly pure and upright. Attempts at blackening Garfield's character will be signal failures, and will be met by protests from such eminent democrats as the Hons. Jeremiah Black, Allen Thurman, and Justice Field, who have already put themselves on record in his behalf. He has not only lived in the open air, but has occupied positions where he could have winked himself into millions.—Sunday Capital, Washington.

Senator Thurman lets up on Gen. Garfield of Ohio in this amiable fashion: "Oakes Ames swore that Garfield got ten shares, and Garfield says that he did not do anything of the kind. There was a good deal of talk, but no proof against him, and I am compelled to say that on the whole there was not sufficient evidence to fasten the corruption at his door." After considering all the testimony, on the whole we concur in this view of Mr. Garfield's connection with the Credit Mobilier.—New York World, Oct. 10, 1873.

—When you see a man look sad and say, "Too bad! I'm sorry!" as his wife informs him that the plants she meant to winter have been left out one night too long, and are frozen, write that man down as a snivelling hypocrite.

—While a Peoria man was discussing with his hired man the question: "Did man evolute from the fish-worm?" his daughter ran away and got married, and his horse died of the colic, and he merely convinced the hired man that he was crazy as an old bedbug.

—A Michigan man has invented a flying machine, and found, on trying to fly with it from the top of a flag staff, that he had got a contrivance that would get him to the ground quicker than he could get there by jumping without it. It is thought the thing will prove a tip-top well-digging machine.

—It is an old saying that one must go abroad to learn the news. A Liverpool paper has the following exclusive item: "It is said that President Hayes and his family will visit England at the end of his term of office. Mr. Hayes, who is a Wesleyan, is occasionally in the habit of delivering lay sermons, and will, it is understood, occupy the pulpits of several of the leading clergymen of his denomination whilst in this country."

Many people suffer, and know not what ails them. Try D. R. V. G. If no benefit is received, your druggist will refund the money.

—Spicer says that torch light companies naturally come under the head of "light" infantry.

The invalid's hope and strength beyond all other remedies is Malt Bitters.

A Little Game of Brag.

Hon. Frank Jones, in company with Al. Sulloway, candidate for representative in congress from New Hampshire, visited New York last week, and what they told the democratic national committee (of which Sulloway is a member) is printed in the New York World. The rose-colored statement of the situation which they caused the committee to credit was made probably to induce a liberal contribution for New Hampshire. The statement reads as if it had been slightly doctored in the office of the World, from which paper we extract the following:

Frank Jones, the democratic nominee for governor of New Hampshire, was at the democratic national headquarters yesterday. Of the general outlook he said: "I have no doubt that General Hancock will be elected. I believe we will have almost a solid north as well as a solid south." As to New Hampshire Mr. Jones said: "The democracy was never more united, and we are receiving many accessions from independents. I think this is due to the great popularity of General Hancock among the soldiers, of whom we have a large number. Besides, the General's letters have made thinking men stop and consider the character of the two candidates, and such a comparison is invariably favorable to General Hancock." In reference to his partial refusal, before the New Hampshire democratic convention met, to take the nomination for governor of New Hampshire, Mr. Jones said: "I received fully 100 letters before the convention commenced, from all parts of the state, asking me to become a candidate before the convention. I invariably answered these letters by saying that I could not. My personal inclinations and my business engagements were all against such a course. After the convention—where out of 601 delegates 600 voted for me—there was nothing left for me to do but to follow the wish of my friends rather than my own inclination."

"Mr. Jones is the most popular democrat in the state," said Mr. Sulloway, the New Hampshire member of the committee, later in the day. "His election is already conceded by non-partisan republicans and independents in politics. In all my experience I never saw anything like the enthusiasm that has taken hold of the democracy of the Granite State. In our next congressional delegation we shall at least have a majority of democrats."

Mr. Sulloway's predictions may have induced the committee to hand over a little something for the New Hampshire men to use in convincing their own party men of the propriety of voting their ticket; the story, however, is on a par with much of the brag seen in the New York democratic papers every day, and the committee must have concluded that if New Hampshire was so safe for Hancock and Jones, no great outlay was needed here.

Another Murder in Rockingham County.

Andrew J. Dearborn of Danville, said to have been a noted desperate character and to have served time in state prison, was killed in Kingston, Saturday night, by John Elkins. The story of the latter is to the effect that Dearborn went to Elkin's house on Saturday evening, and asked Elkins to go with him to a house about three miles away to find Dearborn's wife, who had left him. Mrs. Elkins, who was suspicious of Dearborn, induced her husband to take a revolver with him, and insisted on accompanying the two men; and after starting whispered to her husband to get a stake, which he did. They called at the house where Mrs. Dearborn had been, without finding her; and on their way back, when near a piece of woods, it being then nine o'clock and quite dark, Mrs. Elkins noticed that Dearborn was carrying a whip-stock, with which he suddenly assaulted Elkins, striking him on the nose and telling him he had got to die. Elkins returned the blow with the stake, knocking Dearborn down, striking him again when he attempted to rise, and finally firing three shot at him. Dearborn's skull was smashed into many pieces, and two bullets went through his head. Elkins and his wife tell the same story as to the homicide, and Elkins says that just previous to Dearborn's assault he made an infamous proposition regarding Mrs. Elkins. Elkins is twenty-one years old, and of a violent temper when excited; Mrs. Elkins is nineteen years old; Dearborn was forty-five. Elkins is under arrest.

News and Notes.

The American University of Philadelphia and the Eclectic Medical college of Pennsylvania, known to the community as Buchanan's college, were on Thursday last wiped out of existence.

Augustus Whitman, formerly a large manufacturer at Fitchburg, was killed at Worcester, Mass., Saturday morning, while riding in his orchard. The horse ran, and he was dragged from his carriage by a low tree.

Three boys who stole a can of blasting powder at a ledge in Providence, R. I., Saturday, succeeded in exploding it, whereby one was fatally injured, and the other two are in a critical condition at the Rhode Island hospital.

A Mrs. Staples, residing on a farm at Methuen, Mass., was burned to death Friday. She was in the second story and fell into the fireplace, and was terribly burned before assistance arrived. She was about seventy years of age.

Mary Thayer was struck by a locomotive at Pawtucket, R. I., Saturday night, and instantly killed. She was drunk, and was walking on the track.

The mackereling season is rapidly drawing to a close, while a majority of the bank cod fishermen have returned to Gloucester, Mass., from the long trip, and the active pursuit of the fisheries will soon be suspended. The season has been a favorable one as regards the catch, demand and prices, while the business has been pursued at comparatively small loss, either of property or life. The total catch of the Gloucester fleets for the nine months ending Sept. 30th is given as follows: Codfish, 43,758,000 pounds; halibut, 7,660,000 lbs.; mackerel, 77,944 barrels.

A bill poster in the county of Armagh, Ireland, who was detected posting obnoxious notices respecting the sale of lands, was attacked and brutally murdered by some of the native residents.

Edward Jones, a young man twenty-one years old, had an altercation Sunday with Andrew Finley, his uncle, who resides three miles from Salem, Ill., and discharged the contents of a shot gun into his left breast, killing him instantly. Jones is still at large.

Mrs. George Hamilton of Sacramento, Cal., on Friday sent a note asking an interview with her husband, from whom she had been separated. He called on her, and during the conversation she shot him dead. The cause was jealousy. Last winter she shot and severely wounded a young girl who had excited her jealousy.

Joshua Fowler of Colchester, Vt., aged eighty-one years, was recently found dead in his stable having committed suicide on account of having a cancer on his face.

Walter Winsor, the sixteen-years-old boy who killed Amelia F. Potter, was found guilty of murder by the jury at Providence, R. I., Saturday, and sentenced to state prison for life.

Samuel Ramsey, a respectable old farmer at Clayton, N. J., blew his brains out Friday night, on account of his daughter's waywardness and leaving home.

A Panama despatch reports the Chilians as plundering stores and private residences in and near several Peruvian towns. The war steamer Covadonga is reported destroyed by a Peruvian torpedo in Chaucoy.

William Hudson and wife, of Fitchburg, Mass., celebrated their golden wedding Sept. 27th. Josb Kendall and wife, of Athol, Mass., observed the 50th anniversary of their marriage Sept. 29th.

Alfred Gray of Dallas, Texas, had lately been converted to Christianity, and, therefore, when William Young swore profanely in his presence, he was dreadfully shocked. He drew a revolver, implored the blasphemer to stop, and then shot him dead.

Kline and his wife slept on the porch of their residence in Galveston, Texas, one warm night last summer. In the morning it was found that the man had been murdered where he lay. Noftsinger, who had been Mrs. Kline's suitor before her marriage, was convicted of the crime, and hanged. Lately Mrs. Kline was supposed to be dying, and she then confessed (what had not been suspected) that she was Noftsinger's accomplice in the murder. She has recovered, and will be tried.

New Hampshire Items.

The funeral of John Blanchard of Manchester, the victim of Thursday night's homicide, occurred Sunday, and was one of the largest funeral processions ever seen in that city. The St. Jean Baptist society attended with full ranks, and the French band, of which the deceased was a member, head the funeral cortege.

Michael Casey, sixteen years old, had both legs shockingly mangled by a freight train near Manchester, Saturday afternoon, while stealing a ride. Both legs have been amputated, and he will probably die from the nervous shock and loss of blood. He came from Ireland a few weeks ago.

The Twin Mountain house closed for the season on Wednesday of last week, and the Glen house on Thursday. The Summit house closed Saturday, and the Fabyan and the Profile houses on Monday. The Crawford house will remain open until the 9th, and the Fabyan Cottage during the autumn and winter. The receipts of all the larger houses have been from $5,000 to $15,000 each more than they were last year, making the the most successful season ever known at the mountain hotels. The Mt. Washington railway will continue to take passengers to the summit as long as the weather continues good. The receipts of the Mt. Washington railway will be about $28,000, and the Profile road about $14,000. The entire White mountain range is covered with snow full half way to the base.

The Ancient and Honorable Artillery company of Boston celebrated the 243d annual fall field day of the organization on Monday, by a visit to Concord, N. H.

Bogus Certificates.

It is no vile drugged stuff, pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, &c., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures, but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the purest and best of medicines. See another column.—Republican.

"A friend in need, is a friend indeed." Such a friend is Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, which should be in every family, it costs only 25 cents a bottle and may save many a doctor's bill. Give it a trial.

COUGHS.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throat, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

THE THROAT.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A COUGH, COLD, CATARRH OR SORE THROAT requires immediate attention, as neglect often times results in some incurable Lung Disease. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brown's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes. Tu,th&f,&c

AROUND HOME.

The sloop yacht L'Esperance, of Boston, was anchored in the river just above the beacon ledge, Sunday evening.

The Army and Navy Register of Washington, D. C., announces that "Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Hackett, nee Craven, have taken a house for the season at No. 730 Twenty-first street."

The steamer Pinafore, which runs between the Shoals hotels during the summer, has been hauled out on the slip at the Raynes shipyard, alongside the Wentworth house steamer Gypsy.

The plans for the Episcopal church to be built at the west end have been received and approved, and measures looking to the carrying into fulfillment of the provisions of Mr. Marsh's bequest will be at once taken.

Miss Laura E. Giddings has resigned her position as teacher in the primary school, Cabot street building. Miss Lizzie M. Flagg having been appointed to fill the vacancy, entered upon her duties on Friday, Oct. 1st.

A flying squirrel was caught by a cat belonging to Mr. Ellwood Hutton, of Noble's island, Sunday evening, and carried into the house. The little animal was taken away from the cat, but soon died. It was probably somebody's escaped pet.

Alexander Hichborn, a brother of Naval Constructor Philip Hichborn, formerly for several years a resident of this city, was drowned recently at Vallejo, Cal. He is belived to have fallen into the water in an apoplectic fit. His body was embalmed and sent east for burial.

Mr. Frank Foote has opened a barber's shop at the Creek, in what was formerly the office of the stocking factory. As there is a large and constantly-increasing population in that vicinity to be accommodated, Mr. Foote's enterprise should be successful. We wonder some one had not opened such an establishment in that locality before.

Two carrier pigeons arrived in this city on Monday per Jackson & Co.'s express, from Mr. Samuel Hunt of Fall River, Mass., to be set free here and their flight to their home timed. These birds have twice been set loose at Newburyport, and each time made the flight to Fall River in two hours and twenty minutes. They are in charge of Mr. J. W. Young, who will liberate them on Market square this morning at nine o'clock precisely, if the weather is favorable.

Considerable curiosity was excited on Sunday as to the meaning of the cabalistic inscription "8329," which was found scrawled all about the city with chalk, on pavements, bill-boards, public buildings and private residences. From enquiry we are led to believe that the democratic leaders took this method of announcing that 8329 is to be the price paid each New Hampshire republican who will vote for Hancock and Jones—shaky democrats to receive half-price, with the odd fifty cents thrown in.

Mr. Editor: The Christian Shore Cadets notice the communication of "Tanyard" in your issue of October 4th. The flag to which he refers is a small one, but the boys were not able to buy a larger one. They are all poor and earn their living by the sweat of their brow. The ex-confederate officer to whom he refers is probably John S. Treat, who was a corporal, a sergeant on something or other of that kind, a Portsmouth boy, who happened to be caught in the south during the rebellion, and was obliged to do the best he could like a good many other Portsmouth boys were obliged to do. Mr. Treat has been in active business now for several years, and is accounted to be a good citizen. But where was "Tanyard" all through the war? Was he in the front, fighting the battles of his country?

SUDDEN DEATH.

As Mr. George E. Brackett, of Greenland, was driving toward this city in a carriage with his wife and son, Sunday afternoon, when crossing the Plains he took out his whip, touched the horse with it and replaced it in its socket, and in a moment fell from his seat. Dr. Sherburne was immediately called, and pronounced him dead, probably from heart disease. Up to the moment of his death he was apparently in good health. His age was about forty-nine years. Mr. Brackett was formerly postmaster of Greenland; he had also served as town clerk, and we believe was town treasurer at the time of his death.

GOT THERE AT LAST.

The schooner Horatio Nichols, which twice attempted to reach Exeter with a corgo of coal, and failed both times, after many trials and tribulations managed to reach that place. After arriving at this port and discharging about one hundred tons of her cargo of coal, her then captain, Sturgis, refused to proceed up the river with her for a third time, thinking it enough to be twice wrecked in the same vessel and the same place; so Capt. Smart, of York, was put in, and Capt. D. G. Amee of Kittery point took charge as pilot. Leaving this city on a Monday the schooner sailed up the river as far as the Concord railroad bridge, carrying away her jib-stay on the passage; from the bridge to Exeter she was assisted by the steamer Lottie, and arrived at her long-sought destination on Saturday, having been six days on the route and gone the whole distance by water, not attempting the overland route. The schooner once stuck her nose in the soft mud on one side of the river, owing to the steamer losing her propeller off as the schooner was rounding a sharp bend, but the mud was soft and she soon swung clear, uninjured.

A COAL YACHT.

The schooner Jeanie Lippitt, of Boston, which hauled in alongside the Concord railroad wharf last week with a 1140 tons of coal from Baltimore, is one of the handsomest vessels that has entered this port for a long while, and looks more like a big yacht than a collier. She is a centre-board vessel, registers 742 tons, draws seventeen feet of water, and it is said has landed 1150 tons of coal at one time, and 1200 tons of ice at another. She is a new vessel, having sailed from Boston on her first trip Jan. 29th. Her standing rigging is of a kind not seen in this port before, so far as we are aware, consisting of iron rods (not ropes) which set up with screws, each stay or shroud having a rubber contrivance to obviate the effect of changes in temperature. Her cabin is finely finished and furnished, and the men's quarters are commodious and neat. Her windlass, steering gear, blocks, etc., are all of the most approved patents, and she carries a donkey engine to life the anchors, hoist the sails, discharge and take in cargo if required, and in other ways assist the crew in their ordinary duties.

MR. RIDDLE'S READING.

The "Sewing-School for Scandal," which Mr. Riddle reads on Friday evening, introduces the following cast of characters:

Mrs. J. Flint Skinner, president.
Miss Bellows, secretary.
Mrs. John Quincy Adams Gobang.
Miss Sally Gobang.
Miss Lobnds.
Mrs. Boulevard Tompkins, who has been to Europe.
Mrs. Elderbrewster.
Mr. Limpkins, with an aesthetic taste for embroidery and a few bold strokes of the needle.
Mr Lowkirk, an interesting young clergyman.

This selection has never been read publicly, but those who have seen it say that it is extremely amusing.

Tickets at Myers' this morning.

BOW MISSION SERVICES.

Mrs. Hooper conducted the gospel temperance meeting Saturday evening. Twelve testimonies were given by men whose words would be received in any court of justice, regarding the value of a life of total abstinence from intoxicating drink. At the close of the meeting three sailors signed the pledge.

At 10:30 o'clock Sunday forenoon a special service for seamen was held at the mission hall, the wharves and vessels being visited, and the seamen invited to the service. The meeting was conducted by the missionary.

The bethel service Sunday afternoon was in charge of Mr. Janvrin, and the meeting was quite interesting. Capt. Weaver of Bridgeton, N. J., master of the schooner Mary Weaver, made some excellent remarks, in which he recommended the religion of Christ to all, and especially to those "who do business upon the great waters."

Mr. Borthwick conducted the service at the alms house, assisted by Messrs. Williams and Phillips.

The reform club held a social service Sunday evening.

A gospel meeting was held in the Congregational church at Newcastle by workers from this city, Mr. William P. Israel having charge; there was a good attendance. A similar service will be held at Newcastle next Saturday evening in the Christian Baptist church, and one on Sunday evening in the Congregational church. Gospel meetings will also be held at Newington next Sunday, afternoon and evening. L.

YORK COUNTY AFFAIRS.

Geo. C. Lord of Kennebunk was elected vice president of the Maine Sportsmen's Association at their meeting in Portland last Friday.

Several of the officers and members of the Jones Cadets of this city have been spending a day or two at Gerrish's island, Kittery, shooting game, which is very abundant along the coast. On Sunday they had at Sea-Side Lodge a bird dinner which was splendidly gotten up. They report a nice time.

As a freight train bound east was starting from the Kittery depot at about eleven o'clock Monday forenoon, one of the driving wheels of the engine came off, but as the train was yet only moving slowly no great damage was done. A wrecking train went from this city, and brought back the disabled engine for repairs.

The schooner Mary S. Hontvet came off the marine railway at Kittery at noon Monday, and was towed to Portsmouth by the steamer Mystic; she was berthed at Rollins' wharf to receive her spars. While on the ways she was recalked, and had part of her shoe renewed, her garboards refastened and her keel rebolted, the repairs being made under charge of Mr. Warren Keen.

Naval Gazette.

Lieut. Wm. I. Moore and Gunner George Dunn, detached from duty on the South Atlantic station, have reported their arrival home on the 28th ult., and are placed on waiting orders.

Passed Assistant Paymaster John W. Jordan is detached from the Boston navy yard, and placed on waiting orders.

Political Notes.

The small democratic wit who invented the plan of conducting a political contest by skulking about nights and making chalk marks on doors and pavements, probably thought he had ruined the republican party, even as the republican editor who discovered that Hancock wears corsets fancied that he had thereby defeated the democrats. Both are mistaken. Neither the "superb soldier's" corsets nor the chalk-marks of his followers will either elect or defeat him.

Gov. Foster, of Ohio, who is one of the best and shrewdest political managers in the state, says: "There is no trouble in carrying Ohio. We are appealing to the business interests and through them to the workingmen, who are as much interested in the prosperity of the country as the capitalist is. We are making no personal assaults whatever; we are leaving that for our opponents, who are conducting a campaign of personal abuse of Garfield. Garfield is very popular with our people, and justly so. Every republican in the state feels a pride in his success, and a sense of security in his strength. This sense of security has, perhaps, made our canvass backward, but now that it has begun in earnest, there is no question as to the result."

General Garfield has not yet found it necessary to give the country a written pledge that he will veto bills for rebel claims after he is made President. The country needs no instruction as to his attitude toward rebel claims and claimants, or as to the pressure on that subject his party will bring to bear upon him.

General Hancock says: "When rebellion was crushed, the heresy of secession in every form and in every incident went down forever." Wade Hampton is a better exponent of the feelings and determination of the people of the south than General Hancock. He says that "they are now fighting for the same principles for which Lee and Jackson fought."

Georgia emulates Alabama in opposition to the United States revenue laws. Friday night, a band of thirty armed men visited Dalton and forcibly rescued property seized by the United States authorities for violation of the revenue laws.

—A good side show—A pretty cheek.

—An $800 dimond ring floated away from Lafayette, Ind. A child tied it to the string of a toy balloon and let it go.

—Most actors forget about as readily as they learn, and a few days will often suffice to destroy their perfect memory of a role. On a recent voyage from Europe, John McCullough and Rose Coghlan were aboard, and the passengers, on getting up an entertainment, put them down for a scene from "Macbeth." Although Macbeth is one of McCullough's star parts, and Miss Coghlan had not long before acted Lady Macbeth, they were unable to recall the language with anything like accuracy, and, as there wasn't a copy of the play on the steamer, the performance had to be omitted.

HUTCHINSON'S.

A New Steamer.

A Boston reporter was sent to give a description of a new steamer in the harbor. He says he took down the information verbatim as given him by the captain, and here is the report:

The new steamer Crusader is a splendid specimen of naval architecture. Her keel revolves on hinges so as to be readily unshipped in a storm when it is not wanted. The rudder also, by a patent contrivance, can be drawn out of its socket and deported on deck during the night and in hurricanes. The Crusader has folding decks which can be doubled up when she has but little cargo, and her tonnage in this way can be decreased from 4,000 to 2,000 tons. The mainsail can, if necessary, be used as a skysail or windsail, and the saving of canvas effected in this manner reduces the wear and tear of her running rigging one-half. The main brace passes from the end of the bowsprit over the fore, main and royal masts, thence down over the spanker boom to the taffrail, and into the cabin windows, where it is secured by a double-banked sheepshank to the head of the captain's berth. She has compound engines, which boil water at an extremely low temperature. Her screws revolve at the rate of 10,000 times a minute, and can, if necessary, be brought forward and used as paddle wheels. The Crusader is constructed on the crab principle, and by bracing up everything sharp on the wind and wearing ship frequently, she can go as fast sideways as any other way. The engines are furnished with condensers, which condense milk as well as water. Her cabins are constructed on the French flat principle, there being six stories, with kitchens, etc., for each family of passengers. The Crusader also carries her own docks, and thus saves all the expense of wharfage when in port. She also carries her own Quarantine, and can never be detained if there is any malaria or measles on board. The pilot pilots her all the way across the Atlantic, and comes back with the ship each time. Her compasses in the barnacle give each day the direction of the wind. The captain's cow is milked by the boatswain in the foretop.

London Police.

The London police force consists of 8,117 constables, admirably drilled and organized, having commissioners, superintendents and inspectors as generals, colonels and adjutants. To this force the peace of London is intrusted, and to judge from the annual report just issued by Sir Edmund Henderson they discharged their functions to the satisfaction of their official heads. During the year eleven constables were charged before the police magistrates, eighty-six were compelled to resign, and 153 were dismissed for misconduct; 1,319 were rewarded by the commissioners, and 179 commended for meritorious services by judges or magistrates.

—As a specimen of fine reporting, the following of a canoe race in a recent regatta bears off the palm: "Five canoes appeared, each containing two stalwart braves of the forest whose ancestors years years ago roamed over these wilds, and dipped their paddles in the sparkling waters before the white man ever had seen these rock bound shores." The man meant that each canoe contained two Indians.

—He had been electioneering some time for a local office, but seeing that there was a considerable lack of genuine enthusiasm among the suffragers, he determined to give the boys a little blow out. He went to a prominent grocery establishment, the proprietor of which is a very public-spirited man. He told the grocer with great earnestness: "I am giving Hancock and me a lift, and I thought I'd give you a chance to contribute a few gallons of that three-dollar-and-a-half whiskey. I suppose you know that if we are to be once more a happy and a united people we must do our duty." The merchant replied that while he yielded to none when it came to making sacrifices for the good of the country, yet he did not think it was good policy for Texas to poll more than 100,000 majority for Hancock anyhow; however, if he was paid, cash, $3.50 a gallon, he would yield. "If this is the spirit that animates the business men of Galveston, then all I've got to say is, that I'll quit. If Indiana and New York don't go right, you are to blame for it; but say $3 a gallon for ten gallons of Old Cowboy's Delight, taking my note for the money, and it is not too late yet to save the country."

My blood and kidneys are all right, and I am as active as a man of 30, although I am 72, and I have no doubt it will do as well for others of my age. It is worth a trial."

—"Look here, ma," said a young lady just commencing to take lessons in water-color sketching—"see my painting; can you tell what it is?" Ma, after looking at it some time, answered, "Well, it is either a cow or a rosebud, I'm sure I can't tell which."

TRADE MARK DAY'S Kidney PAD

A DISCOVERY BY ACCIDENT,

supplies a want which men of eminent ability have devoted years of study and experiment to fill—a specific for diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System—and from the time of its discovery has rapidly increased in favor, gaining the approval and confidence of medical men and those who have used it; it has become a favorite with all classes and where your introduced has superseded all other treatments. In short, such is its intrinsic merits and superiority, that it is now the only recognized reliable remedy.

DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS

are the most prevalent, dangerous and fatal affections that afflict mankind, and so varied and insidious in their character, that persons often suffer for a long time before knowing what ails them. The most characteristic symptoms are gradual wasting away of the whole body; pain in the back, side or joints, a weak, feeble, exhausted feeling; loss of appetite and dread of exercise; scanty and painful discharge of variously colored urine; inability to retain or expel the urine; minute shreds or casts in the urine; and, when the disease is of long duration, there is much emaciation and general nervous prostration.

THE ONLY CURE.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that DAY'S KIDNEY PAD is the first and only infallible cure for every form of Kidney disease. It is the best remedy yet discovered for this complaint, and more effectual in its operation than any other treatment. By using faithfully and persistently no case will be found so inveterate as not to yield to the powerful remedial virtues.

STRONGLY ENDORSED.

We have the most unequivocal testimony to its curative powers from many persons of high character, intelligence and responsibility. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving the history of this new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures, sent free. Write for it.

DAY'S KIDNEY PADS are sold by druggists, or will be sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of their price: Regular, $1.00; Special, for obstinate cases of long standing, $3.00; Children's, $1.50. Address,

TESTIMONIALS.

I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 15, 1870.

E. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1846, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

THE

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or officered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

—THE—

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter

Than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

TO ADVERTISERS

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a week's invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in local cities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

KIDNEY-WORT

PERMANENTLY CURES KIDNEY DISEASES, LIVER COMPLAINTS, Constipation and Piles.

DR. R. H. CLARK, South Hero, Vt., says, "In cases of KIDNEY TROUBLES it has acted like a charm. It has cured many very bad cases of PILES, and has never failed to act efficiently."

NELSON FAIRCHILD, of St. Albans, Vt., says, "It is of priceless value. I have eighteen years of great suffering from Piles and Costiveness it completely cured me."

C. S. HOGABON, of Rockshire, says, "One package has done wonders for me in completely curing a severe Liver and Kidney Complaint."

IT HAS WONDERFUL POWER. WHY?

BECAUSE IT ACTS ON THE LIVER, THE BOWELS AND KIDNEYS AT THE SAME TIME.

Because it cleanses the system of the poisonous humors that develope in Kidney and Urinary diseases, Biliousness, Jaundice, Constipation, Piles, or in Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Female disorders.

KIDNEY-WORT is a dry vegetable compound and can be sent by mail prepaid.

One package will make six qts of medicine.

KNOW THYSELF.

The untold miseries that result from indiscretions in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work, published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled ELEMENTS OF LIFE; or SELF-PRESERVATION; Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

This valuable work, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a medical graduate of twenty years' practice, who was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains 5 outline engravings, over one hundred and fifty pages, more than 50 valuable prescriptions for all forms of prevailing disease, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in French cloth; price only $1, sent by mail postpaid.

The London Lancet says: "No person should be without this valuable book. The author is a noble benefactor."

The Tribune says: "The author has had unprecedented success dealing with nervousness of all kinds and its affections, whether due to permicious habits or inherited. He is a Nervo specialist, and therefore knows whereof he writes with such power and ability."

An illustrated sample sent to all on receipt of 6 cents for postage.

The author refers, by permission, to Hon. P. A. BISSELL, M. D., president of the National Medical Association.

OFFICE OF

COMMONWEALTH DISTRIBUTION CO.,

COURIER-JOURNAL BUILDING, LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 24th, 1880.

In direct violation of an agreement with Ex-Postmaster-General Key, ordering the delivery of Registered Letters and the payment of Money Orders to the undersigned, pending the litigation in the United States Supreme Court, the Third Assistant Postmaster General has seen fit, in the absence of his superiors, to act aside said order. The grounds upon which he justifies his action are, that all lotteries in Kentucky have been repealed, and are therefore illegal, and being illegal, are necessarily fraudulent, when, in fact, the franchise under which this Company draws unlike that of the Louisiana Lottery Company, has never been repealed, and yet the Post Office Department discriminates in favor of that Company.

Counsel is unbroken. Legal action will at once be taken by this Company, and, until further notice, correspondents are requested to send all remittances by registered letter or by express. Don't send by money order or registered letter.
